Charlevoix football program, Elks to honor veterans before game

JAMES CHRISTENSEN

CHARLEVOIX -- The Charlevoix football program is partnering with the Charlevoix Elks Lodge to honor local veterans with a pre-game dinner and festivities before and during the Rayders' home game against Grayling today, Friday, Sept. 18.

"It's a way for us to give back to the people that risked their lives to protect our way of life and what we have now, and it's something we're very excited to be a part of," Charlevoix coach Ron Bindi said. "Almost all of the players on the team have a family member that did serve or is serving in the armed forces right now, and I have several former players from my time coaching at Bellaire and here who are in active duty right now, so it's something that touches all of us."

"I think sometimes we take what we have for granted and don't do enough to honor the people who made it possible, and this is our way of expressing our gratitude for everything our veterans and active-duty personnel have done and still do today."

The pre-game dinner, free for veterans and active military personnel, takes place at 5:15 p.m. Friday at the Charlevoix Elks Lodge at 104 Mason in the Beacon Center behind the Subway. The meal is sponsored by the V-Twins for Vets Poker Run and the Freedom Grant includes roast beef, red potatoes, green beans, corn, dinner rolls and a dessert.

The Charlevoix football team is saluting veterans at the game as well, with free reserved seating game tickets, a National Anthem ceremony at Kipke Stadium at 6:50 p.m. and a halftime show in their honor.

Veterans and active military personnel can RSVP for the dinner by contacting Kelly Dunlap at 231-330-6971, and can pick up their tickets for the game at the Lodge from 5-7 p.m. Attending the dinner is not required to receive a ticket for the game; interested veterans and active military personnel can stop in during that time and receive a ticket as well without eating dinner.

ahead of Class A Gaylord and Traverse City Central and claim the mud run title, while the Rams girls took second behind the Trojans.

Although the Rayders didn't bring home a title on their home course, Charlevoix also had a strong day, taking fourth overall on both the boys and girls sides.

Luke Buday's runner-up finish (18:03) behind Hunt in the 11th and 12th grade race paced the Charlevoix boys.

"It gives me a lot of confidence that I can run with the best runners in the area and compete," Buday said. "It's a good time and I'm pretty happy with how it turned out."

Jonathan Pischner took fifth (18:51) for Charlevoix and Ryan Erskine finished 16th (19:56).

Brett Natzel (26:10) also competed in the 11th and 12th grade race for the Ray-

In the 9th and 10th race, Ben Peterson led the Rayders with a 17th place finish (20:13). Brandon Richards finished 31st (21:24) and William Sheets finished 99th (28:09).

On the girls side, Michelle Bollini's ninth place finish (21:56) in the 9th and 10th grade race was the catalyst for a fourth place finish.

Rachel Nesburg took 18th (23:3), Kaitlin Schwenke took 20th (23:48) and Isabelle Witthoef took 48th (26:54).

Other 9th and 10th grade finishers for the Rayders included Sophia Thompson (31:07), Grace Way (31:35), Libby Sterett (31:36) and Jayden Brooks (38:22).

In the 11th and 12th grade race, Isabella Hess led Charlevoix with a 19th place finish (23:04), Lukila Witthoef took 48th (25:26) and Kylee Scholten 49th (25:33).

Other 11th and 12th grade finishers included Katie Mousseau (26:53), Bree Farmer (27:05), and Erin Hybl (30:22) average today," Charlevoix coach Jennifer Sell said. "Belvedere is about 600 yards longer and the greens are much faster than at Bay View, so to see our girls make that adjustment and still come through with solid rounds was really impressive."

"We're a young team, only in our second year, but we're really starting to see our players come along and it's been very exciting."

Earlier on Thursday, September 10 the Rayders had played at Bay View in the Petoskey Invitational.

Charlevoix would be led on the day by No. 3 golfer Scholten, who finished with a 96, followed by Sara Sabsook, 106; Snabes, 108; Emily Sabsook, 115; Jane Kelly, 125; and Rylenn Sladek, 127.

It's been an encouraging start for a young Rayder golf team that's still working on building a program in its second season.

"We're just starting as a team, and we've got eight freshmen in the program who've never played golf competitively before, but it's amazing how fast they're improving," Sell said. "It's been great to see them come together as a team and building relationships with each other and other athletes at the high school, and that's been the best part to me as a coach so far."

Charlevoix will be in action again this Friday as they travel to Wequeton Golf Course for the Harbor Springs Invitational, starting at 9:30 a.m. tackles for loss and a fumble recovery, while Klinger and Cam Alden each intercepted a pass.

Boss and Josh Hinkley each recovered a fumble as well for Charlevoix, who took a 21-6 lead into halftime and outscored Coleman 25-6 the rest of the way.

"I thought we had a really good second half, and that was good to see, but we were fortunate to be ahead at halftime," Charlevoix coach Ron Bindi said. "We made a lot of mistakes in the first half, a lot of turnovers and penalties, and we just didn't look ready to play."

"It didn't end up costing us (on Saturday), but against the type of teams we're going to have to beat to achieve our goals we have to play smarter, more mistake-free football if we want to have any chance of winning."

Charlevoix (2-1) will have a stiff test to finish the nonconference season this Friday when it hosts a Grayling team off to a solid start and with ambitions of winning their conference title.

Rayders learn lessons at tough Petoskey Invite PETOSKEY — A young Charlevoix volleyball team continues to grow and learn lessons against tough competition this season, most recently taking its lumps against a talented field at the Petoskey Invite on Saturday.

Charlevoix fell in the quarterfinals of bracket play against a loaded Petoskey team that rolled to its own invitational title, 25-8, 25-6, to finish the day.

"The girls definitely had some good streaks but it was always shorter than we wanted because we couldn't close games effectively," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said. "Many times the girls were slow to start, would get back in it in the mid game, then let it go at the end."

Slow starts were a constant problem on the day for the Rayders, who finished with a 0-3-1 record overall, falling to Sault Ste. Marie 25-23 and 25-19 in their opening match, then splitting with Boyne City and losing to both Onaway and the Northmen.

"I have confidence in the girls that we as a team will find the solution," Randall said. "These girls have a lot of talent, every one of them, we just need to step up our passion and chemistry as a team to make a positive performance."

Emily Zabawa led Charlevoix with 24 kills, 13 assists and 12 digs to make the all-tournament team, while Becca Moon finished with 36 assists, 11 kills and an 80 percent serve receive.

Beth Veenstra chipped in nine kills, Hannah Zipp added five kills and four aces and Julia Doskuch finished with 15 digs for the Rayders, who head to Harbor Springs on Thursday for an LMC match.

Charlevoix Pop Warner squads go undefeated on opening day

EAST JORDAN — The future of Charlevoix football looks bright after a strong showing on the opening weekend of Pop Warner football in East Jordan.

Taking the field on Saturday, the Charlevoix Rayder Midget (11-12 year old) team rolled over the Traverse City St. Francis Gladiators 33-0 in a dominant performance.

Every player in the Rayder backfield rushed for a score as fullback Dmitri Bell, running backs Isaac Moar and Max Ostrum and quarterback Caleb Stuck each scored on a touchdown run of 20 yards or more. Stuck also connected with Ostrum on a 35 yard touchdown pass.

Charlevoix Midget Rayder fullback Dmitri Bell carries the ball during a 33-0 victory over Traverse City St. Francis in Pop Warner action Saturday at East Jordan.

Defensively, Ostrum, Stuck and Bell led in tackles while lineman Jake Claflin and defensive backs Josh Sauer and Joshua House also had strong games. The Midget Rayders host East Jordan at 1 p.m. on Saturday for their next game.

In the nightcap, the Pee Wee Rayders (8-10 year old) also brought home a win over Central Lake, 19-6.

Quarterback Troy Nickel scored on a two yard touchdown run to open the game, and John Paul Culver and Patrick Sterett each added touchdown runs of 20 and 10 yards, respectively.

Nate Claflin and Max Dixon led the defensive effort for the Pee Wee Rayders, with Nickel and James Dixon turning in strong performances as well.

The Pee Wee Rayders also play on Saturday at home, taking on East Jordan Black at 10 a.m. challenge while hosting the inaugural Charlevoix Lady Rayder Invite on Monday, playing 18 holes at the historic and deceptively difficult Belvedere Golf Club.

A blustery, gusting wind that redirected balls in mid-air added to the difficulty for competing golfers, and the scores reflected it.

The only golfers who seemed unfazed by the wind and the course were the golfers from Traverse City West, who put four in the top 10 to take home the team title by 52 strokes with a round of 348.

Medalist Anika Dy led the Titans with a low round of 77 to beat runner up Nichole Cox of Maple City Glen Lake by three strokes.

Harbor Springs finished third overall to lead area teams, shooting a 410 to finish 10 strokes behind runner-up Traverse City Central, while Petoskey came in fourth at 414.

Charlevoix took sixth overall with 448 strokes, finishing five strokes behind Glen Lake for fifth place.

Sara Sabsook carded a 106 to lead the Rayders, and Abbey Scholten shot a 109 as well.

Alex Snabes added a round of 116 for Charlevoix, Emily Sabsook and Annie Joy each carded a 117 and Lily Curtis shot a 147 to round out the Rayder golfers.

"I'm very proud of the way we were able to shoot scores pretty close to our

Charlevoix battled the Redmen to a 3-3 tie in regulation in the final, thanks to two goals from Christian Matye off a penalty kick and a free kick, and an unassisted goal from Nick Bradley.

With the game tied after regulation, the tournament title was decided by a shootout, and the Rayders edged Marquette 4-3 in penalty kicks to bring home the title, thanks to on-target shooting and a solid performance from goalkeeper Jacob Harrod.

"It was great to finally get the shootout monkey off of our backs after losing to Leland and Harbor Springs on penalty kicks earlier in the year," Charlevoix coach Anton Matye said.

Charlevoix opened the tournament with a 3-1 win over Big Rapids, with Matye netting two goals that were both assisted by Walker Drost and a third goal from Wesley Crandell assisted by Matye.

Harrod played well in net to help the Rayders get past Big Rapids as well.

That helped Charlevoix reach the semifinal against host TC Christian, and Rayder goalkeeper Collin Turkleson earned the 2-0 shutout win in net.

Matye scored an unassisted goal and Drost chipped in a goal off a penalty kick to help the Rayders reach the finals.

Harbor Springs 2, Charlevoix 1 (PK)

HARBOR SPRINGS — The Charlevoix soccer team played well enough to win against rival Harbor Springs on Wednesday, Sept. 9, but it wasn't in a determined Rams team.

Through two intense, physical regulation halves and two equally draining overtime periods, the host Rams and arch-rival Charlevoix couldn't find any separation as the two squads battled to a 1-1 draw.

That left penalty kicks to settle things between the two squads, and Harbor Springs went a perfect 4-for-4 on their attempts, with Nick Bonter, Adrian Silva, Sam Bailey and Joe Claramunt all converting, while Charlevoix pushed two kicks wide right in a 4-1 result that decided the match in favor of the Rams.

The game opened with a hotly-contested first half that saw Charlevoix get a slight edge in possession and chances, but no goals to press their advantage.

After significant pressure, Charlevoix finally got on the board 22 minutes into the second half when a Harbor Springs handball in the box set up Charlevoix's Christian Matye with a penalty kick the junior coolly buried to put the Rayders up 1-0.

Although the goal gave Charlevoix a lead, it also seemed to bring Harbor Springs to life. The Rams brought intense pressure, and two minutes after the Rayder goal, Harbor Springs' Bobby Keller heat two defenders on a run deep into the box and senior Geraldo Silva finished off his rebound to tie the game at one.

Charlevoix had good chances to win both late in regulation and in overtime, but hit the crossbar twice and had another goal wiped off the board after the ball went off the goalpost and back into play.

"I thought our fitness was a little bit better, and that allowed us to get the better chances in overtime, but that's a very good Harbor Springs team and they deserved to be there," Charlevoix coach Anton Matye said. "We had our shots, but got a little unlucky with the crossbar and it didn't go in our favor."

"If you're going to lose, you want to lose to a good team in a shootout after taking them the distance, and while we have things to work on, we're happy with the effort our players showed tonight."

Matye praised his defensive unit for keeping them in the game and giving them the chance in win.

"We got great play from David Riner in the mid-field who showed great pace and control, and our entire defense including Matt Good, Danny Nesburg, Cam Clark and our anchor, Kevin Pearl, really shone this game," Matye said. "Cam especially had a breakout night and did a great job for us."

Celebrate freedom. It's your right.

Our country's founders believed passionately in individual freedom — in the rights of citizens to be protected from a government that was too controlling.

Yet, centuries later, one in three Americans say they have too much freedom and half of American high schoolers said they think newspapers should not be able to publish stories without government approval.*

Those are disturbing figures.

The First Amendment helps provide for a "marketplace of ideas," so individuals may choose which ideas and concepts to question, embrace or reject.

First Amendment to the Constitution

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

The First Amendment prevents the government from establishing an official religion. Citizens have freedom to attend a church, synagogue, temple or mosque of their choice — or not to attend at all. The First Amendment allows us to practice our religion the way we want to.

speech

The First Amendment keeps the government from making laws that might stop us from saying what we think. People have the right to criticize the government and to share their opinions with others.

the press

We can get information from many different sources. The government cannot control what is printed in newspapers and books, broadcast on TV and radio or offered online. Citizens can request time on television to respond to views with which they disagree; they may write letters to newspaper editors. They can pass out leaflets that give their opinions. They can voice their opinions on personal Web pages.

Citizens can come together in public and private gatherings. They can join groups for political, religious, social or recreational purposes. By organizing to accomplish a common goal, citizens can spread their ideas more effectively.

right to petition

"To petition the government for a redress of grievances" means that citizens can ask for changes in the government. They can do this by collecting signatures and sending them to their elected representatives; they can write, call or e-mail their elected representatives; they can support groups that lobby the government.

The First Amendment. Keep it strong.

(231) 547-4558 - allin@charv.com

CHARLEVOIX — This week's Food Focus is The Villager Pub. Employee J.R. Russell took us through the steps of one of the pub's summer favorites, blackened whitefish — blackening is a cooking technique used in the preparation of fish and other foods often associated with Cajun cuisine. The food is dredged in a mixture of herbs and spices and then cooked in a very hot cast-iron broiler plate.

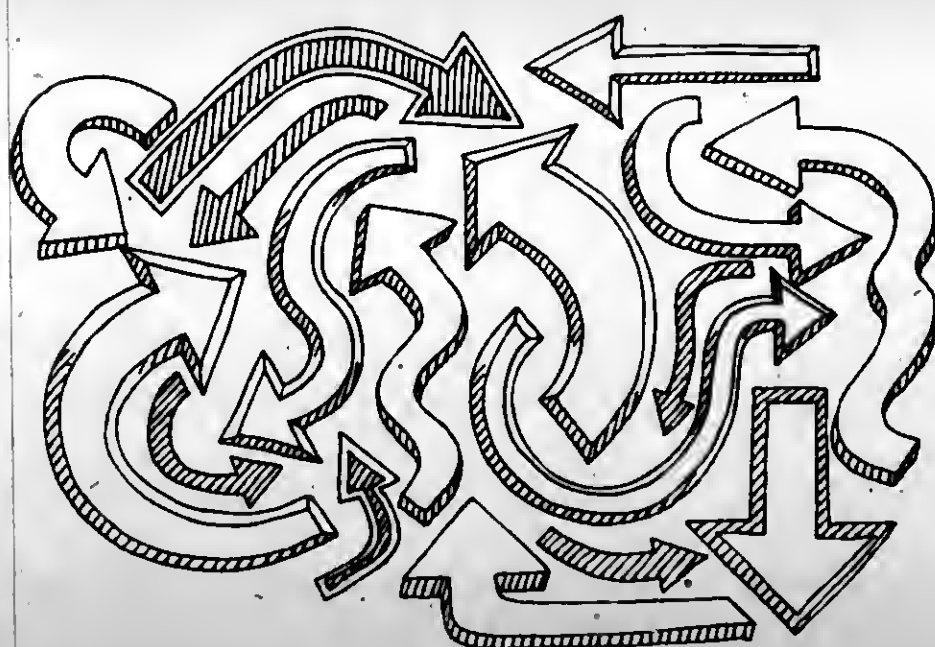

The Villager Pub is open from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Friday and Saturday each week and is located on the corner of Antrim and Bridge streets in downtown Charlevoix. The following photographs best illustrate the preparation of the whitefish. The Charlevoix Courier will feature a Charlevoix restaurant or business that prepares food for the public each week during our Food Focus series.

1. The Villager Pub uses whitefish filets from John Cross Fisheries in Charlevoix. The pub has been getting their fish from John Cross for about 30 years, said employee J.R. Russell. 2. Employee J.R. Russell places the filet in the pub's blackened seasoning mix. The whitefish is coated in the seasoning before being placed on a hot, specially made cast iron broiler plate. 3. After the whitefish filet is coated in the blackening spice it is placed on an lightly oiled broiler plate to cook. 4. As the fish cooks, employees set the plate up for the meal presentation. The Villager Pub's handmade coleslaw is placed in a side cup to set on the plate with a lemon wedge and side of tartar sauce. The customer also gets a choice of side. In this case the whitefish will be served with french fries. 5. The whitefish is checked and then flipped with the meat side up to complete the cooking process. 6. Once the fish has finished cooking it placed on the plate with the garnish and sides arranged for a plate presentation that is pleasing to the eye. 7. Kitchen staff place the blackened whitefish dinner plate in the serving window for a server to pick up and take to hungry customer. 8. For more than 30 years the Villager Pub restaurant has been cornerstone of downtown Charlevoix providing both dine-in and take-out meals.

Reptiles need to go to the vet's too!

Increasing numbers of people in search of the perfect pet are setting their sights on reptiles, with turtles, lizards and snakes replacing more conventional animals in many households. In fact, in hospitals and veterinary clinics, it's no longer unusual to see an iguana waiting for its annual checkup alongside dogs and cats.

People adopt reptiles as pets for various reasons:

- They don't need a lot of room, which makes them an ideal choice for small homes
- They don't make bothersome noises that could annoy roommates or neighbors
- They don't have fur or feathers, which is perfect for people who have allergies

Moreover, despite the aloof reputation of these cold-blooded companions, some species of reptiles like contact with human beings and seek their body warmth. Others love to be stroked and petted.

A FEW RECOMMENDATIONS

Many veterinarians think reptiles make great pets. However, it's always advisable to be fully informed before buying any type of exotic animal. Be sure to ask how big your future pet will be when it reaches maturity. Find out what sort of cage you'll need, what to expect in terms of behavior, and what kind of care it'll need. Avoid large reptiles that will outgrow your ability to care for them and that will end up costing a small fortune in food. It is always wise to verify your community's regulations when it comes to owning exotic animals.

As a preventive measure, veterinarians recommend you have your reptiles examined immediately after purchase. Your veterinarian can also give you lots of tips to help your pet live a long, healthy life in the best possible conditions.

Having pets spayed or neutered is a must

Every year, animal shelters struggle to accommodate the many pets that are left with them. Picked up as feral animals or abandoned by their owners, thousands of cats, dogs, rabbits and other pets are often doomed to a sad fate. Many of them are never adopted because they're either too old or sick or they exhibit undesirable behaviors. As a responsible pet owner, you can limit pet overpopulation with a simple procedure: surgical sterilization.

THE BENEFITS OF SPAYING AND NEUTERING

In addition to limiting the many births that lead to overpopulation, there are several other benefits to sterilization:

- It prevents cancer of the reproductive organs and other diseases
- It reduces several types of disruptive behavior
- It increases life expectancy by a few years

So unless you're a breeder, it would be irresponsible to forgo this procedure that is so beneficial to the health of your pet.

A VETERINARIAN'S EXPERTISE

Veterinarians are well aware of all the benefits of early sterilization and can give you all the information you need. When you adopt a kitten or a puppy, be sure to make an appointment to have your new pet spayed or neutered. The younger the animal, the better it will heal after surgery. By using the most effective painkillers, your vet will ensure that your pet suffers as little as possible after the operation. And once the recovery period is over, your beloved pet can return to catching sticks or playing with its toys safely.

How to choose the best food for your pet

Pet owners always want to offer the very best to their furry little friends when it comes to care and food. That's why many people have a lot of questions about their pet's diet. Is it true that you should never give cow's milk to cats? Is it dangerous to give table scraps to a dog? Unfortunately, many well-meaning but misinformed pet owners harm their pets by giving them inappropriate foods.

YOUR VETERINARIAN CAN ADVISE YOU

Veterinarians usually recommend food that is manufactured by animal nutrition specialists. You can find these products in veterinary hospitals and clinics as well as in specialty stores. Unlike the widely advertised brands sold in supermarkets, this high quality food takes into account all the nutritional needs of pets. Moreover, your veterinarian may recommend a particular brand that is tailored to your pet's specific health problem, such as obesity, dental or urinary disorders.

benefits are worth the extra expense. Because they increase the life expectancy of your pet by reducing the risk of disease, you would be paying for expensive treatments in the long term. On the other hand, cheap and low-quality ingredients that can cause unpleasant digestive problems such as vomiting, diarrhea or skin problems. Talk to your veterinarian about your pet's diet so you can ensure his or her optimal health.

Charlevoix hospital to fully integrate with Munson Healthcare

Lonnie Allen
(231) 547-6558 - lallen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix Area Hospital will soon be known as Munson Healthcare Charlevoix Hospital, after the two health care systems reached an agreement earlier in the week.

On Sept. 22, the Charlevoix Area Hospital Board of Directors approved the arrangement with Munson Healthcare that will bring Charlevoix Area Hospital under the umbrella of the Munson network, which includes; Munson Medical Center in Traverse City, Munson Healthcare Cadillac Hospital, Munson Healthcare Grayling Hospital and Paul Oliver Memorial Hospital as fully integrated hospitals in the Munson Healthcare system.

The agreement also includes reflects the new level of collaboration and coordination between the two health care systems.

"At the core of this agreement is a shared interest in ensuring a strong health care system in Northern Michigan," said Lyn Jenks, Charlevoix Area Hospital CEO. "The board's unanimous decision was a result of their prothe outpatient clinics and medical practices owned and operated by Charlevoix Area Hospital in Boyne City, Charlevoix and East JenksJordan. The deal active and thoughtful evaluation of the strategies needed to ensure the hospital remains a successful provider and economic engine for the Charlevoix region."

With 393 employees, Charlevoix Area Hospital is Charlevoix County's second largest employer, but with an uncertain economy, declining reimbursement, increased regulation, and unfunded mandates the hospital could face significant challenges in the future. To ensure the hospital can continue to provide the quality of care the community is used to, having Munson Healthcare become the parent company just makes sense, Jenks said.

"Charlevoix Area Hospital has been fortunate to remain viable through many of these changes," Jenks said. "However, it is time to take the next step. By fully integrating with Munson Healthcare, the Charlevoix Area Hospital Board remains focused on positioning the hospital for a strong and sustainable future and maintaining the right mix of close-to-home health care services in Charlevoix and surrounding communities. Truly, this decision was really about our next 100 years, even as we approach the celebration of our first 100 years."

It is the goal of each hospital to keep providing excellent health care to rural areas that are often underserved because of the lack of services, physicians and other medical staff, Jenks said.

"This is an exciting time for health care in Northern Michigan," Jenks said. "Charlevoix Area Hospital has a history of making

City sets public hearing for donation policy

CHARLEVOIX — Donations from the public have had a big influence in Charlevoix. From bike racks to memorial benches, these items are dotted throughout the city parks, but changes could be coming to the donation acceptance policy after the public has a chance to share their opinions.

The Charlevoix City Council will hold a public hearing at its Oct. 5 meeting to address the changes proposed by the planning commission at its last meeting in September.

"We want to make sure the public has ample opportunity to comment," said City Manager Mark Heydlauff.

Music, food, fun at annual car raffle party

CHARLEVOIX — Nothing beats a good night out with good music, food and drinks, except maybe adding a new car or $15,000 to the evening. On Sept. 16, more than 300 people attended the 25th Annual Car Raffle drawing party presented by the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce at Shanahan's Barn at the Charlevoix Country Club, where one lucky ticketholder was announced as the grand prize winner.

"The chamber is fortunate to have the longstanding support of our community and visitors for the past 25 years," said Alison Hubbard, chamber president. "We have awarded a car or cash prize to loyal ticket purchasers year after year."

Held inside the newly remodeled Shanahan's Barn the festive evening started with cocktails and appetizers, followed by dinner before the raffle drawing.

The Car Raffle is the largest fundraiser for the chamber as it takes six months of planning and selling to award a winner each September, Hubbard added.

Local police deal with distemper outbreak in animals

(231) 547-6558 - lallen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — More raccoons with Canine distemper are being reported this year in Charlevoix, Cheboygan and Antrim counties, signaling a threat to household pets that aren't vaccinated against the highly contagious and deadly virus.

Humans don't get distemper, but the disease affects pets, and certain species of wildlife, such as raccoons, wolves, foxes, and skunks. Distemper is spread primarily through the air, but also through direct contact with infected animals or their bodily fluids.

Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Emmet 911 Dispatch Center has seen an increase in sick animal calls.

"We have seen an uptick in sick and diseased animals, especially squirrels and raccoons," said Bob Bradley, CCE dispatch executive director. "In our case, we dispatch an officer or call the DNR to generally dispose of the animal."

If someone sees a wild animal acting strangely, call 911 and dispatchers can then determine whether a local police department or the DNR should deal with the animal.

"Safety is our concern for everyone," Bradley said. "You don't know what the animal might have. In most cases, the DNR or law enforcement will come out and euthanize the animal."

In Boyne City, it is not unusual to see wild animals in town, but the cases of sick animals in August and September are high, said Police Chief Jeff Gaither.

The police have responded to calls about a skunk, a porcupine and about 15 calls dealing with sick raccoons. Several of the animals in Boyne City were so ill that they were no longer mobile, Gaither said.

"It is unusually high to see this many sick animals," Gaither said. "We normally don't respond to animal calls, but when people call and don't know what to do we will generally assist and euthanize the animal."

In Charlevoix, the police have been dispatched to euthanize between 5 and 10 sick animals, said Deputy Chief of Police Scott Hankins.

The signs of recognizing an animal with distemper can be easy, said Brian Mastenbrook, wildlife supervisor with the Department of Natural Resources in Gaylord.

"An animal with distemper will behave in ways you would never expect an animal to behave," Mastenbrook said. "There are more calls about raccoons during the day. An animal that has this virus may actually walk toward a person weaving or staggering like they're intoxicated."

The virus causes respiratory and intestinal problems, such as coughing, diarrhea, vomiting, or discharge from the nose and eyes. The virus also causes wild animals, such as foxes, coyotes and raccoons, to show abnormal behavior, including a lack of fear, aggression, disorientation and lack of alertness.

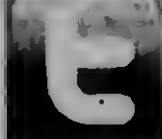

There is canine distemper and

Donald William Peterson is September's Veteran of the Month

The Veteran of the Month for September is Donald William Peterson. Born on Sept. 16, 1937, in Lansing, Peterson was raised in DeWitt and graduated in the class of 1956 from DeWitt High School. Peterson enlisted in the U.S. Marine Corps on Oct. 31, 1956 and entered into active duty in Detroit, beginning a 21-year, 11-month and 17-day military career. On March 30, 1957 in DeWitt, Peterson married Ruth J. White. On Jan. 1, 1958 Peterson was promoted to the non-commissioned officer rank of corporal and was assigned to company A, 1st battalion, 1st marines division serving as a squad leader with the specialty of machine gunner. On April 25, 1958, at Camp Pendleton, Peterson reenlisted and was reassigned to guard company, service battalion, Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Virginia where he attended a two week non-commissioned officer briefing course. On Dec. 16, 1960 Peterson reenlisted and continued his schooling in accounting and intro to business courses. Peterson served two tours of duty in Vietnam totaling one year, seven months and eleven days. On Jan. 4, 1969 Peterson was promoted to the rank of gunnery sergeant and on Nov. 1, 1972 he reenlisted in Arlington, Va.

On March 1, 1974, Peterson was promoted to master sergeant and on Sept. 30, 1976, at service company, support battalion, Quantico, Va., Peterson received an honorable discharge and was transferred to the Fleet Marine Corps Reserves and was awarded the following decorations and awards: Vietnam Service Award with Four Bronze Battle Stars; Republic of Vietnam Meritorious Unit Commendation with Palm;

Vietnam Campaign Medal with 60 Devise; Letter of Commendation from Department of the Academics, USA, Trans School, Fort Eustis, Texas; Pistol Expert Badge; Rifle Marksmanship Badge and The Good Conduct Medal with Five Bronze Stars Award. Returning home, Peterson went to work for General Motors in Lansing and served as a security officer retiring in 1992 and later moved to Gaylord where he enjoyed fishing, hunting, gardening, drove cancer patients to Petoskey for radiation treatments, served on the Veterans Trust Fund Board and the County Veterans Affairs Committee. On Jan. 29, 2015 Donald William Peterson answered the final call and is being honored by his wife Ruth and son Douglas.

To honor a veteran, call the program chairman at (231) 588-6067 or between 3:30-8:30 p.m. on Tuesdays, call (231) 582-7811. The ceremony may be witnessed on the first Thursday of each month at The American Legion Post located on the corner of South Lake and Main streets at 6:15 p.m. in Boyne City.

City approves purchase of salt, copy machines

LONNIE ALLEN
(231) 547-4558 - allen@charvoix.com

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix City Council approved a contract for the purchase of ice control salt at $65.23 per ton, $3.18 less than the city paid last year.

Each year, the city has been a participant in the MiDeal program for the purchase of the salt.

"Under this program, the state prepares detailed specifications for the material and awards an annual bid for ice control salt," said Department of Public Works superintendent Pat Elliott, "Municipalities in the program get bid unit price secured through the state."

Through the program, the city receives a more competitive price due to the large quantity of material bid by the program, and the process complies with all of the requirements for competitive bidding, said City Manager Mark Heydiauff.

"The state aggregates the amount needed from all the participants in the program before going out for a bid," Heydiauff said.

In April, the city had to reserve the amount of salt for use during the winter season so the state would have a base for its bids.

LONNIE ALLEN/CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The city council approved the purchase of road salt for the upcoming winter and two new copy machines for City Hall, during their regular meeting on Sept. 21.

This year, the city has reserved 250 tons of salt, which would come to $16,307 at the contract price.

The city has earmarked $35,800 for winter maintenance and supplies.

"Road salt is one component of that budget category," Elliott said.

The city also approved the purchase of two Xerox 5955 WorkCentre copy machines from Michigan Officeways in Charlevoix, for $11,580, which includes delivery, setup and training. The new units will have the ability to copy, fax, print, and print and scan in color. The WorkCentres will help staff members to be more efficient and increase their productivity.

Heydiauff said to council members.

The 2015-16 city budget allocates $18,100 to replace the two units and it is expected that after initial IT costs to install the two machines the city will be approximately $4,000 under budget.

Michigan Officeways has been based in Charlevoix since 1971. Because the bid is from a local business, the local bidders preference policy did not come into play, Heydiauff said.

"The low bid came from a local business," Heydiauff said. "The other bids were higher so we did not have to use that policy. We prefer to work with local businesses whenever we can."

Charlevoix Clean Up project needs volunteers

CHARLEVOIX — The Main Street Promotions Committee hopes to support local businesses by organizing a downtown fall clean up in Charlevoix before the annual Appiefest in October.

The Charlevoix Main Street program invites all community members to take part in the planned clean-up day from 1-4 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 3. Volunteers are needed to help pull weeds, clean up trash, help remove graffiti and other similar tasks.

Those who want to volunteer will meet in East Park by the clock across from Subway at 1 p.m. From there, groups will be assigned to specific locations. Volunteers of every age are welcome at this event. Cleaning supplies and t-shirts will be provided.

"A community clean-up day is a great way to build relationships in our community and to support our local businesses," said project chair and promotions committee member, Mayor Gabe Campbell. "A litter free flower bed is not just a pretty sight, but it is also a sign of a community that cares."

To register, send an email to MainStreetAssistant@CityofCharlevoix.org or call the Charlevoix Main Street office at (231) 547-3257.

LETTERS to the editor

Preservation plans laid by the Charlevoix Historic commission should be considered

Editor:

There is much discussion these days about the value of historic preservation in our community. By the term historic preservation it is meant a formal program to preserve and protect buildings and landscapes which are significant to both Charlevoix's historic past as well as to our community's future. These elements of our built environment are not only the links to our shared historical heritage but constitute the unique legacy we will leave for future generations.

While most of us support the general goals of historic preservation, beyond the advantageous outcomes lay some difficult questions. Who has the responsibility to protect these treasures? How might buildings actually be protected and by whom? Once raised, these questions often lead to ideological impasses, which in turn lead to lack of action, which then in turn leads to continued degrading of the resources themselves through the forces of destruction, neglect and extensive modification.

So how do we separate the responsibilities and interests of historic preservation? It is certainly important to recognize that private and public responsibilities are interlinked. The owners of historic properties hold certain broad ownership rights to their property, which are well established by law and custom. Although often overlooked, it is true that the public also has a legitimate interest in private property. These interests are also protected by law; our zoning ordinances provide one, but not the only example. In zoning we codify the public interest by protecting the general health, safety and welfare of the population and promoting the beauty and historical uniqueness of our communities as a whole. Zoning ordinances, as well as other public laws, require all of us to surrender some personal interests in favor of larger concerns for public benefit.

The Earl Young houses are a unique and valuable asset for both their owners as well as the community. Visitors from all over the United States as well as foreign countries come to Charlevoix specifically to see these houses as well as other historic architecture in our community. The benefits to the public welfare are evident to many of us; stabilize and improve property values, foster civic pride and strengthen the local economy.

The important question as to how far the public and private interests in historic preservation extend is a question to be decided within the community. Thousands of American cities, towns and villages have had such discussions and have settled questions of how historic preservation should proceed to the satisfaction of both private and public interests. Historical preservation plans, such as the one now being recommended by the Charlevoix Historic District Commission to protect the existing Earl Young houses in the city of Charlevoix, are designed to meet this objective thereby preserving our past for the future. It is worthy of our attention and thoughtful consideration.

Sincerely,
Chuck Cleland

Char-Em United Way recognizes 12 years of community effort

Editor:

Char-Em United Way would like to thank the following teams of volunteers who helped support our recent Day of Caring. Bergmann Center Aktion Club; Circuit Controls Corporation; Department of Health and Human Services; entire student body of East Jordan High School; Odawa Casino and Petoskey News-Review, which allowed their staff or students to assist with projects throughout the day. Additionally, teams of community volunteers not otherwise associated with a business also volunteered and worked on projects in the community.

St. Marys Cement and Chemical Bank were not able to join us on Sept. 11, but will be sending out teams in the coming weeks to assist with a few additional jobs. Without the participation of area agencies, schools, organizations, service clubs, businesses and individuals the Day of Caring could not be the success it is.

Thank you also to our business sponsors for the Day of Caring which included Circuit Controls Corporation, Odawa Casino Resort, Great Lakes Energy, Petoskey News-Review and Fletch's of Petoskey. Your support means our teams are well dressed in Day of Caring T-shirts, showing the community the importance of volunteerism and the impact that can be made when we LIVE UNITED.

The 12th Annual Day of Caring made a huge difference for many agencies and individuals in Charlevoix and Emmet Counties. Your generosity was greatly appreciated and acknowledged throughout our communities. We look forward to another successful Day of Caring next year.

Sincerely,
Racheal Barkley
Program manager

Doing Well by Doing Good

"Doing Well by Doing Good," is a quote from Benjamin Franklin and his definition of solid business capitalism. Walter Ruther, the man responsible for conjoining the AFL-CIO, developed his own theory regarding the sharing of wealth: "We, as United States citizens, foot the bill for educating our progeny. We pay for the public and private schools, community colleges and universities and trade schools. We pay for the majority of facilities utilized for teaching, training and the process of technological development and advancement. We should share equally in the benefits society receives as a result of these advancements."

Wage and benefit disparity, today, in the United States is growing at a disproportionate rate in favor of ranking corporate personnel and corporate equity. The wage disparity has grown from a traditional difference of about 20:1 to approximately 800:1. This equates to a prior accepted policy that ranking corporate personnel used to receive about $20 for each dollar earned by rank and file personnel. Now that ratio equates to about $800 to each $1 rank and file members earn. This difference clearly defines the wage and benefit disparity in the United States and the major cause of many societal issues we face today.

Maintaining the prevailing wage for federal and state funded projects is an absolute must for workaday, rank and file members of the middle class. The Taft-Hartley Act and other provisions are and have been financial negotiating and bargaining tools, which have helped keep the balance of wage and benefits compensation minimally in check.

Don't confuse organized labor with high wages. We need to understand that the sharing of advanced technological improvements are meant to benefit society, not just the corporate patent holders and those owning shares of those businesses.

Outright greed is apparent and must be checked.

Cottage construction in the early 1880s

The Immediate Lake Charlevoix shores have seen major construction projects since 1878 when the Belvedere resort, then called the Charlevoix Summer Resort Association, began to go up. This was followed by the Chicago Club in 1881. Currently the focus has been on the huge DeVos — Amway Corporation — development that is transforming the tip of Pine Point east of town. Local excavating business Swanson K & D Inc. has been working four years on that project, and cut through the very tip of the point to provide a channel wide and deep enough to accommodate and shelter the largest pleasure craft on the Great Lakes. To its northwest, near Raspberry Bay, across the water from Depot Beach, after two years Angler's Cove is also nearing completion, a six bedroom, seven one-half bath, five fireplace, 15,000 square foot residence on 57 acres, currently listed for $13 million. This project also entailed a lot of earth moving. But it all began much more simply. Belvedere members would come north with their families to stay in their newly completed clubhouse, built in 1879, while they supervised the construction of their very modest three-room wood cottages from beginning to end. They hired local men with teams of horses who arrived on the club with scrapers and plows, with which the work crews would break ground on the terrace lots overlooking either Lake Charlevoix or the upper channel. A plow can be seen behind the horses at right. Member families often arrived on site in horse-drawn carriages accompanied by picnic baskets. Wives, mothers and children would sit on the grass to eat and watch while husbands, and fathers, some in full-tailed formal coats, silk stovepipe hats and ties, consulted with the workmen, usually clad in white shirts and vests. A cottage could be finished in only a few weeks, time enough to furnish, decorate, and enjoy the rest of the season in what was then a summertime luxury.

Charlevoix Public Library to play host to "Michigan Apples" author

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix Public Library will host Michigan author Sharon Kegerreis as she presents her new 2015 release, "Michigan Apples." Kegerreis will visit the library at 6:30 p.m. on Oct. 6, prior to Apple Fest weekend.

The book features Michigan's French heritage of the 1700s and Detroit's vibrant orchard past, and reveals the significant role of the apple in pioneer settlements.

All too often, John Chapman, aka Johnny

Appleseed, is the catch all explanation for the nation's — and Michigan's — apple heritage. While Chapman certainly played a major role in planting seeds throughout the Ohio Valley that later aided pioneers in settling homesteads and chugging hard cider, he does not get credit for Michigan's earliest apple orchards. Michlganders have French adventurers to thank for the sweet apple's arrival here.

Author Sharon Kegerreis, who previously co authored two books on Michigan wine, spent a year researching how the non native sweet apple was first planted in Michigan — at the invitation of The History Press, a South Carolina based publisher that is now part of Arcadia Publishing. Kegerreis traveled 5,000 miles and interviewed apple farmers and industry experts while culling together facts from historic journals, societies, newspapers and books. Kegerreis' photographs and historic images of the 1800s and 1900s are featured, as well as tucked in apple recipes.

Other highlights include the 1840 Log Cabin and Hard Cider campaign, the once renowned Apple Keg juice, the 1900s orchards of Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore, and a 20 year Apple Smorgasbord.

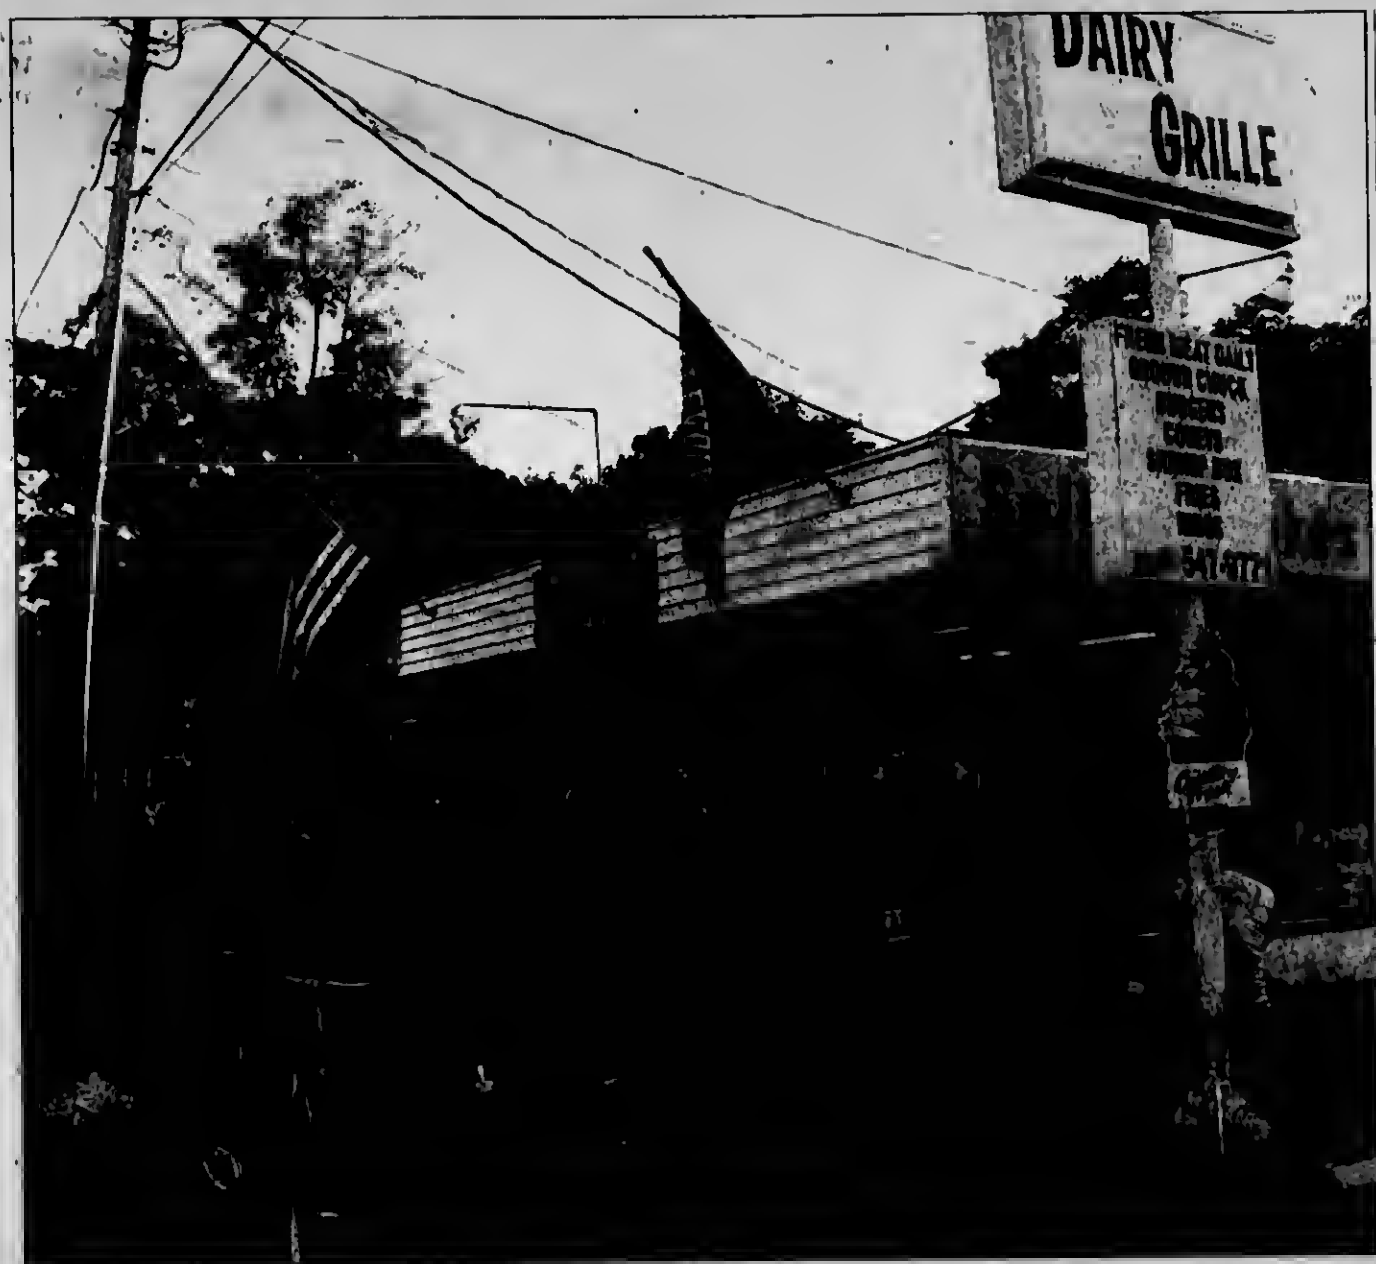

While the book shares detailed history, it also pays tribute to today's apple industry and the "Fruit Ridge," where 65 to 70 percent of all Michigan apples grow today. Later chapters highlight heritage varieties, like Northern Spy and Jonathan, and modern day apples, like Honeycrisp and Gala. Chapters are also devoted to sweet cider and the hard cider renaissance.

Kegerreis is a longtime writer whose career spans 25 years. A native Michlgander, she is passionate for the Great Lakes, agriculture, history and outdoor and travel adventures. She co authored The History of Michigan Wines, published in 2010 with The History Press, and co authored From the Vine: Exploring Michigan Wineries, a 2008 Michigan Notable Book. She also co authored research for the State of Michigan to document Michigan's earliest wine history.

Kegerreis will have books on hand for purchase and will be signing copies at the presentation. Interested parties may order books and get background information at sharonmk.com. Also find "Michigan Apples" at local bookstores.

Dairy Grille customers lined up all weekend to fulfill their cravings before the business closed for the season. Many faithful patrons were buying and taking home a quart of their favorite ice cream, or buying one last dipped ice cream cone or grabbing one last burger before the windows closed on Sunday, Sept. 20. For some Dairy Grille lovers the end of the season begins the countdown until next spring when the business will re-open for another season.

Green Light Business Competition to award up to $15,000 in cash and prizes

CHARLEVOIX — Castle Farms of Charlevoix will host an evening in support of the Green Light Business Competition from 5:30-8 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 8. The Green Light Business Competition is a money backed rivalry between parties interested in promoting new business in the Ellsworth, East Jordan and Atwood area. The gist of the competition is to develop and deliver the best new business proposal for properties that fall within the designated area.

Judges will whittle down the existing entries to 10 finalists. Those finalists will pitch their plans and be judged by a panel of five judges and the audience will have the opportunity to participate in the People's Choice Award. There is up to $15,000 in cash and prizes to be awarded for the Green Light Business Competition. First place will receive $10,000, second place gets $3,000, and $2,000 will be awarded to third place with the People's Choice receiving $500.

The first place winner will have the opportunity to compete at the state competition for Green Light in March, 2016, in East Lansing with a competition that offers money and prizes worth up to $50,000.

More than just a virtual game, this professional match game is intended to bring results. The area hopes to bring in real jobs through the encouragement of entrepreneurship.

"This is very exciting," said Mary Faculak, president and CEO of the East Jordan Chamber of Commerce. "This event is the first of its kind in Northern Michigan. We want everyone to know how forward and progressive our area is."

Appetizers and refreshments will be served and there is no charge to attend this event; however, registration is required as space is limited.

To register visit greenlighteastjordan.com and for more information, call (231) 536-7351.

Lee Murdock to play the SumerFolk concert series

CHARLEVOIX — Rounding out Charlevoix Public Library's SumerFolk Concert series will be Lee Murdock from 6:30-8:30 p.m. on Sept. 28.

This performer has uncovered a boundless body of music and stories in the Great Lakes. His music is grounded in the work song tradition, from the rugged days of lumberjacks and wooden sailing schooners. Murdock comes alongside with ballads of contemporary commerce and revelry in the grand folk style. Murdock, as the featured performer kicks off the evening with a 45-minute concert, which is followed by an open mic session; an opportunity for the public to share talents. Open mic sign-up begin at 6 p.m. on the night of the concert, and is limited to five performers. All concerts are free and donations at the door are appreciated.

For more information, call (231) 547-2651.

Drug abuse workshop to be held at library in Oct.

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix Public Library will host an upcoming workshop addressing substance abuse problems in the conference rooms from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. of Friday, Oct. 2. "Recovery Oriented Systems of Care: Promoting Recovery from Addictions in Northwest Lower Michigan" is open to all who are concerned and interested in addressing substance abuse issues in the area.

Michael Flaherty PhD, Clinical Psychologist, from Pennsylvania will be the workshop leader and will guide participants. The class will instruct attendees about ROSC and how it differs from traditional treatment approaches, how to become involved in defining recovery for the community, where to look to find quality services, to become involved in establishing new principles of care for the community, to identify the roles of peers, families and communities in the program, learn about recovery coaches in the area, to help establish goals for the area about future efforts and activities and to gain the opportunity to encourage policy makers and others to help fund these efforts.

Cost for the class is $10 which will include lunch on-site at the Charlevoix Public Library conference rooms. Anyone interested in continuing education units for social workers or addiction professionals, may pay an additional $10 at registration and get 5.5 hours of continuing education credits.

The Charlevoix Area Club, BASES, Charlevoix Hospital, Harbor Hall and Sue Hoffman Clinical Social Worker worked together to bring this workshop to the area. Participation will be limited to 75 people. This workshop is supported by a grant from the Charlevoix County Community Foundation.

For more information or to register, call (231) 547-1144, visit BASESTeenCenter.org/ROSC.htm, or mail your registration information to BASES at 208 W. Lincoln, Charlevoix, MI 49720.

OBITUARIES

Jane Elizabeth Payne, 99

Jane Elizabeth Payne, of east Lansing, died on Sept. 19, 2015. She was preceded in death by her beloved husband Kenyon T. Payne.

She is survived by her daughter Martha J. Payne of Muncie, Indiana, her sons William S. Payne (Jacqueline) of Lansing, Michigan and Christopher T. Payne (Virginia) of Evergreen, Colorado; four grandchildren, Kathryn Oltmans (James) of Parker, Colorado, Kristen Matson (Ronald) of Arvada, Colorado, Megan McMillan (Robert) of Scone, Scotland, Mary Elizabeth (Molly) Payne of Richmond, Virginia, and five great-grandchildren. Born Aug. 22, 1916 in Ypsilanti to Ida D'Onofrio Boucher and Chauncey Samuel Boucher, Jane graduated from Smith College in Northampton, Massachusetts with a degree in art history and was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. She and Ken raised their three children in east Lansing. In summers, Jane and her family vacationed at the family cottage at the Belvedere Club in Charlevoix, where she had spent summers from the time she was born. Jane loved tennis, golf, picnics on the beach, sailing, and above all enjoying the view of Lake Charlevoix from the cottage porch. Jane was a talented artist, specializing in water color and particularly painting scenes from Northern Michigan.

She served as a docent at the Kresge Art Gallery at Michigan State University, and later served as president of the Friends of Kresge. She was a long time member of The Peoples' Church.

In lieu of flowers please send memorials to the Belvedere Club Memorial Fund, P.O.

Box 218, Charlevoix, MI 49720. The family would like to thank hospice and a staff of professionals and compassionate care and advice, especially Eva Shokes, Mary Kavanaugh, and Shanell McWilliams as well as Mike McIlroy and staff at Highland Alzheimer's Care of Jackson for their wonderful care and compassion.

A funeral service will be held at The Peoples' Church, east Lansing, on Thursday Sept. 24, at 11 a.m., with visitation one hour prior to the service. Condolences and memories may be shared with the family at www.greastiansing.com.

Wallace Jay Poole, Sr., 75

Wallace Jay Poole, Sr., age 75, passed away on Wednesday, Sept. 9, 2015. Wally was born on May 26, 1940 in Charlevoix to parents Elmer and Margaret (Simpson) Poole.

He worked as a machinist for Brunswick, retiring after 30 years. Wally enjoyed hunting, fishing, and he was a fan of all Michigan sports but especially loved the Detroit Lions.

Wally will be lovingly remembered by his wife of 56 years, Beverly (Bailey) Poole; children, W. "Jay" (Barbara) Poole, Kathy (Patrick) Cain, Craig (Dawn) Poole; grandchildren, Brianna Poole, Ryan Poole, Leah (Tim) Slot, Emily (Matt) Boogaard, Ashley Poole, Kyle Poole, Brooke Thrall and Marlee Cain; great-grandchildren, Elijah Boogaard and Allee Thrall; siblings, Margaret Bushor, Elaine Budde and Lewis Poole. He was preceded in death by both parents; siblings, Elmer Poole, Wilma Keubler, Joan McKenney, Patricia Lamb, William Poole and Nancy Eaton.

A celebration of Wallace's life was held Sept. 15, 2015 at Everett Funeral Home and Chapel, 1783 E. Keating Ave., in Muskegon. The family received visitors prior to the services.

In lieu of flowers, please consider a donation to the American Diabetes Association or the American Cancer Society.

Leadership Charlevoix County begins its fifth year on Beaver Island

BEAVER ISLAND — Leadership Charlevoix County kicked off its fifth year with a team building retreat for the 19 class members on Beaver Island Sept. 13-14.

Before boarding the Beaver Island Boat Company ferry, the class kicked off their retreat at the Charlevoix Public Library with team building and personality profiles led by Karen Marietti from Camp Daggett. Once on the island, the class took in the sights, sounds and places of interest for the next day and a half, including an overnight stay and tour at the Central Michigan University Biological Center, visits to the community center, the Mormon Print Shop, Little Sand Bay, the Beaver Island Transfer Station, Beaver Island community schools, Beaver Island Health Center, Beaver Island Chamber of Commerce, and Welke Airways/Air Ambulance Service.

"This is a great group of people," said Kendall Hayes, Program Coordinator for Leadership Charlevoix County. "They have already bonded so well and bring a lot of enthusiasm to this year's program. I can't wait to see how this year evolves and what these participants will bring to the table as future leaders of Charlevoix County."

County."

Leadership Charlevoix County is a collaborative program of the Boyne City, Charlevoix and East Jordan Area Chambers of Commerce. Over the next nine months, participants will take part in sessions involving community governmental structure; ethics, culture and philanthropy; economic development; education; health and human services; and environment and natural resources. The class also will learn hands on leadership skills including public presentations, how to run a meeting, grant writing and conflict resolution.

"The goal of Leadership Charlevoix County is to develop the skills of potential leaders within our community who currently work or reside within Charlevoix County," said LCC Board President Dianne Litzenburger. "Our participants are hand-picked by Charlevoix County businesses and our Chambers of Commerce as potential board members, city council members, elected officials and business owners who will direct the future of our community. This is a huge opportunity for both the participants and Charlevoix County."

Leadership Charlevoix County class members also will collaborate throughout the year on a community service project. The project, chosen by the class, must meet a community need, and be completed within the nine months of the Leadership Charlevoix Community class program. For the first time this year, Leadership Charlevoix County asked for requests for proposals from community agencies for consideration by the leadership class. So far, six proposals have been submitted for consideration.

CHARLEVOIX — On Sept. 16, the Charlevoix Township Planning Commission approved plans for construction to start on two new Krist Foodmart convenience stores.

The two stores will be located on the north and south end of town to service those going in and coming out of town. The south end store will be located on the Way Property, just south of the bike trail, with the north end store located at the corner of Mercer and U.S. 31 by Uhrick's Lincoln Log Motel.

The two stores are expected to create new jobs as well as increase access to services for people living on each side of town.

"It will increase convenience for north and southside people," said Chuck Center, Charlevoix Township supervisor. "In addition to this it will also create 15 new jobs in our area and provide a tax base for schools and the township."

The stores will also provide residents with competitive rates on gas and propane, in addition to providing such services as convenience store-type shopping and offering meats for purchase.

"The two stores that are going in are Krist Oil's largest scale model. It's going to be an upgrade from just your normal gas station," said Jim Malewitz, project designer with Performance Engineers.

Construction of both sites is slated to begin spring of 2016. Currently the Krist Oil Company independently owns and operates 70 Convenience Stores in Upper Michigan and Northern Wisconsin. The company has been looking at bringing their stores to the area for the past five years.

OBITUARIES

Jane Elizabeth Payne, 99

Jane Elizabeth Payne, of east Lansing, died on Sept. 19, 2015. She was preceded in death by her beloved husband Kenyon T. Payne.

She is survived by her daughter Martha J. Payne of Muncie, Indiana, her sons William S. Payne (Jacqueline) of Lansing, Michigan and Christopher T. Payne (Virginia) of Evergreen, Colorado; four grandchildren, Kathryn Olthoff (James) of Parker, Colorado, Kristen Matson (Ronald) of Arvada, Colorado, Megan McMillan (Robert) of Scone, Scotland, Mary Elizabeth (Molly) Payne of Richmond, Virginia, and five great-grandchildren. Born Aug. 22, 1916 in Ypsilanti to Ida D'oge Boucher and Chauncey Samuel Boucher, Jane graduated from Smith College in Northampton, Massachusetts with a degree in art history and was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. She and Ken raised their three children in east Lansing. In summers, Jane and her family vacationed at the family cottage at the Belvedere Club in Charlevoix, where she had spent summers from the time she was born. Jane loved tennis, golf, picnics on the beach, sailing, and above all enjoying the view of Lake Charlevoix from the cottage porch. Jane was a talented artist, specializing in water color and particularly painting scenes from Northern Michigan.

She served as a docent at the Kresge Art Gallery at Michigan State University, and later served as president of the Friends of Kresge. She was a long time member of The Peoples' Church.

In lieu of flowers please send memorials to the Belvedere Club Memorial Fund, P.O.

Box 218, Charlevoix, MI 49720. The family would like to thank hospice advantage of Lansing for their professional and compassionate care and advice, especially Eva Shokes, Mary Cavanaugh, and Shanell McWilliams as well as Mike McIlroy and staff at Highland Alzheimer's Care of Jackson for their wonderful care and compassion.

A funeral service will be held at The Peoples' Church, east Lansing, on Thursday Sept. 24, at 11 a.m., with visitation one hour prior to the service. Condolences and memorials may be shared with the family at www.greastlansing.com.

Wallace Jay Poole, Sr., 75

Wallace Jay Poole, Sr., age 75, passed away on Wednesday, Sept. 9, 2015. Wally was born on May 26, 1940 in Charlevoix to parents Elmer and Margaret (Simpson) Poole.

He worked as a machinist for Brunswick, retiring after 30 years. Wally enjoyed hunting, fishing, and he was a fan of all Michigan sports but especially loved the Detroit Lions.

Wally will be lovingly remembered by his wife of 56 years, Beverly (Bailey) Poole; children, W. "Jay" (Barbara) Poole, Kathy (Patrick) Cain; Craig (Dawn) Poole; grandchildren, Brianna Poole, Ryan Poole, Leah (Tim) Slot, Emily (Matt) Boogaard, Ashley Poole, Kyle Poole, Brooke Thrall and Marlee Cain; great-grandchildren, Elijah Boogaard and Islee Thrall; siblings, Margaret Bushor, Elaine Budde and Lewis Poole.

He was preceded in death by both parents; siblings, Elmer Poole, Wilma Keubler, Joan McKenney, Patricia Lamb, William Poole and Nancy Eaton.

A celebration of Wallace's life was held Sept. 15, 2015 at Ever Rest Funeral Home and Chapel, 1783 E. Keating Ave., in Muskegon. The family received visitors prior to the services.

In lieu of flowers, please consider a donation to the American Diabetes Association or the American Cancer Society.

Drug abuse workshop to be held at library in Oct.

Charlevoix — The Charlevoix Public Library will host an upcoming workshop addressing substance abuse problems in the conference rooms from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. of Friday, Oct. 2. "Recovery Oriented Systems of Care: Promoting Recovery from Addictions in Northwest Lower Michigan" is open to all who are concerned and interested in addressing substance abuse issues in the area.

Michael Flaherty PhD, Clinical Psychologist, from Pennsylvania will be the workshop leader and will guide participants. The class will instruct attendees about ROSC and how it differs from traditional treatment approaches, how to become involved in defining recovery for the community, where to look to find quality services, to become involved in establishing new principles of care for the community, to identify the roles of peers, families and communities in the program, learn about recovery coaches in the area, to help establish goals for the area about future efforts and activities and to gain the opportunity to encourage policy makers and others to help fund these efforts.

Cost for the class is $10 which will include lunch on-site at the Charlevoix Public Library conference rooms. Anyone interested in continuing education units for social workers or addiction professionals, may pay an additional $10 at registration and get 5.5 hours of continuing education credits.

The Charlevoix Area Club, BaSeS, Charlevoix hospital, harbor hall and Sue Hoffman Clinical Social Worker worked together to bring this workshop to the area. Participation will be limited to 75 people. This workshop is supported by a grant from the Charlevoix County Community Foundation.

Before boarding the Beaver Island Boat Company ferry, the class kicked off their retreat at the Charlevoix Public Library with team building and personality profiles led by Karen Marietti from Camp Daggett. Once on the island, the class took in the sights, sounds and places of interest for the next day and a half, including an overnight stay and tour at the Central Michigan University Biological Center, visits to the community center, the Mormon Print Shop, Little Sand Bay, the Beaver Island Transfer Station, Beaver Island community schools, Beaver Island Health Center, Beaver Island Chamber of Commerce, and Welke Airways/Air Ambulance Service.

"This is a great group of people," said Kendall Hayes, Program Coordinator for Leadership Charlevoix County. "They have already bonded so well and bring a lot of enthusiasm to this year's program. I can't wait to see how this year evolves and what these participants will bring to the table as future leaders of Charlevoix County."

CHARLEVOIX — The Circle of Arts will present a retrospective show in honor of one of Northern Michigan's well known and respected pastel artists, Jerry Power, who passed away in 2009. The Power family is graciously sharing more than 50 of Jerry's paintings from their personal family collection, many of which have never been seen before.

Power started painting in 1989 when his wife Pati signed him up for a pastel class in Romeo. He then continued painting with the Romeo area painters and entered his first competition at the Romeo Peach Festival. He was hooked on painting and became very serious about it after retiring and moving to Northern Michigan. Power became a member of several art associations including the Great Lakes Pastel Society, Michigan Plein Air Painters and was proud to be a Master Painter with the Great Lakes Painters Association. His work has been featured in many magazines including American Artist and The Pastel Journal. Power received many honors in his all too short career including the Art Spirit Foundation and the Diane Bernhard Silver Medal Award for Excellence.

Power loved the outdoors and plein air painting. His paintings transport you to Northern Michigan beaches, the dunes along Lake Michigan or an old farm and meadows of beautiful flowers. "I feel my obligation as an artist is to share with the viewer those moments for they may never come again, and spark an awareness that nature is both beautiful and fragile," he once said.

He loved to teach and share his love of plein air paintings and did so at a variety of galleries in Northern Michigan including Cycling Salamander in Charlevoix and Thore-son Farms in Leelanau. His wife, Pati was his constant companion accompanying him while painting and teaching classes.

This is what he had to say about the under taught art of squinting: "I found squinting to be the most important technique that I use. It was never taught and isn't really a part of any how-to-draw-and-paint publications. Maybe it can't be taught and just has to come from experience. Squinting down your subject sounds simple, but it takes awhile to understand what it really means. There are degrees of squinting and different approaches, depending on what you are squinting for. Are you squinting to determine shades and patterns? Are you looking for movement or an abstract design? Clarifying color value or the right temperature? Deciding on composition, blocking out distractions, softening edges, establishing contrasts? Or are you just making a busy scene appear simple?"

"Believe me, squinting is the best tool. I have seen artists or students squint when they start a painting because they were told they should, and after they have started the painting, never squint again. If you continue to use the squinting process while you paint, you can help keep your center of interest from getting lost. You know where to keep your sharpest contrasts. You won't lose the basic design and movement of space and form. It will keep you from losing your measurements, which may have been covered over. Squinting really helps you choose the soft and hard edges that make a painting work."

The opening reception of The POWER of Pastels: Legacy of Jerry Power is from 5-7 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 25, at the Circle of Arts, 109 Clinton St.

Experience Fire and Clay at Raven Hill Discovery Center

EAST JORDAN — The public is invited to Raven Hill Discovery Center's First Annual Fire and Clay Festival from noon-4 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 3, 2015.

General admission is $10 per person and includes access to the museum, animals, outdoor exhibits and the special exhibition "90 Years — Todd Pioneer Family History" in the Warren Loranger Great Room and a pottery show from Raven Hill's private collection on display in the Alternative Energy House. In addition, visitors can preregister for up to three 1 p.m. sessions creating raku pinch pots for $5, African spirit masks at 2 p.m. for $10 and/or precious metal clay at 3 p.m. for $25.

During session one, participants experience traditional low-fired raku clay, getting down and dirty with real clay, as they make, decorate and pit fire pinch pots and clay discs. Introductions to more modern clay such as sculpey and precious metal clay follow. Session two allows visitors to create African spirit masks from sculpey clay. In Session three, artists of all levels can fashion a piece of pure silver jewelry from precious metal clay.

Exhibit space is available for $10 to clay artists wishing to display and sell their work during this special afternoon. Pre-registration for these activities is required by Sept. 30. Register by calling (231) 536-3369 or email info@ravenhilldiscoverycenter.org.

Raven Hill Discovery Center is supported by the Michigan Council for Arts and Cultural Affairs and the National Endowment for the Arts through Raven Hill's Operational Grant award.

Area hunting prohibited on Consumers Energy property

JACKSON — As Michigan small- and big-game hunting seasons gear up, Consumers Energy offers a reminder that no hunting is allowed on its property, with the exception of its hydro properties in the northern Lower Peninsula.

"Our goal is to protect the safety of neighbors along our 98,000 miles of rights-of-way, as well as our employees working in those areas, and others," said Mike Williams, Consumers Energy's director of corporate security. "This also addresses the concerns of neighboring landowners who are concerned about trespassers entering from Consumers Energy's property."

Special provisions apply to Consumers Energy-owned lands encompassing 12,000 acres bordering its Au Sable, Manistee and Muskegon river hydroelectric facilities, where hunting is allowed.

However, constructing blinds, target shooting, baiting, burning and fire pits are strictly prohibited on all Consumers Energy land. In addition, dirt bikes, all terrain vehicles and other off-road vehicles may not be operated on any company property.

A free online brochure, "A Guide to Consumers Energy Land: To Our Michigan Neighbors," provides information for landowners, developers and others on use of Consumers Energy property.

Charlevoix Area Hospital CEO Lyn Jenks speaks to hospital employees about the move to Munson Healthcare in one of the five employee forums that were held on Wednesday. The hospital will officially change to Munson Healthcare Charlevoix Hospital in December pending regulatory approvals.

significant investments to ensure strong, local health care and that will not change. Munson Healthcare also has a track record of strengthening and securing strong local health care in the communities it serves. Together, we are committed to taking the steps needed to make certain health care services remain strong for our families, friends and neighbors."

The move to make Munson Healthcare the parent company of Charlevoix hospital comes after the hospital board decided to explore a closer relationship with Munson in 2014, said Dr. Ruth Hoppe, chair of the Charlevoix Area Hospital Board of Directors. The board considered a range of options about its future as a hospital and its relationship with Munson.

"We determined that having Munson Healthcare as our parent company is the most effective way to ensure ongoing hospital success in the changing health care environment," Hoppe said.

Hoppe said the challenges to providing high quality care in Northern Michigan — a large rural population and significant geographic distances between communities — make it critical for health care providers to join forces and work together.

"The people who live, work and play in Northern Michigan deserve excellent, accessible and coordinated health care," she said.

Volunteers stuff envelopes with information about Charlevoix Area Hospital and Munson Healthcare to mail out to the more than 3,000 donors who help support the local hospital.

Medical Center has been in place since 2004 and a 2012 regional affiliation agreement gave the hospital access to a broader range of services from Munson Healthcare. It also created an ongoing conversation about how the two organizations could best work together to serve patients with local health care services.

Over the past several months, teams from both organizations have completed a thorough due diligence process to ensure that the new organizational structure will be as intended. This included a review of all pertinent information, financial records, real estate documents, equipment lists, building and grounds information, human resource information and more. Hospital leadership also has kept its staff up to date as much as possible throughout its relationship with Munson, said Cathy Fischl, Charlevoix Area Hospital Marketing and Public Relations Coordinator.

"Communicating with our staff members has always been a very high priority for Lyn. All throughout this process, it has been her goal to be transparent, sharing as much information as possible all along the way,"

Fischl said. "That's why she regularly holds employee forums — giving our staff multiple opportunities to ask questions, share their thoughts and get the latest information. I don't think any of our staff members were surprised by the decision to become fully integrated with Munson Healthcare. We've had a great relationship for more than 11 years and we're really excited about our future."

During the coming weeks, these teams will continue work together to address needed steps to ensure a smooth transition, including seeking government approvals.

A closing date for the new structure and the beginning of combined operations has been set for Dec. 1, pending regulatory approvals.

"Significant changes to our industry during the past four years make it imperative that we work more closely together to ensure the very best care, as close to home as possible for Northern Michigan patients," said Ed Ness, president and CEO of Munson Healthcare. "This agreement will allow us to fully collaborate on the realizing that vision."

The policy was adopted in September 2013 and established the public review process and criteria to evaluate a proposed donation. In May, council members reestablished the Donation Acceptance Review Committee with the directive to work with staff and the general public to determine a defined list of acceptable projects or programs that potential donors could pick up.

The planning commission recommended no more benches in East

Park, but to consider other areas for benches, adding that there should be no bike racks or picnic tables and other donations along those lines.

"The planning commission does suggest a memorial wall," said Zach Payoff, Interim city planner and zoning administrator. "However, the suggestion is to stay with one size plaque for donors if a wall was established."

City Council members also approved changing the city ordinance dealing with air powered BB guns after the Michigan Legislature recently amended

Act 319 of 1990, which regulates firearms and ammunition. The amendments restrict the types of regulations that a municipality may place on firearms and "pneumatic guns" — air powered bb, pellet and paintball type guns. The city code prohibited the discharge of air rifles or air pistols within the city unless in self-defense or at an approved range.

"Our code was more restrictive than the state's was and we can't do that," Heydlauff said. "Basically we aligned our code to with to be as restrictive as state law permits."

feline distemper. Rabbits and other animals can catch and spread both.

"That's the same distemper you get your house cat or dog vaccinated against," Mastenbrook said. "So if they come into contact with an infected animal, they don't get this illness."

In addition to keeping your pets vaccinated, you should stay away from these animals. Call your local central dispatch or DNR if you see one.

"Make sure you keep pets away from them so they don't get an infection, or even people to prevent an injury from one of these animals," Mastenbrook said. "They don't act normal because they're sick. So you can't really predict what they're going to do."

The DNR also encourages people to make sure their pets are vaccinated against the virus since dog and cats may come in contact with a sick animal.

"The best way to prevent an infection is to have your pet vaccinated," Mastenbrook said.

The DNR has not determined a reason for the increase of distemper infections with animals this year.

"We normally see a rise in distemper among raccoons in August, but the cases are unusually high," Mastenbrook said. "We have no conclusions or a reason why we are seeing this many animals infected with the virus."

He encourages people to be cautious if they see animals acting out of the ordinary.

"The problem with an animal with distemper is they do approach people and that can be dangerous," Mastenbrook said. "These animals are not afraid. Don't approach wild animals. A healthy wild animal is not going to behave that way. Normally the animal should run away from you."

CURTIS MITCHELL
(231) 439-9343 • jgensterblum@petoskeynews.com

CHARLEVOIX — The drought continues as the Charlevoix football team took another defeat at the hands of the Grayling on Friday, a seventh consecutive year against the Vikings.

The troubles to defeat Grayling continued, as mistakes plagued and Grayling quarterback Cam Summers capitalized on those mistakes.

Summers accounted for six of his team's seven touchdowns, four on the ground, throwing for two more, as the Grayling defeated Charlevoix, 48-36.

Charlevoix fell behind 12-0 early in the first, a direct effect of penalties, turnovers and mental lapses that continuously put the Rayders in long down and distances on their first three possessions of the game.

"We don't know how to focus to start off the game and we have to change that," Charlevoix head coach Ron Bindi said.

"We watched film beforehand and we do the things we need to do and it just doesn't happen for some reason."

The second quarter was much more promising for Charlevoix as they drove the ball 68 yards down the field, aided by a long run by Jared McLean and capped off by a two yard touchdown run by Ben Boss on fourth and goal.

Grayling answered back with a touchdown of their own, as Summers connected with Kody Dole for a 31 yard touchdown pass with 21 seconds remaining in the half.

That was just enough time for Charlevoix, as Boss took the handoff and sprinted 41 yards to Grayling's 28 yard line before he was pushed out of bounds with eight seconds left in the half.

Rayder wideout Brad Klinger would then hit the corner back with a double move on the following play, which gave him enough separation for an easy 28 yard touchdown reception, which cut the deficit to 18-16 at the half.

After Grayling got the scoring in the second half started with another Dole receiving touchdown, Charlevoix faced a 28-16 deficit with 6:15 left in the third quarter.

CHARLEVOIX — The action on the field during Tuesday's LMC showdown between host Charlevoix and visiting Grayling was entertaining enough, as the Rayders held on down the stretch for an exciting 2-1 win.

But it was the cause both teams were playing for that made the night truly worthwhile.

For the first time, the Rayders and Vikings played for the Noah's Ark trophy, created in honor of former Charlevoix head coach and current assistant coach Jon Boss' son, who passed away last year.

Charlevoix worked together with Grayling AD Sparky Nitchmann, Boss' brother-in-law, to make the trophy possible in time for this year's game.

"It's something that means a lot to all of us on both sides of the field," Charlevoix coach Anton Matye said. "I'm really happy we could come together as two schools like this and make something really special happen tonight."

On the field, Charlevoix fell behind early as the Vikings took advantage of a defensive miscue to take a 1-0 lead early in the first half.

The Rayders rallied with an unassisted goal from Nick Bradley to tie the game at one 30 minutes into the first half, and then Kyle Illenden finished off a rebound off a Walker Drost shot for the game-winner six minutes later.

Although a defensive mistake caused the first goal, Charlevoix's back-line tightened up in the second half, and the Rayders were able to close out the win.

With holding midfielder David Ritter out with an illness and leading goal-scorer Christian Matye limited by injury, the Rayders leaned heavily on younger players and got good performances in return.

"We had great contributions from guys who are normally on the bench for us, guys like Kyle, Tyler Fuchs, Josh Carlson and Austin Oliver," Matye said. "It was really nice to see them step in and step up their play to fill roles for us tonight."

Charlevoix (12-2, 4-1 LMC) makes the long trip Sauli Ste. Marie on Thursday for their next game.

Charlevoix 1, Suttons Bay 0

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix soccer team has had its fair share of injuries and absences to deal with so far this season.

But so far the Rayders have coped well with those missing players, continuing to find ways to get results on the field.

That was the case again on Friday night at home, as the Rayders ground out a 1-0 win over a tough Suttons Bay team despite the absence of their leading goalscorer and two other key attacking players.

Returning from his own one-game absence on Tuesday, Walker Drost moved from his forward spot to attacking mid to fill in for the injured Christian Matye, and scored the decisive goal on a header off a long throw by defender Kevin Pearl in the eighth minute.

Charlevoix was also without holding midfielder David Ritter and forward Noah Carson, who ran with the Rayder cross country team at the Spartan Invite on Friday, but Wesley Crandell filled in admirably for Ritter and a rotating cast of bench players stepped in for Carson and kept the Charlevoix attack rolling.

"I was worried about this game, particularly with three starters not playing," Charlevoix coach Anton Matye said. "Suttons Bay is a good team that's had some very good results this year, but our bench stepped up and our defense was solid as usual."

"It was nice to see the boys protect a lead, which is something we've been working on this year."

Rayders finish strong at Spartan Invite

EAST LANSING — The Charlevoix and East Jordan cross country teams participated in one of the state's biggest and most competitive high school meets on Friday, traveling to East Lansing to take on the well-known MSU Spartan Invite.

With over 200 schools in attendance across several divisions, including likely state champions and some of the best teams from Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, it's tough for teams to separate themselves from the pack.

But the Rayders made their presence known with a good performance in the White Division (Division 3 and 4) race on Friday, taking home fourth out of 32 teams on the boys side and 11th out of 29 teams on the girls side.

Three top 30 finishes paced the Charlevoix boys' squad, led by junior David Ritter's 10th place finish (17:33).

Junior Noah Carson took 20th as well (17:51) and junior Luke Buday 24th (18:00) for the Rayders, who finished with 196 points to come in behind champion Holland Black River, Bear Lake, Onekama and Hemlock.

Also for Charlevoix, senior Jonathan Pischner took 61st (18:54), senior Ryan Erskine finished 92nd (19:27), sophomore Ben Peterson took 108th (19:40) and freshman Braeden Richards finished 179th (21:20).

On the girls side, Charlevoix finished with 331 points, 10 behind 10th place Grass Lake, Mount Pleasant Sacred

Charlevoix plays in home tourney, falls to Harbor Springs on the road

JAMES GENSTERBLUM
(231) 439-9343 • jgensterblum@petoskeynews.com

CHARLEVOIX -- Playing on their home court on Saturday, the Charlevoix volleyball team showed moments of brilliance in the home tournament to make it out of pool play and reach the bracket.

But, as they have all season, the Rayders struggled with maintaining that strong play throughout the day, falling short of reaching the finals in a tough loss to Brimley to end the tournament.

Charlevoix opened the day with solid play in victories over Harbor Light and St. Ignace that clinched a spot in bracket play for the Rayders at the conclusion of the pool.

in the pool, and against an experienced team bringing back several players from a squad that reached the Class C semi-final last year, even Charlevoix's best wasn't quite enough in a 25-20, 25-15 loss.

"Roscommon was fine competition for our team, and they stepped up to the challenge and played a new level of volleyball," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said. "We started a bit rough with unforced errors but once we got into a tempo, we played competitively with them."

"Hannah Zipp got in some good blocking on their best hitter forcing them to move her to outside hitting which meant we had disturbed their offense. Even with the loss I was pleased with some of our rallies and the overall level of play."

The Rayders couldn't sustain that momentum against Brimley, who Charlevoix matched up with first in bracket play after taking runner-up in their pool.

The Bays ended Charlevoix's day short of a rematch with Roscommon in the finals.

Zipp led the Rayders with seven aces, 11 digs and four blocks on the day, and Emily Zabawa chipped in 17 kills and three aces. Both were named to the all-tournament team.

Becca Moon chipped in 11 kills, seven aces and 26 assists for Charlevoix, Beth Veenstra added 10 kills, eight aces and two blocks, and Ali Jarema and Julia Doskoch chipped in 12 and 11 digs, respectively.

HARBOR SPRINGS — The Charlevoix girls golf program is still young, but there's no doubt the Rayders are a team on the rise.

Charlevoix proved that on Monday at the Tip of the Mitt Invite at Harbor Point Golf Club, shooting a program-low round of 390 on the way to a runner-up finish.

The Rayders finished six strokes behind champion Harbor Springs, who shot a 384, and bested Cheboygan, Petoskey and Harbor Springs to take second.

with a season-best round of 93 to finish tied for third overall, eight strokes behind, and teammate Abbey Scholten was close behind with a 95.

Sara Sabsook carded a 100 for the Rayders, Annie Joy shot a 102, Rylynn Sladek a 108 and Alex Snabes a 115.

Last Friday, the Rayders also traveled to Harbor Springs to play at Wequetonsing Golf Club, putting up a solid score of 430 despite chilly and rainy conditions in the Harbor Springs Invitational.

Traverse City West won the meet with a round of 347, while Harbor Springs was the top team among Division 3 and 4 schools with a round of 417.

Charlevoix finished second in Division 3 and 4 behind the Rams, edging out Cheboygan and also topping Alpena, East Jordan and Maple City Glen Lake.

Emily Sabsook shot a 101 to lead the Rayders, followed by Abbey Scholten, 106; Sara Sabsook, 109; Alex Snabes, 114; Rylynn Sladek, 115; and Annie Joy, 120.

The Rayders hosted their own golf event at the Belvedere Golf Club in Wednesday, which happened after press time for the Courier. Results from that event will be in next week's edition.

On Charlevoix's ensuing possession, McLean rumbled for 51 yards on a handoff, which electrified the crowd as Charlevoix regained momentum. A couple plays later, Boss surged his way into the end-zone to cut the score to 26-23.

On Grayling's next possession, Klinger intercepted Summers and returned it to Grayling's 13 yard line, and Rayder quarterback Forrest Noirot sneaked it in from one yard out to give Charlevoix their first lead of the game.

It was short lasting, though, as Summers answered with a 28 yard touchdown run to regain the lead and momentum.

"As soon as we get ahead we don't want to put the nail in the coffin," Bindi said. "When we want to play football, we're a very good football team, but against great teams we can't put the nail in the coffin, we don't know how to do it."

Grayling would add another Summers touchdown to increase their lead to 40-30 before Charlevoix would answer with a 79 yard pass from Noirot to Boss.

Summers would be too much to handle in the end, as he would then ice it with a 73 yard run to put the game away, 48-36.

Bindi saw a lot of positives in his team's performance, though, which will help them move forward in the season.

"I'm happy with them," Bindi said of his team. "We gained a lot by playing these guys that benefits us down the road."

Heart won the girls race with 32 points.

Rayder sophomore Michelle Bollini ran one of her best races of the season to fifth overall, in 20:15, and sophomore Rachel Nesburg finished 60th as well (22:43).

Also for Charlevoix, freshman Kaitlin Schwenke took 75th (23:10), senior Kelsey Engstrom took 84th (23:27), junior Kylee Scholten finished 123rd (24:26), junior Katie Mousseau took 125th (24:37) and freshman Hannah Solomon took 160th (25:31).

The results bode well for Charlevoix as it prepares for tough conference and regional races down the road.

The Rayders compete next in this Saturday's Petoskey Invitational along with the Northmen and LMC rivals Harbor Springs and East Jordan.

Boyer City Invitational
BOYNE FALLS — The 5K is the staple race of high school cross country, but it doesn't hurt to mix things up once and a while.

That's the driving idea behind the annual Boyne City Invite, hosted on Wednesday, Sept. 16 at Boyne Mountain's Alpine Golf Course.

The meet transforms the usual 5K race into a 10K relay event where a male and female partner each run alternating 1.5 mile legs as they race for the finish, putting a different perspective on the race for teams.

"(The boys and girls teams) practice together and spend a lot of time together, so there's already a close bond, but it's different when you're competing together," Charlevoix coach Doug Drenth. "Working together with someone and not wanting to let them down changes that dynamic, and it does bring the two squads closer together."

Charlevoix scored 53 points to finish runner-up in the large school division behind Harbor Springs, who won with 23 points.

The Rayders were led by the team of Michelle Bollini and David Ritter, who placed third in 36:18.

The Rayders also got a seventh-place finish from the team of Isabel Hess and Jonathan Pischner (37:55), and the team of Kelsey Engstrom and Luke Buday took 10th (38:37) as well.

"We're just steadily getting better, and I'm really happy with how they ran today," Drenth said. "I thought everyone did a good job, but Michelle really got after it on the first lap to stay with the leaders, and Jonathan has just been pushing himself very hard in practice and really bringing it in meets. They both had very good days today."

Charlevoix's team of Rachel Nesburg and Nnah Carson finished 12th (38:55), the team of Kaitlin Schwenke and Ryan Erskine took 21st (40:46), and Kylee Scholten and Ben Peterson took 24th (41:37).

Rayder JVs fall in tough matchup with Grayling, 44-14

GRAYLING — The Charlevoix JV football team fought hard but couldn't get the better of a tough Grayling squad on the road on Thursday in a 44-14 loss.

Kyle Balch returned an interception 60 yards for a touchdown for one of the Rayders' scores, and quarterback Cam Musilek hit receiver Nic Archambault for another score.

Tre Hart hit both extra points for the Rayders, who fell behind early but didn't quit, coach Brian Certa said.

Balch, Musilek, Colin Davis and Garrett Seese led the Rayders defensively, finishing as the team's stop tacklers and defensive playmakers in the loss.

Charlevoix's JV team, which opened the season with four straight road games, play Suttons Bay on Thursday in their first home appearance of the season. That game will take place after this week's Courier has already gone to print, and will be in next week's Courier.

Pop Warner Football
CHARLEVOIX — The PeeWee and Midget Rayders got their first taste of action on Kipke Field on Saturday, with the PeeWee Rayders coming away with a big victory.

The younger Rayder squad beat East Jordan 35-0, with touchdown runs by quarterback Troy Nickel, and running backs Max Dixon, Patrick Sterett, John Paul Culver and Dylan Clapp to help Charlevoix pull away.

Nickel, Nate Claflin, Ben Matter and Landon Swanson led the PeeWee Rayders defensively, making big plays to help preserve the shutout. In the Midget game against East Jordan, Charlevoix came up short in a 14-0 loss.

Fullback Dmitri Bell, quarterback Caleb Stuck, and running backs Max Ostrum and Isaak Mooar did what they could to gain traction behind a strong performance from the Rayder offensive line of Jake Claflin, Cam Vron-dran, Will Glass and Cole McArthur.

Defensively, strong play from Bell, Stuck, Ostrum, Mooar and Glass kept the Rayders in the game until the end.

Both teams travel to Harbor Springs this Saturday to take on the host Rams for their next action, starting at 10 a.m.

HARBOR SPRINGS — On Thursday, Sept. 17, Charlevoix came up short in a three-set sweep at the hands of rival Harbor Springs on the road.

The Rayder fell to the Rams 25-21, 25-12, 25-23 after sweeping all three best-of-five matches between the two teams last year, as Harbor Springs rallied from a 23-20 deficit in the final set with five straight points to put the match away.

Charlevoix had leads deep into the first and third set, but couldn't find the consistency to finish either set out.

Emily Zabawa led the Rayders with nine kills, nine digs and three aces and Harinah Zipp chipped in five kills and two aces as Charlevoix showed flashes of strong play but came up short in the end.

"We've got a good group of girls, but we're still just working on finding the right combinations on the floor," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said. "We were receiving the ball well and making decent passes, but just too close to the net and that got us into trouble."

"We're making big strides on the broad strokes, but now we've got to fine-tune the details to take the next step."

Julia Doskoch led Charlevoix with 11 digs, Becca Moon chipped in 11 assists, and Nichole Hart added four kills.

"We've only got three players back from last year's team, and they're still adjusting to being in leadership roles and figuring out how to work with their young teammates," Randall said. "Hannah Zipp did a great job playing all the way around tonight for us, and I thought Kelsey Crandell made a lot of plays for us in the back row that were tough to make."

"Ultimately, what we're trying to do is get our team to peak and be playing their best volleyball at the end of the season."

Food FOCUS

East Park Tavern's bacon wrapped bison meatloaf

CHARLEVOIX — This week's Food Focus turns its lens to The East Park Tavern, where Managing Partner Evan Chappules has recently introduced the fall and winter menu for its guests to enjoy. One of the main entrees on the seasonal menu is the tavern's unique take on one of America's classic comfort foods — meatloaf.

Chef Zack Lake uses a combination of ground bison and ground chuck and wraps the meatloaf in applewood smoked bacon before baking. Lake then tops the tavern's hearty meatloaf with a savory-sweet cherry ketchup jam and serves it with in-house made mashed potatoes and serves it with a seasonal vegetable to create the tavern's Bacon Wrapped Bison Meatloaf.

The tavern is open from 11:30 a.m. to 10 p.m., daily and has a new happy hour from 4 to 7 p.m. They are located at 307 Bridge St.

The Charlevoix Courier will feature a Charlevoix restaurant or business that prepares food for the public each week during our Food Focus series.

1. Above: The East Park Tavern's bacon wrapped bison meatloaf is placed in a skillet and a little water is added to the pan before putting the meatloaf in the oven to cook. The meatloaf is a combination of ground bison, ground chuck and some herbs and spices, mixed together, loafed and wrapped with applewood smoked bacon.

2. Right: While the meatloaf is cooking in the oven, Chef Zack Lake prepares the seasonal vegetable — asparagus — and the house made mashed redskin potatoes to be served with the entree at the East Park Tavern.

3. The meatloaf is finished with butter, a little wine and a little bit of sugar. The meatloaf is then placed with the meatloaf.

4. Once the bacon wrapped bison meatloaf is heated thoroughly it is removed from the oven. The meatloaf is then placed in the high temperature salamander to brown and caramelize the sauce.

NEW AIRPORT RUNWAY

Construction set to begin next fall

LONNIE ALLEN
(231) 547-6558 • lallen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — Runway improvements at the Charlevoix Municipal Airport are expected to begin sometime after Labor Day in 2016.

Assistant airport manager Matt Wyman told airport committee members that he was incorrect when he said the runway reconstruction project would begin in the spring at the last committee meeting.

"I misspoke when I said that because I didn't have all the information," Wyman said. "I was under the mindset that the last three years we had a project each spring, and in my process of thought, I thought we had another project next spring."

The reconstruction of the airport runway is funded with a $96,000 grant, which will improve the runway friction and grooving design. The project also will include runway lighting replacement design and sidewalk removal in the runway protection zone, of runway 27, said City Manager Mark Heydlauff.

The FAA will pay $86,400 and the Michigan Department of Transportation will pay $4,800, which is 95 percent of the project, the city will match 5 percent, which is $4,800.

Surveyors are currently working at the airport to prepare for next year's fall project. On Oct. 6, engineers will take 10-foot bore samples of the airport runway to determine asphalt thickness and soil make-up. The sampling is routine work that is done similar to a road construction project, Heydlauff said.

"It is something they do to determine proper weight displacement of the new asphalt with the soil," Heydlauff said.

The runway will shut down on that Tuesday after 5 p.m. for approximately five hours to complete the core sampling work, said Heydlauff.

"It will be a brief shut down," Heydlauff said. "We've had dialogue about the shutdown with airport operators and we expect little interference with airport operations, during the sampling period."

Members of the committee also will create a survey to give to

New principal passionate about education

ANNE KELLY
Special to Courier

CHARLEVOIX — The new principal at Charlevoix Elementary School is young, enthusiastic, well-qualified and passionate about education. Lisa Meyer, who recently joined the staff, is full of idealism borne of her experience working with highly successful schools in Chicago.

Meyer earned her Bachelor of Science degree in Early Childhood Education from Miami University in Oxford, Ohio.

She holds Master of Arts degrees in both School Leadership and Curriculum and Instruction from Concordia University in River Forest, Ill. Her experience is a good fit for Charlevoix's K-6 Elementary School since she was an elementary teacher herself before becoming an administrator, school staff said.

Meyer has taught 3rd grade,

County board pledges up to $52,000 for trail if grant funds not approved

JORDAN SPENCE
(231) 439-9397 • jspence@petoskeynews.com

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners approved a measure in which the county will promise up to $52,000 from the parks department budget to provide the local match funds needed for the Boyne City to Charlevoix Non-motorized Trail.

The funds will only be used if grants aren't approved.

A memo to the county from Ki-ersten Stark, planning coordinator states:

"A grant application for $52,000 will be submitted to the Charlevoix County Community Foundation by Oct. 1, 2015, for the remainder of the local match needed to fund phase three of the trail project. In the event that the county is not awarded the Community Foundation grant or if we are awarded less than $52,000, I would like to request that the county board obligate a future fund balance of up to $52,000 from the parks department budget to provide the local match funds needed. Although it is not anticipated at this point in time, if any additional funds beyond $52,000 are needed to complete phase three of the trail, then other grant opportunities will be pursued to cover the expense."

The resolution passed with commissioner Chris Christensen as the dissenting vote.

DDA reviews budget, OKs $10,000 extra to library

LONNIE ALLEN

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix Downtown Development Authority/Main Street Board is getting a head start on the next budgeting year.

On Sept. 28, board members reviewed the 2016-17 fiscal budget with guidance from Britney Hoszkiw, a Michigan Main Street Committee organizational specialist from Lansing.

Hoszkiw used the DDA's current budget and the next year's goals that were set for the Charlevoix Main Street program to walk board members through the budgeting steps used by successful Main Street programs in Michigan.

"She basically guided us through a budget process for the Main Street program," said DDA/

Main Street director Anne Doyle. "It was like a budgeting retreat to examine our revenues and expenditures and compare them with our Main Street organizational goals."

The process gave board members a chance to see if they would have to come up with a type of fundraising goal to meet future needs and make the process more open to the public.

"This budget process will help be more transparent to the public on our line items," Doyle said.

During the review process board member John Kurtz brought up the Charlevoix Public Library and the $600,000 commitment pledge made in 2006 from the DDA. The pledge was for 20 years at $30,000 per year. The DDA has been delinquent on its pledge

CLARIFICATION: In the Sept. 18 issue of the Charlevoix Courier, the article about Aartvark Studio confused many of our readers on the intent of the story. The Charlevoix Courier and writer Anne Kelly never meant to make people believe the newspaper was making the claim that Aartvark Studio is the longest running business in Charlevoix. That title belongs to Central Drug Store and the Ochs family.

The article published about Aartvark Studio was about the oldest family-run business with the original owners still operating the business, which was stated in the article. We apologize for any confusion.

37th annual Apple Festival celebrates Michigan's top fruit

CHARLEVOIX — The magic of autumn is celebrated in northern Michigan at the 37th Annual Charlevoix Apple Festival. Join the festivities and show your support for local farmers, orchards and non-profit organizations while celebrating the season in scenic downtown on Oct. 9-11.

Apples are Michigan's largest and most valuable fruit crop and this year our area apple trees are full to overflowing, said Shelly Ferguson, festival coordinator.

More than 30 types of apples will be available as well as other fall harvest items including pumpkins, mums, squash, jam, maple syrup, pies, cider and much more. Local, non-profit organizations will be onsite to tempt festival goers with hot food items such as chili, hot dogs, pasties, apple flapjacks, soup and kielbasa. There will be fresh bagels, mustard, crepes, honey, meat, baked goods, granola and fall veggies — all locally grown and produced. Attendees can visit the Apple Fest booth on Bridge Street next to the clock tower to purchase a long sleeve 2015 Apple Fest shirt. A portion of the proceeds will go to the Charlevoix High School art department.

The fall harvest celebration is a family-friendly event. The Apple Fest Art and Craft Show will take place all three days in East Park featuring 115 exhibitors bursting with unique creations. The show offers the work of artists and craftsmen from around the country and is a good venue to kick off the holiday shopping season.

A new feature to the family fun during Apple Fest is Kid's Day on Saturday, Oct. 10, on Mason Street from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. There will be pumpkin and gourd painting by St. Mary School, pick an apple pond by American House senior living community, and an apple tree craft activity by Charlevoix Montessori Academy For The Arts, Ferguson said.

Whispering Pines Petting Zoo also will be onsite

Saturday and Sunday with a large variety of adorable critters as well as face painting by the Charlevoix High School art department and the performing arts program.

Another new activity at Apple Fest is the Pine River Jazz Band concert and swing dance at Odmark Performance Pavilion in East Park from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Apple Fest Saturday. In case of rain, the concert will be moved indoors to the Round Lake Education Center Gymnasium on May Street in the old middle school. Donations suggested with proceeds benefiting the Charlevoix Rader Band program.

The Apple Fest Family Fun Run benefiting the Charlevoix Kiwanis Youth Foundation is on tap for Saturday, Oct. 10. The one mile starts at 9 a.m.; 5K begins at 9:30 a.m. The races will not be timed and there will be fun obstacles along the course. The event is sponsored by Charlevoix State Bank and promises goodies, prizes and lots of fun for everyone. Visit www.charlevoixkiwanis.org.

Also on Saturday, Oct. 10, enjoy a fall color cruise aboard the Keweenaw Star with historic narration provided by David Miles, Charlevoix Historical Society Curator. The cost is $25 with a portion of the proceeds benefiting the Charlevoix Historical Society. Boarding will begin at 1:45 p.m. at the Star's dock on Round Lake. For reservations or more information, call Keweenaw Excursions at (231) 237-9365 or visit chxhistory.com.

During all the apple fun in downtown, those who wish to take a guided tour of the historic Earl Young homes can. Tours are being offered by Ellair and Company Signature Tours and the Charlevoix Historical Society. Ellair and Company Signature Tours will take place at noon, 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. on Saturday, and 10 a.m., noon and 2 p.m. on Sunday. For details, call (231) 445-0770 or visit ellair.com. The Charlevoix Historical Society is offering one tour beginning at 10 a.m. on Saturday. For details, call (231) 547-0373.

Olivia Jeakle wins Apple Fest Shirt Design competition

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce announced Olivia Jeakle as the winner of the 37th Annual Charlevoix Apple Fest Shirt Design competition sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce in partnership with the Charlevoix High School Art Department.

Students in John Guirey's art class put their creative skills to the test to produce a variety of unique and colorful Apple Fest logo designs. A number of students entered the competition, but Jeakle's design stood out from the rest.

"I got my idea for my design because I wanted to do a new twist on an apple with a bite out of it, and that was what came to mind," Jeakle said.

The design contest has become an annual tradition that gives the students the opportunity to compete for the honor of having their artwork chosen to be printed on the annual festival shirts with a portion of the proceeds going to the Charlevoix High School art department.

"It is such a pleasure to work with the High school and to get the students involved with such a great community event," said Shelly Ferguson, festival coordinator. "There were so many wonderful designs submitted by the students this year. It was difficult to choose just one winner."

Jeakle is a sophomore at Charlevoix High School and her favorite thing about Apple Fest is walking downtown to get some caramel apples.

"Apple Fest means I get to see my siblings when they come home from college, and we also get to see family and friends," Jeakle said.

The Annual Charlevoix Apple Fest will take place in downtown Charlevoix on Oct. 9-11. Participants can pick up a the newly designed 2015 Apple Fest shirt at the Apple Fest melon stand next to the clock tower in East Park. Apple Fest mason jar mugs also will be available for purchase, perfect for slipping fresh apple cider provided by participating orchards.

Festival hours are from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sunday.

DDA approves funds to waterproof Bridge Park Building east wall

LONNIE ALLEN
(231) 547-6558 • lallen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix Downtown Development Authority/ Main Street board approved a recommendation from the facilities team to correct the water penetration problem to the Robert Bridge Memorial Park building east wall.

Waterproofing is considered a priority for the Bridge Park building, where the DDA leases space to Beaver Island

Boat Co., Lake Charlevoix Brewing Co. and Keweenaw Excursions because water damage and mildew would continue to get worse without it.

"We all agree that this is something we should not sit on and to get this done hopefully this fall," said member Fred Dilmartino.

The facilities committee made the recommendation to accept the bid from Shindorf Builders — a Charlevoix company — for $3,700. Besides being a local company, Shindorf also was the lowest bid.

"I think it was a pretty easy decision for our board to make," said DDA/ Main Street director Anne Doyle.

Doyle notified the contractor that the board would like to see the work start as soon as the logistics could be worked out.

"We want to see this completed before the snow flies," Doyle said. "We sent a letter to our building tenants to inform them of the board's desire to complete the waterproofing work this year."

The DDA/Main Street board hopes to work with the three businesses in building to limit any operational interference.

"We want to make sure we can avoid major work during peak times at the building with the ferry services and cruises," Doyle said. "We want to limit blocking entrances and other things that could impede business operations. However, the board does want to get this done soon."

Once the water penetration is corrected to the Robert Bridge Memorial Park building east wall committee members are expected to look at possible repairs to the interior walls where water damage has caused drywall and wall paper issues.

"The facilities team will prioritize the needs of the building and will suggest to the board what the next fix should be," Doyle said.

Honored to be called Grandpa

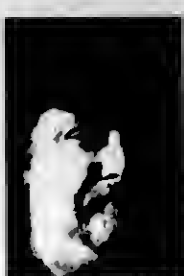

I have to admit, after my oldest daughter walked down the aisle with her husband and spoke those words, "I do," as a father, my heart pulls a tear from my eye. As you know your little girl has grown up, you gave her away to follow her dreams. This sinking feeling, wondering if she is ever going to need her dad again, as the visits grow fewer and the calls more distant, is tough.

When our children call us for money I feel a lot of us dads make comments to our buddies, like "It's my daughter, I wonder how much she needs this time," or "My kid must think I am the Bank of Dad." Truthfully I think we dads — after our kids go out into the world, get married and have children — miss that call, because the call lets us know they still need us.

This time that call from my daughter came in the form of a text message at 2:45 a.m. "Dad, Water BROKE!" My response: "Push it out, shove it out, 'way out!" "I love you, I'm so proud of you!"

Yes, my daughter was having a baby, my son-in-law, like a champ, handled the situation with superb precision and had everything under control. He is a survey manager for an engineering firm, and he goes for accuracy with efficiency. He had everything packed and off to the hospital to welcome his child, my grandchild in to the world.

When they were first married, of course, I was not sure about the man taking my daughter away. Yes, I liked him. Yes, I approved, but there is that protective dad with the firm handshake, OK, real firm handshake, and words of wisdom, "Hurt my little girl and I will hurt you, now have a lovely life together." Moving on, like I said, he was a champ doing everything he could for his laboring wife, handling it like a pro.

the baby had breached and the labor pains stopped. It was time to make a decision since the water had already broke, the doctor tried to get the baby to turn, but apparently the baby said "NO". The doctor told them it was time for an emergency C-section. At that moment you could tell my daughter was worried, but she tried not to show it and my son-in-law's face had gone completely white. He was not prepared for this, but after the initial shock he came around quickly and off to surgery to bring a child into the world.

I too was very worried and prayed for a speedy operation with the result of a crying, healthy, little baby and healthy mommy, with congratulations all around. Shortly after they wheeled my daughter away, my son-in-law returned with a very proud smile. I knew there was a little grandchild, my first grandchild and their first child had made it in to the world. For them, a new son and for me a grandson. Precious, beautiful, here for me to spoil, load up on candy, buy noisy toys for and to be able to say "here you go kids, we had a great day."

My daughter was the grand champ of it all bringing her son into the world. I am so proud of both of them. I'm very proud of my son-in-law for being a good man and now, a good father.

When I held my grandson for the first time and he looked up at me and smiled holding on to my finger, that moment I went from dad to grandpa and, again, the heart pulled out another tear from my eye. The birth experience ended with me saying "he's smiling" then the age old argument began: Is it a smile or is it gas? I am sticking with smile.

To all the grandpas out there, I am proud to be a grandpa, and happy to be a part of the club.

LETTERS to the editor

Support Planned Parenthood

Dear Editor:
This letter is in opposition to the relentless vendetta against Planned Parenthood. Pandering politicians have been referring to recent highly edited videos by religious groups trying to force their religious beliefs on the country. The edited videos falsely show Planned Parenthood selling fetal tissue for profit. The unedited version makes it clear that Planned Parenthood does not profit, but only accepts money between $30 and $100 to cover costs associated with collecting and transporting the specimen. The unedited video indicates that this is done with clear consent of the patient. The patient realizes that fetal tissue is used in research for conditions such as HIV, hepatitis, retinal degeneration and Parkinson's disease. After an operation, I received two units of blood. Fortunately for me, a religious group hasn't been able to stop blood transfusions.

Planned Parenthood believes every child should be wanted. Many of those opposed to Planned Parenthood believe in unplanned parenthood, which can result in unwanted children being abused or a burden to society, because the parents are financially unable to properly care for them.

Planned Parenthood helps the under served by performing pregnancy tests, screening for sexually transmitted diseases, aiding with birth control along with many other services. This is why I support Planned Parenthood.

Why did you decide to apply in Charlevoix? This is a question I have answered many times over the past four to five months. Having been a principal for many years, people want to know, why now, why here? This is an easy question for me to answer as your new superintendent. The answer I give is why wouldn't you want come to a district that provides a top-notch education for all students, a community that supports their youth and a board of education that desires to improve the education of all students.

MESSAGE
MICHAEL RITTER

Charlevoix has a lot to offer our children and it is up to us as community members, parents and educators to continue to help our children reach their full potential.

How does your family feel about Charlevoix? This is another great question. Community members, staff, the Board of Education, local organizations and many students have welcomed my family with open arms. I grew up in a small town very similar to Charlevoix, just not as pretty. I would like to thank so many for their help and support...the list of thank you's is too large for this short article.

Each month the Charlevoix Courier is allowing me to submit an article and I thank them for this great opportunity. Charlevoix Public Schools is off to a tremendous start and we look forward to an amazing year ahead. Spending time in each building has made me proud to be a Rayder. Our own children are blessed

Myths about child and adolescent grief

We want to protect children and teens from grief. But all too often, we underestimate — or overestimate — the degree to which kids experience grief after a traumatic event. Death, divorce or even the long-term absence of a family member can affect different children differently. Let's look at some of the common myths surrounding child and adolescent grief.

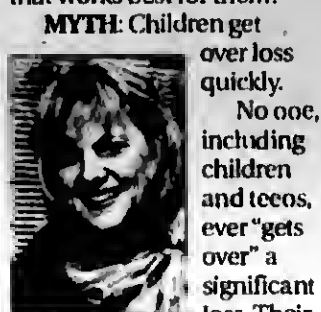

MYTH: Young children do not grieve.

Children grieve at any age. Their grief may manifest in unexpected ways, and often depends on each child's age and life experiences. A child may experience intense grief for a time, and then take a break in the form of play. Adults sometimes mistake a child's playing as a sign he or she is not grieving, or has fully recovered from grief, but neither is necessarily true.

MYTH: Children "should" — or "should not" — go to funerals.

Children, even very young ones, should be allowed to choose whether they want to attend the funeral of a loved one. They may need you to explain their options and provide information and support, so they can make the decision

AMY WIELAND,
Hospice of Northwest
Michigan executive

to that new reality following a loss. Children may revisit their loss at different stages in their development and, as their understanding of the loss changes, their grief may arise again.

MYTH: Children will be permanently scared by a significant loss.

Adults often make the mistake of projecting their own pain onto children and teens. While a traumatic event may be disruptive, even in adult relationships, simply explaining what's happening can provide kids with a sense of perspective and continuity, and can help them experience the loss on their own terms.

MYTH: Encouraging children to talk about their feelings is the best way to work through a traumatic event.

It's important to promote open communication and let kids talk through their feelings. But those feelings can be expressed in many other healthy ways, such as art, play, music or dance. As long as you keep the door open, children and teens will voice their feelings when they're ready.

FACT: Hospice can meet the unique needs of children and adolescents during a time of loss or trauma.

Studies have shown that children and adolescents with unresolved grief are at a higher risk for developing depression and anxiety as adults. Hospice can help family members recognize the needs of grieving children and provide them with the resources they need. You have a choice, so choose a hospice that understands and can help manage the grief recovery process for kids and teens.

Hospice of Northwest Michigan provides free grief and loss support for any type of trauma, for children and adults.

Charlevoix's electrical power station overlooked the old beet factory

LOOKING BACK...

"Are you watching the progress being made in the erection of Charlevoix's new electric power station, now under construction just north of the old sugar beet station?" That was the lead paragraph of a front page Charlevoix Courier article of Nov. 30, 1921. "If the present weather continues for a few days longer, outside work on the building will be completed, and inside construction can go on without interruption regardless of climatic conditions."

A 106 feet long, 50 feet wide, built of brick and tile, building housed an engine room with an 18-foot ceiling, boiler room, transformer room, office, machine shop, garage, and coal room, with windows on the west opening onto the railroad tracks. To support all the heavy equipment, cement foundation floors reinforced with steel were poured anywhere from 28 to 40 inches deep. "The plant throughout when completed will be about the last word in modernism," continued the Courier. "Nothing will be overlooked, and while not the largest plant of its kind in this section (area), will compare favorably with anything in this part of the state."

Where did it stand, and what was the "sugar beet station?" Irish Boat Shop occupies the site of the latter, the 300-foot-long, unsuccessful sugar beet factory that was in business only about a decade at the beginning of the last century. The power plant occupied the land just north of Kelsey's restaurant behind Ferry Beach alongside Ferry Avenue. This "last word in modernism" finally faded into inefficient obsolescence, but still provided some electricity. Into the days when a high percentage of Charlevoix's power had to be imported from the south to meet increased demand. The plant's end came when the building caught fire and burned to the ground in 1993.

CHARLEVOIX—The Keweenaw Star, in conjunction with the Charlevoix Historical Society, will host a historic fall color cruise on the south arm of Lake Charlevoix from 2-4 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 10.

The Star will cruise down to Holy Island south of Iron-ton, turn around to head for Oyster and Raspberry Bays on either side of Pine Point, along the Depot Beach area, and back into Round Lake.

The cruise will be narrated by Harsha House museum curator David L. Miles. It will emphasize the history of Iron-ton when it was a booming iron smelter town, once one of the largest settlements in Charlevoix County, the unique Iron-ton ferry and the worldwide publicity it has enjoyed, and the importance of Holy Island to the early Mormon history of Beaver Island and Charlevoix. Then the Star will visit the ships' graveyard at Oyster Bay and the huge multi-million dollar developments going up on Pine Point's shorelines.

A cash bar and snacks are available on board. Boarding will be at 1:45 p.m. at the Keweenaw Star dock next to the Beaver Island Boat Company. Tickets are $25 per person, with a portion of the proceeds going toward support of the Historical Society.

For reservations or more information, call (231) 237-9365.

Harvest Festival in East Jordan

LONGIE ALLEN/CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Tourist Park in East Jordan was the scene of decorative hay bales on Saturday, Sept. 26, for the first Harvest Festival. The hay bales were decorated by different organizations in East Jordan and then people would place donated food items by the bales they liked. The donated food items went to the Care and Share food pantry after the event.

Bergmann Center Art show at library

CHARLEVOIX—The fifth annual Bergmann Center Art show and sale will be on display at the Charlevoix Public Library from Oct. 1-31. An opening reception for the show has been arranged for Bergmann Center clients from 2 to 3 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 5, in the community rooms.

Bergmann Center provides services that enable individuals with mental and physical challenges the opportunity to become active, involved members of the community. Members participate in a variety of hands-on art programs and produce some beautiful art pieces, organizers said.

For more information, call (231) 547-2651.

East Jordan hosting a ballroom dance Oct. 9 at civic center

EAST JORDAN—There will be a ballroom dance with live music by the Jordan Valley All Stars on Friday, Oct. 9, at the East Jordan Civic Center, 101 Civic Center Lane, East Jordan.

ning at 6 p.m. to be followed by the band from 6:45 p.m.-9:15 p.m. There is a suggested donation of $10 per person and children 12 and younger are free.

The public is asked to bring their own soft drinks and snacks.

For more information, call (231) 533-8368.

OBITUARIES

John Gordon Peterson

Today, Sept. 24, 2015 the soul of John Gordon Peterson was welcomed into the arms of his personal Savior, Jesus Christ.

John was born in Escanaba, Mich. on Sept. 10, 1940 to Gordon and June (Gierke) Peterson. His early years were spent living in Fairport, Mich.

Upon graduation from high school, John proudly served his country in the United States Navy aboard the aircraft carrier, USS Saratoga CVA60.

For many years he worked with his father as a commercial fisherman. Family and friends were always delighted to see him coming with a fresh fillet or smoked fish. In 1975 John began working for the Charlevoix Public Schools where he spent the next 25 years. Throughout those years he made many friendships which have lasted until the time of his death.

John was an avid woodworker and many still have the beautiful toys or pieces of furniture he crafted. He loved to fish for pleasure, read a good western, listen to country music and watch old movies. His Bible, with its well worn cover, was his source of strength in the trials of life. His joy was his family.

John is survived by his wife, Bernadette (Smigelski) Peterson; son, Philip John (Monica) Peterson of Charlevoix; daughter, Molly June (Doug) Gilbert of Rochester, Minn.; son, Jade Gordon of Nine Mile Falls, Wash.; grandchildren, Kathryn and Phillip Peterson of Charlevoix; Anne Patterson, Greta and Erik Gilbert of Rochester, Minn.; great-granddaughter, Natalie Patterson of Rochester, Minn. He is also survived by his step-grandchildren, Kaylee, Brandy and Madeline Stoops, Layton Colbeck and Leala Houk; brothers-in-law, Jerome and Joyce Smigelski of Alpena, and Frank and Lois Smigelski of Southfield; many loving nieces, nephews and cousins.

He was preceded in death by his parents Gordon and June and his only sister, Janie Lou Dittrick.

If you would like to honor John's memory, please consider Hospice of Northwest Michigan, Charlevoix Public Library or Charlevoix Public Schools.

A time of remembrance and meeting with John's family will take place from 11 a.m.-1 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 30, 2015, at the Winchester Funeral Home in Charlevoix. At 1 p.m. there will be a eulogy to honor John officiated by his niece, Lisa Salois. Interment will take place at the family plot in Alpena at a later date.

Please sign John's guestbook at www.winchesterfuneralhome.com

Wallace Jay Poole Sr., 75

Wallace Jay Poole Sr., 75, passed away on Wednesday, Sept. 9, 2015. Wally was born on May 26, 1940, in Charlevoix to parents Elmer and Margaret (Simpson) Poole.

He worked as a machinist for Brunswick, retiring after 30 years. Wally enjoyed hunting, fishing, and he was a fan of all Michigan sports, but especially loved the Detroit Lions.

Wally will be lovingly remembered by his wife of 56 years, Beverly (Bailey) Poole; children, W. "Jay" (Barbara) Poole, Kathy (Patrick) Cain, Craig (Dawn) Poole; grandchildren, Brianna Poole, Ryan Poole, Leah (Tim) Slot, Emily (Matt) Boogaard, Ashley Poole, Kyle Poole, Brooke Thrall and Marlee Cain; great-grandchildren, Elijah Boogaard and Aislee Thrall; siblings, Margaret Bushor, Elaine Budde and Lewis Poole.

He was preceded in death by both parents; siblings, Elmer Poole, Wilma Keubler, Joan McKenney, Patricia Lamb, William Poole and Nancy Eaton.

A celebration of Wallace's life was held Tuesday, Sept. 15, at Ever Rest Funeral Home and Chapel, 1783 E Keating Ave., in Muskegon. The family received visitors prior to the services.

In lieu of flowers, please consider a donation to the American Diabetes Association or the American Cancer Society

Stanley Ray Martin, 71, of Charlevoix died Sunday, Sept. 27, 2015, at his home.

He was born June 29, 1944, in Charlevoix to John and Margaret (Boss) Martin. Stan graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1962, where he enjoyed playing basketball and football. He continued to play in many recreational leagues and coach those sports following high school.

On July 14, 1967, Stan married Carol Ann Shooks in Charlevoix. From 1966 to 1969, he served in the U.S. Army in Vietnam. Stan earned a Bachelor of Arts in Education from Central Michigan University in 1972. He taught at the Charlevoix Elementary School in the same room for 27 years, and his daughter, Krista, now teaches in that room.

Stan was a member of the Community Reformed Church in Charlevoix and served on the Charlevoix Township Planning Commission. Stan loved to golf with his buddies and enjoyed coffee with his friends every morning at Burger King. Stanley was especially proud of his lawn and worked to keep it in perfect condition.

He is survived by his wife, Carol; daughters, Krista (John) Jarema of Charlevoix, Rebecca (Tim) Burger of Tiverton, R.I., Anne (Dan) Covey of Walker; grandchildren, Alison, Caroline, Jack and Matthew Jarema; Zachary Tibbitts, Scarlett and Libby Burger; Brayden, Ethan, Addison and Jakob Covey, and baby L.; brother, John (Sonja) Martin; sister, Donna Martin, all of Charlevoix.

Stan was preceded in death by his grandson, Spencer Tibbitts; brother, Larry; and parents, John and Margaret Martin.

Memorial service will be at 4 p.m., Friday, Oct. 2, at the Community Reformed Church in Charlevoix, where the family will meet friends beginning at 3 p.m. The Rev. Chip Sauer will officiate.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Community Reformed Church, or to the Charlevoix Elementary School Teachers.

Please sign Stan's guestbook at www.winchesterfuneralhome.com.

A breed apart 30 years of puppy love

JENNIFER DUDLEY
ARBAUGH
Special to Courier

Joan Wagner has been brewing up Labrador puppy love for the past 30 years.

Her five star recipe: ¼ cup of faerie dust; ¼ cup of passion; ¼ cup of beauty; ¼ cup of power. Add a heaping dose of gentle spirit. VOILA! Stunning Oyster Bay Farm Labrador Retrievers.

"There is no such thing as a perfect dog," Wagner insists. "But I have come pretty close. I try to improve with each breeding. I nourish them and love the experience of being a part of creating a new life."

Wagner's life began in Charlevoix as one of Clifford "Tip" and June Riley's four daughters. Her father was a fireman and her mother, age 93, a local resident and family matriarch. Wagner and her husband, Henry "Butch" Wagner, met as teenagers on Hurlburt Street.

"Butch saw me walking to the school bus and yanked my hair," Wagner recalled with a grin. "So, naturally I walloped him back!"

The couple celebrated 51 years of marriage in September. They have two grown children: Ty, who lives on the farm with daughters, Jonelle, Katherine and Rilyn; and Ann, who is in Florida, with sons Stone and Miles.

For Wagner, breeding is not just a business. It is a way of life and adds to the support of the family. In addition they board and groom dogs.

Her boarding costs are purposely low. She is a devout Christian and integral member of a local Baptist church.

She notes, "I care for others' dogs as a ministry of sorts. It is a way for me to give back to my community."

When she was a little girl, her father's beagle, Cleo, was a scamp and always pregnant. One afternoon while she was giving birth, Wagner peeked in despite her father's warning to "stay away." Her defiance and determination sealed her future.

A Wagner lab needs no advertising. Ever. Word of mouth broadcasts from the shores of Leland to Northport. Sarah Eggert, owner and proprietor of Pennington Collection Gift Shop in Northport, purchased a pup last summer.

"We had tragedy in our family," Eggert said. "Our son Quint wanted a new dog and we heard about Joan. We visited the farm and fell for our handsome pup. We named him Q.T. He is over 1-year-old and the best dog. My husband John has actually stolen him from us."

Whether in Traverse City, Suttons Bay, out of state or in Canada, the canines have healed broken hearts, aided the elderly, brought joy to children and embraced hundreds of homes.

Springs residents, are the proud parents of five children and four Wagner labs.

"We started years ago," Kurt said. "Her dogs are the best. She had a brindle — coat of multicolor — his name is Blu. He is 8-years-old and the rest go down in age. Angus is 8-months and being trained to hunt with our son who is getting his Ph.D. in social work. But it's hard because our younger son doesn't want to let him go."

There is something infectious and unmistakable about a Wagner Lab. A swagger. A look in their eyes.

The shape of each body and proud head.

The color of their coat. Some golden, white as snow, rich chocolate or black as patent leather shoes.

BUSINESS

Proposed salary overtime pay change could be hard on businesses

Overtime rules and a proposed rule change is an important topic that we, the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce and the Northern Michigan Chamber of Commerce are watching carefully. On July 6, the U.S. Department of Labor (DOL) issued a notice of proposed rule-making that would change the regulations that exempt administrative, executive and professional from the Fair Labor Standards Act's minimum wage and overtime requirements. Oftentimes, these exemptions are referred to as "white collar" exemptions.

The proposed rules would change the current salary threshold for the exemption of employees from overtime pay from $455 per week — $23,660 per year — to $921 per week — $47,892 per year. That equates to a more than 100 percent increase. Employers impacted by the rule change will have to increase employee compensation to meet the threshold, or begin paying overtime.

While we don't neces-

CHARLEVOIX AREA CHAMBER UPDATE
Alison Hubbard, chamber president

sarily oppose an increase outright to the salary threshold, we are concerned about the increase the department has proposed. A threshold change that increases more than 100 percent at one time is very hard for businesses to respond to and prepare for. Many businesses in this region are either small, seasonal or compete in markets with slim profit margins. We have very few large corporations but many small to mid-size businesses that are attempting to compete in global markets. The kind of increases seen in the current proposal is of a nature that could mean the difference between profit and deficit, or staying in business or closing.

In late August, the Alliance sent comments to the Department of Wage and Labor urging them to consider a smaller increase to the threshold and asked for consideration in ramping up the increase over a period time in order for businesses to plan and adjust accordingly. Furthermore, we strongly recommend the department adjust the threshold based on the actual cost of living in the area.

As we continue to watch this important topic unfold we recommend that all employers and Chamber members conduct an audit of their wage and hour practices:

- Ensure that all employees and independent contractors of the business are properly classified.
- Ensure all employees are paid the proper minimum wage.
- Determine how many employees may be subject to the new overtime rules should they go into effect.

For more information on the current overtime rules and job classifications please visit dol.gov/whd/overtime/NPRM2015/faq.htm.

The Charlevoix Area

Chamber of Commerce is a nonprofit organization with more than 440 business and individual members. Our Mission is to support commerce and provide leadership to enhance the quality of life.

The Northern Michigan Chamber Alliance is a partnership of 13 chambers of commerce that comprise 14 counties in northern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula. The partnership is premised on the fact that many business public policy issues impact Michigan's northern region in similar ways. In total, we represent more than 6,500 business members throughout the region.

Clothing Company celebrates 40 years in Charlevoix

ANNE KELLY
Special to Courier

CHARLEVOIX — In 1974, Jim and Sue Mabee lived in Pontiac, Mich. With Jim's brother, they owned a chain of 13 Jumpin' Jeans stores in that area. That fall, Jim came up north on a hunting trip and while he was here, fell in love with Charlevoix.

He called his wife, Sue, from Wharfside Market, the former Neff's, a landmark carry-out store once located next to the Parkside Restaurant on the east side of Bridge Street. According to their daughter, Jacqueline, his conversation went something like this; "I found a store I want to buy and a house for us. Would you like to know where we're going to live?"

He returned home, sold his part of the jeans business to his brother, and together he and Sue embarked on a new enterprise. The Clothing Company opened in April of 1975 in the former Market Mall, as a family business.

Jacqueline (Jacq) and her older sister, Susan, worked alongside their parents, learning the business from the inside out. Although her younger siblings, Judith and Jim Jr. were just kids at the time, they were still included. Even the family dog, Beau, became a fixture. Customers patting him on the head when he was awake or stepped around him as they shopped. "I was taking a nap."

Jacqueline and Kirby Dipert each run their own business. Kirby bought Charlevoix's Harbor Wear from Jim Mabee and today manages that Harbor Wear while Jacq runs the main Clothing Company store.

It was Judith who, 10 years later, came up with the sailboat design known as "Charlevoix Stacked," that is still used today and remains their signature sweatshirt design. They started selling the shirts in the Clothing Company and the idea took off. The entrepreneur that Jim was, he took advantage of the popularity of the shirts and decided to open a sister operation, which he called Harbor Wear. It would specialize in souvenir T-shirts and sweatshirts silk screened with the town's name. In 1985, unlike today, the souvenir clothing line was a relatively new concept and it became contagious. Today, Harbor Wear stores can be found in Charlevoix, Petoskey, Harbor Springs, Mackinac City, Traverse City, Elk Rapids, Sutton's Bay, Glen Arbor, Frankfort and four in Door County. For a while, there were stores in Florida, but now there is only one, located on Amelia Island.

In 1993, Jacq married Kirby Dipert and incorporated him into the family operation. The next year, the senior Mabees sold the Clothing Company to Jacq, "retiring" to concentrate their time on the Harbor Wear stores. Kirby bought Charlevoix's Harbor Wear from Jim and today manages Harbor Wear while Jacq runs the main Clothing Company store.

Jim and Sue are now formally retired, selling all of their stores to either family members or former, trusted employees, keeping their business "in the family." They reside comfortably in Norwood, secure in knowing their business is continuing to thrive with the next generation at the helm.

"This is a big company and I really wanted to do this and do it right," Jacq said of her decision to take over the business. "I am busy all the time, keeping up with fashion, going on buying trips or purchasing merchandise from suppliers who come up north to show their lines. We have an amazing customer base, locals from all over."

"I feel fortunate that our retail store in this resort town has been able to thrive and survive all year round," she added. "People who shop here know that they can find clothes that fit their lifestyle for every season. We don't dress up like we used to, we're more concerned with comfort and breathable fabrics."

Comfortably smart and reasonably priced would be a good way to describe Clothing Company merchandise. From men's and women's clothing to accessories, shoes and jewelry and outerwear, the selection is always fresh and current. Outdoor gear is very popular today, and Clothing Company has responded to the trend with such notable brands as Patagonia, Columbia, Woolrich and Kuhl. They will be adding Tom's shoes to their current footwear inventory this spring.

"We feel that our clothes match the mood of Charlevoix," Jacq said. "They are clothes to relax in. Do you want to look nice hanging out on your boat? We have clothes for that!"

Pam Beer has worked at Clothing Company for nearly 23 years. Her employment longevity speaks well for the business. She genuinely enjoys her job.

"I remember when I first started," Beer said, "I was excited that I was going to work. Now, I feel like I'm not really going to work. I'm going to hang out with family and friends, the locals and tourists I have come to know over the years. And Jacq is such a great lady. I love to work for and with her."

Donna Wyniawskyj is another long term employee, a cheerful presence behind the counter and on the floor who prides herself on customer service.

"I came here to buy a gift for my mom," she said, "and walked out with a job. The employees have a nickname for the store. 'The fun factory.' We have fun with customers and with each other. It's a great place to work."

The store's mission in the second generation is stated aptly on the Company web page. It is a tribute to Jim and Sue Mabee and the forty years Clothing Company has remained a vital part of Charlevoix's main street and economic well-being.

"The Clothing Company has been a fixture in Charlevoix for over three decades. We have an amazing staff that we consider part of our family. Our customers come from miles away and just down the street. We are grateful to have our family and our customers as our friends. We continue to strive to make you feel like you are coming home when you walk in the door, just like Jim and Sue did."

operators, pilots and city residents to seek input on the direction they would like to see the airport take in the future. Most likely the survey will be included in utility billing sometime this winter.

The community uses the airport between the charter services to Beaver Island and they might have some things to say," said council/committee member Shirley Gibson.

The committee also is expected to make a request to the Charlevoix City Council to fill three seats on the committee to bring voting membership to seven. The request comes after the City Council took action on Heydlauff's suggestion to remove city staff from leadership and voting roles on city subcommittees.

Those interested in filling the seats will be required to fill out an application, committee members said.

If council approves filling the seats then Heydlauff suggested the committee look to fill one of the seats with a resident who travels back and forth to Beaver Island. One who isn't a pilot or plane owner or business operator at the airport.

"Having a representative from Beaver Island is important if you want this committee to have a wide range of representation," Heydlauff said. "A resident from (the island) would be a good idea. It's obviously an important constituency for our airport. Having that view might help the committee get a range of perspective."

been a mentor on a K-3 teaching team, and served as assistant principal of a K-3 school where she became more involved with curriculum and instruction as a manager of a Curriculum Team supporting five schools, Kindergarten through 8th grade. Before moving to Petoskey, Meyer served as principal of a school of a similar size as Charlevoix's, in Chicago, where her multi-faceted leadership skills helped improve every area from improving state test results to balancing a budget.

Meyer knows her craft from the grass roots on up. Her leadership skills were identified early on, while still a teacher. She joined the University of Chicago's Center for School Improvement New Teacher Network, as an "after school elective," and soon became involved in leadership and professional development opportunities.

"I was fortunate to have been associated with high performing schools," Meyer said. "The success of these schools was driven by a effort to target instruction at student levels realizing that there's not a one-size-fits all way to teach children," she said. "It's important to get all the stakeholders involved: the children, the parents, the teachers...and all their support system. It's in using a team approach that supports students educationally, socially and emotionally, that they will be able to excel."

Meyer and her husband, Matt, met in Chicago and decided to move to Petoskey where Matt has a family hardware business. She spent the past two years working remotely with her former network managing curriculum support and student services through Distinctive Schools in Chicago. The Meyer's have a 2 year old daughter, Addie.

"I am working on finding a balance between work and family life, just like all working parents. I am thrilled to be a part of this school and this community," Meyer said. "The staff has been incredibly welcoming and I am eager to work with them in reaching all students with a problem solving approach. I hope that I can have a positive influence on children and the educational community here in Charlevoix."

enjoy freshly made donuts and pumpkin pancakes for breakfast. Other items for sale included a selection of scones, pies, breads, spreads and drinks. The orchard also had a special Harvest Fest menu which included their barbecue pulled pork sandwich, a panini with homemade pumpkin sauce, pizza, and their chicken salad wrap.

"We have been doing this for around 14 years now. We started the festival when we moved to our current location in 2001," said Heidi Friske, the retail market manager.

"The Harvest Festival is our first event of the season so it's kind of our kick off event for fall," she added.

One of the first things festival goers could choose to do was a tractor drawn wagon tour. The tour took people through the orchards showing people all of the various apples and apple trees on site. The rides left every half hour and provided live presentations by the tractor driver.

Families could bring kids and have a full day of different activities. You could even walk through parts of the orchard and pick your own apples. Other activities that the event had included, food tastings, a petting zoo, kids games, face painting, live music, and a play area for kids. This year also marked the second annual pumpkin doughnut eating contest.

Friske Orchards will be holding their next event, the Apple Festival, from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 3.

started on this thing I don't see it ever getting finished," Christensen said.

Commissioner Nancy Ferguson later added, "I don't believe things get done unless you work really hard at it, and I know you're working hard at this project."

Commissioners expressed frustration because of the timeline setbacks the project has received.

The first delays began because of the project waited for federal grants to come through and to get approval to build through part of Young State Park. Then in April the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service declared the northern long-eared bat, a species that has been decimated by a fungal disease, as threatened. This also restricted construction because it could disrupt the species during pup-rearing season. Then again construction was put on hold while state officials waited to see the amounts of money distributed by the federal government as Congress

"Here's my concerns we're $240,000 over budget. If it hadn't been for a delay in the DNR (Department of Natural Resources) for communicating with the other department in the DNR that cost us how many months? Plus the winter season, plus the white nose bat problem," Christensen said. "Has anyone constructed a letter in absolute frustration to MIDOT, DNR, maybe some state elected officials? Maybe the federal government?"

Christensen added, "I don't care who's fault it is, but I know it's not ours. We've done everything we've had to do."

Commissioner George Lassiter also said he's annoyed with the situation as well.

"I'm embarrassed to tell people we've been working on it for nine years, and this commission is getting a lot of blame for that," Lassiter said. "The blame is not on the six shoulders here."

Director of Charlevoix County Parks and Recreation, Ross Maxwell, said the timelne for the project has changed again.

"The timeline still starting to phase one and phase two is this spring, early summer," he said. "We did get the bids for phase one and they were high. They were rejected and we'll make some changes and re-submit in October. The bids will be back Jan. 8 for phase one. Phase two we're going to submit the project for bids in November. The bids will be back in February for phase two."

The lowest bid for the first phase of the trail project was more than $241,500 than previous cost estimates. Phase one includes construction at Boyne City limits at West Michigan Avenue, extending through Young State Park via an easement, and running to the Evangeline/Bay Township line at Springwater Beach Road for a distance of 3.2 miles.

The second of five phases to be constructed will run 3.3 miles, originating from the Little Traverse Wheelway in Charlevoix. The third phase will be in Horton Bay and will be 2.9 miles long.

Charlevoix celebrates Leif Eriksson Day

CHARLEVOIX — To celebrate Leif Eriksson Day and Viking heritage, Challenge Fitness of Charlevoix has organized an one mile row and 5k run event for Oct. 3, 2015. Proceeds from the land and sea event go to FACES Ministry of Charlevoix. The one mile row will begin at 8:30 a.m. at Depot Beach to Ferry Beach with the 5k run commencing around 9 a.m. at Ferry Beach and moving through Charlevoix.

Created by Jon Purdy of Charlevoix to celebrate Leif Eriksson Day, with his friends and family, the event has transformed. Purdy had a bounty of friends participate in his reenactment of a raiding party on Susan Lake, and realized he could give back to the community and share his Nordic pride as well. He then joined forces with FACES Ministry and Challenge Fitness to bring this historical fitness event to the masses. Participants for this year are encouraged to show their Nordic pride with helmets, shields and decorating of their boats.

If interested in joining the Nordic ranks, visit facebook.com/rowandrun and send in the registration by Sept. 28 to guarantee a t-shirt. Entry fee for the run is $20 and cost for the row and run is $30.

Charlevoix hospital site for the next Wellness Wednesday

Charlevoix Area Hospital will host the Wellness Wednesday program from 8 a.m. - 11 a.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 7, in classroom B.

The Wellness Wednesday Health Screen includes: Total Cholesterol, HDL, ratio, and glucose levels, body mass index score, muscle and fat percentages and a blood pressure reading. No fasting is required. However, if individuals are fasting, LDL and triglyceride levels also can be obtained.

Cost for the service is $15. Hemoglobin A1C Levels are offered for known or borderline diabetics for an additional $5. All participants will receive a blood pressure log, pedometer and all test results at the time of the screening. A registered nurse will adapt health consultation and educational materials to individual results. No appointment is required.

AT&T has increases capacity in Charlevoix and Cheboygan counties

BOYNE CITY — AT&T now covering more of Charlevoix and Cheboygan counties with its 4G network, which boasts mobile Internet speeds up to four times faster than 3G. Additional capacity has been added to towers in the area, which is like adding more lanes to a highway carrying traffic from a customer's device to the cell tower, resulting in faster speeds and more reliable service.

Customers can now use their smartphones to surf the Internet faster than ever before at Boyne and Division streets in Boyne City; at Boyne City Road, west of Burgess Road; along U.S. 31, east of Fisherman's Island State Park. In Cheboygan, the upgrades are most noticeable east of Shann Road and north of Fork Trail; N. Huron Ave., and E. Jamet St., and in the area of U.S. 23, south of Mackinaw City.

"We're excited to bring faster speeds to Charlevoix and Cheboygan residents and businesses," said Jim Murray, president, AT&T Michigan. "We know our customers are living their lives on the go. We want to help them get the most out of their mobile devices — whether they're watching videos, texting family and friends or posting to social media."

AT&T invested more than $1.7 billion from 2012 to 2014 to improve the network statewide, according to AT&T officials.

Over the last six years, AT&T invested nearly $140 billion including investments in its wireless and wireline networks and acquisitions of wireless spectrum and operations. Since 2009, AT&T has invested more in the U.S. than any other public company. In a 2014 report, the Progressive Policy Institute ranked AT&T number one on its list of U.S. "Investment Heroes," according to AT&T officials.

Rayders open conference play with 45-0 win over Suttons Bay

SUTTONS BAY — A battle-tested Charlevoix team showed the benefits of tough losses to Boyne City and Grayling in the non-conference schedule with a dominant 45-0 win over host Suttons Bay on Friday to open conference play. Running backs Jared McLean and Ben Boss combined for four touchdowns on the ground as the Rayders put up 336 yards rushing on 39 carries for the game. McLean finished with 61 yards on 16 carries and touchdown runs of 10 and 5 yards, while Boss added 70 yards on five carries and touchdowns of 17 and 29 yards, and Malcom Williams chipped in 72 yards on nine carries. Brad Klinger added a five yard touchdown run and also caught a five yard touchdown pass.

GAYLORD — Charlevoix put on a strong performance in a 1-1 tie with host and Class A squad Gaylord on Tuesday, but a combination of missed chances and bad luck kept the Rayders from earning a win. The Rayders appeared to get a penalty kick chance at a game-winner in the 88th minute when a Gaylord defender punched a shot on goal out of the net, a handball infraction that normally draws a red card, but the referees were screened on the play and unable to confirm the penalty, forcing Charlevoix to settle for a corner kick the Rayders couldn't convert. That was one of three good second-half scoring chances Charlevoix was unable to turn into a goal thanks in part to strong play from Gaylord goalkeeper Ben Fry and his backup, Jared Caswell, who played the final three minutes after Fry was removed from the game due to a yellow card. Charlevoix took the lead in the 44th minute on a Noah Carson penalty kick that the junior buried, and the Rayders took a 1-0 lead into halftime. But Gaylord was able to find the equalizer in the second half on the counter, as Jacob King took advantage of a Charlevoix defensive lapse to score for the Blue Devils and tie the game. Although the Rayders were unable to pull out a win, Charlevoix largely

PETOSKEY — Charlevoix sophomore Michelle Bollini has proved to be a key addition in her first season with the Rayder cross country team. On Saturday at Camp Petosega, she took another step forward for Charlevoix, giving the Rayders their first individual championship at an event this season by winning the Petoskey invitational girls 9-10 race in 20:28.9. Bollini edged out Jill Gretzinger of Harbor Springs, who finished in 20:47.3, to earn the first race win of her varsity career and help the Rayders finish second to the Rams with 67 points. Teammates Rachel Nesburg and Kaitlin Schwenke took 11th (23:00.8) and 12th (23:02.3) respectively in the race as well for the Rayders. Charlevoix also finished second to Harbor Springs in the girls' 11-12 race with 57 points, led by Isabel Hess' third place finish (21:36.4). Kelsey Engstrom also finished 10th for the Rayders, in 24:05.2. On the boys side, Charlevoix took fifth overall in the 11-12 race, with 75 points, led by David Ritter's seventh place finish (17:39.9). Noah Carson took 10th overall (18:25.1), Luke Buday 19th (18:37.3) and Jonathan Pischner 20th (18:41.2) for the Rayders. Charlevoix didn't have enough runners to finish as a team in the boys 9-10 race, but Ben Peterson took 16th overall in 19:41.9 to give the Rayders a representative in the top 20. The Rayder take to the course again this Saturday at the Carson City Invite.

MORLEY — The record hasn't been pretty at times for the Charlevoix volleyball team this season. But against the competition the Rayders are seeking out, that's more than understandable. Between a Thursday match against TC St. Francis and a Saturday tournament appearance at Morley-Stanwood the Rayders went 0-4-1 this weekend, but also faced three teams ranked in the MIVCA poll top 10 for their respective classes. The tough tests started on Thursday against the Gladiators, ranked fifth in Class C, who swept Charlevoix 25-15, 25-13, 25-11. The Rayders hung tough early with St. Francis, battling them to a 12-12 tie in the first set, but a big Gladiator run allowed them to pull away and shook Charlevoix's confidence. Hannah Zipp, Nichole Hart and Beth Veenstra each had two blocks to lead Charlevoix at the net, and Julia Daskoch and Ali Jarema led the Rayders in serve-receive. On Saturday, the competition didn't get any easier for the Rayders against a tournament field that included four ranked teams out of their seven opponents. The day started with a tough 25-11, 25-8 loss to Class A Caledonia, then the Rayders rebounded to earn a hard-fought split with Lakeview, 25-23, 21-25. In their final pool play match, Charlevoix fell to the second-ranked team in Class C, Montague, 25-4, 25-15. Advancing to the bracket, the Rayders took on Leland,

Noirot finished with 52 yards passing and also connected with Erik Oshaben on a four-yard touchdown pass as well.

"Our offensive line did a great job today of blocking for both our running and passing game, and with all three of our running backs finally healthy we were able to move the ball well all game," Charlevoix coach Ron Bindi said. "Klinger had a couple of nice catches, and I thought Forrest and he made good decisions as well when they were in at the quarterback position."

The Rayder defense had a strong night to earn the shutout, led by Williams, who finished with 16 tackles and a fumble recovery.

Cam Alden added a fumble recovery as well for Charlevoix, and Klinger and McLean each added an interception.

"I was really happy with how Malcom played tonight," Bindi said. "It seemed like he was all over the field making plays, and I thought the unit as a whole really stepped up and had a great outing."

Charlevoix (3-2, 1-0 NMFL-II) has a huge game on tap for homecoming next week as fellow conference unbeaten Kalkaska comes to town in a game that has conference title and playoff implications for both teams.

JV Rayders hold off Suttons Bay, 16-10

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix JV Football team was on the winning end of a defensive struggle on Thursday, Sept. 24, as the Rayders defeated visiting Suttons Bay 16-10.

The game was a defensive battle from the start, with three of the four scores coming as a result of defensive play.

Suttons Bay opened the night with a first quarter safety in the end zone to take a 2-0 lead, but Charlevoix answered in the second quarter on an interception return for a touchdown by Kyle Balch.

Quarterback Ty Fry added the two point conversion on a pass to Caleb Kenwabakise to put Charlevoix up 8-2 at the half, and the quarterback came through again on the defensive end in the third quarter with an interception that set the Rayders up at midfield.

After a short drive, Fry ran in a 20 yard touchdown and got the two-point conversion on the ground to give Charlevoix a commanding 16-2 lead, and though Suttons Bay would rally for a touchdown and a two-point conversion late, it wasn't enough to overtake the Rayders.

Along with Fry's impressive two-way performance, the Rayders also got strong outings on defense from Balch, Collin Davis, Garrett Seese, Tre Hart, Cam Musilek and Jared Chojnacki.

Now 2-3 overall, the Rayders faced Kalkaska on Thursday at 6 p.m. on the road. The results of that game will be in next week's Courier.

Pop Warner HARBOR SPRINGS — The Charlevoix Rayder PeeWee football team picked up its third straight victory with an 18-0 win over host Harbor Springs on Saturday.

Big plays played a big part in the victory, with quarterback Troy Nickel and running backs John Paul Culver and Max Dixon each scoring a rushing touchdown of 40 yards or more, thanks in part to good lead blocking from fellow back Patrick Sterett.

Dixon also finished with three quarterback sacks and two tackles for loss as the PeeWee Rayders earned their second straight shutout.

Nickel also played well defensively, and James Dixon chipped in five tackles.

The Midget Rayders, also in action, fell 20-0 to Harbor Springs.

Charlevoix got a good defensive effort from linemen Jake Clafin and cornerbacks Isaac Mooar and John Sauer to stay in the game until late, but picking up yards was tough against an aggressive Rams defense.

Mooar and quarterback Caleb Stuck led the Midget Rayders in rushing, and Stuck also connected with Max Ostrum on a 40 yard pass.

Both teams travel to Pellston this Saturday, with the Midget Rayders taking on Boyne City at 10 a.m. and the PeeWee Rayders facing Mancelona at 2:30 p.m. couldn't capitalize on what normally are sure chances.

"Even though we didn't pick up the win, we need to build on this performance moving forward."

Charlevoix (13-2-1) hosts Boyne City on Thursday hoping to keep pace with Harbor Springs in the LMC title race, as the Rams are a game ahead in the standings with five league contests left to be played.

Sault Ste. Marie 0

SAULT STE. MARIE — Patience paid off for the Charlevoix boys soccer team in a 1-0 win over host Sault Ste. Marie on Thursday.

David Ritter scored the game-winning goal for the Rayders, on an overlapping run past forward Noah Carson where Carson played him the ball for the finish.

"It was one of those low-scoring games where we were facing nine defenders in the box a lot of the night and had to be patient to break it down," Charlevoix coach Anton Matye said. "It wasn't our best offensive performance, but our defense played well and we did enough to win."

Goalie Collin Turkleson earned the win for Charlevoix, making a key save early on a 30 foot shot that he managed to deflect over the crossbar.

preparations, the Rayders competed in the Cheboygan Invitational on Monday at the Cheboygan Country Club, finishing sixth out of the eight teams in attendance.

The Rayders carded a 411 team score to finish four strokes behind host Cheboygan, while beating Alpena and East Jordan to hold on to the sixth spot.

Emily Sabsook led the Rayders with a 96, Abbey Scholten shot a round of 102, and Sara Sabsook carded a 103.

Also playing for Charlevoix were Alex Snabes, who shot a 110, Jane Kelly, who shot a 112, and Annie Joy, who carded a 114.

The Rayders have one more tune-up to finish the season, a trip to the Traverse City Central Invitational on Monday Oct. 5, before joining rivals Harbor Springs and East Jordan at the Division 4 regional hosted by the Grayling Country Club on Thursday, Oct. 8. Charlevoix is hoping to send its first individual or team to the Division 4 state finals in program history, and has a shot at it as its score on Monday is only four strokes off of the third-place score at last year's regional, a 407 shot by Stanton Central Montcalm.

The top three teams and the top three individuals from non-qualifying teams will advance to the Division 4 state final at Forest Akers East in East Lansing from Oct. 13-14.

ranked third in Class D, and fell 25-15, 25-14 to end the day.

"Our goal for the weekend was to learn, keep composed under pressure, and understand that we need to step our tempo up offensively and transition quicker on defense," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said. "I still believe even with all the losses on the day, that the girls made some good adjustments when playing different teams."

Emily Zabawa led the Rayders with 13 kills, 14 assists and three blocks at the tournament, and Zipp chipped in 13 digs, five blocks and two aces.

Becca Moon added two aces, seven digs, two blocks and 12 assists for Charlevoix, Kenzy O'Leary chipped in four kills and two aces and Doskoch, Jarema and Grace Sutherland led the Rayders defensively.

Charlevoix travels to East Jordan on Thursday for its next match, and plays in a tournament in Onaway on Saturday.

The Charlevoix Stingray swim team is accepting new swimmers to participate in upcoming swim meets.

Charlevoix Area Community Pool accepting new swimmers for Stingrays swim team

CHARLEVOIX — Headed into the competitive swim season, the Charlevoix Area Community Pool is looking to attract 30 to 50 area youth to be part of the Stingrays Swim Team.

"Not only will we be swimming at Michigan Team Swim League, we are also excited to compete in USA swimming competitions as a sanctioned team," said Head Coach, Phillip Marliugh. "These meets are more competitive and can allow you to qualify for the Junior Olympics."

Marliugh, an American Swimming Coaches Association certified swim coach, comes with three years of competitive coaching experience.

"We will be focusing on technique such as starts, turns and finishes, but I feel the most important thing is that the kids have fun," he said.

Through community support the pool is able to invest in new equipment for the Stingrays this year. Fins, kickboards, forearm fulcrums, swim parachutes and a pace clock are a few training tools that will help develop swimmer technique and competitive ability.

With a flexible motto that "We will work around other sports," the Stingrays practice three to five days a week and participate in two to three meets per month throughout the state of Michigan from October through February. Tryouts are currently being held at the pool for entry into one of three groups within the swim team. Children qualifying for the entry level blue group must be able to swim one stroke the full length of the pool, while placement into the silver or gold group calls for the ability to swim freestyle, backstroke, breaststroke and butterfly.

"Come over, try out, see if you like me and what we're offering," Marliugh said.

Also new to the swim team this year is a fun-filled swim camp at Camp Pet-O-Se-Ga planned for the end of September, and busing to the pool from Petoskey and Charlevoix schools for practice.

For more information about the Stingrays swim team, call (231) 547-0982 or email phil@charlevoixpool.org. Scholarships are available.

Baking up apple goodness

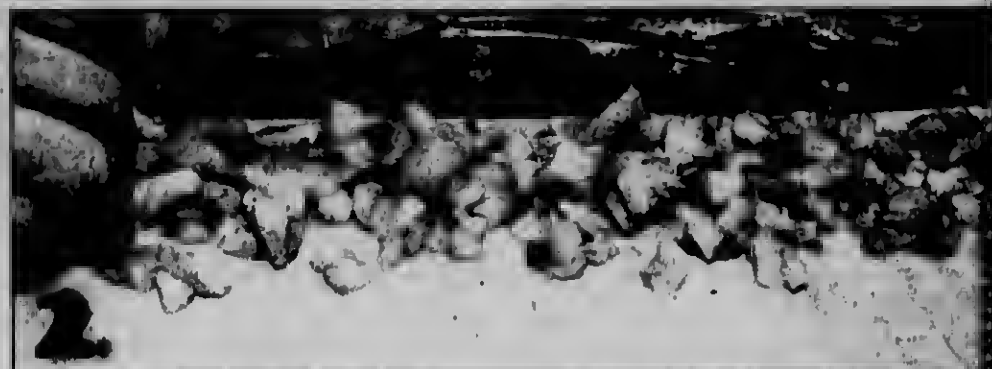

CHARLEVOIX — This week's Food Focus turns its lens to Simonsen's Bakery and Cafe at 115 Bridge St. Fall is in the air at the corner bakery and cafe, where pastry chef Jim Simonsen is celebrating his own Apple Festival throughout the autumn season. Simonsen, a certified Le Cordon Bleu Pastry Chef, is baking up delightful treats from local Michigan apples.

Each day, Simonsen and his staff are in the kitchen preparing and baking fresh apple pies, scones, tarts and other delicious apple treats to provide to local and visiting guests. The new fall menu also features hot soups and sandwiches, along with a new burger menu. The cafe also features hot coffee beverages with seasonal flavors.

The Charlevoix Courier will feature a Charlevoix restaurant or business that prepares food for the public each week during our Food Focus series.

Decision time for Ironton Ferry: Board to meet Monday on repairs

(231) 439-9346 • szucker@petoskeynews.com

IRONTON — The board that oversees the operation of the Ironton Ferry — the Charlevoix Transportation Authority Board — will meet on Monday, Oct. 12 to decide if it will attempt to get the ferry back in service yet this season.

The four-car, cable-guided ferry which transports vehicles and passengers across the Ironton Narrows portion of Lake Charlevoix, was damaged on Friday when a vehicle it was transporting caught fire.

Officials said the fire caused steel planks on the ferry's deck to be warped and caused damage to CHARLEVOIX — Volunteer clean up crews swept, raked and weeded through downtown Charlevoix on Saturday as a part of a large-scale collaborative effort to help beautify the area before Applefest.

The Charlevoix Main Street promotions committee started the project to help make the streetscapes and landscapes in downtown presentable to visiting guests and local residents as the summer tourist season comes to an end.

River Pease is not your ordinary 6th grade student. Nor was she an ordinary 5th grade student last year when she decided to join the Kiwanis Builder's Club at St. Mary School in Charlevoix. River is one of those kids who know at an early age that helping others is what makes a difference in people's lives.

For years, according to her mother, Jean Musilek, River has opted out of birthday gifts and asked for donations to the Humane Society instead. She has always had a special love for animals. City audit shows airport broke even last fiscal year

LOUNNE ALLEN

(231) 547-6558 • lallen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — City auditors gave Charlevoix leaders some good news about their financial situation from the last fiscal year during the recent regular city council meeting.

Annette Eustice, a certified public accountant from Rehmann Robson, of Traverse City, presented the audit to the City Council on Oct. 5.

The audit revealed the Charlevoix Municipal Airport is basically breaking even because of grants and depreciation, Eustice said.

Eustice said to council members by removing the grant entitlement, funds at the airport and the depreciation value, the airport does show some profit, but she said that does not include the repayments that need to be made to the city funds, which were borrowed against to bring the airport under its current operation status.

"You do have advances made to the airport from other city funds," Eustice said. "We recommend that you have a clear contract set up for repayment of those advances, which appears you do not have."

Food trucks bring fruitful debate at public hearing

LOUNNE ALLEN

(231) 547-6558 • lallen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — Food Trucks got a split show of support from the community during a public hearing aimed at helping staff determine if these mobile eateries have a future in Charlevoix.

The City Council let the public speak out about issue that has gotten attention since late June, after the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce invited some food trucks to their 47th annual Art and Craft Show.

Some brick and mortar businesses have argued that the trucks take customers away from them, particularly when it comes to the busy summer months. Village Pub owner, Terry Left was unable to attend the meeting, but submitted his concerns about food trucks to council in a letter.

"We pay taxes, either by our rent or through our landlords," Left wrote to council. "The food trucks do not pay property taxes to aid the city projects. I have 70 employees in the summer and 40 in the winter. If you even multiply half that number by the 17 restaurants (in town), that is a lot of people depending on a year-round job to support themselves and their families."

Left does not disapprove of the food trucks being downtown during Venetian Festival. His concern is on a permanent basis where it would affect the 17 restaurants and their

Charlevoix family enters national cooking contest

CHARLEVOIX — The Davis family, of Charlevoix, have entered the Uncle Ben's Brand Ben's Beginners Cooking Contest, a program to encourage children to make healthier meal choices by getting them interested in cooking at an early age. The contest aims to empower parents to connect with their children one meal at a time and make cooking an enjoyable activity that brings families together.

Parents with children who are in kindergarten through 8th grade submitted a three-minute home video showing the family together in the kitchen cooking a rice-based dish and discussing their experience cooking together. The contest received hundreds of entries from families across the United States.

The Davis family is asking the community to vote for the video they submitted titled Uncle Ben's Balanced Meal at unclibens.com. Video votes are a

Nathan Davis, 12, was glad to learn of the contest. Diagnosed with autism when he was 4 years old, he has sensory issues and only eats about 20 different foods. Uncle Ben's rice is one of them. He also is a fan of John Deere and hopes to win because Uncle Ben's representatives visit the winners and give them a hometown party for the check presentation. When asked why he is most excited about the hometown parties, Nathan replied, "Because I want to see people be proud of me."

From Oct. 15 through Nov. 3, 2015, individuals can view all the contest videos and vote for their favorite by visiting unclibens.com and searching for the recipe name. Individuals are encouraged to vote once per 24 hours.

Meet and eat writer's lecture has a Christian flavor

lecture. The pair will hold their lecture from 11:30 a.m. - 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 17, at the University Center at Gaylord, Room U-111/U-112, 80 Livingston Blvd.

Christine Johnson is a small-town, Michigan girl who knew at a young age that she wanted to do something in the arts. After trying her hand at music and art, she returned to her first love — story. A Christian novelist, she was twice named a finalist for Romance Writers of America's Golden Heart award. With eight Love Inspired novels published, she'll share her knowledge and tips for writing under the Love Inspired banner.

A hobby farmer, knitter, crafter and writer, Pegg Thomas writes historical fiction, favoring Colonial America and the American Civil War eras. Represented by literary agent Linda Glaz of Hartline Literary Agency, Thomas finished in the 2013 American Christina Fiction Contest and the 2014 Clash of the Titles Olympian Contest. She'll be sharing her tips for grabbing your reader's attention with conflict, consequence and conclusion.

The cost to attend is $25 for members and $35 for non-members. The price includes lunch and advanced registration is required. To make reservations, contact Karin Beery at karin@karinbeery.com.

American Christian Fiction Writers is a professional organization devoted to the craft of Christian Fiction. ACFW's mission is to advance Christian fiction by inspiring writers to join with God in the creative process, training them in the craft, and educating them in the publishing industry.

Presidential campaign offers lessons

The current campaign for the Republican presidential nomination is more than a circus. It is a learning experience. The recent suggestion by candidate Ben Carson that it would be unfortunate for the country if we were to have a Muslim president provides a fine example. Forget for the moment that any American citizen of an appropriate age is certainly eligible for the office, his response raises the question of whether we are likely to be comfortable with change.

EAR TO THE GROUND

Roger Knutson

Xenophobia is the proper name for an irrational fear of anything foreign and new. I do not suspect bigotry on the part of Mr. Carson, I suspect xenophobia. All of us are at least a bit xenophobic, but among the serious conservatives the condition rises to surprising levels.

How xenophobic are we about the presidency? Here is a test.

Would you be comfortable with a Roman Catholic president? We already found out the answer to that one, let's move on.

Would you be comfortable with a Jewish president? We have not quite answered that so far.

Would you approve of a Unitarian president? Some would, others probably not.

Would you be comfortable with an avowed atheist as president? My suspicion is that most would not only not vote for an atheist, but would actively and maybe even violently oppose such a choice.

Moving on we haven't even asked ourselves the questions about race or ethnicity. Japanese-American? Or Native American?

Our answers to the questions raised above establish our degree of xenophobia, but probably do not suggest racism or bigotry.

The good news about xenophobia is that while it is common and probably unavoidable, it is cured by information and experience. Having already had a Roman Catholic president, it is difficult to continue arguing that it would be a disaster, with the Pope running our country, as some people feared at that time.

Xenophobia can be cured, and while it is the perfect condition for a budding conservative, it need not be a life-long condition. Fear of new things is normal, but we also can learn our way out of it.

How important is your xenophobia?

October: National domestic violence awareness month

In 1987, national Domestic Violence Awareness Month was established to bring attention to this pervasive issue, support survivors and unify those who work with survivors.

That was the same year I began as the Domestic Abuse and Sexual Assault Program Director for the Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan.

Over the past 28 years, I have met thousands of women who have experienced the perils of domestic abuse. These strong and determined women believed a life free from violence was possible, even faced with seemingly insurmountable challenges. They believed in a better, safer life as do the hundreds of survivors who are currently utilizing Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan services.

Since the late 1980s, I've also seen changes in how individuals and our society view domestic abuse and survivors; however, we still have work to do. A recent article in the Journal of the American Board of Family Medicine reveals one out of five men admit to pushing, slapping, hitting, choking or committing some other form of violence against his intimate partner. Although this statistic makes it sound as if change hasn't occurred, it is a step forward to acknowledge the problem exists, to write about it and talk about it. I believe breaking the silence about the reality of domestic abuse is a positive change.

During the past year, the issue of domestic violence has ignited national conversations on the need to further break the silence around intimate partner violence. High-profile cases have brought this issue – and conversations about it – out from behind closed doors and into our workplaces, homes and schools.

I believe ending domestic abuse is about changing what is acceptable behavior in our culture – stepping out of our comfort zone to stand up and speak out against this type of violence. I believe both men and women are ready and willing to do so.

During October, and year-round, talk about the important issue of domestic and dating violence. Let others know that you think domestic abuse is unacceptable. Finally, keep believing we can put an end to this violence. Change takes time and although it may not happen in my lifetime, I do believe in generations to come we will change behaviors and attitudes that allow violence against women to persist. Stand up. Speak out!

For immediate help or information, call the Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan's 24-hour crisis line at (231) 347-0082 or (800) 275-1995.

LETTERS to the editor

Community support brings world class entertainment to Northern Michigan

Editor,
It is not often that we are fortunate enough to have world class entertainment here in Northern Michigan, but this past summer was a time that we were blessed with Ali Ryerson and her "Little Big Band" from Columbus, Ohio.

Ali hails from Connecticut and has spent that last 42 years touring around the world and sharing her innovative jazz flute music. She conducted master classes as well as performing throughout the area. She will be back next summer during the week of Aug. 15-22 and none of this would be possible without the generous support of the following sponsors: Steve Seely, Gary Schafer, John Overton, Steve Overton, Primerica Financial Services, Gary and Deb Stutzman, John Ochs, the Town House Bar, Charlevoix Collision, Wojan Plumbing and Heating, Performance Engineers and the Charlevoix Circle of Arts. Also, a special thanks to McDougal House Bed and Breakfast for making the performers' stay a very special event!

Debate over Planned Parenthood services require moral compass

Editor,
This letter is in response to Jim Helmer's letter on Supporting Planned Parenthood.

I don't believe you have to be part of a religious group, claim to be a Christian or even have a belief in God to see the horror in aborting a live fetus for body parts. For Mr. Helmer to draw a parallel between this and a blood transfusion is beyond my comprehension.

He certainly can't be so numb morally that he doesn't see that no matter how much good Planned Parenthood does, that we can somehow justify an act this barbaric.

There are dozens of pregnancy centers in our country that perform the same services as Planned Parenthood, but they have a moral compass that helps them draw a line when it comes to the sanctity of life.

Trump bankruptcy issue lacks pride

Editor,
I know that Donald Trump is a very wealthy man. I wonder if he has ever paid off those people who were left holding the bag in his bankruptcies. I have a dear friend who had to go through bankruptcy.

He then got a job and each month he sent a check to each one who was left with the debt. I am proud of his pride in doing this. This pride usually starts with having great parents.

Ironton Ferry first started as a rowboat operation

LOOKING BACK...

A ferry across the north end of Lake Charlevoix's South Arm began operation around 1876. Robert Bedwin transported passengers across the nearly 600-foot gap between the mainland and peninsula in his rowboat for a nickel a head. Ferries grew larger and more sophisticated over the years until the current vessel — in the photo — was built downstate for $12,000 in 1926. It was finished in Ferrysburg, then towed up Lake Michigan from Grand Haven, a five-day journey because of bad weather. The almost century-old Ironton ferry underwent its latest overhaul and updating three years ago. The vessel is now allowed to carry a total of 27 passengers along with four cars. After World War II, for a few years the ferry had a guest register that drivers signed with name and place of origin, like in a vintage hotel. Total passenger ridership in 1946 was 129,366. In 1947, Ralph Edwards, the popular moderator of the game show Truth or Consequences on radio and later TV, was discovered behind the wheel of a car making the passage. That same year, the 63,823 cars carried across were registered in every one of the then contiguous 48 states, Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico, British Columbia, the Panama Canal Zone, and Ireland. And Charlevoix County, which had bought and began responsibility for operating the ferry in 1886, allowed everyone to ride toll free until 1949.

The Keweenaw Star cruise boat and the Charlevoix Historical Society are co-hosting a fully narrated historic fall color cruise down the Lake Charlevoix's South Arm to Ironton and Holy Island, then around Pine Point, from 2-4 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 10. Tickets are $25 per person. For reservations, call the Keweenaw Star at (231) 237-9365, or purchase tickets at the Keweenaw Star office next to the Beaver Island Boat Company.

International organization gives local church new look

LONNIE ALLEN
(231) 547-6558 - lallen@charvoix.com

CHARLEVOIX — A Charlevoix church has received a facelift thanks to an organization known as Men and Women of Action, which provided the manpower free of charge.

The Family of Faith Church — located on 203 E. Upright St. — received an exterior update during the month of September into early October.

Pastor Michael Arp said Men and Women of Action are doing the renovations in his congregation's church because it is the type of mission work the organization does.

"They go to different churches in the U.S., as well as abroad and provide renovations," Arp said.

The main renovation was finished in an eight-day period, said Landall Rayburn, of Battle Creek.

"We had about nine people volunteer their handiwork and time for the project," Rayburn said.

The church's exterior has new siding and a fresh coat of paint along the trim, as well as new trim around the windows.

"It's a wonderful thing they have done to our building," Arp said. "All the labor is donated. They're committed to making sure we have a nice looking building."

Rayburn, who is the project coordinator of the church renovation, said the organization travels internationally doing this type of work.

"We'll go where there's a need," Rayburn said. "We don't let denomination get in our way."

Rayburn became involved with Men and Women of Action approximately 14 years ago, after seeing an informational table about the organization at a church conference.

"I am a carpenter and I want to use the abilities the Lord gave me to do Kingdom work," Landall said. "This organization gives me the chance to do that."

He added the organization has a total of about 6,000 people and completes 100 projects annually. Arp who stressed his gratitude for the project said the church could not afford such a renovation.

"It's a tremendous thing ... It's a tremendous blessing for us," Arp said.

The renovation is something that normally would have costs around $40,000 to complete and Rayburn and his crew completed the project for around $8,000. The project was meant to happen, Rayburn said.

"The church congregation was praying for someone to help do the renovation and we were praying to be sent somewhere where we can use our abilities, and we ended up in Charlevoix," Rayburn said. "I'm always amazed by what the Lord does and how he provides exactly the right amount people to complete the project."

Hospice hosting military veterans' appreciation day

CHARLEVOIX — Hospice of Northwest Michigan will hold a military veterans' appreciation event for local vets at a family-friendly event from 1-4 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 7, at the Flight Deck bar and bowling alley.

For a $10 cover charge at the door, the public can enjoy a dinner of chicken, pasta salad, baked beans and more; free games of pool; free hosted card games such as euchre, poker, gin, rummy; discounted bowling and shoes; one hour for $15, and a free DJ and/or Karaoke. There will also be door prizes, 50/50 games of chance and drink specials.

All active military and veterans who show their military ID and spouses will get in free. Anyone who brings a veteran or member of the active military as their guest will get one game of bowling for free on the day of the event.

At 1 p.m. there will be a Welcome Military Pinning Ceremony for all veterans in attendance done by Hospice of Northwest Michigan. Last chance tickets will also be available if not sold out in advance; only 250 tickets will be sold for the ongoing patriot quilt raffle. Tickets for this one-of-a-kind piece of local artwork are $25 each and can be purchased in advance by contacting Amy Wieland at Hospice

As a We Honor Veterans hospice provider, Hospice of Northwest Michigan is providing specialized care to Veterans who are facing a life-limiting illness. The National Hospice and Palliative Care Organization in collaboration with the Department of Veterans Affairs created We Honor Veterans to empower hospice and other healthcare providers across America to meet the unique needs of seriously ill veterans and their families.

All event and patriot quilt raffle proceeds will benefit the We Honor Veterans Program through Hospice of Northwest Michigan.

ZooHoo exhibit mixes media and method

EAST JORDAN — The ZooHoo exhibit, opened on Sept. 27, at the Jordan River Art Center. The animal world themed display has a variety of works including oil, acrylic and watercolor paintings; drawings in pencil, pastel, and ink; collages; prints; photographs; sculptures in ceramics, bronze wood, paper mache, stone, and mixed media; and even books with some original art work sent from Beaver Island, Margie Guyot's paintings were highly visible, as were the large hand quilted hangings by Debrah Johnson, and the sculptures of different media by Glenn and Cindy McCune.

There is an ink drawing using tiny circles by Ray Villavane and the colored drawing of an owl by Rusty Hart. An oil painting by Robert Scudder is thought to be a photograph, it is so realistic. A center piece of real plants is formed into a flamingo by Judy Wagner-Worgess.

Co-curator, Cynthia

Tschudy, said, "It is so notable that the exhibiting artist expressed themselves in so many different ways."

More than 46 artists responded to the call by co-curators Cynthia and Katie McLeod.

The exhibit is open from 1-4 p.m., Tuesday - Sunday, through Oct. 23. Other times and group visits may be arranged by calling: (231) 544-6167 or (231) 222-2084.

Jordan River Arts Council is located at 301 Main St., East Jordan.

How to prevent fire, falls session coming to center

Falling can be very dangerous for senior citizens. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, 1 in 3 adults over the age of 65 falls annually, leading to a total of 2.5 million non-fatal falls. Between 20 and 30 percent of these incidents cause injuries such as head trauma, fractures and lesions. Because falls can be so serious, it's important to lower your risk of falling and prepare ahead of time for unavoidable incidents.

At noon, on Monday, Oct. 12, at the Charlevoix Senior Center, Compassionate Care Home Health Services is sponsoring a 'How to prevent Fire and Falls' education session. The information is provided by the Center of Disease Control and the National Fire Protection Association. The session will cover different way to prevent fires and falls in the home.

Fisherman Island public meeting to be held at library

CHARLEVOIX — The Michigan Department of Natural Resources will host an open house from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 12, to hear public input on a new draft General Management Plan for Fisherman's Island State Park in Charlevoix County. The open house will be held at the Charlevoix Public Library, Conference Room B, 220 W. Clinton St. in Charlevoix.

The 2,678-acre park includes more than 6 miles of scenic Lake Michigan shoreline with 80 rustic campsites, a picnic area, foot trails and undeveloped land for hunting and wildlife observation.

The General Management Plan for Fisherman's Island State Park defines a long-range — 10- to 20-year — planning and management strategy that will assist the DNR Parks and Recreation Division in meeting its responsibilities to protect and preserve the site's natural and cultural resources, and to provide access to land- and water-based public recreation and educational opportunities. A link to the Fisherman's Island State Park draft plan can be found at clearzonline.com/clearzonline-clients/fishermans- island-state-park/.

The public input meeting will begin with a short presentation of the draft plan. The public is welcome to attend at any time during the open house to review the planning material, provide comments and speak with DNR staff. Comments can be made until Oct. 19 by emailing Debbie Jensen, DNR park management plan administrator, at jensend1@michigan.gov.

Additional information on the DNR's General Management Plan process is available at michigan.gov/parkmanagementplans.

New job description approved for former Planning administrator position

LOHME ALLEN
(231) 547-6558 • allen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — The Planning and Zoning Administrator job will change under a new job description approved by Charlevoix City Council members on Oct. 5.

Council voted unanimously to accept new position. The new Economic Development and Planning Director position will replace the previous position left vacant by Mike Spencer, who left the job in August to be the executive director of the Bay View Association in Petoskey.

"This position will focus on economic development areas throughout the city that are long-term job creation while also performing some of the planning side," said City Manager Mark Heydlauff.

This position would encompass a larger range of responsibilities, which will include economic development and planning.

"It is my hope with this change we can help Charlevoix to be known for sustaining our existing businesses, encouraging expansions, and recruiting new prospects," Heydlauff said.

To help enforce zoning and code ordinances the current assistant position in the planning and zoning office also would be reconfigured to better identify the responsibilities.

"The thought would be to bring on someone that would focus on zoning and code compliance and enforcement, checking zoning permits, set backs and the other day to day operations in that department," Heydlauff said.

OBITUARY

Dwight William Smith, 82

Dwight William Smith, 82, passed away Sunday, Oct. 4, 2015, at Munson Hospice House in Traverse City.

Dwight was born in Charlevoix on Jan. 30, 1933, to Wilma Eleanor (Bellinger) Smith and Joseph LeRoy Smith. He was a veteran of the U.S. Army and attended the Army Language School in Monterey, Calif. He served with the Army Intelligence during the Korean War, stationed in Japan. He completed his Bachelor of Music Education, Master of Arts and Specialist in Education Administration degrees at Central Michigan University, with additional doctoral level studies in music at Michigan State University and University of Michigan.

For two decades he was a director of bands at East Jordan and Lansing Eastern High Schools. He continued his career as a school administrator for Chelsea, Mancelona and Litchfield Schools, retiring in 1994.

A lifelong musician,

Dwight conducted and played clarinet in community bands after retirement. He and wife, Judith, participated in numerous musical organizations, including the NMC Concert Band, Highlands County Concert Band in Sebring, Fla., (conductor), Encore Winds, Windjammers Circus Band, and community bands in Charlevoix and Gaylord. Dwight greatly enjoyed the outdoors, including gardening, hunting, fishing and camping.

On April 20, 1957, he married Judith Dechow, who survives. He is also survived by daughter, Ruth (David) Crouch; sons, William (Becky) and Dwight (Natalie); and daughter, Kathryn (John) McGee; grandchildren Laura and Timothy Crouch, Melissa and John McGee; brother, Joseph (Jan); and sister, Barbara (Jack) King.

No funeral services are planned.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Antrim County Commission on Aging or Munson Hospice House.

Arrangements have been handled by the Bellaire Chapel of Mortensen Funeral Homes.

Michigan Consumers for Healthcare grant approved for $1.-M

Lansing — Michigan Consumers for Healthcare can continue to serve residents of the state of Michigan for the upcoming enrollment year, thanks to third-year $1.4 million funding grant the organization recently received.

The Michigan Consumer's Healthcare network also served as a 2013 and 2014 navigator grantee. The network includes statewide organizations and local affiliates with ample experience in conducting federal Marketplace, Medicaid and Children's Health Insurance program outreach, education and enrollment, as well as health insurance counseling for uninsured and vulnerable individuals and families. This year, the organization will expand into a 40-state member network that represents local populations and understands each community's needs, with a total of 120 proposed Health and Human Services-trained and certified navigators on board.

In the last enrollment year between Nov. 1, 2014 and Aug. 28, 2015, Enroll Michigan's network of navigators reached more than two million Michigan consumers, have conducted more than 1,900 outreach events attended by more than 240,000 Michigan consumers, and assisted more than 2,500 residents in a language other than English.

Michigan Consumer's Healthcare and network members will deploy increased targeted outreach and educational strategies, including language services, improved access to people with disabilities, and outreach to social and ethnic groups including young adults, women, African Americans, Latinos, Native Americans, Asian Americans and Arabic populations.

Dizzy Warren, program director for Enroll Michigan, said the organization is honored to receive third-year funding to continue assisting uninsured and under insured residents.

"We are pleased to be selected for the third year in a row as the only statewide, federally funded navigator to assist consumers in understanding their options for healthcare coverage," she said.

BUSINESS

Main Street projects continue in Charlevoix

I'm excited to update readers on the many projects and input sessions happening with the Charlevoix Main Street program. The public is, and continues to be a big supporter of our program and we cannot be successful without you.

On Oct. 3, Main Street volunteers turned out to help clean-up the downtown in preparation for Applefest.

Carrying brooms, trash bags, rakes and shovels, the team fanned out over a few block radius to sweep-up, pick-up and tidy-up where they could. Downtown businesses were asked to notify volunteers of any minor sidewalk clean-up needs that could be addressed. They also hung cornstalks donated by local dairy farmer, Doug Warner, on several Bridge Street lampposts. The Clothing Company also supported the efforts of the volunteer crew by rewarding each with a store coupon.

Many folks that came to lend a hand expressed the desire to assist the downtown merchants and simply wanted to be a part of the Main Street efforts. Ten-year-old volunteer, Liam Dreyer, said, "I am here today because I want to help our City."

Charlevoix Main Street also would like to thank everyone who responded to the survey asking for public input about the potential for an ice skating rink in East Park. The majority — 89 percent — of people who responded are year-round residents are in favor of the idea. Several posed questions about the project logistics and provided valuable comments about how the ice rink could be used and who would use it. Many wondered how a rink downtown would impact the existing ice skating rink near Mt. McSaubia. In addition to the survey, the concept also was met with a positive response when presented to the Recreation Advisory Committee at their September meeting. Many of the committee members posed questions about maintenance, operations and equipment costs.

We are still in the information gathering phase and the public response thus far has been extremely valuable. The Design Committee's intent is to bring the concept to the City Council and the Planning Commission for additional input. If the community thinks it's a good idea, the ultimate goal would be to create a proposal for an ice skating rink that is the realization of what the public has told us they would like to see. To provide input about a potential ice skating rink in East Park, visit survey.moz.com/s/UEGLS/ or call the Charlevoix Main Street office at (231) 547-3257.

The Main Street Economic Team is hosting the first monthly downtown business owner meeting at 8 a.m. on Oct. 19, at the Charlevoix Public Library in Community Room A. All interested Charlevoix business owners are invited. The goal of the meetings are to provide a forum for the business owners to discuss relevant topics and collaborate with one another.

Available volunteer positions on the Main Street team are needed and the team is seeking Charlevoix business owners who can communicate effectively with potential developers and provide important peer-to-peer information to individuals who may be thinking about starting a business in Charlevoix or expanding an existing business in the area.

We are also seeking a volunteer photographer or videographer for Charlevoix Main Street meetings, events and activities as scheduled.

For more information call, Charlevoix Main Street at (231) 547-3257 or email MainStreet@CityofCharlevoix.org. You can also visit us at charlevoixmainstreet.org.

Going strong at 101

John Ochs and his wife, Lani, represent the third generation of Ochs behind the pharmacy counter of Central Drug Store and their store has become a landmark on the corner of Bridge and Clinton streets in downtown Charlevoix.

Store motto: 'We are more than a pharmacy. We are family.'

ANNE KELLY
Special to Courier

CHARLEVOIX — The Ochs family has been a part of the Drug Store tradition for 101 of its 118 years and is Charlevoix's oldest family operated business.

John and his wife, Lani, represent the third generation of Ochs behind the pharmacy counter of the drug store that has become a landmark on the corner of Bridge and Clinton streets in downtown Charlevoix.

"We are more than a pharmacy. We are family. You're more than a prescription number. You are a family member. We are committed to keeping our Charlevoix family healthy and happy" is the mission statement for Central Drug Store. Along with pharmaceutical needs, customers will find friendly customer service, medical equipment, over-the-counter medicines and wellness products, a variety of greeting cards and gifts and UPS service.

In 1914, Harley Ochs became the first in the family to join the business established in 1897 by E.N. Chapel and subsequently sold to B.A. Herman. Harley served as a pharmacist apprentice upon completion of a six-month pharmacy program at Ferris Institute — now Ferris State University. He bought the store in 1929 and kept the business afloat during the Depression, when often he was paid with produce and livestock instead of cash. Harley and his wife, Mildred, had two sons both of whom worked in the pharmacy during their high school and college years and served their country in World War II. One son, Frank, became a pharmacist mate in the Navy after graduating from Ferris State University in 1941. During the war, the Ochs placed pictures of their sons, and other community members loved ones fighting for our country, in the window of the store to rally support and show pride.

Frank returned home to join his father at the store and became his business partner. He bought the business in the 1960s and worked there until he died at age 88. To complete the cycle into the third generation, Frank's son, John, attended Ferris State University, graduating in 1969, and worked as a research pharmacist with Upjohn until he bought Central Drug Store from his father in 1982. John and his wife, Lani, are still the face of the business today, serving Charlevoix's pharmaceutical needs and being good neighbors at a time when chain pharmacies are threatening to put independents out of business.

"We face the front door and see people we know every day," Lani said. "We appreciate our customers who have become friends over the years and are always happy to meet new ones."

"We couldn't have this business without them," John agreed.

Jeanne Eaton has been an employee for 27 years.

"I actually started working at Dockside Pharmacy when Jim and Judy Williams owned that store," she said. "When John and Lani bought Dockside Pharmacy and moved it to the Kmart plaza as the Commons Apothecary, I worked for them there selling gifts and cards and providing UPS service."

For five years the Commons Apothecary was the Ochs' second store. Eventually, the store closed, and the business was consolidated downtown where Eaton works for them today.

"John and Lani are so nice to work for," Eaton said. "People like to come in here because they feel comfortable asking pharmaceutical questions and for getting medicinal advice. John and Lani will actually come out from behind their counter and show customers where they can find products and then tell them how to use them. You don't find that much in big chain pharmacies."

New this year has been the addition of the mural constructed on the Clinton Street wall of their building.

"The DDA approached us to see if they could use the wall," John said, "and we were delighted."

When Katherine Larsen's panels depicting the history of Charlevoix were chosen, an appropriate depiction on a century old business, the Ochs saved the city money by offering to donate the money for labor in hanging them. One of their sons, Michael, owns Three Oaks Woodworking in Charlevoix and his company facilitated the installation. The unique mushroom Innuse don't was painted on site. The Ochs' other son, Tom, teaches high school science and robotics in Petoskey.

Neither of the boys will be carrying the torch for the family's Central Drug Store tradition. Going forward, Ochs is actively looking for a capable and enthusiastic partner who will take over the business and will continue to offer the services of a community-based pharmacy downtown.

Charlevoix County's Iconic Juilleret's set to close doors on Oct. 13.

Juilleret's Restaurant, a long standing breakfast tradition in Charlevoix, will close its doors after Apple Fest on Oct. 13.

CHARLEVOIX — Juilleret's Restaurant, a long-standing breakfast tradition in Charlevoix, is set to close on Tuesday, Oct. 13.

A landmark in the Charlevoix area for 27 years, Juilleret's last weekend of business will be during the annual Apple Fest celebration.

For owner Mary Morrison it's a bittersweet goodbye. Morrison first bought the restaurant back in 1988 and because of Juilleret's famous bread, Morrison remembers needing baking assistance.

"When we first purchased the restaurant we had to have someone stay on to help us bake the bread," Morrison said. "It's what makes us famous, the bread and French toast, so we needed to know how to make it."

New to owning a restaurant, Morrison recalls the following years held a lot of growth and hard work, along with memories for her and the crew at Juilleret's.

"Someone once described Juilleret's as a 'Cheers' type place," Morrison said. "It's just the people that we have met that have made the place what it is, very unique."

Yet, while Morrison and the rest of the crew at Juilleret's are preparing to say goodbye, Morrison still will have the bakery going for a few weeks after the restaurant officially closes to fulfill the many orders for bread she has received since word of the restaurant's closing.

"Everyone wants some bread before we close," Morrison said.

While Morrison said it's the customers she will miss the most, she also said she knew it was time to stop.

"Working in the restaurant business is hard and takes a lot out of you," she said. "I'm ready to retire, relax and be with family."

employees.
"We have a lot of very good restaurants in town now, why should we risk destabilizing even just one of them, much less all of them," Left said in his letter.

Scovies owner, Vi Keller sees the benefit of having food trucks, but also sees a negative aspect for the landlords of those who own and operate brick and mortar establishments.

"The summer months are when we are able to make enough money to put in the bank to sustain us through the winter months," Keller said. "We have regular clientele that does come in for the winter, but summer is the season that many of us depend on to make it through the winter."

Bridge Street Tap Room co-owner, Phil Parr said they like the variety of food trucks that come to town in the summer and believes they do a professional job by providing a variety of food options for the community. But at the same time, Parr believes location and availability should be carefully considered in any policy dealing with mobile food vendors.

"Having food trucks line up on Bridge Street in front of East Park for a week — they most likely pay a significant less amount than what we pay for a brick and mortar establishment — is a big deal when we pay year-round for our taxes," Parr said. "We do use our summer months revenue to subsidize what we do in the winter, as Vi Keller said."

One suggestion Parr gave to council members was to have a neutral location for mobile food vendors in Charlevoix.

"Maybe something like the library or a back lot that is located in downtown a little off the beaten path," Parr said.

Council member Bill Supernaw wanted to know if the city could ban food trucks altogether, but city staff members said that would not be possible.

"A food truck ban could be challenged," said Zach Panoff, interim planner and zoning administrator.

Adam Kline, who owns Pigs Eat'n' Ribs, in Charlevoix said his business has grown since starting out with one food truck and plenty of door knocking to be allowed into a festival or hired for a catering job.

"Because of the festivals that let us in and our following we were able to open our brick and mortar restaurant in Charlevoix," Kline said. "We don't want to be excluded in Charlevoix. If mobile food vendors are not welcome we might as well pack up. Why operate a business where you are not welcome?"

Kline also believes if food vendors are excluded from festivals then the carnival vendors also should be excluded. Kline would like to see a conclusion to the debate about mobile food vendors that benefits for everyone.

City staff supplied council members with copies of ordinances from Traverse City, St. Joseph, Mount Pleasant and Kalamazoo on how they operate mobile food vendors. Council did not take action during the meeting, but suggested to city staff to seek letters of interest from people who might want to join a possible committee that could work on a food truck plan for Charlevoix.

Council member Shirley Gibson appreciated the amount of people who turned out to share their views on food trucks and hopes these same people will work with the city to come up with a plan that benefits both brick and mortar establishments and mobile food vendors.

"They all brought up legitimate issues on both sides," Gibson said. "I really believe a joint study committee should be put together with the stakeholders involved so they all can give their voice on a possible plan."

City manager Mark Heydlauff said it is critical to have ample public dialogue about mobile food vendors.

"I think it is important and good to have discussion on the topic," Heydlauff said. "The ultimate goal would be to come up with some sort of policy that represents the Charlevoix community."

"Our goal is to make the downtown look good while building community pride through the Main Street program," said Downtown Development Authority/Main Street director Annie Doyle.

More than 15 volunteers didn't let the windy conditions keep them from making sure that downtown was cleaned. They showed up with rakes, brooms and bags, and wearing blue T-shirts, they spread out throughout the downtown area to spruce up the area after the summer tourist season.

"We have a great turnout and we got a lot done," Doyle said.

Much of the work focused on Main Street and the city's gateways, where volunteers swept the sidewalks, removed debris and generally helped clean up the alley ways and near the fronts of some businesses.

Among the volunteers was promotion committee member and event chair Mayor Gabe Campbell, who was busy working in Hoop Skirt Alley making sure one of the pedestrian shortcuts from the city parking lots to the shops on Bridget Street was free and clear of trash.

"There are a lot of good people here," Campbell said. "We all have something in common. We care about our town."

Some volunteers said it was good to see a mix of people join in to help improve the city.

"I always been a big advocate when promoting downtown Charlevoix," said clean up crew volunteer, Tim Salmonson. "The event shows support from our community. It is nice to meet some people I have never met before who also are committed to promoting the community they live in."

Besides cleaning the downtown area volunteers also helped place donated cornstalks around lamp poles in the downtown to prepare the area for the upcoming fall festival. It took the volunteer crew approximately three hours to complete the outlined projects the Main Street promotions committee identified from local businesses as areas that needed the most attention. The success of clean up day demonstrates the support for Main Street, Doyle said.

"The event exemplified the Main Street commitment to the downtown community," Doyle said.

AIRPORT

naw asked if the airport is losing money and Eustice said this fiscal year it did not lose cash.

Eustice also explained that this audit does not represent this year's current operation of the airport.

City Manager Mark Heydlauff said the revenue last year at the airport is approximately $35,000, excluding the depreciation. Even though the airport generated revenue, Heydlauff is hesitant to make the claim the airport is making a profit.

"I'm all for good news and technically the airport did not lose cash, however, it is more accurate to say we broke even as the auditor explained to council," Heydlauff said.

The audit encompassed

the financial statements of the city's governmental activities and business-type activities. Downtown Development Authority, each major fund and the aggregate remaining fund information for the fiscal year 2014-15.

About 91 percent of the fund balance is available for general operating business in the city. Revenues were a little higher than budget at $48,000 and expenditures came in a little under budget around $152,000, Eustice said.

The city received an unmodified opinion on their financial statements for the current year, which if considered a letter grade is an "A," she added.

"That's a good thing for you," Eustice said to council members. "The city is to be commended for the work that you do to make sure you are fiscally responsible."

to the vessel's pilot house including a window and its radio system.

Officials with the ferry met with an inspector from the U.S. Coast Guard on Monday to assess the damage and determine a list of the needed repairs.

Late Monday, transportation authority board member John Drury said the board plans to meet on Monday Oct. 12 to decide if it is feasible to attempt to have the ferry repaired and returned to service yet this season.

Charlevoix County Road Commission Manager Pat Harmin said none of the damage is structural, instead the work involves replacing items such as lights, the windows on the pilot house, fire extinguishers, some painting, new life rings, replace the horn, and radio system, and other similar items. He said the deck warping is cosmetic and will not need to be repaired to put the ferry back in service. He said the time frame on the repairs might be driven by how quickly parts can be obtained from vendors.

Typically the ferry ends its season in mid to late November.

Drury said officials believe all of the necessary repairs to the ferry can be done while it is still in the water. The ferry is not slated for its five-year maintenance that requires it to be pulled from the water for another two years, he said.

at school for that cause. Along with other Builder's Club members, River collected pet supplies at church and school for three weeks and donated them to the Charlevoix Humane Society. She was invited to deliver her essay at the Michigan District Builder's Club Convention held on Aug. 28, at the Renaissance Center in Detroit.

"Not only was it a great essay," said Sue Goss, Builder's Club moderator, "but River delivered it as a speech that just blew everybody away... she talked with confidence and emotion about the project and the whole club, not just about herself."

Builders Club is a student-led organization that teaches leadership skills through service to others. Around the world, more than 45,000 Builders Club members are making their community and the world a better place. Builders Club is a member of the Kiwanis International family.

St. Mary's Builder's Club meets once a week, every Thursday during lunch during which they discuss and plan future service projects.

"I think this is a truly amazing thing," wrote River in her essay, "because kids rarely sit down together and collaborate their ideas. But with Builder's Club, we can learn how to make a difference in people's lives. We learn how to be caring, kind, helpful and that small actions can change someone's world."

The Builder's Club members have sold pasties as a fund raiser for Joppa House, entertained residents at the American House, held a bake sale to raise money for Christmas gifts for children on St. Mary's giving tree, and donated money raised for books, fish and plants at Boulder Park, as well as their Humane Society Project.

"People talk about our kids being a 'ME' generation," Musilek said. "But given the opportunity and the guidance of someone like Sue Goss, they can become leaders who serve others. I am proud of River. Her love of animals and people is just part of her spirit."

Hayes Township seeks volunteers for Camp Sea-Gull clean-up

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix County's Hayes Township is seeking volunteers to help on the final day of fall cleaning at the Hayes Township Camp Sea-Gull Park. The fall cleaning at the park will take place at 9 a.m. on Saturday, Oct. 17. Camp Sea-Gull is located at 68580 Boyne City Road, Charlevoix. This will be the last chance this year to volunteer. Volunteers of all ages are welcome and are free to give whatever time they can spare.

Volunteer activities include beach clean-up, raking leaves, organizing and storing janitorial/maintenance equipment and winterizing the cabins. Volunteers skilled in construction may build a work bench for the maintenance shed and remove some of the outdoor stages. A light lunch will be provided to all volunteers.

The Hayes Township Parks and Recreation Committee would like to thank all the individuals, families, organizations and businesses who have volunteered their time, expertise and materials.

To volunteer, call Hayes Township Clerk Marlene Golovich at (231) 547-6961 or email clerk@hayestownshipmi.gov.

Char-Em United Way searching for new member volunteers

PETOSKEY — With the start of the new school year rapidly approaching, the Char-Em United Way Literacy Corps will soon be getting back into action and looking for new members to fill needs in area schools. Over the past three years, 115 local adults have been recruited and placed into schools that have expressed a need for assistance in teaching students to read and for general tutoring.

Volunteers have helped in Petoskey, Boyne City, Harbor Springs, Charlevoix, Boyne Falls and St. Francis schools. Volunteers also have helped in Crooked Tree, Boyne District, Jordan Valley District, Charlevoix Public, and Petoskey District libraries and a few preschools. Seven Literacy Corps members were able to work out a schedule that fit both the needs of the school and their own lives.

"The benefits of volunteering extend beyond the student," stated Cal Prins, Central Elementary principal. "Our volunteers are enriched by the experience as well. Volunteers become more familiar with our school and the programs we offer. They develop relationships with our staff and students. Our volunteers have the satisfaction of knowing they are helping students during a very important stage in their development, while creating an important link between the school and the community."

Literacy Corps member, Jay Scherr, was enthusiastic about his experience during his first year of helping some of the fourth grade students.

"It was truly a pleasure as well as enlightening," said Scherr. "Especially so, Greek Literature I never anticipated. Great stuff! Barring the unforeseen, I plan to continue in Mrs. Kanine's class this coming fall."

Once the school year is back in full swing and teachers and principals are able to assess the volunteer needs in area schools, a training session for new Literacy Corps volunteers will be scheduled and anyone interested will be able to register. Volunteers go through a background check, a short training session, and are allowed to choose a location most convenient to them. Last fall's new recruits were placed in schools such as Petoskey, Harbor Springs and Boyne City. There were more needs expressed than volunteers to fill them.

Anyone who would like to volunteer through this program at an area school or library, please call the Char-Em United Way office at (231) 487-1006 or email at info@charemunitedway.org.

North Central Community College hosts College Night

PETOSKEY – North Central Michigan College invites high school juniors and seniors and their parents to College Night, from 6:30-8 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 14. The event will be held on the Petoskey campus in the Student and Community Resource Center.

High school students and parents can meet with representatives from more than 50 public and private colleges and universities from throughout the Midwest about higher education options, admission requirements, programs of study, costs of college, campus activities and residence life. U.S. Armed Forces representatives also will be available. A financial aid adviser from NCMC will be present to answer questions about federal financial aid.

The program is offered to the community by NCMC as a free service for college-bound students and families and is supported by the Michigan Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admission Officers.

North Central Michigan College is an open-door community college based in Petoskey, with additional locations offering classes and services in Cheboygan and Gaylord. North Central's mission is to provide educational, economic and cultural opportunities for student learning, personal growth and community improvement. North Central is an Achieving the Dream Leader College and a Military-Friendly School.

Charlevoix library lists upcoming youth activities for the fall

CHARLEVOIX – The Charlevoix Public Library announced the line-up of youth activities throughout the fall season. The library at 220 W. Clinton St., invites all kids to participate in the myriad of program offerings.

Dance with Me kicked off in September and is from 10:30 to 11 a.m. each Monday through October. This program is for children from 18 months – 3 years old. Instructor, Kristi Epping introduces children to class structure through movement, music and imagination. Children and their caregivers are asked to wear comfortable clothing and to be ready to move. The classes are free and drop-ins are welcome.

Creative Kids Day will take place from 10 to 11:30 am. on Thursday, Oct. 15. Toddlers, preschoolers and their parents will enjoy music, art projects, face painting and enjoy healthy snacks and Ms. Laura will read a story. This program is brought to you by: Early On Northwest, Early/Head Start, Char-Em ISD, MSU Extension, Little Traverse Bay Bands of Odawa Indians, Department of Human Services, Health Department, Charlevoix Public Library, Great Start Collaborative, Child Care Connections and community volunteers.

Read to Ginger, the therapy dog that loves to hear stories read aloud. The library Labrador listens to readers from 3:45-5 p.m. each Tuesday, from Oct. 20 through Nov. 17. Decorate the library sidewalks with your artwork from 3:15 to 5 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 21, during the Sidewalk Chalk event. Share artistic talents with the Charlevoix Community. All ages are welcome.

The Wings of Wonder will be on hand at 4 p.m., on Friday Nov. 6. Rebecca Lessard will share stories about the life and times of Michigan raptors and her work in rescuing injured birds. She will bring live raptors for audience members to see. This event is for people 5 years old and older and is being sponsored by St. Mary's Cement.

Celebrate the release of the new Star Wars movie by attending the Blast into Space Story party on Saturday, Nov. 14, 10:30-11:30 a.m. Children ages three and up will dress up, listen to space stories, make a star wars light saber and enjoy a snack. Then for the older kids, come to the After School Star Wars Lego event from 3:45-4:30 pm, on Wednesday, Nov. 18. Create Star Wars inspired Lego creations using the library's Legos.

Of course, Story Hour with Ms. Laura will continue at 10:30 a.m. every Thursday for children birth to 5 years old. Ms. Laura shares songs, stories and crafts for all. All fall events are free and open to all.

For more information about youth activities visit charlevoixlibrary.org or call the youth information desk at (231) 237-7350.

Health Department of Northwest Michigan offers schedule for flu clinics

CHARLEVOIX – Be a hero this flu season and make an appointment for a flu vaccination. By taking this small precaution, you will protect loved ones, stop the spread of disease and maybe even save a life. The Health Department of Northwest Michigan is offering immunization clinics throughout the region to help local communities prepare for this flu season.

Dr. Joshua Meyerson, medical director for the Health Department of Northwest Michigan, urges everyone 6 months of age and older to get vaccinated for the seasonal flu. Meyerson said not nearly enough people in Northern Michigan receive the vaccine.

"Not only does vaccination prevent influenza and related complications, it also can save lives," said Meyerson, who noted that young children and older adults may be more vulnerable. "Everyone should be vaccinated to prevent the spread of illness."

The vaccine, which offers protection through the entire flu season, is available in two forms: the flu shot or nasal-spray. The shot is approved for everyone ages 6 months and older, whereas the nasal spray is approved for healthy individuals 2 to 49 years old, who are not pregnant. Those interested in the vaccine should contact their physician or the health department. Cost for seasonal flu vaccination at the health department is $30. Medicaid and Medicare are accepted, as well as private insurance, or clients may pay by cash or check.

Appointments are required to participate in any of the upcoming clinics, which include the following:

— Sacred Heart Church, Elk Rapids, Oct. 9
— Antrim County Building, Oct. 9
— American House, Charlevoix, Oct. 12
— American House, Petoskey, Oct. 12

— Boyne Area Senior Center, Oct. 13
— Perry Farm Village Harbor Springs, Oct. 19
— Pellston Senior Center, Oct. 20
— St. Anthony's, Mackinaw City, Oct. 20
— Petoskey Middle School, Oct. 21

Rayders withstand late Kalkaska push in crucial 20-12 win

CHARLEVOIX — From the moment Charlevoix head coach Ron Bindi first took the job three years ago, he's stressed the importance of finishing games.

On Friday night, in front of a capacity homecoming crowd, the Rayders showed they've taken that lesson to heart in securing a big 20-12 win over visiting Kalkaska.

With two minutes left and the Blazers down eight points, Kalkaska quarterback Hunter Surydam hit a receiver deep downfield on a play that looked like a sure touchdown, but Charlevoix junior Brad Klinger pursued from midfield and ran the receiver down, making a touchdown-saving tackle at around the 20 yard line.

That play proved to be critical to the outcome, as the Blazers misfired on their next several chances in the red zone, including a potential touchdown pass with no time left

CHARLEVOIX — With a huge game on tap for Thursday and an opponent they were used to beating, the Charlevoix boys soccer team might have gotten caught looking ahead against Kalkaska at home on Monday.

But, although the Blazers came out with a spirited effort and nearly pulled off a big upset, the Rayders found a way to hold on and secure a 1-0 victory that sets up a potential LMC title deciding match on Thursday against Harbor Springs.

The big play came from junior Wesley Crandell, who hit a curving shot from the top of the box that broke to the bottom-left corner of the goal and just past Kalkaska goalkeeper Cole Nabozny's reach for the game-winning score in the 56th minute.

The goal ended a long scoring drought for the Rayders, who controlled possession for virtually the entire first 50 minutes and ELK RAPIDS — A hotly-contested match between the Rayders and the host Elks was decided by the slimmest of margins on Tuesday night, but it would be Charlevoix that came up short.

Elk Rapids took the fifth and deciding set by a razor-thin, 15-13 margin to come away the victors in a Lake Michigan Conference match between the two squads.

Charlevoix started out with a 25-17 victory in the first set, but the Elks responded by taking the next two sets 25-23, 25-21 to take a 2-1 lead.

With the Rayders facing a loss, Charlevoix rallied for a fourth-set win, 25-18, but couldn't complete the comeback by taking the fifth set.

"It was anyone's set in the 5th set," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said. "A few missed serves by us just gave them the edge at pivotal moments in set 5."

"We have nothing to hang our heads about other than that we did drop the match, but great improvements are starting to occur with every match we play now. Girls are understanding their roles, trusting each other on the court and playing better together."

Becca Moon led Charlevoix with 12 kills, five aces, 10 digs and a block, and Emily Zabawa chipped in nine kills, four blocks, three aces and 18 digs.

Intense training goes into the regimen of a top tier athlete. Your body, mind and spirit all have to be on the same page in order to be successful by all means.

Technique, nutrition, strength and mental preparedness are key components and 18 year old triathlon competitor Ali Schwein knows this all too well.

A 2015 Charlevoix high school graduate, Schwein has been swimming competitively since she was just seven years of age. At the age of 15 she became interested in open water swimming and enrolled in an open water swim camp, which also functioned as a triathlon camp.

The rest is history.

Growing up, she was involved in many sports, such as gymnastics, soccer, figure skating, cheerleading and dance. But none of those sports stuck with her like swimming did.

Schwein had to fight adversity and encountered obstacles on her journey. Training on her own was difficult along with competing at races without a coach there to guide her during big events. Schwein then became part of the Elite Multisport team based in Carmel, Ind.

"I have teammates to warm-up with and teammates to work together with in races," Schwein said. "Having coaches at the races has been a real game changer for me. I now have someone who is looking out for me, helping me pick my starting position and yelling out splits; the change has really impacted both my attitude and performance."

Being a triathlete essentially means that you'll be competing in three sports wrapped all into one event, which can cause for some pretty intense workouts.

One of the hardest workouts according to Schwein was a three set, 15 minute bike workout with increasing effort until you hit 110 percent of your threshold, then there's a 30 second transition to a mile run, a race pace right after that. Schwein described that workout as the hardest she has done all summer.

Now enrolled at the University of Colorado-Boulder, she recently competed at the International Triathlon Union (ITU) Standard Distance Championships in Chicago on Sept. 19.

The competition consisted of a 1,500-meter swim followed by a 40k bike ride and ended with a 10k run. She finished third with a time of 2:21:25 in the 19 age group and was the first American to cross the line.

Charlevoix's Austin Putman reels in a catch for a long gain early in Friday's 20-12 homecoming win over Kalkaska.

on the clock that was just out of bounds, to allow Charlevoix to hang on for the win.

"When we talk about never giving up on a play and finishing strong, that (play is) what we're talking about," Bindi said. "They (Kalkaska) had a nice deep pass and the kid looks like he's gone, but our defense keeps pursuing and we end up keeping them out of the end zone."

"That ended up being a huge play, and it's the kind of play that you need to make consistently to win big games."

The Charlevoix defense gave up several long passing plays in the victory, but when push came to shove the Rayders consistently kept Kalkaska from turning long drives into touchdowns.

The Rayders set the tone early, stonewalling the Blazers on two separate drives where Kalkaska got inside the Charlevoix 10 yard line in the first quarter and holding them scoreless in the first half.

The Rayder front seven, led by defensive end Jordan Adkins' 13 tackles and linebacker Malcom Williams' 12 tackles, was the big catalyst on the stops, bringing pressure on Suydam all night long and clamping down on Kalkaska's spread attack whenever it had short fields to work with.

"I thought tonight was the best job we've ever done during my time here at digging in, getting down and dirty and making plays up front," Bindi said. "Our lines were physical, they were focused and they played with a lot of intensity and passion, and that really made a difference."

Offensively, the Rayders missed junior tailback

JAMES GENSTERBLUM/COURIER

Charlevoix's Malcom Williams (11) sends Kalkaska quarterback Hunter Suydam (12) flying after taking out his legs on a tackle during the Rayders' 20-12 homecoming win over the visiting Blazers on Friday.

Jared McLean, who was out with an injury.

With one of its biggest playmakers on the sidelines and Kalkaska loading up the box to stop the run, Charlevoix put its trust in the arm of quarterback Forrest Noirot, and the senior delivered, going 10 of 15 for 158 yards and consistently moving the chains.

Noirot connected with Austin Putman six times for 112 yards, and Klinger four times for 46 yards on the night.

"We're a team that likes to establish the run, but if we have to throw we have confidence in our quarterback and our receivers to get it done," Bindi said. "Those guys really got it done tonight, and it gives our offense an added dimension that makes us tougher to scheme against."

Williams got the Rayders on the board first early in the second quarter on a five-yard touchdown run that gave Charlevoix a 7-0 lead it would take into halftime.

In the second half, Charlevoix took advantage of opportunities created by the defense, turning a short field created by a Putman fumble recovery into a one-yard touchdown on a QB keeper by Noirot.

Then, after an interception by Oliver DeYoung on the eight yard line, tailback Ben Boss took the ensuing handoff 92 yards for what would end up being the game-winning score.

Boss finished with 119 yards on 15 carries to lead the Rayders in rushing.

Kalkaska, with a shot at the conference title on the line, refused to go away, getting a 29-yard touchdown pass from Suydam to Jacob Shier and a 13-yard scramble by Suydam for a touchdown to remain within a score throughout the second half.

The victory is a big one for the Rayders, who improve to 4-2 overall and 2-0 in the Northern Michigan Football League Second Division.

With the win, Charlevoix remains tied with Frankfort for the conference lead and is two wins away from clinching its second consecutive playoff berth with three games to play, including a battle with rival East Jordan on the road next Friday.

"It's a big win for us because winning close games against good teams is an important step on the road to get where we want to go," Bindi said. "I'm not satisfied unless we're competing with and beating the Negaunee and Boyne City of the world, the teams we're going to see in the playoffs."

"In order to get there, we have to be able to beat good teams and close out games against tough competition like the team we played tonight. This is a sign that we're continuing to move forward as a program, and now we have to keep it up."

"It was so exciting to wave the American flag as I ran over the finish line, as well as being on the podium wearing the red, white and blue," Schwein said. "It was definitely a special moment."

On August 8, Schwein competed at the USA Triathlon (USAT) Age Group National championship in Milwaukee, where she finished fourth with a time of 2:19:53.30.

Schwein's time was good enough to have her selected to be apart of Team USA for the 2016 Worlds, which will be held in Cozumel, Mexico in September of 2016.

"Getting to be apart of Team USA, going to Mexico is exciting," Schwein said. "It's always fun and a honor to represent your country, and I love getting to go new places where I get to try new things and meet new friends."

Leading up to the Milwaukee race, Schwein competed at the Junior Elite National Championship in West Chester, Ohio. There she placed 41st out of 68 with a time of 1:11:17.39. The USA Triathlon Junior Elite Series is the premiere national level racing circuit for junior triathletes in the United States.

"My biggest accomplishment so far was qualifying and competing at the junior elite national championship, when racing junior elites, there's much more strategy involved and much more at stake," Schwein said. "You are on the Olympic pathway racing the best girls in the country, it was a honor being apart of something as big as that."

Using faith and lessons taught from her brother, professional triathlete Katie Zaferes, who ranks fifth this year for ITU and ranks third this year for USAT, also inspires Schwein.

"I love her positive outlook on the sport and the enthusiasm she brings," Schwein said. "She is always cracking a joke and having a good time doing the sport she loves and that inspires me."

Schwein has had the pleasure to travel all around the country. Being a triathlete has taken her to several different states to compete in races such as Wisconsin, Arizona, Minnesota, Florida and even outside of the country to Spain.

While the future is yet to be scripted for Schwein, she remains very optimistic about obtaining her elite card and the NCAA ruling triathlon as the emerging sport for women.

"Obviously every young triathlete's goal is to earn their elite card and to race as a professional, I'm not ruling that possiblity out right now and I'm not counting on it either," Schwein said. "There isn't many institutions participating yet, I'm just trying to enjoy triathlon as much as possible and I'll see where it takes me." Which to date, is pretty far.

generated a number of good scoring chances for Walker Drost, Christian Matye, Crandell and others but couldn't cash in on any of them.

Part of that was due to the play of Nabozny, who made several big saves in the first half, including a stop on a Drost penalty kick late in the half.

After the goal, the Blazers were forced to press up more in an attempt to force the equalizer, and Kalkaska came close twice.

On the first chance Kalkaska was ruled off on the potential goal, while on the second Charlevoix defender Kevin Pearl took the ball away from a Kalkaska attacker and cleared it to end the Blazers' last scoring chance with under two minutes to play.

Although Charlevoix was able to dominate possession at times throughout the contest, the Rayders struggled at times to turn that possession into quality scoring chances, especially when Matye was forced to leave at halftime with a nagging injury.

The junior midfielder should be back in time for Thursday's crucial match against LMC leader Harbor Springs at Charlevoix.

The Rayders, now 14-2-1 overall and 6-1 in the LMC, lost to the Rams earlier in the year in penalties after tying them 1-1 in regulation.

Since then, Harbor Springs has gone undefeated in league play, and assuming the Rams can top visiting Grayling today, Tuesday in their advance match, they can clinch a share of the LMC title on Thursday with a win.

If Charlevoix can get a victory, however, the Rayders could have two or even three-way tie at the top depending upon both teams' results against Elk Rapids in matches yet to come this season.

That game against Harbor Springs took place after the Courier went to press this week, and will be in next week's edition.

Charlevoix 8,
Boyne City 0

CHARLEVOIX — The Rayders used a three-goal night from Christian Matye to overcome a slow start and pull away for an 8-0 win over visiting Boyne City on Thursday, Oct. 1.

Matye broke a scoreless tie 13 minutes in with an unassisted goal, and added two more later in the night, one on a free kick, as well as an assist.

Kevin Pearl scored twice as well for the Rayders, and also assisted on a Walker Drost goal, while Josh Carlson netted the first goal of his varsity career on a penalty kick for Charlevoix.

Graham Kroon scored an unassisted goal for the Rayders, and Tyler Fuchs added an assist for his first varsity point as well.

"Boyne City has definitely improved from the first time we saw them, and this game was a much tougher outing for us than the first meeting," Charlevoix coach Anton Matye said. "We didn't match the level of play we had against Gaylord earlier in the week, which was slightly disappointing for us, but I know we'll keep working on it heading into next week."

Rayder Pop Warner teams come up just short at Pellston

JAMES GENSTERBLUM

PELLSTON — The Charlevoix Rayder Pop Warner football teams played well against tough competition on Saturday, coming up just short in both of its contests.

The Charlevoix Rayder PeeWee squad suffered its first loss of the season after a 3-0 start in a narrow 9-6 loss to Manceiona.

Quarterback Troy Nickel scored the Rayders' lone touchdown, while running backs Max Dixon and Patrick Sterett did what they could to pick up tough yards against a physical and talented Ironmen defense.

Defensively, the Rayders kept it close, with Nickel, John Paul Culver and Nate Claflin all leading the way in tackling for Charlevoix, but in the end Manceiona got the points it needed to take the defensive struggle.

The Rayder Midget team also came up short in a close 12-0 contest with rival Boyne City.

Charlevoix had several trips inside the red zone but couldn't cash in those chances for needed points, and the Rambiers were able to hold on.

each had good outings to lead the Rayders offensively, and quarterback Caieb Stuck also got his share of yards on the ground behind tackle Jake Claflin, who had a strong day as a lead blocker.

Stuck intercepted a pass and led the Rayders in tackles defensively, while Ostrum, Sauer and Dmitri Beli also had solid defensive outings for Charlevoix.

Both teams host the Traverse City Trojans this Saturday at Kipke Field for their next games, with the Rayder Midget teams playing at 1 p.m. and the PeeWee squad taking the field at 4 p.m.

in 15 and 11 digs, respectively.

Charlevoix travels downstate to the Mount Morris Tournament on Saturday for its next action.

Onaway Invite, Saturday

ONAWAY — The Charlevoix volleyball team continues to improve as the season goes on, but is still searching for consistency.

That was evident again at Saturday's Onaway Invitational, as the Rayders took one set off of all three of their pool play opponents but ended the day without a single match win.

The Rayders split with Rudyard (22-25, 25-23), Lincoln Alcona (18-25, 25-14) and Central Lake (23-25, 25-21) to make it out of pool play, where they fell in a tight match to Brimley 23-25, 25-27 in the quarterfinal.

"I think the girls stayed focused very well despite it being homecoming weekend, making their time on the court about volleyball, and I was proud of that aspect of their game," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said. "Our energy and spirits were not discouraged in tough moments, again a huge step to a tough team persona we are working towards."

Emily Zabawa made the all-tournament team for Charlevoix, finishing with 25 kills, 34 assists, 25 digs, two blocks and six aces, and Becca Moon chipped in 16 kills, 17 assists, 10 aces and three blocks.

Hannah Zipp added 12 kills, 14 digs, three aces and two blocks for the Rayders, Beth Veenstra chipped in 10 kills, Kelsey Crandell finished with 17 digs and Ellie Louiselle added five blocks.

East Jordan 3, Charlevoix 2

EAST JORDAN — Wouldn't go easy. After a promising start to the night, the Charlevoix varsity volleyball team would end their matchup with East Jordan on Thursday with a five set match loss but they wouldn't make it easy on the Red Devils.

Zipp

Charlevoix took set one, 25-15, but would then need to pull out a win in the fourth, after East Jordan made runs and wins of 25-22 and 25-19.

The Rayders would push it to five with a 25-19 win in four, but a 15-9 dominating win by East Jordan in the fifth would end the night.

"We will again go back and look at how we get ourselves behind the eight ball, which has been many unforced errors," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said. "I believe our energy was better and I believe we are making head way. A win would have made us feel like that was definitely true."

Emily Zabawa would lead the Rayders with 16 kills, 14 assists, 18 digs and three aces, while Hannah Zipp had nine kills, three aces and two blocks.

Becca Moon would add seven kills, 11 assists and two blocks, while Grace Sutherland had 15 digs and Beth Veenstra, three kills, two blocks and three aces.

For East Jordan, Mazzy Pepin led with 12 kills, Abby Peterson had 19 digs and Jai Atwood recorded 12 digs and 13 assists.

TRAVERSE CITY — With a season-defining test right around the corner for the Charlevoix girls golf team, the Rayders spent Monday's Traverse City Central Invitational getting ready.

Charlevoix competes in an MHSAA regional later this week for a shot at advancing to the state final, teeing off along with local rivals Harbor Springs and East Jordan on Thursday at Grayling Country Club looking for a top 3 finish that would guarantee a spot in the Division 4 championship at Forest Akers East in East Lansing on Oct. 16 and 17.

That meant that Charlevoix played the invitational hosted at Traverse City Country Club with that future very much in mind.

Petoskey and Harbor Springs each shot a 390 to finish tied in the final standings at the event behind champion TC West and runner-up TC Central, with the Rams edging the Northmen by one stroke in the fifth-gofer tiebreaker.

Charlevoix shot a 431 at the event and now heads to Grayling on Thursday looking to earn its first state final berth as a team in school history.

Abbey Scholten shot a 105 to lead the Rayders on Monday, Sara Sabook and Alex Snabes each carded a 106, and Emily Sabook and Olivia Jeakle each chipped in rounds of 114.

Annie Joy shot a 129 for Charlevoix, which would make a state finals trip in just its second year as a program if it were able to qualify on Thursday.

In order to do so, the Rayders will need a season-best round, but Charlevoix has already shot team scores this season that indicate it is capable of competing for a berth.

The Rayders also hosted a three-team tuneup event last Thursday, Oct. 1, finishing second behind Harbor Springs with a round of 196.

Alex Snabes led Charlevoix with a 48, while Abbey Scholten and Olivia Jeakle each shot 49 and Annie Joy and Rylynn Sladek each shot 50.

CROSS COUNTRY

Charlevoix at Carson City Invite

CARSON CITY — One of several big invitationals that draw cross country teams from across the state, the Carson City Crystal Invite provides a good midseason test for teams that take it on.

The Charlevoix cross country team was among the more than 70 programs to meet that challenge on Saturday, and the Rayders were able to come away with a better sense of where they stood against competition from across the state.

Charlevoix ran in the Division 3 Gold race at the event, taking eighth on the girls side and 12th on the boys side.

Michelle Bollini led the Charlevoix girls with a 15th place finish (20:08.2), while Kaitlin Schwenke took 52nd (22:16.2) and Rachel Nesburg 53rd (22:26.6).

Katie Mousseau finished 57th (22:41.4) and Kelsey Engstrom 74th (24:05.9) as well for the Rayders.

On the boys side, Luke Buday took 23rd overall (17:57.8), Jonathan Pischner 34th (18:11.4) and Ben Peterson 57th (19:06.5).

Ryan Erskine finished 73rd (19:48.4) and Josh Clees took 100th (21:50.9) as well for Charlevoix.

Food FOCUS

CHARLEVOIX — This week's Food Focus turns its lens to Scovie's Gourmet at 111 Bridge St. Apple Fest once again is being celebrated in downtown Charlevoix and Scovie's owner Vi Keller and manager Eric Wlodarczak are inviting guests and local residents to come in and try one of their many specialty apple desserts and special entrée features during the fall festivities. One of the favorites you can find at Scovie's Gourmet is Keller's delicious house made chicken and roasted vegetable lasagna, which is one of two house made lasagnas. Scovie's features many house made options for patrons to enjoy. The eatery is open from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday and Tuesday; from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, and from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday throughout the fall and winter season. Scovie's offers nightly dinner specials and a bar that sells beer, wine and liquor, which also can be purchased to go. Also this winter there will be special events planned for some Saturday nights. For more information, call (231) 237-7827 or email scovies@gmail.com. The Charlevoix Courier will feature a Charlevoix restaurant or business that prepares food for the public each week during our Food Focus series.

Closed for now: Transportation board puts off Ironton Ferry repair decision 2 more weeks

LONNIE ALLEN
 (231) 547-6558 - lallen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — The Ironton Ferry will remain out of service until the Charlevoix County Transportation Authority Board can make an informed decision about repairs after a vehicle fire damaged portions of the ferry earlier this month.

The board met Monday, Oct. 12, to discuss if the ferry could be reopened, but decided to wait another two weeks until they had more information on the ferry's electrical and hydraulics systems, along with information on what the insurance will cover.

"There are just too many unknowns for this board to make an informed decision about opening the ferry," said John Drury, board chair. "We are going to take two weeks and check everything out."

The four-car, cable-guided ferry, which transports vehicles and passengers across the Ironton Narrows in Lake Charlevoix, was damaged on Oct. 2 when a vehicle it was transporting caught fire. The fire warped steel planks on the ferry's deck and damaged the vessel's pilot house, including a window and its radio system. With only $54,000 in the budget and no idea on costs for repairs, the board would like to wait to hear back from the insurance company.

"We have no idea on what is going to be covered or the limits of coverage we have," Drury said. "We are at the mercy of the insurance company as we wait on their information."

Officials for the U.S. Coast Guard also made a list of requirements they want to see completed before the ferry returns to operation. Some of

5 vie for 3 Charlevoix City Council seats

Voters in the City of Charlevoix will go to the polls Nov. 3 to decide three, two-year seats on the City Council.

The candidates include incumbents Jeff Porter, Leon Peron and Shirley Gibson, along with residents Aaron Hagen and write-in candidate Greg Bryan.

Issues such as the city marina, airport, infrastructure and jobs are on the minds of voters.

The Charlevoix Courier asked each of the candidates to share a little bit about themselves with readers and their take on several issues.

While all candidates agree jobs are necessary to bring young professionals and families back to the area, each has their idea to make that happen.

Township, city could share planning, zoning

LONNIE ALLEN
 (231) 547-6558 - lallen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — A possible sharing of planning and zoning services could be in the works if the Charlevoix Township Board of Trustees approves the idea presented to them from Charlevoix City Manager Mark Heydlauff.

On Oct. 12, during the township board meeting, Heydlauff spoke to township officials about the recent change to the city's planning and zoning department, particularly about the new administrators job description.

Charlevoix Township Supervisor Chuck Center and Heydlauff have had discussions about possible collaboration on economic development, which lead to discussion about sharing a planning and zoning employee.

"When the prospects came open that there might be some more discussion with the township on this matter, I held off on posting our new job position," Heydlauff said to board members. "If sharing our planning and zoning administrator is something you all are interested in going forward with, I certainly welcome your supervisor or a board member to serve on the hiring committee."

Heydlauff and Center would like to see the two entities work together in some form on employee sharing or economic development, but have not settled on a plan to move forward. One possible way to accomplish what Heydlauff and Center are proposing is to utilize programs offered by the Michigan Economic Development Corporation (MEDC). The Michigan Redevelopment Ready Communities program and the Certified Business Parks program are two programs that the city will be pursuing, Heydlauff said.

"I think there is some natural crossover as things currently stand," Heydlauff said to trustees. "Chuck made the point that the city is landlocked by the township and has little room for expansion, but you have some space that maybe working together we could address and help you with your business recruitment."

Center is interested in what the MEDC has to offer Michigan communities, and he would like to work with the city as they pursue MEDC applications.

"The (MEDC) have connections to the entire country and the world who are looking for potential real estate that they need for their industrial functions," Center said. "The MEDC concept is very interesting to me and I would like to look at that option of."

Council reviews city goals for new budget year

LONNIE ALLEN
 (231) 547-6558 - lallen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — Budget season is beginning and the Charlevoix City Council reviewed goals and priorities for all the city departments on Oct. 13.

The review helps council consider what goals will move forward for fiscal year 2017—the budget beginning April 1, 2016 and ending March 31, 2017, said City manager Mark Heydlauff.

Heydlauff briefed council that the list was only potential goals and they could add or remove goals from each department's list depending on what they believe constituents want from their city government.

"Because they are listed here, does not mean we will necessarily plan for them and if something is not listed here, it does not mean it cannot be added," Heydlauff told council.

One potential long-term goal that sparked discussion among council members came from Harbor Master Hal Evans. The potential goal listed was to reconfigure the docks to accommodate larger boats/or more boats within the existing marina footprint. The plan is to reconfigure slips on the A Dock — over next 3-10 years — to allow a few more large boats to dock.

Sub vets reconvene for their annual reunion

ANNE KELLY
Special to Courier

Submarine sailors are an elite group, accounting for 2 percent of the U.S. Navy. They are the cream of the crop, trained to do work that few choose, patrolling deep beneath the sea, on boats loaded with nuclear tipped weapons looking for or deterring confrontation with the enemy. The Michigan Submarine Veterans, Inc. includes those who have served from World War II to the present.

The Michigan Submarine WWII Veterans are a close knit sub-group unto themselves. They form a military fraternity all their own, perhaps even marching to a slightly different beat than other veterans. Every fall for the last 30-40 years, these sailors have convened to enjoy a reunion and to remember their fallen comrades at Memorial Park in Charlevoix. This year there will be the possibility of 10 WWII submarine veterans coming to town. They will arrive the evening of Oct. 16, be shown Charlevoix hospitality, at the Villager Restaurant and stay at the Weather-vane Inn, where they will no doubt swap sea stories. Saturday's breakfast will be held at the Charlevoix Elks Lodge where they will be served by Elks members, hold their quarterly meeting at the Weather-vane and plan for the upcoming year. At 3 p.m. Saturday they will gather at the monument in Memorial Park where there will be a tolling of bells for every boat that was lost in WWII, followed by a gun salute.

John Hess, who heads Veteran Services for Charlevoix County, first noticed the group in 1977, sweeping through town in their plumed Aussie digger hats. "Who are those guys?" he wondered. Having spent three years as a nuclear power-plant operator on a nuclear sub, he was interested to learn about this tradition. He found out that a vet by the name of the late Ben Gill, originally from Charlevoix, was instrumental in bringing the WWII memorial to town.

Gill, who spent his WWII service in a Japanese prisoner of war camp, is the reason why there is a memorial in East Park," Hess said. "He wanted the WWII sub vets to be remembered in a special way."

The sub vets built the memorial. On it there is a plaque which lists the names of all the subs lost in WWII:

"When you see the submarine vets moving around, you will think that they are not very 'military,'" Hess said. "That's because in a sub, they are used to just moving around doing their own thing. They are quiet people. They won't talk about themselves to others, but they love to share among themselves.

"In the 50s and 60s every state sponsored one boat," Hess added. "Michigan's boat was the USS Escobar, a sub that was commissioned near the end of the war. It was sent out on a war patrol into the Pacific and never returned. Eighty guys just disappeared. About eight years ago, I got a call from a woman who had lost her fiancé on the Escobar. She asked to be part of the ceremony so that she could put a wreath on the memorial. It was very emotional."

Hess remembers his career as a submarine sailor on the USS Abraham Lincoln with pride and not just a little nostalgia. He spent six years in the Navy, three of them on a submarine. Recruited in 1965, he moved up in the ranks and was trained to run "a nuclear power plant, which is what the USS Abraham Lincoln was; a ballistic, nuclear-powered sub."

"There are two kinds of subs," Hess said, "deterrents like the one I was on — Stay away: we have bigger guns than you do! 'We Hide with Pride' being our motto — and the 'fast attack' subs that were on the offensive. Their motto was 'Big and Black and Don't Come Back.'"

Hess was stationed in Groton, Conn. His 125 man crew would fly between Groton and Holy Loch, Scotland. They would board their boat, and make a dive that would last for almost three months. Then a second crew would relieve them.

"During the crew changeovers there were 41 SSBNs — nuclear subs — floating around out there," he said. "It was like the Continental Congress because most of the boats were named after famous Americans. I had been on a destroyer before becoming a sailor on a nuclear sub and the sub was 'magical'... it was the best place in the world. We were the top of the heap. People didn't understand what we did!" Hess did two trips a year, three months on and three months off.

"When we were out there, we were like family," he said.

The captain knew everyone's names, their wives' names and their kids' names. While on a dive, crew members could receive but not send messages. Hess' wife, Phyllis, has her own memories of those years, remembering how the wives would stick together for morale support when their husbands were out on a patrol and having her messages to her husband, carefully screened so as not to contain any upsetting news.

Hess has had several other careers since his discharge from the service, but none as satisfying as his present position in Veteran's Services with Charlevoix County.

"I mainly deal with Veteran's compensation, mostly from Vietnam vets, who are suffering from the effects of Agent Orange or PTSD," he said. "It's the best job I've had my entire life. I find that I am becoming a social worker, listening to the stories of people who have served and are now suffering from the delayed reaction of war."

Like the WWII Sub Vets, Hess holds his years of service in high regard. "I would like to have the opportunity to do at least one more dive," he said. "There's nothing like it."

O'Neils' proud to have a Tesla in in their driveway

BY ANNE KELLY
Special to Courier

CHARLEVOIX — If you want to be the first one in town to own a Tesla, you are too late; Ed O'Neil has beaten you to the draw. O'Neil, and his wife Susan, spend their time between Charlevoix and San Francisco, where the posh electric vehicle is more commonplace, perhaps because its operation is based in near-by Palo Alto — corporate headquarters — and Fremont (factory). There are only about 100 Tesla owners in the whole state of Michigan, partially due to the fact that you can't buy one here. Tesla has presented a threat to the conventional car sales paradigm that requires its vehicle sales to go through a licensed dealership franchise. Just a year ago Gov. Rick Snyder signed a bill banning direct Tesla sales in Michigan.

Tesla was co-founded in 2003 by California tech entrepreneur Elon Musk, the company's CEO, who has been working on relaxing the laws to give makers of all electric cars a chance to sell their product directly. His company has challenged and won court cases in Massachusetts, Minnesota and New York where it has stores. As of last year, the company had about 60 locations in 23 states, but even in California, Tesla showrooms do not sell directly. The buyer both personalizes the order to his/her specifications and orders on-line.

O'Neil "built" his Tesla and purchased it on-line directly from the manufacturer. It was delivered to his home six weeks later. "Actually, I picked it up in the parking lot of Charlevoix's Community Reformed Church because we had construction going on in front of our house on East Dixon, and the truck couldn't get through," he said.

The Model S 70D sedan is sleek and quiet. Completely computerized, it will drive itself if you are comfortable with trusting the system. The door handles power up out of the car as soon as you walk up to it with a sensor. fob. There is no start button, just put your foot on the brake, shift into gear and you're off,

There is a GPS screen the size of an iPad on the dashboard and enough dials to keep you informed of crossing out of your lane or getting too close to the car in front. The computer even "reads" speed limit signs; a pop up on the speedometer warns the driver if the speed limit has been exceeded. When you arrive at your destination, you simply get out of the car. The Tesla turns itself off and locks up as you leave. There's an app, of course, for the cell phone that alerts the owner with warnings or updates.

The most recent Consumer's Report (October, 2015 edition) states that the Tesla Model S P85D broke their rating system, performing better than any car ever has in terms of acceleration, braking and handling, all the while maintaining its practicality and luxury. "It is a remarkable car that paves a new, unorthodox course, and is a powerful statement of American startup ingenuity."

There is only one drawback that O'Neil could cite. "It goes about 240 miles on a charge," O'Neil said. There are charging stations situated along Interstate highways and the GPS system indicates their location. "The problem is, finding charging stations off the main highways is inconvenient at this point. Traveling through Michigan's Upper Peninsula, for example isn't feasible. Charging stations come in two varieties: a standard 220v from which owners of any electric car can charge their vehicle, hybrid or Tesla (takes about six hours), and a "supercharger" that will fire up a Tesla in about 45 minutes,

COURTESY PHOTO

Ed O'Neil and his wife, Susan, spend their time between Charlevoix and San Francisco, where the posh electric vehicle is more commonplace. There are only about 100 Tesla owners in Michigan, partially due to the fact that you can't buy one here because Tesla uses direct sales and does not require its vehicle sales to go through a licensed dealership franchise, which caused Gov. Rick Snyder to sign a bill banning direct Tesla sales in Michigan.

just time enough for lunch or a coffee break. Of course the cell phone app and the GPS map on the dashboard keep Tesla drivers informed about the location of charging stations. Presently, superchargers are found in Grand Rapids and Ann Arbor. Others are planned for Cadillac and Birch Run. Meijer is one corporation that is climbing on board for installing supercharging stations at their locations. It makes sense. When people stop to charge their cars for 45 minutes or overnight, they will have to shop, dine or in the case of hotels, stay the night. Locally, there are charging stations at Stafford's Bay View Inn in Petoskey, at the hook up stations in the KOA camp ground on US 31 N of Petoskey and in the parking lot behind Charlevoix's Central Drug Store. Owners of electric cars use their own home 220v outlets for overnight charging.

If a minor problem arises in operation, usually it can be corrected with a phone call to a service provider. For anything more serious, Tesla will actually send a serviceperson to the owner to remedy the situation. Tesla also has a parts supply company in Grand Rapids.

Why did the O'Neils decide on a pricey vehicle like a Tesla which ranges in price from $70,000 to $100,000? "When I found out how much it cost, said Susan, "I thought he was out of his mind. I told him it would either be the best decision he ever made, or the worst. Then in the two years we spent researching electric cars, we decided that in the end, this would be our forever car. We were very impressed by being able to take advantage of safety, technological and environmental advantages offered by the Tesla. We couldn't find any other manufacturer that matched our search criteria. There are also existing tax incentives for buying electric cars, and the obvious savings on gas."

Why not a hybrid? "Hybrids are highly complex vehicles," O'Neil said. "There are lot more things to go wrong because there are two complete systems in play." The O'Neils' especially like the concept that the system is constantly being updated. "It's done on a regular basis and the information is automatically relayed to the app," O'Neil said.

There is a loose fraternity of Tesla owners who chat among themselves on-line. Some like O'Neil are joining the crusade to change the laws governing Tesla direct sales. "You would think that there would be recognition from state lawmakers that they are losing sales tax money every time a buyer picks up his car in another state. I chose to have mine delivered to me here instead of picking it up in Chicago, where it was shipped, so I would pay sales tax here."

And yes, there is definitely a reaction when he takes his Tesla cruising. "They either say, 'What is that?' or 'Wow! that's a Tesla!'" said O'Neil.

Helios Dale

2003-October 10, 2015

Helios Dale was born 2003 in Detroit, MI. He was kept at a home of people who adored him and was loved. Unfortunately, Fred Palumbo, who lived across the street, saw him and kept his eye on Helios. The people left the house and abandoned Helios January 2004 when it was record low temperatures. Until Fred saw Helios running through garbage. Hungry and thirsty, he set out bowls with food and water for Helios. Helios said if he stayed there he would take him. Helios did stay there and was then featured by Fred for a couple months, and at the time, Fred called him Dale after Dale Earnhardt Jr. who won the Daytona 500. He decided to call Dr. Melissa Moskowitz and Dr. Michael Lucile who both had wanted a dog and were very interested in meeting him. When he met his adoptive parents, Helios bounded up to them barking their names and then before eventually rolling over on his back in submission as though he was saying "hello" and he was named Helios because of beautiful blonde fur which appeared like the setting sun.

From that point on, he made many travels across Michigan from all over south eastern Detroit area, the Thumb, Whitefish Point, Munising, Le Chateau, and to all the wonderful parts of northwestern Michigan. He loved long walks down his neighborhood street, basking out the setting in yellow, hiding through the woods, swimming in Lake Michigan, chasing squirrels, playing fetch with his ball, lying on the couch to watch a movie or show, visiting downtown Charlevoix, and snuggling in bed. He eventually settled around Eastport and worked at Lakeside Diner/Deli of Charlevoix. He loved all children because they had the most gentle and little hands to rub his tummy. He helped keep the staff and Dr. Moskowitz in great spirits and taught everyone to appreciate the small moments like the best of grass or sun rising over Round Lake. He smelled the orange blossoms, had a gentle snarl, and was strong as great pitbulls are. Unfortunately, Helios battled Cushing's disease and severe arthritis. He died peacefully at home assisted by Dr. DeGrazia with his loved ones by his side including Michael, Melissa, Carmela, and Cash, his adoptive brother. When Helios passed, Cash barked continuously as Helios made his transition across the rainbow bridge.

In the end, Helios was not rescued by Michael and Melissa. He rescued them and gave them a reason to stop and take in the essence of life. He was our family and still is truly missed. Thank you Helios for all that you did for us.

Governor, Attorney General must act for an oil-free Great Lakes

Gov. Rick Snyder and Attorney General Bill Schuette must act immediately on their legal duty to shut down the oil flowing through the Enbridge Line 5 pipelines in the Mackinac Straits just west of the Mackinac Bridge.

LIZ KIRKWOOD

Executive Director of FLOW

The 62-year-old pipelines, which Enbridge admits have exceeded their 40-60-year life expectancy. The state must act to protect the "Pure Michigan" economy, local businesses, commercial shipping, a vital fishery and the drinking water supply for local communities including St. Ignace and Mackinac Island.

Schuette already has said Line 5's days are numbered and that he and the governor have the authority to stop the 23 million gallons of oil a day flowing through the Straits, as outlined in their July pipeline task force report. Legal and scientific experts at Love of Water (FLOW) say that Canadian-based Enbridge is violating the terms of the 1953 easement allowing its pipelines to occupy state bottom lands.

As evidence, the experts point to pipeline supports and a protective wooden covering that are required for Line 5 but missing, pipeline dents that Enbridge has discovered but publicly denied, hidden inspection reports and the company's written admission that it is unable to detect the presence of any small but steady leaks that could total 140,000 gallons of oil spilled into the Straits on any given day. Additionally, the operating pressure limitations on Line 5 set forth in numerous Michigan Public Service Commission orders are likely invalid since they are based on new pipe and not a 62-year-old corroded pipe. This amounts to "imminent harm" under state law and must be pursued swiftly by the governor and attorney general.

Propane for home heating could continue flowing through Line 5 because it doesn't pose the same threat to the water. However, the oil has to stop while the governor's new Pipeline Safety Advisory Board oversees studies of the risk and alternatives that don't threaten Michigan waterways. Enbridge is infamous for its Line 6B pipeline that corroded and spilled nearly 1 million gallons of heavy tar sands oil in 2010 into the Kalamazoo River watershed near Marshall.

Currently, Enbridge

uses the Mackinac Straits as a high-risk shortcut for its pipeline from Superior, Wis., to Sarnia, Ontario, an underwater segment Schuette acknowledges would never be approved by today's standards.

Enbridge estimates that a "worst-case" spill from Line 5 in winter would dump up to 360,000 gallons of oil in the Mackinac Straits, and 70 percent, or a quarter-million gallons or more, could go unrecovered. The U.S. Coast Guard Commandant in April told Congress that he is "not comfortable" with his agency's preparedness for a worst-case spill in the Great Lakes. And no one thinks that an effective oil cleanup attempt is possible under ice cover at the Straits, the "worst possible place" for a Great Lakes oil spill according to the University of Michigan.

Enbridge says its state-wide operations support roughly 250 employees and contractors, but the Great Lakes support 800,000 jobs in Michigan paying $54 billion a year. That's why businesses and citizens across Northern Michigan and beyond are calling for the governor and attorney general to shut down Line 5's oil flow in the Mackinac Straits. For many Michiganders, everything depends on oil-free Great Lakes.

'The Mask You Live In' addresses the boy crisis in America

It is a rural community college with a strong nursing program that recently began offering viticulture classes. Sound familiar? No, it's not our community college; it's the Southern Oregon community college, the most recent site of a mass shooting by a male gunman.

GAIL KLOSS, Executive Director Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan, Inc. Guest commentary

Mask You Live In. This documentary examines what some call the "boy crisis" in America. The film delves into the destructive and often conflicting messages boys are subjected to on a daily basis — messages that favor dominance over empathy, physical strength over compassion and violence over kindness. Many attendees felt overwhelmed by the information presented in the film and voiced deep concern about what they can do as individuals to help boys and young men stay true to themselves while negotiating America's narrow definition of masculinity. After the Columbine massacre more than 15 years ago, activist, author and filmmaker, Jackson Katz, said that in the wake of mass violence we are missing the mark.

"This is not a case of kids killing kids. This is boys killing boys and boys killing girls. What these school shootings reveal is not a crisis in youth culture but a crisis in masculinity. The shootings are telling us something about how we are doing as a society. The fact that violence — whether of the spectacular kind represented in the school shootings or the more routine murder, assault and rape — is an overwhelmingly male phenomenon should indicate to us that gender is a vital factor, perhaps the vital factor. Looking at violence as gender-neutral has the effect of blinding us as we desperately search for clues about how to respond. The issue is not just violence in the media but the construction of violent masculinity as a cultural norm. From rock and rap music and videos, Hollywood action films, professional and college sports, the culture produces a stream of images of violent, abusive men and promotes characteristics such as dominance, power, and control as means of establishing or maintaining manhood."

All cultural influences are fair game for analysis, according to Katz. Yet, he urges us to look carefully at how our culture defines manhood, how boys are socialized and how the pressure to stay in those social constructs constrains boys' and men's emotional and relational development, as well as their range of choices when faced with life crises.

Katz suggests we start by asking questions such as, "How does the cultural environment, including media images, contribute to definitions of manhood that are picked up by adolescents?" Or "How does repeated exposure to violent masculinity normalize and naturalize this violence?"

Joe Ehrmann, who spoke at our community college a few years ago has said that mass violence, domestic violence and sexual assault are not just problems but symptoms of the single biggest failure of our society, "We simply don't do a good enough job of teaching boys how to be men."

Experts agree there is no simple explanation to this epidemic of violence. They do agree that part of the answer is in how we define the related concepts of respect, power and masculinity.

After the Sandy Hook massacre, Katz urged, "Don't buy the manipulative argument that it's somehow 'anti-male' to focus on questions about manhood in the wake of these ongoing tragedies. Men commit the vast majority of violence and almost all rampage killings. It's long past time that we summoned the courage as a society to look this fact squarely in the eye and then do something about it."

Stop the propaganda over Planned Parenthood

Editor,
It's no less than incredible that a political party can demand such extreme violations of democracy as to threaten to shut down the government over petty tantrums. This Salen witch hunt is as infantile as a playground squabble. Children kicking sand in one another's eyes. It's irresponsible and disgraceful, gambling with the lives and careers of voters over personal, avaricious motives. As has been suggested, if a government shutdown should occur let us shut off the paychecks and pensions for legislators immediately upon a shutdown should another appear. The perpetrators who do not speak for any of us should suffer the consequences like everyone else. This is not government of, by and for the people, this is a cartel, a racket, a mob.

Charlevoix Historical Society thanks supporters

Editor:
The Charlevoix Historical Society recently completed a series of screenings of "The Wizard of Boulder Park," a documentary about the life and work of Earl Young, at Charlevoix Cinema III. In total, more than 700 people came to see the film. On behalf of the Charlevoix Historical Society, I would like to thank the numerous people who contributed to the success of these events, starting with the premiere on June 8, 2015. In particular, thank you to Mary and Luther Kurtz at Charlevoix Cinema III, who generously donated the use of their theater, and their staff. We are grateful to our donors, the premiere gala planning committee, the attendees of the gala and all of the movie-goers. To the businesses who enhanced the experience for our guests: Stafford's Weathervane, Charlevoix Country Club, Petals and Creative Cupcake, thank-you. We would also like to thank the film's producer, Anne Belanger and writer/director Brian Belanger, who had the vision and artistry to bring Earl and Irene Young's story to life. Their work captured the uniqueness of Earl's creations and what makes Charlevoix such a special place. And finally, to the community at large, your support of this project and the ongoing sales of the DVD of the film will allow us to continue to promote and enrich our community in many ways, and for that, we say thank-you.

Sincerely,
Denise Rote,
Charlevoix Historical Society president

The 338-foot train car ferry Manistique, Marquette and Northern No. 1, or simply the Manistique, usually a freight carrier, was chartered to bring into town excursion and convention parties that numbered into the hundreds.

The Manistique brought many shiploads of people to Charlevoix

It's finally over for another year, to many a blessed relief, the annual tourist season that has been bringing in thousands upon uncouneted thousands of visitors to Charlevoix when the downtown can be packed elbow to elbow on major festival weekends. But that's not unusual. It's been happening like this for well over a century. In the Jazz Age, 1920s Bridge Street was vibrantly alive every summer evening until past midnight. Here is shown the 338-foot train car ferry Manistique, Marquette and Northern No. 1, or simply the Manistique, that ran between the port of Manistique in the Upper Peninsula and Northport on the tip of the Leelanau Peninsula just west of Charlevoix. The vessel used to transport carloads of freight such as iron and copper ore and lumber. But she also once offered another commercial function. Twice during the summer of 1907 and twice again in 1908 she was chartered to bring into Charlevoix an excursion and convention parties that numbered into the hundreds. The first three times the groups boarded in Manistique. The last group was picked up in Traverse City. On July 26, 1908, the Manistique carried down from the UP around 600 members of the Norden Society plus a uniformed band, seen on the top deck to the right of the flag. This society was formed in 1902 by Swedish immigrants to continue the tradition of Swedish choral singing in America, and still exists. The Charlevoix Sentinel newspaper had this to say about the event: "We doubt if there were ever so many people in Charlevoix as there were that day. Other excursions from up lake points swelled the crowd, and at about four o'clock Bridge Street on both sides was packed. The boat is shown stern first at the dock that once terminated Mason Street on the Round Lake waterfront.

Its passengers are waiting to disembark one by one off the port side just above the words 'car ferry,' soon to head for the downtown stores and soda fountains. There were no parks for them to enjoy at that time. But the natural beauty and hospitality of Charlevoix made it a favored destination, and that tradition continues to grow.

Armchair Theatre presents American Civil War drama, recitations

CHARLEVOIX — Armchair Theatre presents "The Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge" at 6:30 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 18, at the Charlevoix Circle of Arts, 109 Clinton St., Charlevoix. The story written by Ambrose Bierce, a 19th century author, has been read and discussed by generations of high school students.

Bierce, a suspense writer, was a contemporary of Mark Twain and Edgar Allan Poe and "The Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge" stands as a classic in American literature. It is the story of Peyton Farquhar, a Confederate sympathizer condemned to death by hanging at the Owl Creek Bridge. Dale Hull, known in Northern Michigan for his work in the arts and non-profit organizations, portrays Peyton Farquhar in this drama. Hull's theatrical experience began in the 1970s when he had a small part in "The Odd Couple" at the Grand Rapids Civic Theatre.

"The theater became my vocation and I spent eight years during the day as a freelance talent for radio and television commercials to make a living and my night acting and directing for community and professional dinner-theater productions in West Michigan," Hull said.

Hull's love for the theater continued when he and his wife moved to Petoskey and he has performed in many different roles in various productions from "Phantom 2000" to most recently playing Herbert in "I'm Herbert", Charles Ives in "Charles Ives, Take Me Home" and "Spoon River Anthology" in Armchair Theatre productions.

Joining the Oct. 18 production is the bard, Jim Ribby. He will present the "American Iliad," a piece he created from numerous anthologies of American Civil War poems and letters. Ribby describes a bard as the Celtic word for storyteller. Bard is the traditional name for this ancient art of preserving and telling stories aloud to listeners. Ribby began as a bard in the early 90s while joining other poets and storytellers at the Terry Wooten's Stone Circle north of Elk Rapids. The bonfire illuminated gathering proved an inspiration for Ribby as did the Ken Burns series on the Civil War.

"It occurred to me that the story of that war could be told using the poetry of that era," Ribby said. "I began collecting works, and after awhile, I compiled the works that make up the program...., 'An American Iliad.'"

Donations are appreciated and refreshments will be served following the performance.

Charlevoix school board, superintendent to adopt goals

EMILY PADGETT
Special to Courier

During the September meeting of Charlevoix's Board of Education, Superintendent Mike Ritter offered a draft of his goals for this year. He met with Dr. Michael Washburn, a retired superintendent from Grand Rapids' Forest Hills School District, to have a third party perspective. Washburn's recommendations were returned to Ritter and then shared with the board.

The board reviewed the goals in the monthly meeting. The discussion resulted in the development of a meeting with the board's personnel committee and Ritter. The purpose of the meeting is to refine the language of the goals and determine which goals have elements of measurability.

Ritter appreciated the opportunity to work with the personnel committee noting that "clarification is a great thing." He enjoys the fact that the board is supportive and "wants success, and expects success." Where as a teacher meets with one principal or superintendent, a superintendent meets with a board of seven members. In order for each member to receive the same information about the goals, work is required to refine the message.

While many superintendent goals mirror those at the building level, Ritter explains that he also is responsible for the financial and community aspects of running a school district. However, just as teachers and principals are evaluated on student success, 50 percent of Ritter's evaluation comes from measurements of student achievement. In this sense, he explains, "More now than ever we are tied together and working together — for the same purpose." Every party is held accountable to ensure students are learning.

Additionally, Ritter met with school administrators on Tuesday, Sept. 29, for a refresher course on the teacher evaluation tool, called 5D+. This tool was developed by the University of Washington's College of Education in their Center for Educational Leadership.

The abbreviation stands for what they call the "five dimensions of teaching and learning," which are Purpose, Student Engagement, Curriculum and Pedagogy, Assessment for Student Learning, and Classroom Environment and Culture. The "+" comes from the need to transform the dimensions into a usable tool for teacher evaluations. This dimension is called Professional Collaboration and Communication. The highest rating a teacher can receive in this system is "distinguished." The clarity that 5D+ provides for teachers to understand how they will be evaluated mirrors the search Ritter and the board members are on now for Ritter's evaluation.

Ritter said his year, so far, is full of fact-finding, learning and building. He has taken bus rides to familiarize himself with the district boundaries in person, instead of looking at a map. He talks to the bus drivers to get to know the people that deliver the students to the schools every weekday.

When the board of education arrives at a conclusion for this year's Superintendent Goals, Ritter will no doubt aim for the rating of "distinguished."

Eta Nu keeps Boyne City students Dressed for Chill

BOYNE CITY — The women of Eta Nu are diligently at work on the eighth annual Dress for Chill project as fall ushers in reminders of cooler weather. Dress for Chill helps keep more than 100 students warm each year by distributing new coats, scarves, gloves and winter outerwear to children at the Boyne City Elementary School.

Last winter more than 115 students received new jackets, snow pants, boots, hats and mittens and Eta Nu contact Suzanne Hubner expects the number to rise this year as they have agreed to pick up 36 pre-school students at the Boyne City Education Center. That means Eta Nu is faced with the collection of increased donations from local benefactors.

"Dressed for Chill is one of the most successful community projects Eta Nu is involved with," said co-founder Anne Eagle. "It is a true community effort and we need the continued support of the community to make it work."

The project began as a response to eye-witness accounts of the need for local help.

"It was really amazing just how many children could not go out to play during the winter because of a lack of warm clothing," Hubner said. "They had to stay inside."

Funds are raised through donations from community organizations, businesses, individuals and grants. Fund donation canisters have been distributed to several businesses in the community.

"Some donations have already been received for this year's project prior to the official kickoff," said chairperson, Nancy Shear.

Fund donations are tax deductible. Checks may be made out to Eta Nu Charities and sent to P.O. Box 133, Boyne City, MI. 49712.

City council tours Charlevoix Municipal Airport

CHARLEVOIX — On Oct. 8, members of the Charlevoix City Council were provided an inside look at the airport's operations and facilities by airport manager Liz Myer.

City manager Mark Heydlauff set up the meeting after some council members expressed an interest to see Charlevoix Municipal Airport and its operations first hand.

"Anytime we can get council together and give them a visual on operations they make decisions on is good for the governmental process," Heydlauff said. "It can help them make a more informed decision."

Council members toured Island Airways, Fresh Air Aviation, airport runway and the different hangars on and off airport property.

Council member Shane Cole was impressed with the overall operation after the tour. Cole believes the airport remains an asset to Charlevoix even after the airport has faced scrutiny about its limited profit once the city assumed direct operations in 2011.

"When you look at the entire operation and see what is going on out here you can see it's an investment that has potential to make money,"

Cole said. "If we work at it then council can guide direction to build more hangars and implement other policies that can help increase revenue."

Council members also got to see the Snow Removal Equipment building and hear about the snow removal process at the airport.

"It enlightened me on how things work out there," said Cole. "I didn't realize everything that goes into keeping the runway and lights clear during the winter."

They also received information from Myer on truck and hangar repairs, and procedures that have been implemented to better track fuel and parking permits at the facility.

Many of the systems Myer has put into place are duplicated from her time at Oakland/Troy airport in Oakland County. Myer also installed cameras to track aircraft landings after normal business hours.

"It's a matter of tracking and keeping receipts to better monitor daily business at the airport," Myer said.

Myer also informed the council on each of the different logbooks along with other information on city airport business.

"I'm impressed with what I saw and the over-

Charlevoix Municipal Airport manager Liz Myer, far right, leads Charlevoix City Council members and others on a tour of the airport facilities, including: Island Airways, Fresh Air Aviation, city hangars and the snow removal equipment facility on Oct. 8. Council members were able to ask questions about airport operations, see how fuel is tracked, and learn about other systems implemented to improve and tighten up the accounting process of fees, parking and other purchases.

all operation of the airport and how well kept the airport equipment is kept," said council member Leon Perron. "It was very interesting to see the inside operation of the airport."

State MeLCat services suspended in November

MICHIGAN — Libraries in Northern Michigan have been a participant in MeLCat, Michigan's statewide resource sharing system for several years. Through this service, countless residents take advantage of the opportunity to borrow materials from hundreds of other participating libraries across the state.

For technical reasons, MeLCat will be temporarily unavailable for new requests beginning on Wednesday, Nov. 18. Library users will be able to pick up MeLCat materials until Wednesday, Dec. 2.

According to the Michigan library website, "The MeLCat servers are being moved to a new host site and upgraded. Due to the complexity of the traffic flow between all the affected servers and the problems that arise when that traffic is interrupted in certain ways, we determined that doing a complete shutdown would result in the fewest problems for users as well as for library staff."

State Librarian Randy Riley knows the importance of MeLCat to Michigan residents.

"We know that any service interruption is an inconvenience. Because of that, we've timed the needed work to occur during a period when MeLCat requesting has historically been the lowest," Riley said. "In the long run, this change will truly benefit Michigan libraries and library users."

The ability to place requests will be restored by Friday, Dec. 11. MeLCat materials can be returned at any time.

For more information, visit elibrary.mel.org/screens/melmove.html.

Funding for MeLCat is provided in part by the state of Michigan through the Library of Michigan. Additional project support comes from the federal Library Services and Technology Act via the Institute of Museum and Library Services.

Mary Catherine McElroy

Mary Catherine McElroy (Hart) died on Friday, Oct. 2, 2015, in her Dexter home following a valiant struggle with cancer.

Mary was born on May 25, 1952, in Detroit, Mich., the daughter of the late Bernard and Flora Hart. She remained in Detroit until moving to Charlevoix, Mich., in 1980, where she lived for 25 years while raising her two children. She moved to Dexter, Mich., in 2005 to be closer to her family.

Mary was preceded in death by both of her parents and her brother, Joseph Hart.

She leaves behind her children, Erich McElroy (Karrie Carpenter) and Jenna McElroy (Matt Cyrulnik); her grandchildren, Riley, Lily, Cassidy, and Flora, all of whom referred to her as "Momo"; her siblings, Ellen Norlock (John), William Hart (Laura), Madonna Lefebvre (Jeff), James Hart and Jane Hart; and many beloved nieces, nephews, cousins and friends.

Donations can be made in Mary's name to Faith in Action, 603 S. Main St. Chelsea, MI 48118.

Charlevoix Apple Fest a sweet success

LONNIE ALLEN
(231) 547-4558 - allen@charvoix.com

CHARLEVOIX — Mother Nature didn't disappoint the massive crowds last weekend as fun was had by people of all ages at the 37th annual Apple Fest in downtown Charlevoix.

According to Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce Shelly Ferguson, who organizes the event, they saw record numbers of people at the three-day event. Approximately 30,000 people filled the downtown from Friday-Sunday.

"It was very busy and the weather was perfect for the event," Ferguson said. "Saturday was the busiest day and people stuck around to enjoy the warm summer-like weather."

At the heart of the festival is the enjoyment of the fall harvest.

"The apples are really good," said Liz Elkas, of Bloomington, Ill.

Elkas and her husband, Dave, were visiting Harbor Springs and heard about the festival so they decided to check it out.

"We heard about the festival and we're glad we stopped," Elkas said. "There is so many things to see and it's a beautiful day to be outside."

Apple Fest also is one of those events that brings the whole family together. Jackie Murray, of East Jordan, said she's been coming to the festival each for as long as she can remember.

"I would say when I get together with my family because it's something everyone can enjoy," Murray said. "The kids enjoy it and there is plenty to do."

The 60-foot boat is a shell designed by George Pocock and hangs in the Charlevoix Wear store on Bridget Street. Pocock's boat building company built a similar model for the University of Washington's rowing team that in 1936, won the Olympic Gold medal in Berlin, an event depicted in Daniel James Brown's book, "The Boys in the Boat."

ANNE KELLY
Special to Courier

A new point of interest can be found by looking "up" when entering Charlevoix Wear, not for sweatshirts, but for Kirby Dipert's newly acquired rowing shell suspended from the ceiling.

"I brag about my 60-foot boat," Dipert said.

The boat is a shell designed by the famous George Pocock and was bought from another Charlevoix resident who had purchased two from Purdue University. He was going to sell one, and approached Dipert to see if he was interested in hanging a boat in his store. Pocock's boat building company built a similar model for the University of Washington's rowing team that in 1936, won the Olympic Gold medal in Berlin, an event depicted in Daniel James Brown's book, "The Boys in the Boat."

"It's a nautical touch in the store," Dipert said, "even if rowing isn't typical to our area."

It is interesting to note that the slender shell would hold eight rowers and a coxswain — the person in charge of navigation and steering — during a race. It was no easy matter to install the shell in Charlevoix Wear, according to Dipert. Braces and a sling had to be screwed into the rafters, after a feasibility study was done to make sure the weight would not compromise the ceiling. Then one morning in July, a flatbed truck delivered the boat, and traffic was temporarily stopped on Bridge Street, while Dipert and three others carried the boat across the street and into the store.

"It was more cumbersome than heavy," Dipert said.

Finally the construction crew returned for the installation. It wasn't long after it went into the store that the popularity of "Boys In the Boat" took off and Dipert encourages shoppers to come in to see the boat.

"It's been good for business," Dipert said, "A lot of people come in specifically to see it."

Charlevoix Wear has been located adjacent to The Clothing Company — the heart of the Maybee's family clothing business since 1996. Dipert, operates the store, while his wife, Jacqueline Maybee-Dipert is at the helm of The Clothing Company.

"At one time, there were three stores," Dipert said, "Charlevoix Wear, Color Wear and Bloomin' Wear."

Today Charlevoix Wear stands alone and maintains a long standing tradition of selling souvenir T-shirt, sweatshirt and other silkscreened apparel on Bridge Street in downtown Charlevoix. The Maybee's other stores bear the name "Harbor Wear." They can be found in many surrounding Northern Michigan communities and as far away as Florida. They all bear the trademark of Judith Maybee's original design for "Charlevoix Stacked," each town's name featured in a similar format. The other stores have been sold to either family members or trusted employees over the years, but Charlevoix Wear is "home."

Dipert plans to keep the store open all year.

"Once we tried to close after the summer season, and we never heard the end of it. Customers want access to our merchandise in any season, not just summer."

Organizers of the 11th annual Charlevoix Chili Cookoff, which took place in conjunction with the Charlevoix Apple Festival, said this year's event was another great success. The winner was chosen from the ballots submitted by those who came and enjoyed the chili on Oct. 10, at the United Methodist Church. This year's chili cook-off winner is Chef Tom of The Bistro at Charlevoix Country Club with his New York Chili.

Castle Farms celebrates Fright Night

CHARLEVOIX — Tickets are now on sale for the 10th annual community-wide Fright Night celebration, slated this year to take place from 6:30 p.m.-1 a.m. on Friday, Oct. 30, at Castle Farms. Hosted by the Charlevoix Children's House Montessori School, this adults-only costume party features dinner, drinks, dancing and silent and live auctions.

"We are looking forward to another great year," said Perry Hodgson, chairperson of the Children's House Fright Night Committee. "Last year we had some amazing auction items to bid on. We are in the process now of contacting businesses to solicit donations. Our goal is to make the auction even better, with more than 150 items, including Disney passes and skydiving."

Emcee Scott MacKenzie will lead the evening's festivities joined by DJ RPM. Back by popular demand, Kristi Epping will lead the guests in a Thriller dance. Plus, she plans to throw in a few other fun dance surprises.

"It is always nice to see our students' families and other community members come together for this event," said Molly Arnold, Children's House director. "We are so grateful for the extra support for our school."

The costume contest promises to be another serious competition. Prizes will be awarded for best group, best couple, and best individual costume. Last year, long-time winners Rod and Pat Tinney were unseated by newcomers Scott and Karlee Philp and Sue Barnard, who came dressed as Cousin Eddie, his wife Catherine, and Aunt Bethany from National Lampoon's Christmas Vacation.

"We are really looking forward to beating Dr. Tinney and his wife again this year," joked Karlee Philp. "Last year we planned our costumes that day, but this year we are getting prepared a little sooner. We had a big plan on bringing more people this year."

Tickets for the event are $50 per person and include drinks and dinner, catered by Pigs Eat'n' Ribs. Sponsored tables of eight are available for $500. Tickets are available at Family Fare in Charlevoix or from any parent or board member.

To donate an auction item or to be an event sponsor, contact Perry Hodgson at frightnightcharlevoix@gmail.com.

All proceeds from the event will support operating expenses of the Charlevoix Children's House, a nonprofit organization with 501(c)(3) tax-exempt status. The Charlevoix Children's House was founded in 1979 to fulfill the mission of giving children the freedom to learn. The school is for children from 3 to 6 years old. Blissfest's country dances move to Petoskey's Red Sky Stage

PETOSKEY — The Blissfest Music Organization is moving its country dance series to Red Sky Stage and its new one-thousand square foot dance floor in downtown Petoskey's gaslight district. This way to experience an evening of old-time fun for the family will become a regular once a month feature on the Red Sky Stage entertainment schedule.

As in the past, there will be a live band and a caller. This month, the band will be the Peacemeal String Band and the callers will be Jan Fowler and Cynthia Mahoney. All dances will be taught. Blissfest will continue to present this series as part of its commitment to sharing cultural heritage and providing a way to socialize like people used to.

According to Jim Gillespie, Blissfest Organization's executive director, "This move gives us a chance to take advantage of the excellent facilities at Red Sky Stage and the downtown Petoskey location should make the dance more convenient for more people to attend and enjoy themselves with their friends and neighbors."

The country dances will take place on the first Saturday of each month in the fall and winter. The monthly old time country dance joins Red Sky Stage's monthly dance offerings which also include a 30's and 40's swing and big band dance featuring the nineteen piece Up North Big Band. This month's higband dance is a special Halloween event with costumes encouraged from 7:30-10:30 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 30.

Admission for the old time country dance is $3 per person, $5 per couple or $7 per family. Children are welcome. Red Sky Stage is located in the former Montgomery Wards building at 445 E. Mitchell St., Petoskey, across the hall from the Northern Michigan Artists Market.

Red Sky Stage is a coffee house style performing arts venue in downtown Petoskey's Gaslight District featuring live music, dancing, poetry, comedy, drama, magic and other performing arts. The complete Red Sky Stage schedule is available online at redskystage.com.

The country dances give people an opportunity to socialize the way they used to do during the Red Sky stage events in Petoskey each Saturday in October.

Mary Kurtz graduates from Davenport University

GRAND RAPIDS — Davenport University announced that Mary Kurtz, of Charlevoix, has officially completed a degree in business, technology or health professions at the end of the summer 2015 semester.

Davenport hosted a commencement ceremony on April 26, where nearly 1,200 students participated in graduation ceremonies in downtown Grand Rapids.

Challenge Mountain presents Nightmare Halloween adventure

BOYNE CITY — Challenge Mountain, 01158 W. 75, Boyne City has transformed their lodge and area into a haunted adventure from 7-10 p.m. every Friday and Saturday in October. Challenge Mountain whose mission it is to enrich the lives and empower individuals with disabilities through year-round adaptive recreation is offering a one-stop Halloween event with activities for the family.

Nightmare is not the typical haunted walk-through and has become known for its spooktacular folklore and intrigue both indoors and out with new adventures every year. Attendees can listen to evil stories, wander around the Drain Maze and Wicked

Woods, enjoy haunted history at the Graves' family graveyard and visit the Dead Branch Saloon. Explore the Grateful Dead Cemetery, Bont Hill and Bug Bites and be aware that the shadows of Michigan lurk deep in the woods so beware of what awaits because you are never alone.

All proceeds from the event will benefit Challenge Mountain. Children 12 and under pay $5 or three for $10 and adults are charged $10. Activities are age appropriate including areas designated for all ages, children only and adults only.

Visit cmnightmare.com for additional information and directions or call (231) 582-1186.

Leadership students promote blood drive

CHARLEVOIX — Leadership students at Charlevoix High School have been busy posting flyers and making students aware of the upcoming blood drive scheduled from 8:30 a.m.-2:15 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 30, at the high school, 5200 Marion Center Road, Charlevoix. But they are also encouraging the public to get involved and join the Halloween blood letting — all for the cause, of course.

The school's American Red Cross blood drive is sponsored by the National Honor Society and will accept all types of acceptable blood. Students who are 16 or older may pick up permission forms from the high school office to take home for parents to sign if they are interested in giving blood at the event.

Usual donation goals varies between 38 and 42 units of blood.

The members are in charge of set up and tear down, checking in the donors, providing refreshments, spending time with donors as they donate to keep them calm, watching over donors to make sure they don't pass out and encouraging them to eat a few snacks and drink juice and water.

To schedule an appointment, call (231) 547-3222 or visit redcrossblood.org and enter sponsor code: CHX.

Charlevoix sheriff looking for Victim Services Unit volunteers

Sheriff Don Schneider of the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office announced that the department, in collaboration with local law enforcement agencies, is searching for more Advocates for their Charlevoix County Victim Services Unit.

The Victim Services

Unit is comprised of volunteers or advocates, throughout Charlevoix County who assist local law enforcement agencies and are dedicated to helping victims and their families cope with a crisis or a crime against them.

In order to become an advocate, volunteers must fill out an application and attend a 20-hour training in November. Applications are available online at the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office at charlevoixcounty.org/sheriff.asp under community outreach, and are also available at local law enforcement agencies: Boyne City Police Department, Charlevoix City Police Department and East Jordan Police Department. Interviews will be conducted at the end of October.

For more information about the Victim Services Unit, call VSU Coordinator Sarah Kaminski at (231) 547-4461.

College testing preparation available at Charlevoix library

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix Public Library will host a free program for teens and their parents called Don't Stress the Test from 11 a.m.-noon, on Saturday, Oct. 24, in the library community room.

The Sylvan Learning Center knows that thinking about college can stir up butterflies in the stomach, sweaty palms and jittery nerves. They offer test prep programs that can prepare students for real results. An instructor from the Sylvan Learning Center will be at the library to help debunk the misconceptions and answer questions about each of the tests.

The Scholastic Assessment Test (SAT) and American College Test (ACT) are two of the most important exams that high school students take. That may seem like a lot of pressure, but each year students take more than three million college prep tests. Students that feel like they are alone in these situations should be aware that this is a common event.

For more information, call (231) 237-7340.

Charlevoix library honors veterans in upcoming program

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix Public Library will host Serving Those Who Have Served Us — Hospice Professionals Honoring Veterans at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 20. This program will give an overview of Hospice's We Honor Veteran's program services and provide a Hospice of Northwest Michigan veteran volunteer to share experiences. The program is supported by the Charlevoix County Office of Veterans Affairs, the Emmet County Veterans Affairs Office and the Antrim County Veterans Affairs Office.

The community, veterans and their families are encouraged to come and learn about the program and find out how it can best meet their needs. The free program will be held in the library community room.

Jeff Porter Incumbent

Jeff Porter, 72, has been a resident of Charlevoix for 45 years, when he established a dental practice. He is a family man, married to Nancy, for 43 years, and together they have two married daughters and four grandsons. During his studies at the University of Michigan, he was a commissioned officer in the U.S. Army Reserve, and upon graduation received a two-year assignment to active duty, and spent one of the two years in combat in Vietnam with the 25th Infantry Division as a battalion dental officer.

Have you run for/served in an elected position previously? If so, please describe: I was elected to a three year term on the Charlevoix Charter Commission and helped draft Charlevoix's original and current City Charter. In the 1980s I served as a representative of the 1st Ward for four years. I was again elected in May 2013, in a special election, and again in November 2013, for a two-year term.

Community activities and other relevant experience: I served as chairman and vice chairman of the Downtown Development Authority for 23 years. I was scoutmaster of Charlevoix's Troop 43 for seven years. I served as president and board member of Crooked Tree Arts Center of Charlevoix and Emmet counties. In 1991, I was Chairman of the Charlevoix Area Hospital Capital Campaign that expanded birthing rooms, operating rooms, a new kitchen and cafeteria. I volunteered as the fundraising consultant to the Charlevoix Library Capital Campaign in 2004, successfully raising more than $2 million.

Why did you choose to seek election/re-election to the Charlevoix City Council? Two years ago the newly elected city council began a turnaround that focused on openness, fair play and transparency. I look forward to continuing my service to the residents of the 1st Ward and city at large, by providing the residential taxpayers efficient service, safety and tranquility for all its residents.

What is your view about food trucks in downtown Charlevoix? I do not have enough information to have an opinion. The city council and staff need much more input from our restaurant owners and vendors, taxpayers and from communities that are utilizing food truck services.

What do you view is the most important issue facing the city at the airport? The airport is a key economic driver in our community bringing an estimated $22 million into the Charlevoix economy yearly. Currently its operation by the City is less than a breakeven proposition, with the city putting in money each year since 2011. Decisions in the past four years have created an ongoing financial burden, as well as liability issues that place the city at risk for potential catastrophic claims.

Should the city revisit the dock expansion project at the marina? No. The Army Corp of Engineers and the U.S. Coast Guard both agree a new dock in the marina would be unacceptable. Public comment was overwhelmingly negative, and the City Council decided that any extension of the current docks at this time would be financially unfeasible.

What do you view as the most important issues facing the city? Falling infrastructure is the most pressing issue. We have not only issues with streets, roads and shade trees, but also sewer and water lines and the facilities that provide these services. We also need economic development to create a living wage with benefits. This will require a joint effort between our city and surrounding townships with a development of a regional plan for business retention, expansion and attraction of new businesses in the Charlevoix area.

What do you think the city council's top priorities should be? The City Council's first priority is to establish attainable goals for the short term, but more importantly, the long term. Setting these goals can be accomplished through the combined efforts of the Mayor, the Council, the City Manager and staff, and with advice and participation from the public. I am committed to achieving these goals and moving the City forward in a fiscally responsible direction.

Aaron Hagen Challenger

Aaron William Hagen, 27, is a Charlevoix native. Born and raised in Charlevoix, Hagen and his fiancée are both graduates of Charlevoix Schools, and the couple could not be happier to be back in this community, or more proud to be raising their family here. Hagen is a partner of the Round Lake Group, LLC, which operates the Bridge Street Tap Room, Lake Charlevoix Brewing Company and Round Lake Room that are located in Charlevoix. He said, now more than ever that residents, businesses, and city leaders need to work together for the successful growth and prosperity of this community, for the next generations to come.

Have you run for/served in an elected position previously? If so, please describe: This is the first time I am running as I believe my business experience, education, and energy can be used to grow Charlevoix's economy and community.

Community activities and other relevant experience: Member of Charlevoix Main Street Promotions Committee and Charlevoix Groundhog Shadow Festival Committee.

Why did you choose to seek election/re-election to the Charlevoix City Council? My pride and passion for this community is why I choose to seek election, and I am committed, as are my family and businesses, to the future and success of Charlevoix. I believe, through my conversations with community members and residents of the 1st Ward, that Charlevoix needs a City Council that works together in making decisions that have the best interest of Charlevoix, its residents, and our future growth collectively in mind.

What is your view about food trucks in downtown Charlevoix? Food trucks offer choice during our peak season and are an amenity for downtown Charlevoix, but we cannot allow them to take away from the vista we have in East Park and Round Lake. They should not be parked on Bridge Street impeding that view, and should also not have preferential location over the brick and mortar businesses in this community. We need to work together and find a good location for the food trucks so that we can continue to offer a greater selection to our residents and guests.

What do you view is the most important issue facing the city at the airport? The city needs to depoliticize the airport and start running it as a successful business by implementing measurable business metrics that are reported monthly, to determine the areas of needed improvement and potential growth. This airport is a gateway to our community, and we need to leverage this beautiful facility to run it in a more cost effective manner. With support and oversight, the city can operate a successful airport with profitable fuel and ramp operations.

Should the city revisit the dock expansion project at the marina? The city should take every opportunity to consult with experts in any given area to know what all of our growth possibilities are for the future of this community. To say we should or should not expand the dock is premature. Once we understand all that we can or cannot do with the Round Lake Marina, than as a community we can discuss the direction to go, with all parties' opinions on the table, moving forward.

What do you view as the most important issues facing the city? The most important issues facing the city in my opinion are pertaining to the outdated infrastructure the residents are currently living with and the risk they present to our quality of life, especially for those year-round residents come winter season.

What do you think the city council's top priorities should be? The top priorities of City Council should be to find new funding opportunities and solutions to the infrastructure needs of this community, to foster the growth of new and existing businesses and industries to drive economic success, and to work together with the other municipal committees, schools and neighboring townships to better utilize our resources and build a sustainable and prosperous growth model.

Shirley Gibson Incumbent

Shirley Gibson, 68, is a Charlevoix native. Born and raised in Charlevoix the Beautiful, Gibson is a 1965 graduate of Charlevoix Schools. After graduating college Gibson left the Charlevoix area for approximately 14 years before returning for good. She retired from the Petoskey News-Review as the classified advertising manager. Gibson is a homeowner and said her goal is to save taxpayer dollars and make sure Charlevoix has a more fiscally responsible and efficient city government. She encourages any and all residents to contact her with any concerns or comments.

Have you run for/served in an elected position previously? If so, please describe: I have previously served as an elected Charlevoix City Councilmember from 2001 through 2007, and have just finished a two-year term.

Community activities and other relevant experience: I served on the Charlevoix City Planning Commission for six years from 1994 through 2000 prior to running for elected office.

Why did you choose to seek election/re-election to the Charlevoix City Council? I am experienced, qualified and feel that I bring a common sense approach to city issues and will to continue to move the city forward. I have no personal agenda or conflict of interest, I believe in honest city government, following the rules and listening to my constituents.

What is your view about food trucks in downtown Charlevoix? The city is just beginning the process of addressing food trucks and at this point we need input from restaurant owners, vendors, Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce, Downtown Development Authority, Planning Commission and the general public in order to make an informed decision about these businesses.

What do you view is the most important issue facing the city at the airport? The city takeover of the airport in 2011 was a very misguided economic mistake, which has cost the taxpayers hundreds of thousands of dollars. The city needs to bid out daily operations, and then concentrate on all operators being treated the same by revising the Minimum Standards, hangar development, marketing and promotion. We need to make sure the city has the proper liability coverage for all airport operators and to that end the city has hired an aviation attorney to consult with our city attorney to meet these requirements in the near future.

Should the city revisit the dock expansion project at the marina? No, it is not feasible. This issue was addressed and the city council concluded the proposed cost in excess of $600,000 was an amount the city could not afford and the majority of the constituents in the 3rd Ward are not in favor of the expansion.

What do you view as the most important issues facing the city? We need to focus on our neighborhoods and make a real economic commitment to invest in our aging infrastructure in residential areas and it's very important to be an active partner with the Chamber and others to expand our business base and attract viable year-round businesses. That's why I support the Main Street Program and its locus and commitment to ensure a thriving, vibrant downtown.

What do you think the city council's top priorities should be? Infrastructure and addressing the issues at the airport, along with improving relationships with our neighboring townships to develop partnerships that will help all of future generations and us thrive in beautiful Northern Michigan.

Greg Bryan Challenger

Greg Bryan Jr., 62, has lived in Charlevoix area since 1974. He became a city resident in 2012. Bryan is a broker and co-owner of RE/MAX of Charlevoix Real Estate Brokerage. Prior to RE/MAX he operated the family summer resort business on Lake Charlevoix — Stroud's Cabins and Wayside motel. He also was employed by the Charlevoix Public Schools as a varsity wrestling coach, had a two-year stint as soccer coach and was a substitute teacher. He is a write-in candidate. Bryan supporters will have to write his name on the blank line, as well as check the box to vote for him.

Have you run for/served in an elected position previously? If so, please describe: Served as an elected member of Antrim Charlevoix Kalkaska Board of Realtors for eight years as secretary/treasurer, as well as a term as president and Realtor of the Year. Also was secretary/treasurer for Charlevoix Township Fire Department for more than 10 years.

Community activities and other relevant experience: Helped establish and serve as a volunteer fireman in Charlevoix Township for more than 25 years, Venetian Festival volunteer and currently serving on the City of Charlevoix Zoning Board of Appeals. My grandfather, Oscar Stroud, was Charlevoix Township Supervisor and very politically active and I had the opportunity to be privy to the political goings on of the township and city, which has given me experience invaluable in the operations of local government.

Why did you choose to seek election/re-election to the Charlevoix City Council? I have been considering getting more directly involved in the city by running for council since becoming a resident of the city, but was planning to wait until the next election cycle. It seems a lot of people are not happy with the current leadership of the city council and encouraged me to run for council now, rather than later... I agreed with their concerns and felt the time was right.

What is your view about food trucks in downtown Charlevoix? I will have to get some direction from my 3rd Ward people and downtown food establishments; I do respect the investment of our brick and mortar restaurants and also understand the difficulties of the seasonal economy in Charlevoix. There may be times and ways we can agree to when food trucks could be allowed.

What do you view is the most important issue facing the city at the airport? The airport is one of our greatest assets within the city and it should be run like a business, I believe recently it has been far too politically driven. I have read there was a study completed that stated there was a $20 million impact to the local economy. That's impressive. Most importantly we need to insure that all FAA rules and procedures are followed and we are operating efficiently and moving forward to improve the facilities and encourage more use... Airport safety should be of utmost concern.

Should the city revisit the dock expansion project at the marina? Expansion should only occur if there is support to do so from residents, businesses and visitors. If the city council chooses to look at it again I would want to examine cost to the community, and potential revenue, boater safety and other impacts. I have heard pros and cons from both sides and it's a decision that should not be rushed.

What do you view as the most important issues facing the city? Infrastructure improvements/replacements and economic development are always the most important issues. City should pursue more cooperation with surrounding townships for consolidation of services and support for our recreational facilities.

What do you think the city council's top priorities should be? Perception. We need to create a reputation that our City Council is a positive force in the community, that Charlevoix is a place that provides high quality services at the least expense for taxpayers and that we are willing to consider all ideas and opinions on merit. There is too much negativity associated with our leadership and that needs to change. We should all get behind the Main Street Program, go after all grant funding and be open to any new ideas, especially from our young people trying to find a way to make a living and raise their families in Charlevoix, and be transparent.

Leon Perron Unchallenged incumbent

In the 2nd Ward, incumbent Leon Perron is running unopposed. Here are his answers:

Perron, 62, is a Charlevoix native, and other than a four-year stint with the U.S. Army, he has been a life-long resident. He spent more than 25 years in the manufacturing business and for the last 16 years he has owned and operated a small business.

Have you run for/served in an elected position previously? If so, please describe: I am just finishing my first two-year term on city council.

Community activities and other relevant experience: N/A

Why did you choose to seek election/re-election to the Charlevoix City Council? I enjoy working with staff and being involved in the decision making process. Since early 2014 a lot of new faces have come to City Hall. I feel we have a dynamic and talented team leading the city at this time.

What is your view about food trucks in downtown Charlevoix? Our "brick and mortar" restaurants, or the respective building owners, are the ones paying property taxes and the DDA assessment, and providing employment opportunities. Some of them also have food trucks, which complicates the issue. Without hearing all the arguments, at this time I feel they should only be allowed during our busiest festivals — Venetian and Apple Fest.

What do you view is the most important issue facing the city at the airport? It has been brought to our attention our "Minimum Standards" for operations needs to be updated; our attorney is presently working on that. Most residents don't use and have little contact with our airport, but a MDOT report states it has a $22 million dollar impact on the local economy. I regularly attend the meetings of the Airport Advisory Committee and can report we are in good hands! We are very fortunate to have these qualified individuals volunteering their time and expertise.

Should the city revisit the dock expansion project at the marina? Our marina is very beautiful and we should all be very grateful for its economic benefit to the community, particularly our downtown business district. Considering the expert and professional advice offered at numerous public hearings, concerning safety and congestion problems, I would not be for it. I also would remind taxpayers we are making bond payments of more than $330,000 dollars per year from the last expansion. These will increase and continue until the year 2022.

What do you view as the most important issues facing the city? After the last two bitter winters, infrastructure is on everyone's mind. Now is the time to put a plan into action to upgrade our water and sewer lines. Our zoning laws need to be analyzed. New structure size in existing neighborhoods, and areas zoned commercial/residential have shown to have compatibility issues. A shrinking winter population also is an issue; nearly 40 percent of Charlevoix housing is vacant for seasonal or recreational use.

What do you think the city council's top priorities should be? City council should be working closely with staff to ensure the public's safety and welfare is provided with minimum taxation. Without catering to any special interest, we should work with organizations seeking to improve the economy. We also need to be on guard to protect our beautiful environment. It is the reason visitors flock to our shores, summer after summer.

those items include replacing the fire extinguisher, light frames, replacing lower mast, bow and stern lights, radio antenna, pilot house glass and ensure that the bilge pump is operational.

"It doesn't look like anything here on the list is too difficult to replace," said Doug Way, board member.

Way would like to see Coast Guard requirements completed and have them re-inspect ferry to have it operating again before the season ends. Drury agrees with Way on having the ferry operational as soon as possible, but is concerned with possible unseen issues.

"I don't think it is in the best interest of the public or this board to throw the ferry back in service and something else happen," Drury said. "We certainly don't want to have an electrical fire in the pilot house, or engine fire or hydraulic leak in the lake. We need to take our time and get it done correctly. The Coast Guard list is one thing, but there are other things we should do."

Charlevoix County Commissioner Nancy Ferguson, whose district includes the lake crossing, also wants the ferry operating, but will wait if it is necessary to get everything done correctly.

"We need to get it done and get it done right, so it is ready to go in the spring," Ferguson said. "Safety has to come first."

Art Halloran, who is a part-time ferry operator, suggested the ferry remain closed until spring, since there are too many variables for the board to consider as the season draws to a close.

"We should shut it down and do this right," Halloran said. "We should make it pristine before the 90th anniversary in the spring. It is about the public's safety."

The board will hold a special meeting at 9 a.m. on Oct. 27 to decide if the ferry will reopen this season or remain shut down until spring.

"I don't like to operate blind," Ferguson said. "I would love to have it running, but without all the information we can't make that decision. We would not want to start the ferry up in the spring and it not run correctly for our 90th anniversary."

BUDGET

Mayor Gabe Campbell said larger boats should not be the city's focus, but more slips for shoppers.

"The larger boats are more self contained," Campbell said. "We want to encourage commerce in our downtown."

Council member Bill Supernaw did see the point to reconfigure the dock to make more room for larger boats.

"We know people in our city don't want to see that,"

Supernaw said. "This year, I heard from people who were disappointed because the large boats block the view of the Venetian boat parade, and it causes less participation in the parade because the parade needs to stay further out because the large boats docked."

Because council consensus seemed to be looking at smaller slips the item remained as a goal moving forward.

"It is a long-term goal, but my impression from the meeting is that council wants the marina reconfiguration to look more at shopper's docks than making room for larger boats," Heydlauff said.

Council is expected to approve a revised city goal list at their next meeting, on Oct. 19, at City Hall, 210 State St.

"We will adjust the goals a bit based on comments from City Council," Heydlauff said. "I expect council to approve this at their next meeting and then department heads will plan budgets accordingly as we move forward in the process."

collaboration more."

Center said the township board should have a decision at its next meeting. If the two local governments move forward they could end up with one key person that potential businesses, looking to move to the area could speak to. A single person as a point of contact between the city and the township for economic development would help businesses move through the system quicker, Heydlauff said.

"My goal would be to think of Charlevoix as a unit no matter what boundary you are in," Heydlauff said. "I know the city has not been a good partner in the past; it is my goal to change that as we move forward."

Charlevoix Township resident John Haggard suggested the board look at the possible partnership with the city, especially in economic development.

"I think it is a very good idea," Haggard said to the board. "Mainly in the Industrial Park. We should work with the city to get people back working in this community. We have to fill these empty buildings."

Rayders spoil East Jordan's homecoming with 31-0 win

(231) 439-9340 • cmitche@petoskeynews.com

EAST JORDAN — On homecoming at Boswell Stadium, in front of a packed crowd, the Charlevoix football team was able to spoil the night of their conference rivals, as their defense held East Jordan scoreless and handed them their third straight defeat.

Charlevoix would earn a 31-0 win Friday night, which gave them their third straight victory. The defensive intensity was imminent in the first half for both teams.

On their first possession of the game, the Red Devils were able to move the ball effectively down the field, but it was hindered by Charlevoix's ability to come up with big stops in crucial segments of the game.

Charlevoix was able to force the turnover on downs and take over on their own 36 yard line.

With junior running back Jared McLean out for the second straight week, Ben Boss and Malcolm Williams were key contributors in the game and on Charlevoix's first possession, the running back tandem accounted for 64 rushing yards on five plays, including a five yard score by Boss as Charlevoix took the early 6-0 lead.

Williams rushed for 144 yards on nine carries with a touchdown as Boss added 109 yards on 15 carries and a touchdown.

"We run the triple option, we are a running team so we always want to come out and run the ball because we just believe in the triple option," Charlevoix's head coach Ron Bindi said.

On the next several possessions, both teams had promising drives that would eventually stall, with momentum swaying back and forth from big defensive stops.

Charlevoix, however, would break through with another scoring drive with just under two minutes remaining in the half as quarterback Forrest Noirot found tight end Austin Putman wide open down the field on a defensive breakdown for a 50-yard touchdown reception to extend the lead to 13-0.

Charlevoix players Walker Drost (right) and Christian Matye celebrate after the Rayders' 2-1 win over visiting Harbor Springs on Thursday.

Big wins over rivals have Rayders on the verge of the LMC title

JAMES GENSTERBLUM

ELK RAPIDS — One goal wins have been a way of life for the Charlevoix boys soccer team this season.

On Monday, the Rayders found a way to come through again in a crucial game against host Elk Rapids, scoring with four minutes to play to secure a 2-1 win and move one win away from locking up a share of the LMC title.

Charlevoix took an early lead on a Christian Matye free kick from outside the box midway through the first half, and led 1-0 at half-time.

The Rayder defense, led by a strong effort from Matt Good, held the Elks in check for most of the rest of the way, but Elk Rapids managed to find the equalizer with 15 minutes to play on a long goal that went in over the head of Charlevoix goalie Jacob Harrod.

While the sophomore did allow the tying goal, he made several key saves before the score and down the stretch afterwards to help the Rayders hold together long enough for Carson to get the winning score.

"Our defense played great tonight, and we got solid play from Drost, Carson, Bradley and David Ritter in the middle," Charlevoix coach Anton Matye said. "It's always tough to play on the road against Elk Rapids."

"They have a solid program, and any time you can walk out of there with the points you have to be pleased."

Charlevoix, now 16-2-1 overall and 8-1 in the LMC, remains tied for first place with Harbor Springs thanks to the victory, and finish both the regular and conference season with a game against Grayling on Wednesday.

The Vikings won't be an easy opponent after falling 2-1 to Charlevoix in a close match earlier in the season, but if the Rayders can come out on top, they'll secure a share of the LMC title.

On top of that, if Harbor Springs falters in either a Tuesday road

Juniors step up as Charlevoix stuns Harbor Springs in five sets

DREW KOCHANNY

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix volleyball team had come close before in five set matches this season, but the young squad had fallen short in every one so far.

Until Tuesday night, that is.

The Rayders' first-year varsity players put it all together for the first time this season, stunning favored Harbor Springs at home in a five set thriller, 21-25, 25-22, 19-25, 25-17, 17-15.

In the deciding fifth set, Charlevoix got a crucial block from junior Becca Moon, a big kill from junior Kenzy O'Leary and a critical ace from sophomore Kelsey Crandell. Marfuta all in the final eight points that helped the Rayders put the match away.

Those two big plays by Moon and O'Leary were a part of huge nights for the two juniors. Moon finished with 14 kills, 18 assists and 10 digs, while O'Leary chipped in 13 kills and two blocks at the net.

Charlevoix's Emily Zabawa (2) and her teammates celebrate a crucial kill during the Rayders' five-set win over visiting Harbor Springs on Tuesday.

For a Charlevoix squad that has relied heavily on seniors Emily Zabawa and Hannah Zipp so far this season, Moon and O'Leary's increased role represents a big step forward for the team as districts approach.

"Kenzy really started to emerge this weekend (at the Mt. Morris tournament)," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said. "She was hitting the ball hard and really showing a lot of confidence, and that continued today."

"For Becca, she's gotten much stronger at the mental aspect of being a passer and a setter, and knowing where to put the ball and when. They both came up huge tonight."

Zabawa finished with 10 kills, 19 assists, six aces, 10 digs and two blocks in another strong all-around night for the senior, and freshman Elle Louiselle added three blocks and two assists.

Backrow specialists Ali Jarema, Grace Sutherland and Julia Doskoch combined for 25 digs as well for Charlevoix, who was coming off a rough stretch of tough matches heading into tonight.

"We really needed this win for our confidence," Randall said. "These girls have been coming into practice every day and working very hard to get better, and it

Narrow misses at regionals spells end of season for Rayder golf team

JAMES GENSTERBLUM

GRAYLING — It's been a season of firsts for the Charlevoix girls golf team.

Unfortunately, the Rayders' first state qualifier will have to wait for another year.

Charlevoix had close calls both as a team and individually at Thursday, Oct. 8's Division 4 regional hosted by Grayling Country Club, ultimately coming up short of a state finals berth in both instances.

The Rayders, one of several teams on the bubble for a qualifying spot, couldn't quite put it together as a unit, shooting a 416 to finish sixth overall, 23 strokes behind Manistee, the third and final qualifier.

Individually, sophomore Abbey Scholten shot a 98 to finish tied for 11th overall and lead Charlevoix, but came up three strokes short of the score shot by East Jordan's Murphy Holt, the third and final individual qualifier.

Sara Sabsook, Emily Sabsook and Olivia Jeakle all carded a 106 as well for the Rayders, and Alex Snabes shot a 109.

While the Rayders didn't reach the state final in their second year as a program, they did set a new program record for 18 and 9 hole rounds this season, finished runner-up in an invitational for the first time, and also hosted their first home invitational, the Lady Rayder Classic, at the Belvedere Golf Club.

And with four of their top five golfers returning next season, including top finisher Scholten, as well as a strong freshman class on the JV team, odds are good that 2016 could be an even bigger year for the Charlevoix girls golf team.

On their ensuing drive, East Jordan would drive down the field and eventually connect on a 27 yard pass play from Colin Shepard to Donny Cutler to the 12 yard line with just 43 seconds remaining in the half.

Just when it looked as though East Jordan was gaining momentum and were about to put some points on the board, on the next play, Boss intercepted Shepard.

East Jordan's head coach Allan Peterson discussed the defensive breakdown and the interception before the half being critical plays before the half, but was proud of how his team was able to drive down the field after giving up the long passing touchdown.

"We knew they were going to run that play again because it was open the first time they threw it and we made a mistake and we didn't cover it the way we should," Peterson said. "The kids competed and responded to that and brought the ball up the field. We threw a interception, but I'm proud of the kids, they showed that they still wanted to be there."

To start the second half, East Jordan recovered an onside kick but failed to do anything with it, as Shepard fumbled later on in the drive.

Charlevoix would then march five plays over 65 yards to an eventual 32 yard touchdown run by Noirot to push the lead to 19-0.

The Rayders would then add two more scoring drives in the second half as Noirot would find Putnam for a 16 yard touchdown reception, his second of the game.

Noirot finished 5-of-13 for 100 yards and two touchdowns while adding five rushes for 45 yards and a touchdown. Putnam recorded five receptions for 95 yards and two touchdowns.

After a second straight week brining in positive passing numbers for Noirot, Bindi credits his quarterback with taking advantage of what the defense gives them.

"If you're going to play certain coverage's against us we are going to try to exploit what you are trying to give us, we just need to read the coverage's a little bit better," Bindi said. "We almost threw an interception, but we figured it out and we ran what we needed to run."

Williams would add the final score of the game as he punished his way through the Red Devils defense, breaking several tackles on his way to a 46 yard score, to lock up a 31-0 victory.

Despite the homecoming loss, coach Peterson is proud of how his team is competing.

"We played them tough the first half, we were even, that seems to be our theme," Peterson said. "Our kids work their butts off and I'm really proud of them, each and every one of them."

"This bunch doesn't hang their heads just because they know how hard they worked and how hard they competed. These kids won't hang their heads, if we get them headed up they'll be good next week."

Midget Rayders win defensive battle to beat Traverse City

JAMES GENSTERBLUM

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix Pop Warner teams went 1-1 in Saturday action at Kipke Field this week.

The Midget Rayders used home field advantage and an outstanding defensive effort to beat the Traverse City Trojans 6-0 in their game.

Dmitri Bell and Jake Claffin made big plays on the defensive side of the ball for Charlevoix, and John Sauer added an interception as well.

Bell scored the game's lone touchdown and had a good game running behind blockers Claffin, Sauer, Jack Herzog, Spencer Weber, Cam Vmndran, Jake Beandoin and Will Glass, as did running back Max Ostrum and quarterback Caleb Stuck.

The PeeWee Rayders suffered a tough 20-7 loss to the Trojans in their matchup, led by quarterback Troy Nickel, who scored their only touchdown.

Running backs Patrick Sterrett and John Paul Culver also had solid performances for Charlevoix in the Inss; and defensively Ben Matter, Max Dixon and Nate Claffin were the Rayders' top tacklers.

The two Rayder squads split up for the first time this coming weekend, with the PeeWee Rayders heading to Traverse City St. Elizabeth to take on the Traverse City Wolverines at 9 a.m., and the Midget Rayders heading to Boyne City to play Petoskey at 2:30 p.m.

Charlevoix's girls and boys cross country

Charlevoix's girls and boys cross country teams, pictured above, competed in the 2015 Belvedere Run at Belvedere Golf Course on Tuesday. Running against rival Elk Rapids in a two-mile race, Charlevoix's Michelle Bellini took second and Isabel Hess took third on the girls side, while David Ritter took second and Luke Buday took third on the boys side to lead the Rayders, who next compete in the LMC Championships on Oct. 20th in Traverse City.

match against Boyne City or a Thursday home showdown with Elk Rapids, Charlevoix would win the league title outright with a victory over Grayling.

Charlevoix 2,
Harbor Springs 1

CHARLEVOIX — The odds were stacked against the Charlevoix soccer team heading into a crucial game at home against rival Harbor Springs on Thursday.

Although the Rayders had the benefit of home-field advantage, they were facing a red-hot Rams team that hadn't lost in over a month, and doing so without leading goalscorer Christian Matye, who missed the game with an injury.

But despite the obstacles, Charlevoix put on an efficient, balanced, physical performance to upset the LMC-leading Rams in a 2-1 victory that avenged an earlier shootout loss to Harbor Springs.

The Rayders got strong outings from virtually every position group and took advantage of the opportunities they were given offensively to edge the Rams by a razor-thin margin.

"I'm proud of these guys, because they beat a very good team today," Charlevoix coach Anton Matye said. "Without Christian, I knew this game was going to be tough, but the way our team was able to perform both offensively and defensively despite his absence was very impressive and is a testament to our depth."

Charlevoix started the game with the wind at its back and used that fact to its advantage, playing several long balls deep that turned into dangerous opportunities.

The Rams countered with solid possession to create some scoring chances of its own, but neither team was able to take advantage until the 18th minute, when Charlevoix's Wesley Crandell got the ball 25 yards out and uncorked a fast, twisting shot that slipped past Harbor Springs goalie Parker Fairbairn to give the Rayders a 1-0 lead.

It's the second long-range goal for Crandell this week, as the junior also scored against Kalkaska in a 1-0 win on Monday.

"Wesley is a great kid, and it makes me proud to see him out there playing the way he is," Matye said. "He's been with the program a long time, and he's someone who's worked very hard to transform his game and take the next step as a player."

"You can see the results of that work on the field," Harbor Springs upped the pressure, but it wasn't until the second half that the Rams found the break they were looking for.

A penalty by Charlevoix just outside the Rayder box in the 55th minute gave Harbor Springs a free kick

In a dangerous area, and sophomore Joe Claramunt made Charlevoix pay with a strike that went over the wall and into the net for the equalizer.

Charlevoix didn't have to wait long for its answer, however, as the Rayders drew a penalty of their own just outside the Harbor box seven minutes later, and senior Walker Drost's shot hit off the crossbar and in for the game-winner.

With 16 minutes left, Charlevoix's defense and midfield controlled the pace of the game the rest of the way, as Kevin Pearl, Danny Nesburg and David Ritter, among others, helped frustrate a Rams team desperate for an equalizer on the way to securing the 2-1 win.

The Rams lost despite a strong effort from Sam Bailey, Mitchell Corey, and Caesy Cosens on the backline that limited Charlevoix's scoring chances for most of the night.

"I was happy with our effort, especially defensively, and I thought we did a good job," Harbor Springs coach Aaron Riley said. "Offensively, we just didn't make the most of our opportunities, and Charlevoix did a great job of turning what they got into goals."

"It's always a tough match against Charlevoix, and always a close game, so you have to take advantage of chances when you get them and we didn't do a good enough job of that tonight."

was important to get some kind of validation that that work is making them better.

"Harbor Springs swept us the first time we played them, so to turn around and win tonight shows how far we've come."

In the first and third sets, and for parts of the fifth set, Harbor Springs looked like they were on track to sweep the Rayders.

Strong backrow play from Stephanie Kruskie and Maddie Keeley, among others, helped Rams setter Haley Rushing funnel the ball to hitters Mia Trabucchi, Mikayla Dickinson and Libby Garver at the net, and created a solid source of points for Harbor Springs.

But at times that connection broke down, and it cost the Rams, especially late in the fifth and deciding set.

"We just need to slow down our passing, hit the hall high and give ourselves a chance to get set up offensively," Harbor Springs coach David Thom said. "We get caught up in playing fast and that's not our game, it's not what makes us successful."

Either way, the loss is an instructive one for the Rams, Thom said.

"We've been working hard, but clearly Charlevoix has become a much better team than when we first saw them," Thom said. "It's now a challenge for us to correct our mistakes and find a way to make that same leap in time for district play."

Charlevoix travels to Grayling on Thursday for its next match, while Harbor Springs hosts Boyne City on the same night.

Mt. Morris Invite
MT. MORRIS — A good way to prepare for what's to come in district play is to take a step above in the competition level.

That would be the Charlevoix varsity volleyball team's plan over the weekend, when they headed to the Mt. Morris invite against a number of Class A and B programs.

Coming away with tough results on paper in a 1-4 overall day, Charlevoix coach Audra Randall was still pleased with the overall effort of the weekend.

"It was a good day stringing together more high intensity plays and several points in a row, which we have struggled with in the past," she said. "Another good step for the girls. We played against A, B and a C teams for our outing."

A Class C school themselves, the Rayders would open play against Class A Lakeview, taking a close 25-22 loss to begin the day, then a 25-17 loss in the second set to drop the match.

Against Valley Lutheran in their second pool play match, the Rayders again kept things close, but came away with set losses of 25-19 and 26-24, dropping the match.

A loss to Almont in their final pool play match would place the Rayders in the silver bracket for the next round, where they would earn their first and only win of the day against Bridgeport, winning 25-5 and 25-14.

The final loss for Charlevoix would come against St. Clair Shores, who handed the Rayders losses of 25-20 and 25-18.

Emily Zabawa would lead the Rayders with 25 assists, 19 kills, 21 digs, two aces and three blocks, while going 20-for-21 on serving on the day.

Becca Moon would add 27 assists, 22 kills, 11 digs and four aces, while Kenzy O'Leary had 19 kills and two blocks.

Also for the Rayders, Nichole Hart had 3 aces, went 44-for-45 serving and added 8 kills, Hannah Zipp had 11 kills, seven aces and eight digs and Julia Doskoc had 20 digs and went 100 percent on serving with three aces.

The lack of defensive errors in the tournament against a host of higher level teams, and outstanding serving on the day has Randall encouraged for the week to come.

"We are excited the direction we are going and hope to have a good run this week with a rematch with Harbor Springs," she said.

Food FOCUS

Experience the flavors of RoadHouse 757

This week's Food Focus turns its lens to RoadHouse 757, at 757 Petoskey Ave., in Charlevoix, where owner Brett Cuper and chef Jeff Alas are preparing one of the house specialties — Blackened Pork Tenderloin in a bourbon barbecue sauce and red coulis sauce. RoadHouse 757 is a southwestern roadhouse with a twist. Each appetizer, sandwich or entrée is prepared with sauces and seasonings that represent a style from all across America with the added inspiration of the desert southwest to give each dish a distinct flavor. From their unique barbecue sauces to salad dressings and vinaigrettes the chef and kitchen staff are busy preparing house made foods that are sure to satisfy the adventurous spirit of the Northern Michigan palate. Their meal hours are from 11:30 a.m. to 9 p.m., Sunday through Thursday, and from 11:30 a.m. to 10 p.m., Friday and Saturday. During the autumn and winter season the RoadHouse is featuring something special during the week. On Tuesdays guests can enjoy $3 tacos — beef/pork, chicken, and fish. Wednesday's offers patrons an all-you-can-eat pasta and bread sticks with a choice of four different sauces for $10, and don't forget their popular Fish Fry Friday's with house made tartar sauce, coleslaw and batter that is sure to keep people biting for more. Each week the Charlevoix Courier will feature a Charlevoix restaurant or business that prepares food for the public during our Food Focus series.

The blackened pork tenderloin is seasoned in the RoadHouse 757 house made blackening seasoning before being charred during preparation. All steaks and tenderloins are dressed and cut in house to ensure consistency in each cut of meat.

One sentenced, charges shifted in E-Z Mart robberies

STEVE ZUCKER

(231) 439-9346 • szucker@petoskeynews.com

CHARLEVOIX — One man has been sentenced in connection to one of two Charlevoix gas station robberies, while charges have been dropped against another man and shifted to a third.

On Friday, 33rd Circuit Court Judge Roy C. Hayes III sentenced Matthew Allen DeNise, 21, of Charlevoix, to serve 24-60 months in prison for his role as a co-defendant in the March 2013 robbery at the Charlevoix E-Z Mart. DeNise pleaded guilty to attempted armed robbery on Sept. 21. DeNise admitted that he and Dennis Robert McKee, 21, of Charlevoix robbed the station, located at the corner of U.S. 31 and M-66 on March 28, 2013. McKee placed a finger in his jacket to scare the clerk into believing he had a gun.

The perpetrators left with $275.52 which they said they stole in order to purchase drugs. Charlevoix County Prosecuting Attorney Allen Telgenhof said in a news release.

McKee also pled guilty and was sentenced on Aug. 7 to serve 36-120 months in prison, where he is currently held at the Carson City Correctional Facility.

Telgenhof also said last week he made two additional moves in the cases. He has authorized a charge of larceny from a person, against McKee for committing the Dec. 14, 2014, robbery at the very same E-Z Mart. Larceny from a person is the same charge McKee previously pleaded guilty relating to the 2013 robbery and carries a maximum sentence of 10 years in prison.

As part of his deal in the first robbery case, McKee agreed to cooperate with police with respect to the second robbery. He testified at a preliminary examination on June 4, 2015, that he planned the

Public hearing shows support for Young historic district

LONNIE ALLEN

(231) 547-6558 • lallen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — Most homeowners gave some show of support for an Earl Young Home historic district inside the city during a public hearing on Monday.

The non-contiguous district would encompass Earl Young Homes in the city on Park Avenue, Clinton Street and Thistle Downs Drive, but not in Boulder Park because those homes are under Charlevoix Township jurisdiction, said city manager Mark Heydlauff.

"Certainly they hold a historical significance, but we can only take action on a creating a historic district for the city of Charlevoix," Heydlauff said.

Residents who spoke at the meeting that showed the support for the district requested the city to address the park across from the Earl Young Homes on Park Avenue.

"We believe the park is connected with the idea of protecting the Young buildings," said Sidney Feldman. "The street and park are in deplorable condition. It is truly embarrassing."

William Thom also supports the district, but also wants the city to address the concerns Feldman spoke about.

"We feel a historic district would be an asset to the community," Thom said. "There is a problem with the park across the street. Both Earl and Irene

City approves Mount McSauba water deal

LONNIE ALLEN

(231) 547-6558 • lallen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — Snow making just got easier for crews at Mount McSauba with a deal to allow Charlevoix Township to provide water service to the recreational area.

The City Council voted 5-0 — Councilmember Shane Cole was absent — to approve the transfer of water service from the city to the township pending approval of an agreement being drafted by the city attorney.

"We are looking for ways we can better cooperate with Charlevoix Township and this is a step forward," said city manager Mark Heydlauff. "It is a great thing going forward."

The agreement with the township would provide water to the complex without costs and in return for the water service Charlevoix Township residents will be able to use the complex year-round at city rates.

"It is a small price to pay for their generosity," Heydlauff said. "The biggest beneficiary is our area youth. It is an outstanding venue for children. It is a facility that is all about the kids in this community and serves this community so well and the more we can encourage children and youth to use it the better we are in the long run."

The township water service will provide more water flow, which will improve snowmaking in the winter, said Bo Boss, Mount McSauba manager, who is happy to see the agreement between the two governmental entities.

"This is the biggest thing to ever happen in my 40 years at Mount McSauba," Boss said.

Boss said the infrastructure is in place and the city has invested to make sure the snowmaking process is state of the art, but all he needs is water to make it work properly.

"Right now it is trying to put out a house fire with a garden hose," Boss said. "The township service will allow us to make our entire season of snow in two weeks instead of six weeks."

Once the agreement is signed, the township could start providing water service as soon as the "cold winds blow," Heydlauff said.

"It is my understanding the township is ready to get this

Environmental land art

Above is the finished land art installation work of student Daniel Fournier. On Friday, Oct. 2, the Charlevoix Montessori Academy 7-12 grades' art classes, under the direction of art instructor Michael Rostock, went to Lake Michigan Beach to work on their land art installation projects. Land art installations are works of art where the medium used is culled directly from the environment where the art is to be experienced. In this case, it was the stones, sand, water, grass and other materials of Lake Michigan beach. The students studied the works of Andy Goldsworthy and other professional artist who work in art installations before being challenged to design and create their own Land Art installations.

Businesses talk about making it on Main Street

LONNIE ALLEN
(231) 547-4558 • allen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — Downtown business owners gathered Oct. 19 to discuss small business and think big about how they can work together to utilize each other and resources provided by the Charlevoix Main Street program.

These meetings are a way we can facilitate working, collaboration and offer resources to our downtown business owners," said Annie Doyle, Main Street/Downtown Development Authority director.

About 11 owners attended the first Main Street business owners meeting held at the Charlevoix Public Library on Monday. The Main Street program organized the meeting because local businesses made a request to Doyle.

"This is something they wanted," Doyle said. "They want to collectively market, represent and problem solve."

Downtown business owners will set their own agenda for the meetings scheduled to occur each month, Doyle said.

In the first meeting, local business owners had a chance to discuss their successes and challenges throughout the past year in Charlevoix, while expressing what they would like to see as Charlevoix moves into the winter season.

"We got some real good feedback," Doyle said.

Some of the items discussed were changing parking rules in the marina district, because of the added traffic in the area, a downtown dining guide and collaborative winter hours.

"I would like to see something where we could point out each business' store hours," said Diane Dupont, of Round Lake Books. "It would be nice to be able to answer questions from costumers about businesses who are open in winter."

There also was discussion about taking some of the focus off Bridge Street and talk about the businesses near downtown on the side streets. Jodi Bingham, owner of Ga Ga for Kids, said Bridge Street business owners should take some responsibility for that.

"We need to keep our staff educated and make them aware of what is around and where different businesses are located," Bingham said.

City manager Mark Heydlauff also attended the meeting. He said getting the owners together to talk is good for the city and the businesses.

"It is really effective to have business owners talk among themselves,"

Heydlauff said. "The more they work well together on common issues the better we can do as a city for them."

Community Reformed Church to host Arts and Crafts Festival

CHARLEVOIX — Community Reformed Church is hosting its fourth annual Arts and Crafts Festival from 9 a.m.-3 p.m., Saturday Nov. 7, at the church on the corner of Main Street and Petoskey Ave. Area artisans, crafts persons and local food producers are invited to participate.

Vendors may rent an eight foot table for $15 each to display and sell their wares. The Breakfast Club program also will sell fair trade coffee, tea and chocolate at the festival. The profits from the sale of the fair trade goods as well as the vendors' table fees will go toward funding the Breakfast Club program at Community Reformed Church on Tuesdays and Fridays year-round.

The Breakfast Club, you ask? No, Community Reformed Church is not hosting a detention service for Charlevoix, and Emilio Estevez and Molly Ringwald will not be there... probably not, anyway. It is a free breakfast event held twice-a-week to help feed those in need in the area. The donations garnered from this event will supplement meals for many who are indigent, under-employed, homeless and seniors who need these services to maintain not only optimal health but community connection.

Additionally, the Breakfast Club staff will serve pumpkin, apple and regular pancakes, with specially toppings available, all day long for a free will donation.

Homemade pies also will be available for sale and those proceeds will benefit both the Charlevoix Christmas Project and the Charlevoix Community Food Pantry.

For more information or to reserve a table application, call Jan Boss at (231) 547-9482.

Taxes, Taxes, Taxes

Taxes have been given a bad name by many politicians. They tell us that we give the government our hard-earned money and they waste it on boondoggles. We are all reminded often of the bridge to nowhere, or the $5,000 dollar toilet for the airplane. We need a new way to look at taxes.

EAR TO THE GROUND

Candidates for public office often have a tax-cut plan, which purports to reduce everyone's taxes. We seem to believe at least some of those plans, because, after all, who wants to pay taxes. It is just wasted money we are told. The only way to reduce the size of government is to deprive it of taxes. Starve the beast as the arch-conservatives say.

To understand this more clearly we need a new way to think about taxes. I believe we should think about taxes in the same way we think about utility bills. No politician is proposing that we reduce utility bills and starve the companies providing utilities. We need reliable electricity. We need clean water and we don't mind at all paying for it every month. We don't think of the utility companies as wasting our money, although I am certain if we monitored them as closely as government spending, we could find examples of waste.

Taxes similarly pay for things we need, from roads, bridges, police, an effective military, fire departments to the many services the government provides or supports. Clean, healthy food, safe and effective drugs. The list of things we need that government provides or makes possible is long.

Think of your taxes as utility bills. Maybe it would be clearer if we were to receive monthly tax bills with the amounts devoted to various necessary activities specified.

How we think about taxes may be as important as our political or ideological position.

Government is not just a utility, it is the cost of living in a complex society. By all means, watch for government waste; eliminate it where possible, but keep paying taxes to provide for those things we need.

Consider your taxes to be the utility bills we pay for living in a livable environment.

LETTERS to the editor Brewery highlight to annual Charlevoix visit

Editor,
As a summer visitor for the last 50-plus years and a regular reader of the Courier, I feel connected to and passionate about Charlevoix the Beautiful. I share the local news and my excitement and sorrows about downtown with family and friends and I have an annual countdown to my days in town. I'm writing to share my experience and excitement about the addition of the Bridge Street Tap Room. We found the tap room and brewery to be highlights of our annual visit, bringing our friends from neighboring towns to visit us in Charlevoix, because we had the place for a quiet chat over a local brew. It is a lovely, pleasant and peaceful place to get together. The local focus, the high quality, and the new opportunity to be in town is a delightful addition that enhanced our summer. I hope the town will embrace and extend this sort of fresh vision that enhances downtown. It's an asset!

City council needs to address airport compliance, noise

The Charlevoix City Council members to be elected on Nov. 3 will be responsible for guiding and shaping the city. Their decisions will affect each of us in practical ways — such as the future of the city marina; the look of our parks and how they are used;

SCRIBE'S VIEW
Lonnie Allen

how we spend the public dollar and the social benefits that can bring; the image and character of new development in the city; and the future operations at the municipal airport.

No matter what happens this election cycle, it is up to city residents to keep the elected officials accountable about the issues at the airport.

The first thing that needs to be addressed is ordinance compliance. It has been two months since city attorney Scott Howard said the city has no records of signed indemnity agreements from airport operators. At that time council members took action by requesting an aviation attorney work with Howard to bring the airport into compliance with its own ordinance. When this process is complete the city council should not only accept the attorney recommendations, but implement them immediately to ensure each resident's hard-earned tax dollars are not going to fight the possibility of a future lawsuit because council members did not follow through.

Our elected officials must think about city residents. This city should require each airport operator to indemnify, defend and hold the city harmless from claims related to any of their operations on airport property. Why should the city foot the bill for an error caused by an airport operator? There should be clear and proper documentation that protects taxpayers from private business utilizing the airport and not just the knowledge the city carries liability insurance. That argument is a loophole that businesses can use to save themselves money at the taxpayers' expense.

The next thing is the noise that residents deal with each year from aircraft arriving at the airport. Residents have expressed to members of the airport committee that something needs to be done to lower the noise during the hours of 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. Residents have asked their elected officials to consider a noise abatement to curb 24-hour aircraft noise. They request a noise abatement policy be instituted to protect the quality of life for all Charlevoix residents, especially those living near the airport.

If other cities are capable of completing these two tasks then Charlevoix should be able to do the same. This city council should be able to come together for the common good of the people who vote for them and fix the compliance and noise issues at the airport before the next busy tourist season. Let's do this without a making controversy to rally the base or anti-business name-calling — it's not becoming of elected officials.

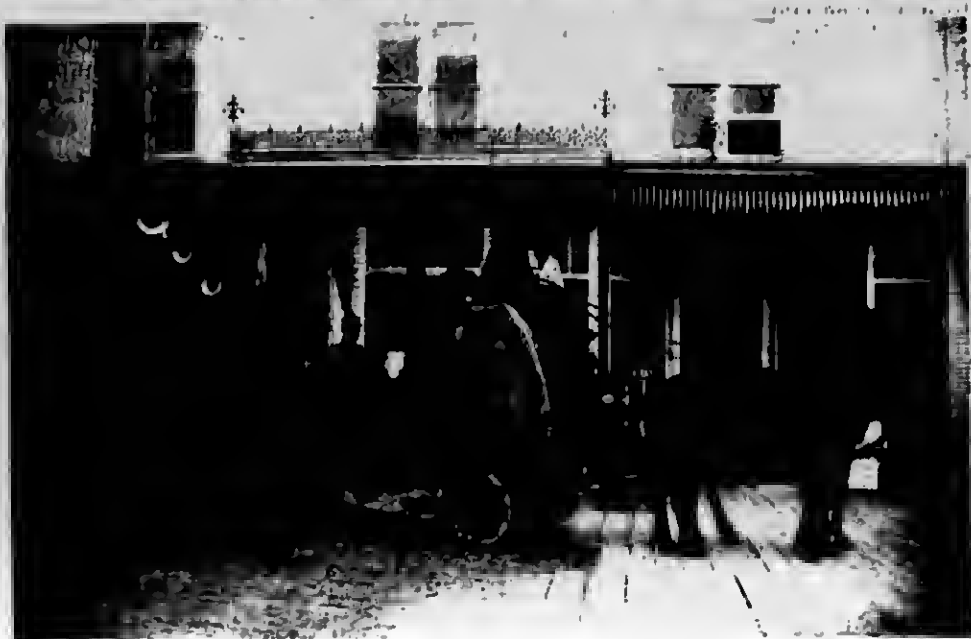

Yes, I understand each elected official does not always agree on an issue, but the airport issues are clear — protect our city by being compliant. Each council member was elected by the people of this city to work for the electorate and help better the life of each city resident and the airport requires the council's attention.

City council, do what is right and make sure the airport is operating in compliance to its ordinance and listen to the people who want something done about aircraft noise. It is time for city council to help move this city toward a consensus and not into divisiveness, no matter who is elected on Nov. 3.

Charlevoix bandwagon's fate is unknown

David Nettleton, master wagon maker, arrived in Charlevoix in 1867. Two years later, this highly capable man was appointed head of the commission that oversaw the cutting of the channels that connected Round Lake to Lake Charlevoix and Lake Michigan. The upper channel, to the east, was completed in July and August of 1869. The lower channel, to Lake Michigan, followed in September through the first week of October. Cost of the total project under his watchful eye — less than $1,500. Once that was accomplished, the economy of north-west lower Michigan took off like a rocket as boats began to arrive in a never ending stream from all over the Great Lakes. Pine River and Charlevoix never looked back. David Nettleton returned to his craft full time after his mission was accomplished. Around 1891, he completed one of his finest creations, this bandwagon for the Charlevoix Cigar Company. The company occupied an upper floor of the brick building next door to the Elements store downtown. Here the wagon is shown in front of the Lewis Grand Opera House at the bridge, located where the lawn is now facing the Weather-vane restaurant across the channel. George Burns, a pioneer settler of the land along Oyster Bay on Lake Charlevoix to the east, is handling the reins. The Rosenthal dry goods store, at left, moved to Petoskey not long after the photo was taken where it became one of the most respected commercial establishments of Northern Michigan for decades. To its right is the entry to the opera house auditorium, up a stairwell in the opening behind the uniformed musicians. The Belvedere resort often hired this rig for Fourth of July rides through the streets of Charlevoix, lavishly decorated for the occasion, at times drawn by a team of two oxen and two mules. Its fate is unknown.

New training program will make students workforce ready

ONAWAY — The Greater Michigan Construction Academy, in Midland, will join forces with the Industrial Arts Institute in Onaway, to bring construction, building and contracting skilled trades education to Northern Michigan.

"Our collaboration with the GMCA is a great fit for us," said Marilyn Kapp Moran, Industrial Arts Institute board president. "The GMCA is a premiere construction skilled trades training organization, focused on serving independent builders and contractors and filling their industry talent gaps. (We both) believe in training students to be workforce ready, solve problems and use critical thinking. We are aligned in our approach to education with a hands-on method and instructors with deep industry knowledge and experience."

The partners are launching with three main focuses for the kickoff. The Greater Michigan Construction Academy will launch a construction technology certificate program — a 600 hour fast track pilot in January 2016 at the Industrial Arts Institute location in Onaway. They are expecting to engage with 8-10 members of the Home Builders Association of Northern Michigan for student Internships/practicum experience. By summer 2016, Industrial Arts Institute and Greater Michigan Construction Academy will host a joint skilled trades academy summer camp for 13-17 year olds. The 40-80 hour camp will introduce students to carpentry, electrical, plumbing, HVAC, welding, manual machining and fabrication, shop math and hand tools.

"The intent of the summer camp is to 'light the fire' for skilled trades options for youth in a fun and exploratory environment," said Georgia Abbott, executive director of Industrial Arts Institute.

Over the next two months, the Greater Michigan Construction Academy and Industrial Arts Institute teams are scheduled to present the specifics behind the launch to several industry organizations, private businesses and community organizations. Interested sponsors, donors, school administrators, parents, potential students, builders and contractors and community organizations desiring to learn more about the Greater Michigan Construction Academy/Industrial Arts Institute launch should contact Executive Director, Georgia Abbott. Industrial Arts Institute is a division of Moran Iron Works.

"Providing our kids a pathway to a career is an obligation we all share as leaders. The Greater Michigan Construction Academy is thrilled that we have an opportunity to provide skilled trades in construction to Northern Michigan," said Jimmy Greene, president and CEO of the Greater Michigan Construction Academy.

The Home Builders Association of Northern Michigan has endorsed the program.

"We are so excited to be a part of this collaboration.

These programs will help our members sustain and grow their businesses with a quality skilled workforce and will help to strengthen our Northern Michigan Economy," said Scott Hecceg, executive officer of the Home Builders Association of Northern Michigan.

Over the next two months, the Greater Michigan Construction Academy and Industrial Arts Institute teams are scheduled to present the specifics behind the launch to several industry organizations, private businesses and community organizations. Charlevoix Fire/Police department to host open house Saturday

CHARLEVOIX — Fire and police safety will take center stage on Saturday in Charlevoix.

The Charlevoix Fire and Police department will host its open house from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Oct. 24 for the community. The open house will give those in Charlevoix a chance to come and check out the equipment the fire department uses.

The department also will provide demonstrations for people on ways to make sure their home is safer and talk about the importance of practicing fire safety.

For more information, call (231) 547-3279.

Health Department provides free test kits for radon action week

CHARLEVOIX — Exposure to a dangerous, odorless, invisible gas — radon — ranks as the number one in-home hazard for Americans, according to a recent Harvard University study. Radon is a naturally occurring, radioactive gas that disperses in open air, but can become a serious threat when trapped inside homes or other buildings. Hazardous radon levels are detected in one out of 15 American homes, and radon is the leading cause of lung cancer for non-smokers.

The Health Department of Northwest Michigan is taking action Oct. 25-31 as Radon Action Week by raising awareness and encouraging everyone to test for radon. During that week only, the health department will offer radon test kits — which normally cost $15 — for free, to encourage Northern Michigan families to check for and eliminate this silent killer from their homes. Test kits can be picked up during regular business hours at health department offices in Belleville, Charlevoix, Petoskey, Harbor Springs and Gaylord. A Property Tax ID number must be provided, to help map radon levels in the four-county health district. Renters also can obtain a test kit by providing officials with their address.

According to Scott Kendzierski, the health department's director of environmental health services, testing is the only way to know if residents and their families are being exposed to dangerous levels of radon.

"Fortunately, testing for radon is easy and inexpensive," he said. "If you discover that your home does have a problem, the health department can provide free consultation and, if needed, help you find a contractor to correct the problem."

Kendzierski said radon mitigation systems are readily available through local contractors and are widely used, with excellent results that can decrease the presence of radon in a home by as much as 99 percent. Depending on the size and type of home, systems can range from a few hundred dollars up to about $2,500.

"It's reassuring to know that exposure to harmful levels of radon is preventable, and correcting the problem is relatively simple for most homes," Kendzierski added.

For more information, call (800) 432-4121 or visit nwhealth.org. The Health Department of Northwest Michigan is mandated by the Michigan Public Health Code to promote wellness, prevent disease, provide quality healthcare, address health problems of vulnerable populations, and protect the environment for the residents and visitors of Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet, and Oshtemo Counties.

OBITUARIES

Dolores "Dee" Mae VanPelt, 84

Dolores "Dee" Mae VanPelt, 84, of Kingsley, passed away Friday, Oct. 16, 2015, at Birchwood

Health Center in Traverse City.

Mrs. VanPelt was born at home in Kingsley on Oct. 18, 1930, to the late John Frank and Valeria Victoria (Rhode) Schmuckal. Shortly after graduating from St. Mary of Hannah High School, Dee married Rex VanPelt and together they raised two children.

She began working at the State Hospital in Traverse City, studying to become a nurse. When she left the hospital she opened her own adult foster care home in Atwood. She cared for as many as 18 residents at one time until she decided to close the home when Rex passed away.

Dee worked hard through those years, but always had a smile on her face; she was a fighter and fought for her family and friends many times through the years and eventually fought hard for her own life. In the mornings you could find Dee having coffee with friends. In her spare time she would knit and crochet, enjoy music and go out dancing, or go down to The Rock in Kingsley to play cards or enjoy an event to which she was always early as with anything she attended.

Dee was an avid sports fan, especially the Tigers,

NASCAR, and her Kingsley Stags. When you went to her home you couldn't help but notice her flowers — real and fake she loved them all and had them inside and out. After dressing as a nun one year she decided she would continue to go to other events dressed that way and became affectionately known as Sister Mary to her friends and family. Dee was always very proud of her children and grandchildren.

She is survived by her son, Charles (Diane Manore) VanPelt; daughter, Vicky (Jack) Garey; grandchildren, Rex (Molly), Cody, Katie and Jennifer; her dear sister, Bernice Pfau; and special niece, Pam (Glen) Roop.

She was preceded in death by her parents; husband, Rex VanPelt; brothers, John Schmuckal Jr. and Joseph Schmuckal; brother-in-law, John Pfau; and granddaughter, Sarah VanPelt.

A Mass of Christian Burial will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 24, at St. Mary of Hannah Catholic Church in Kingsley. A rosary will be said that morning at 9 a.m., and friends may gather for visiting from 10 a.m. until the time of service. Burial in St. Mary of Hannah Cemetery will immediately follow the service.

Memorial contributions may be made in Dee's honor to St. Mary of Hannah or The Rock in Kingsley.

Arrangements have been entrusted to Kalkaska Funeral Home and Cremation Services.

Paul Perry Smith, 94

Paul Perry Smith, 94, of Charlevoix died Wednesday, Oct. 21, 2015, at Charlevoix Area Hospital.

He was born Dec. 16, 1920, in Charlevoix, to Perry and Emily Ruth (Gatliff) Smith. He graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1938 and served in the United States Army during World War II.

On Oct. 17, 1942, Perry married Billie E. Meyer in Charlevoix. He worked for the United States Post Office in Charlevoix for 25 years.

Perry was was an avid golfer, serving as the official scorekeeper for the Michigan Amateur for more than 30 years. He was a member of the American Legion Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226 and St. Mary's Catholic Church in Charlevoix.

Perry is survived by his son, Perry W. (Sharon) Smith of Spokane, Wash.; daughters, Cullen M. (Joel) Richards of Hill City, Minn., Leigh Ann Lovell of Carp Lake and Connie (Ralph) Doan of Charlevoix; nine grandchildren; 10 great-grandchildren; and special friend, Eileen Edwards.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Billie E.; and sister, Mary. Memorial service will be at 11 a.m., Saturday, Oct. 24, at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Charlevoix. The Rev. John Paul Bashe will officiate.

Gifts made in Perry's memory may be directed to the Charlevoix Area Hospital.

Please sign Perry's guestbook at www.winchester-fh@gmail.com.

William (Bill) Rodney Tillen, 49

William (Bill) Rodney Tillen, 49, (Nov. 7, 1965-Oct. 5, 2015).

Bill is survived by his parents, Richard and Catherine Tillen of Charlevoix; brother, Jack Tillen of Lakewood, Wash.; and brother, Robert Tillen and wife Dawn of Evansville, Ind. Bill was preceded in death by his wife Sujata.

He graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1984 where he was active in Basketball and Football, and from Central Michigan University with a bachelor of Science Degree in Business Administration and a Major in finance.

Greenwood Cemetery is again chosen as a Wreaths Across America site

PETOSKEY - Petoskey's Greenwood Cemetery will participate in Wreaths Across America in 2015. This will be the third year that Greenwood has been a site for the program that honors veterans and their sacrifices during the holidays.

In 2013, Greenwood placed 740 wreaths. There were wreaths placed a wreath on the graves of more than one-half of the veterans buried there. In 2014, they were able to place a wreath on every single one of the veterans — 1,382 of them. There are a few more veterans this year and Greenwood needs help in making certain that each veteran's grave site is decorated with this sign of remembrance and appreciation.

Donors can help in more than one way. First is the option to buy a wreath or wreaths. Each wreath costs $15. When contributors purchase two wreaths, the cemetery receives a third wreath at no charge. Many individuals give $60 or $150 gifts and some do even more. You may specify the wreaths for a particular veteran's grave or some choose to have their wreaths placed on veterans from a specific war. The cemetery chooses where to place the free wreaths.

Secondly, backers can help by coming to the cemetery on Dec. 12. There will be a short service which begins promptly at 11:50 a.m. with a moment of silence that is observed across the nation precisely at noon. There will be a short patriotic service led by the Rev. David Behling and then Wreaths Across America participants will proceed into the cemetery to adorn the graves.

of cold in the air. In 2014, it took about an hour to put out all of the wreaths. The public is welcome to attend the ceremony regardless of whether they have a wreath to place.

Many of these veterans have loved ones who live near Petoskey and decorate their graves each year, but there are hundreds of men and women who offered their lives for our country who have no one to decorate their grave or honor their service. This program is about honoring every veteran.

Donations should be made to Greenwood Cemetery because this is only way that participants can designate a wreath for a particular veteran. Information and forms can be found at www.greenwood.us/wreaths-across-america or call the office at (231) 347-6531. Donations are tax deductible.

Order form must be received by the Cemetery no later than Nov. 21. The wreaths purchased through this program are only allowed to be placed in Greenwood Cemetery.

New restaurant offers patrons best view of Round Lake

KELLY
Special to Courier

CHARLEVOIX — First Silver Birches Bar, then Irv's, then Topside Lounge, then Tom's Oyster Bar, but in the more recent past, locals remember 307 Bridge Street in downtown Charlevoix as Whitney's Oyster Bar. Surviving a fire in the late 90s, a year standing vacant and a brief run as a slightly more upscale restaurant called Quay, the building presently owned by Luther Kurtz, is now known as East Park Tavern. It is once again a place to hang out, meet with friends and have a beer and some bar food any night of the week. With a third floor deck, added for summer entertainment during the Whitney's years, the site offers its patrons one of the best views of Round Lake and the harbor for their dining pleasure.

Two years ago, Kurtz bought the building and leased the space to Eric Hodgson, a Charlevoix native, who also owns and operates four Beaver Island establishments: The Shamrock, The Beaver Island Lodge, The Harbor Market and The Beachcomber Bar. Hodgson operated it for one season as "Quay," but soon realized that a fine dining establishment was not exactly what all visitors and locals had in mind. They were looking for the more relaxed bistro atmosphere that Whitney's had once supplied. East Park Tavern is well on its way to achieving that goal. Last spring, Hodgson partnered with Evan Chappuies and the two are hopeful that locals and visitors alike will find East Park Tavern a comfortable and familiar place to be.

"We were very busy," Chappuies said of the East Park Tavern's first summer season in Charlevoix, "but we still haven't done as well as we want."

Chappuies, who has had experience in restaurant management at the Landing in Ironton and Somerset Pointe Yacht Club in Boyne City has high expectations of creating a vibe, an atmosphere for East Park Tavern.

"We hope to cater more to locals and to keep prices the same year-round. We want to offer the freshest ingredients at a good value," he said.

Perhaps one of the most visible improvements for the new image are the folding "nano doors" which have opened the restaurant out onto the sidewalk in warm weather.

"It was Luther's idea, and it has been well received by our customers," Chappuies said.

The most difficult part in restaurant management is in hiring and maintaining reliable wait and kitchen staff according to Chappuies, and the summer presented its challenges. Often in addition to being welcoming and present among the patrons, he found himself having to step in as chef, and also assist the wait staff.

"Right now we are lucky to have Rosie Chavez who has been in the business a long time and Kyle Hyde who is young and enthusiastic, back there in the kitchen," Chappuies said. "I meet with them in the morning and go over the menu and they do a great job helping me get the food out."

East Park Tavern has maintained Whitney's clam chowder, (it's the same soup cook and the same recipe), and offer their own specialties on a versatile menu which features small plates, soups and salads, sandwiches and dinner entrees.

"We change the menu with the season," Chappuies said. "Right now it's comfort food for fall, braised beef and root vegetables. Some say our burgers are the best in town. We have a Tuesday taco night and our grilled salmon has been very popular. So far we've had some good feedback about our menu. But we know we can always do better."

Chappuies and Hodgson welcome input from the locals. They are mulling around ideas for making the second floor more of a lounge.

East Park Tavern is open for lunch and dinner 11 a.m.-9 p.m. on weekdays and 11 a.m.-10 p.m. on weekends. On Saturday, Oct. 31, they will host a Halloween party and then will close down the third floor until next summer.

Charlevoix business nominated in San Francisco's video marketing awards

CHARLEVOIX — Cutting edge video marketing probably isn't the first thing that comes to mind when you think of Northern Michigan business. But one Northern Michigan company has been focusing on video this year, and the hard work has paid off. Redi-Rock International was in the running for the 2015 Video Marketing Awards, presented Wednesday, Oct. 7, in San Francisco.

The Video Marketing Awards are an annual honoring of the companies that are using video to propel their companies forward. The awards were announced at the Space Camp Video Marketing summit. Charlevoix resident and Redi-Rock video marketing specialist, Matilyn Ozment, traveled to San Francisco this week to attend the award ceremony. Redi-Rock was chosen as a top-three finalist in the "Breakout Video Marketer" award category.

Redi-Rock International is based in Charlevoix and has been dabbling in video marketing since 2010, but really started focusing on video in 2014. With the hire of a dedicated video marketing specialist, Redi-Rock has put out 12 new videos this year, including an installation video, multiple product videos, and several case study videos.

"Video is crucial to reaching our customers. People love watching videos, and if you can make them engaging and a little bit quirky, it's even better," said Lindsey Manthei O'Connor, marketing manager at Redi-Rock. "We've seen real sales results with our video efforts — the phone actually rings and people want to buy based on what they're seeing in the videos. We're really honored to be in the running for this award along with companies like Sales Force and LinkedIn."

Redi-Rock is a small business in Charlevoix that launched in 2000. The company manufactures forming equipment to make one-ton concrete retaining wall blocks. The company then licenses the forming equipment to manufacturers around the world; currently there are 130 manufacturers across the US, Canada, England, Ireland, Spain, Norway, Russia, South Korea, and New Zealand. Redi-Rock retaining wall products are also available locally at MDC Contracting; Redi-Rock walls can be found all over Northern Michigan. Several notable walls can be found in the Grain Train in Petoskey, at Meijer in Petoskey, and at Michigan Beach in Charlevoix.

Grandfriends, Groups, Graduates

You might ask yourself, what do these three topics have in common? Each one signifies something great happening in your school district, Charlevoix Public Schools to be precise. Last week I had the opportunity to join the Grand-friends celebration at our very own Charlevoix Elementary School as a superintendent and dad. It was awesome to see the excitement in the eyes of our elementary aged students as they had lunch with their special guests.

The special friends consisted of grandparents, parents, friends of the family, Coast Guard volunteers, board members, elementary staff and high school students. Thanks to the organization of our elementary Parent Teacher Organization (PTO) and Charlevoix Elementary School staff, the day was a huge success on all accounts. The Chrysler Drive for Kids fundraiser was also held in the front parking lot and the event raised more than $1,100 for the PTO. I must say, as a dad, it was fun to see my daughter enjoying her new school and as a superintendent to observe the many positive interactions taking place right before my eyes.

Three Charlevoix Public School groups have been approved this year to take some pretty amazing trips. Suzanne Klinger has board approval to take our 8th graders to Washington D.C. and Jennifer Glass also was given approval to take junior and senior Spanish club students to Spain. Prior to my arrival in July, Annemarie Conway had received board approval to take a group of students to Cuba for the very first time in history. I continue to be impressed with the many opportunities our students have access to in and out of the classroom.

Charlevoix Public Schools is very proud of our graduates and this has prompted our district to initiate a new Alumni Hall of Fame this year. This new program is being established to specifically honor past graduates of Charlevoix Public Schools who have made significant contributions toward improving the lives of others, obtained significant life achievements including receiving special honors/awards, or by achieving advanced degrees. We will be sharing our nomination petition with you on our website at rayder.net and on flyers at our Central Office building on St. Mary's Street. The due date for submission will be Jan. 31, 2016. A special thank you goes to our Charlevoix Public Schools Board president, Dick Joseph, for his leadership regarding this special program.

I want you to know that I'm impressed with what our district has to offer our students and I feel blessed to be part of it. It all begins with strong families, a supportive and collaborative community and excellent educators.

Charlevoix police officer receives 2015 Excellence in Service Award

CHARLEVOIX — Police officer, Barb Orban, with the City of Charlevoix Police Department is the recipient of the Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan 2015 Excellence in Service Award for Charlevoix County. The award recognizes law enforcement officers in each of the counties served by the Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan who promote domestic violence victim safety and offender accountability.

"I want to say thanks for the recognition, but the ones that really deserve the recognition are the ones that step forward," Orban said referencing the courage of survivors.

City of Charlevoix Police Chief, Gerard Doan said he appreciates the recognition of Orban and her work.

"Officer Orban is an outstanding officer who has made a great impression on so many people's lives because of her hard working attitude toward protecting victims of domestic violence," Doan said. "Orban is always eager to get involved and ensures the job is completed in the most professional manner."

Charlevoix County Assistant Prosecutor Greg Justis also had praise for Officer Barb Orban and Charlevoix Police Chief Gerard Doan stand together at City Hall. Orban received the Excellence in Service Award for Charlevoix County. The award, presented by the Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan, recognizes Orban's work in promoting domestic violence victim safety and offender accountability.

Orban's work.

"It's hard to overstate the importance — or the difficulty — of law enforcement's role in domestic violence cases," Justis said. "They need to navigate difficult situations, set the stage for prosecutions and ensure that survivors' voices are heard. Officer Orban understands this role; she is versed in the dynamics of domestic violence, sensitive to the needs of survivors and a bridge between her department and the prosecutor's office."

Crime victim rights advocate Libby Mikulski, who works at the Charlevoix County prosecutor's office, said Orban goes the extra mile in handling domestic abuse cases. She said Orban addresses concerns of the victim, takes time to explain procedure and thoroughly communicates with both the victim and prosecutor's office.

"Officer Orban puts great effort into her investigation," Mikulski said. "She is diligent about arresting the suspect at the time of the reported incident to further ensure the safety of the victim."

"Over the last year there have been a few stand-out cases that Officer Orban has worked on," said Jen Rashleigh-Houser, a Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan counselor/advocate who works closely with Charlevoix County law enforcement. "The diligence with which Officer Orban handles domestic violence cases supports survivor safety. Barb's demeanor helps survivors feel validated. The professional and thorough way she investigates these crimes is exemplary."

Those receiving awards were selected by Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan counselors/advocates who provide support services and advocacy for domestic abuse survivors and also work in cooperation with law enforcement in Antrim, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Emmet and Otsego counties. Other award honorees for 2015 are: Chief Bill Robbins, Mancelona Police Department; Detective Josh Gladu, Emmet County Sheriff's Office; Brenda Nowak, Cheboygan County Sheriff's Office; and Officer Stefan Crane, Gaylord City Police Department.

Workshop focuses on grief and loss management during the holidays

For most people the start of the holiday season is a joyous celebratory time, but for some is a pronounced reminder of loved ones who are no longer with us. Hospice of Northwest Michigan is hosting a Handling the Holidays workshop 6-8 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 5, at the First Baptist Church's community room, 06781 M-66 N., in Charlevoix. The workshop is dedicated to help individuals and the community find comfort, support and renewal in their grief and loss of a loved one.

No registration is necessary to attend this free program and it is open to anyone who feels a need for help to cope with the holidays. Special focus is given to those who are grieving the loss of a loved one whether recent or in the past. Presenters talk of how to cope with loss through the holidays and special occasions and assist in creating a simple plan for handling some of the stresses associated with the holidays. The workshop will be facilitated by David Behling, Hospice of Northwest Michigan Chaplain and Bereavement Counselor. Participants will receive an outline with a holiday planner and other helpful resources.

For more information, call (231) 547-7659, visit hospicenwm.org or find them on Facebook at Hospice of Northwest Michigan.

Hospice of Northwest Michigan is a 501(c)3 non-profit, community based hospice, serving Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego Counties. For more information about hospice services or to learn how to help, call (800) 551-4140.

Insurance Open Enrollment to begin in November

LANSING — The 2016 open enrollment period is just a little under a month away, which means the countdown to enrollment has officially begun. From Nov. 1, 2015 through Jan. 31, 2016, uninsured and under-insured populations will be able to enroll for affordable health coverage through the Insurance marketplaces.

This enrollment season, Enroll Michigan's network of Health and Human Services-trained and certified navigators will target uninsured and under-insured consumers across the state through increased outreach, education, and enrollment events and services. Targeted populations to include people with disabilities, and social and ethnic groups including young adults and college students, women, African Americans, Latinos, Native Americans, Asian Americans, Arabic populations and members of the LGBTQ community.

In the last enrollment year, Enroll Michigan navigators collectively reached more than 2 million Michigan consumers; conducted more than 1,900 outreach, education and enrollment events attended by more than 240,000 Michigan consumers; and assisted more than 2,500 residents in a language other than English.

Kalena Murphy, Enroll Michigan's certified navigator coordinator for southwest Michigan, says she is anticipating another positive enrollment season.

"Our goal is to increase enrollment in the African-American, young adult and recently released prisoner populations," Murphy said. "We at Enroll Michigan, as well as our navigators, are re-energized and excited for another successful year."

To kickoff Open Enrollment 2016, Enroll Michigan's network of navigators will be hosting events throughout the state.

For more information about events, call (517) 367-7293 or contact EnrollMichigan.com.

Archie Henry Griffin is October's Veteran of the Month

The Veteran of the Month for October is Archie Henry Griffin. Born on Aug. 10, 1913, in Saint James Township on Beaver Island their family moved to East Jordan soon after he was born where he grew up and attended school. Griffin left school after completing the 8th grade and worked many seasonal jobs in the area. In 1932, Griffin went to work for Reid and Murdoch Canning Company in Ellsworth, serving as a double-seamer operator, sealing metal containers by means of an automatic can seaming machine, placed lids in machine magazine, stopped jams, oiled and made minor adjustments to mechanisms. On Feb. 12, 1941, Griffin went to work at A.C. Spark Plug Division, General Motors, in Flint, as a machine gun assembler putting together various parts on Browning automatic .50 caliber machine guns using electric riveting machines to fasten permanent assemblies. On June 9, 1942, Griffin was inducted into the U.S. Army entering into active service in Traverse City, and was assigned to Fort Benning, for basic training and was reassigned to Camp Blanding, Fla., for additional training. On July 10, 1943, while home on leave, Griffin married Maxine Elizabeth Stoddard, in Boyne City, whom he met and worked with at A.C. Spark Plug, making their home in East Jordan. Griffin was reassigned to Company D, 314th Infantry and on April 7, 1944, departed the U.S. arriving in the European Theater of Operations on April 16, 1944, where he participated in the Normandy Campaign. On June 23, 1944, Griffin, who was a squad leader of a seven-man heavy weapons unit with a field promotion to Sergeant, was wounded by German artillery fire and woke up in an English hospital. Griffin was later transferred to Perry Jones General and Convalescent Hospital in Battle Creek, arriving on Sept. 1, 1944. The doctors tried to save his right arm to no avail as his whole body was riddled with shrapnel. On March 7, 1945, Griffin received an Honorable Discharge and was awarded the following Decorations and Citations: The Purple Heart Medal; The Combat Infantry Badge; The European African Middle Eastern Theater Ribbon with One Bronze Battle Star; The WWII Victory Medal and The Good Conduct Medal. Returning home Griffin was contracted by the U.S. Postal Service and the Grand Rapids Press newspaper as a route delivery truck driver retiring after 26 years of service. Griffin enjoyed delivering his wife's bake goods to area customers, playing in the shuffleboard league, serving on the East Jordan City Council and was an active member of the American Legion Post 227. On April 28, 1975, Archie Henry Griffin answered the final call and is being honored by sons David and Roger.

DETROIT — The Antrim Charlevoix Kalkaska Association of Realtors named Jim Evans as its 2015 Realtor of the Year. This award is given in recognition of outstanding leadership and service for the association, the community and the real estate industry.

Award winners are chosen by their peers and recognized both locally and at the annual Michigan Realtors Convention and Expo held at the Detroit Marriott's Renaissance Center, Sept. 30 - Oct. 2. Nominees are evaluated on their community service, education, business accomplishments and service to the Realtor organization at the local, state and national levels.

Evans was elected to the Antrim Charlevoix Kalkaska Board of Directors in 2012 and currently serves as president and also serves on multiple committees within the association.

Young referred to this strip along Park Avenue as the "The Million Dollar View," it sounds to me the neighbors agree we need to address the problems across the street."

The Charlevoix Historical Society fully supports the approval of a historic district designation of the Earl Young buildings as proposed by the Michigan Historic District Commission, said Denise Fate, Charlevoix Historical Society president.

"These structures are not only of historic significance, but also contribute substantially to the economic health of the city," Fate said. "As an organization, which provides tour guides as well as an historical museum we are witness to the many tourists that are drawn to the area from all over the country and foreign lands to see the Earl Young houses."

Charlevoix Interim Planning and Zoning administrator, Zach Panoff said the standing Historic District Study Committee in Charlevoix will take the input from the public hearing on Monday and begin to prepare a draft ordinance that will govern an Earl Young home Historic District with the assistance of city attorney Scott Howard.

"The committee and homeowners have a year to prepare this draft ordinance," Panoff said. "Once they do that it will go back to our city council where they will get to hear from property owners again on the district. After that city council will have the option to approve or deny it before the final report goes back to the State Historic Preservation Office."

The non-contiguous district also will be evaluated by the committee during the draft process because of the feed back from the state, Panoff said.

"We have to see what the committee decides once they have a chance to evaluate all the input from homeowners and the state," Panoff said. "They just got the all those comments and haven't met as a committee yet to review all the information."

Marathon qualifier to highlight Little Traverse Wheelway trail

LOUISE ALLEN
(231) 547-6558 • allen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — Top of Michigan Trails Council is working with Stafford's in Petoskey to bring a Boston Marathon qualifier to Northern Michigan during Memorial Day Weekend.

The Little Traverse Wheelway Marathon is still in the early planning stages, but intentions are to begin the marathon at Safford's Weathervane Restaurant in Charlevoix and end at Stafford's Pier Restaurant in Harbor Springs.

The course will follow the Little Traverse Wheelway trail system, said Luther Kurtz, Top of Michigan Trails Council, vice president.

"We've been building this for 30 years and we've finally finished it," Kurtz said. "It's perfect for this. It is a marathon long course along a beautiful lake shore."

The marathon will bring attention to a great trail system, but also highlight that Charlevoix, Petoskey and Harbor Springs all can be accessed through the trail.

"It is the jewel of trails for Northern Michigan," Kurtz said. "We want to connect communities through our trails and the marathon expresses that with our collaboration between the three major communities the race will and trail goes through."

Continuing in that community spirit a third of the funds raised from the marathon will go to the Petoskey High school track and cross country programs, Kurtz said.

Because the marathon start and finish are in separate towns event organizers will provide bussing back to Charlevoix from Harbor Springs.

Organizers chose the Saturday of Memorial Day Weekend for the marathon because they felt it would be a good time to highlight what the area has to offer to visitors.

"Lots of people already want to come north for the weekend," Kurtz said. "They can bring their families, run the race and relax for a few days after. We want people to see what our communities have to offer."

Alison Hubbard, Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce, said they support the idea of a spring marathon.

"They consulted with us about the race and we felt it is a good thing for Charlevoix," Hubbard said.

"We are on board with events that promote our community in a positive way."

Charlevoix Main Street director Annie Doyle said the marathon is a good way to promote downtown Charlevoix in the spring.

"Anything that is positive and brings families to our area to promote Charlevoix and all that it has to offer we support," Doyle said.

For more information, call Kurtz at (231) 622-2052, or visit trailsouncil.org.

TO: Voters of Charlevoix WARD #1

It is definitely time for a change... we would highly recommend voting for Aaron Hagen this November. He graduated from Charlevoix Schools, has 2 businesses in Charlevoix, and is active in many Charlevoix Community activities. Aaron will bring new, young, and fresh ideas to our community. We have personally discussed Aaron's vision for Charlevoix and agree with the direction and positive approach to solving issues and growing our community. Please give Aaron your support and VOTE for Hagen on November 3rd.

TO: Voters of Charlevoix WARD #3

We would highly encourage voters in Charlevoix Ward #3 to Vote for Greg Bryan "Write In Candidate" in November.

aboard the Oct. 13, Mid-Michigan Honor Flight to Washington D.C.

"We want you to know how much each of us appreciate you for what you did for this country decades ago," said Lions Club member Paul Witting. "Our organization loves you, is grateful for you and your service."

The flight brings veterans close to all of the monuments in the nation's capitol built in their honor. It's a part of giving back to those who fought for the U.S., said Tricia Donegan, Mid-Michigan Honor Flight director.

More than 60 who served their country decades ago were on the flight. During their trip they saw many national monuments, including the World War II Memorial and Arlington National Cemetery, where they saw the Changing of the Guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

They also witnessed a special demonstration by the Air Force Honor Guard at the Air Force Monument in Arlington, along with the Vietnam Wall, the Korean War Memorial, the Lincoln Memorial, the two Jima Monument and the Women's Memorial.

Hengesh, an Honor Flight Guardian, said the experience is overwhelming and a honor to be part of a trip that recognizes the service of those who fought during WWII.

"You just feel great," Hengesh said. "It's a wonderful feeling to be able escort Tim around and be part of this experience."

Hengesh said it is hard to describe the gratitude the veterans received everywhere they stopped.

Barb Claggett gives husband, Tim, an emotional hug on Wednesday, Oct. 14 to welcome him home. Claggett, a 93-year-old World War II veteran was accompanied by Don Hengesh (right) who on the flight as Claggett's Honor Flight Guardian.

"It was incredible," Hengesh said. "I have no words. The strangers, the people wanting to hug Tim, shake his hand and everyone was just overall grateful for his service and that makes you feel so good about the country we live in."

Claggett said the experience of Honor Flight filled him with enthusiasm and coming home into Charlevoix and see the people cheering for him was "most impressive."

"You can't help but believe in humanity when you see all these people out to us," Claggett said.

From the long lines of people greeting them leaving Michigan and arriving in Washington, Claggett wondered why all those people came out for them. And it only got more impressive once they flew back to Traverse City and got off the plane, he said.

"I can't get over this thing," Claggett said. "Hundreds of people all out to say hello. Little kids coming up to you to say hi, it is so impressive. It is one of those things you will remember all of your life. It's an honor to be on that flight."

As Mid-Michigan Honor Flight begins its fundraising for the 2016 flying season and possible flight in the spring, the organization asks people to consider 'taking flight' with them.

"Volunteer, become a Guardian, help us find veterans to fly with us, especially any WW II Veteran, plan a fundraising event, and take a piece of this day home with you in your heart." Donegan said. "Join us as a collective of grateful Americans who want to honor true American heroes."

It costs approximately $97,000 for each Honor Flight, which brings between 60 to 70 veterans to the nation's capital to visit the memorials dedicated to them, Donegan said.

"These trips would not be possible without donations from our generous supporters," Donegan said.

2014 robbery with Trevor James Blackwell, 23, of Charlevoix but that he did not follow through and Blackwell acted alone.

Telgenhof said after further investigation, officials now believe that the evidence points instead to McKee committing the second robbery. Based on the new information, Telgenhof dismissed the case against Blackwell and issued the new charge against McKee. Blackwell had been scheduled for trial after being bound over to circuit court following the preliminary examination.

"This has been an ongoing investigation," Telgenhof said. "While there was evidence that Mr. Blackwell planned and committed the robbery and the judge found probable cause to believe he committed the crime, deputy chief Scott Hankins of the City of Charlevoix Police continued to investigate to be sure we had the right person. There is evidence that Mr. Blackwell may have been involved in the planning but did not participate in the actual robbery. As soon as the evidence pointed to Mr. McKee, we made the decision to dismiss the case against Mr. Blackwell and charge Mr. McKee."

According to an affidavit filed in the new case, unlike the first robbery, McKee is accused of using an actual gun to commit the second robbery.

"It has been a winding road finding credible evidence in these cases, but through the fine detective work of Scott Hankins and the tough but fair sentences from Judge Hayes, we have both of the people who committed the first robbery in prison at this time," Telgenhof said.

The charge against McKee is a mere allegation at this time and he is presumed innocent unless and until proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.

started," Heydlauff said.

Charlevoix Township Supervisor Chuck Center acknowledged there is an attempt to get water service flowing to Mount McSamba this year.

"We should be able to do this before winter," Center said. "We need to finalize the agreement and then start the process to tap into our service line."

Mayor Gabe Campbell praised the deal hoping that more ways can be found to collaborate with Charlevoix Township.

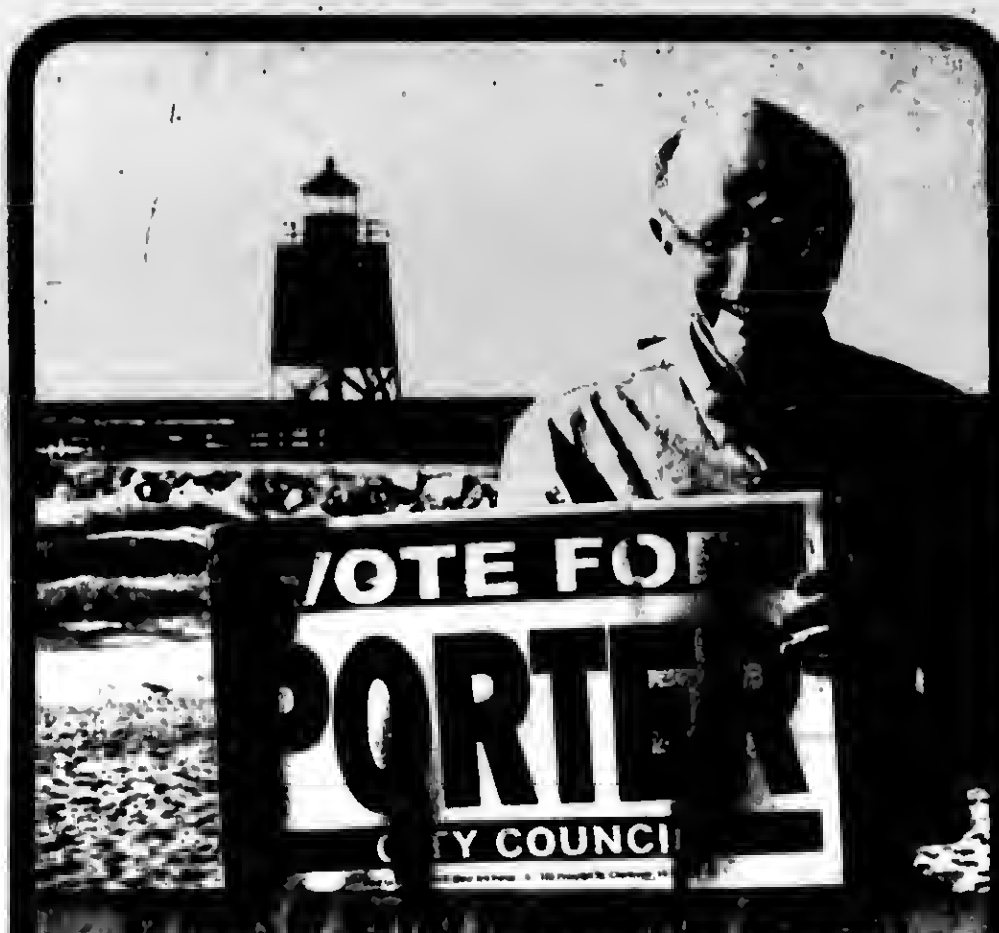

"This is a very generous offer from the township and shows willingness for each of us to work together," Campbell said.

Center said township officials want to do what is best for residents.

"We are happy we can help this facility," Center said. "We know our residents enjoy the area year-round."

HARBOR SPRINGS — Taking care of their business, day by day, has been a point of emphasis all season long for the Charlevoix boys soccer team.

Monday's district opener at Ottawa Stadium in Harbor Springs would prove to be no different, as Charlevoix eliminated Harbor Light 8-0 in a clinical, focused effort.

"I was happy with the way our team played; I thought we executed the way we wanted to execute," Charlevoix coach Anton Matye said. "We possessed the ball well, kept the pressure on them and generated a lot of scoring chances."

Junior Christian Matye scored three times on long-range shots to lead the Rayders offensively, but he was far from the only Charlevoix player to have a strong game.

Senior Walker Drost added two goals as well and was a constant threat at the top of the box, and junior Noah Carson finished with a goal and three assists, making several strong overlapping runs on the left side that opened up the middle of the field for crosses that led to Charlevoix goals.

"I thought Noah had a great game, he made some phenomenal runs and his passes were on point," Coach Matye said. "As a whole our team played really well offensively."

Two defenders got in on the scoring action as well, as junior Cameron Clark buried a penalty kick for the Rayders and sophomore Danny Nesburg scored the game's final goal on a twisting shot from outside the box.

Charlevoix, now 19-3-2 on the season, faces a tougher test in Burt Lake Northern Michigan Christian Academy at 4:30 p.m. on Wednesday in the district semifinal.

Having gone 13-5-1 this season and tying for third place in the Northern Michigan Soccer League, the Eagles have a solid roster with a strong backline and dangerous attackers up front.

Charlevoix isn't taking Burt Lake for granted, Coach Matye said.

"We're going to do what we usually do; come out conservatively and see what their strengths and weaknesses are, and then adjust accordingly," Coach Matye said. "We know they're a dangerous team, and we want to be sure we're coming ready to play."

Results of Charlevoix's district run will be in the Oct. 30 edition of the Courier.

CURTIS MITCHELL/NEWS-REVIEW

Rayders blanked by Frankfort in key league matchup

CURTIS MITCHELL
(231) 439-9380 • cmitchell@petoskeynews.com

CHARLEVOIX — In a matchup with huge playoff and conference implications on the line the Charlevoix football team hosted Frankfort on Friday, with the Panthers taking a step forward in each category.

With both teams working through a back and forth first half, it would be Frankfort making just enough plays in the second half, to come out with a 20-0 win over Charlevoix.

Both teams sit atop the Northern Michigan Football League II and put their undefeated conference records on the line as they battled for the conference title.

With so much at stake, Charlevoix's defense set the tone early on Frankfort's first possession of the game.

On an 11-play drive by Frankfort, which set them up inside the red zone, Charlevoix's Brad Klinger was able to halt the momentum of the Panthers by intercepting a pass in the end zone.

Charlevoix wouldn't be able to capitalize off the turnover, though, as their drive eventually ended in a punt.

Frankfort, on their next possession, would then put together another long drive, consisting of 13 plays for 77 yards, ending in a three-yard rushing touchdown by tailback Kole Hollenbeck to take the 6-0 lead early in the second quarter.

Defense would be the highlight the rest of the half.

Both defenses were able to force multiple three-and-outs, but late in the second quarter, Frankfort would threaten yet again with 53 seconds on the clock with the ball on Charlevoix 44 yard line.

Frankfort would drive the ball inside the 10 yard line but a huge defensive stand by Charlevoix on fourth down would keep the score at 6-0 heading into the half.

The Panthers would extend their lead to 14-0 in the third quarter when quarterback Nate Frieswyk found a wide-open Christian Johnson for a 45 yard touchdown reception.

They would then convert on the 2-point conversion when Frieswyk would find Matt Loney in the corner of the end zone.

Offensively it was a struggle for Charlevoix as they couldn't maintain drives and missed out on passing opportunities down the field, as well as missed assignment on defense in the second half that gave up points.

"It wasn't our night, there was big wind gusts and it was just a tough night to throw the ball," Charlevoix head coach Ron Bindi said. "We need to come together offensively, and the defensive line, we didn't get the job done. Part of that is my fault, if we can't line up right we don't have our responsibilities right and we won't be successful."

Belvedere Head Pro Dennis "Marty" Joy II selected to play in Hickory Grail Cup

JAMES GENSTERBLUM
(231) 439-9343 • jgensterblum@petoskeynews.com

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix resident Dennis "Marty" Joy II takes great pride in representing the Belvedere Golf Club as its PGA professional in tournament events.

Starting on Saturday, he'll get the opportunity to represent his country as well.

Joy was one of 16 American players selected to play for Team USA in the ninth annual Hickory Grail Cup, hosted this year at Baltusrol Golf Club in Springfield, New Jersey.

The competition, which pits 16 American hickory golfers against 16 of Europe's best players in a Ryder Cup-style format to decide the winner, is a biennial tournament hosted by the British Golf Collectors Society to help raise the profile of hickory golf, a variant of the modern game where players compete with vintage hickory clubs from the pre-1930s and authorized replications.

Joy found out about his selection in January, when the captain of Team USA selected him and two other first time players from a list of players who had won major hickory tournaments in recent years. Joy has five hickory national championships to his name over a distinguished career.

"It was an honor to be selected, and I'm really looking forward to get the chance to participate in such a prestigious event," Joy said. "It's hard to believe that we're this close to the event, and I'm definitely excited."

Part of the draw is the venue, as Baltusrol is a historic and world-famous course that's hosted seven U.S. Opens, four U.S. Amateurs and a PGA Championship, with the PGA returning to the course in 2016.

Past winners include Jack Nicklaus, who won two of his four U.S. Opens at Baltusrol, and Phil Mickelson, who took the PGA title in 2005.

"There'll definitely be some nerves when you step on to a course with that history, and especially when you're playing in a big tournament at the same time," Joy said. "I think anyone who appreciates that history has to be a little nervous in that kind of situation."

While there might be some nervous moments, Joy won't be facing them alone; as fellow Belvedere members and respected golfers Ross Hays and Chuck McMullin also return as members of Team USA in the event.

Hays, McMullin and Joy make Belvedere the only course in America with multiple members on the Grail Cup Team.

"We've hosted a Hickory Major at the Belvedere Golf Club for a decade now, and it's become a part of the fabric of our club and something our members take a lot of pride in," Joy said. "To be the only club in America to be sending multiple players to the Grail Cup is another feather in our cap and is a tremendous honor for our members."

The U.S. and European teams will compete over the course of three days in several events, starting with four-ball matches on the first day, then foursomes on the second day and concluding with head-to-head singles matches on the final day to determine an overall winner.

While the Americans have home-field advantage this season, the Europeans bring an team with a lot of experience in the various formats of the tournament.

"Match play is a very different animal from medal play, because it allows you to take more risks," Joy said. "If you shoot a 10 on a hole in medal play, you're pretty much out of the tournament, but in match play, you only lose one hole and you've got 17 more."

"Europe plays a lot of tournaments with match-play, four-ball, and foursomes formats, so they should have a little bit of an experience edge on us since we tend to focus on medal play."

That means the tournament is setting up to be a close contest.

and Joy is ready to get it underway. "It's going to be a great experience, and a lot of fun," Joy said. "It's something I've been looking forward to since January."

And while the Rayders couldn't pull out the win to finish the season, Charlevoix did get a 2-2 tie to avoid heading into districts on a losing note.

Without defensive midfielder David Ritter, leading goalscorer Christian Matye and starting defender Matt Good, Charlevoix was forced to change up its formations, but still managed a strong offensive outing thanks to two goals from junior Noah Carson.

The Rayders fell behind early on a Benzie goal 30 seconds into the game, but answered midway through the first half, when defender Kevin Pearl found Carson on a long throw-in and the junior scored a tying goal to send the Rayders into halftime at 1-1.

Benzie retook the lead early in the second half on a breakaway goal, but Charlevoix quickly answered on a Carson penalty kick after drawing a penalty in the box to create the final 2-2 scoreline.

Charlevoix 3, Grayling 0 GRAYLING — Charlevoix senior Walker Drost has been one of the area's most feared attacking players for two seasons now.

On Wednesday, Oct. 14, Drost showed why he's earned that reputation with a standout performance on the road against Grayling, scoring all three of his team's goals in a 3-0 victory and helping the Rayders clinch at least a share of a Lake Michigan Conference title in the process.

Midway through the first half, Drost scored the game's first goal with an assist by teammate and frequent collaborator Christian Matye, and Charlevoix carried a 1-0 lead into halftime.

But Drost was just getting started. The senior midfielder struck again just three minutes into the second half with a huge insurance goal that was assisted by defender Kevin Pearl to put Charlevoix up 2-0, then finished off the hat trick and put the finishing touches on the win in the 57th minute with another goal, also assisted by Pearl.

"Grayling was playing an offside trap and pushing their defensive line up, and Walker just kept finding ways to get behind them and get in position to find the ball," Charlevoix coach Anton Matye said. "He made himself dangerous from the opening whistle and finished well on his chances, and that made a big difference for us tonight."

The senior's strong night, along with big contributions from Danny Nesburg, Pearl, and the other Rayder defenders, helped Charlevoix overcome a slow start offensively and a double yellow card that forced the team to play the last 20 minutes a man down to Grayling.

Despite the man advantage for the Vikings, however, Grayling couldn't crack the Charlevoix backline to break the shutout as the Rayder defense and goalkeeper Collin Turkleson turned in another strong performance to clinch the title.

"We got a player sent off and had to live with the referee's decision, and I thought we did well," Coach Matye said. "Both Christian and Walker played on the backline in the final 20 minutes and did a good job, and we got a solid effort all around from that unit."

At 18-3-1 on the season and 9-1 in LMC play,

Charlevoix Wesley Crandall (left) races Harbor Light's Steven Wallace to the ball during the Rayders' 8-0 win over the Swordsmen in the district opener Monday.

Charlevoix clinched the league title for the second straight season, after splitting it with Elk Rapids last year.

The Rayders won the title outright, as Harbor Springs lost 4-0 on Thursday, Oct. 15 to Elk Rapids to finish 8-2 in the league and settle for second.

"From the beginning of the season, we said we wanted to take the season day-by-day and focus on what was right in front of us, and I think this is a result of that," Coach Matye said. "Our players worked hard, kept their noses to the grindstone and never lost focus on what they needed to be doing, and it paid off for us in the end."

Rayder Pop Warner teams wrap up regular season

JAMES GENSTERBLUM

The Charlevoix Pop Warner squads split up for the first time this season, and also split their games in their regular season finale on Saturday.

The Charlevoix Pee Wee Rayders went out with a solid 13-6 victory over the Traverse City Wolverines, led by two touchdowns from quarterback Troy Nickel.

Tailbacks John Paul Culver and Patrick Sterett also had strong days for a Rayder squad that moved the ball well all game long, and Charlevoix also got a good outing from running back Landon Swanson, a first year player who hit the extra point and also had a strong game on the ground.

Defensively Culver, Nickel, Nate Claffin and James Dixon led a strong effort that helped the Rayders hold on for a narrow win.

In their game on snow-covered fields in Boyne City, the Charlevoix Midget Rayders lost a tough 14-6 contest against the Petoskey Wildcats.

Despite being outsize on the lines, the Rayders were able to move the ball well, led by quarterback Caleb Stuck's 40-yard touchdown run and the strong play of running backs Max Ostrum and Dmitri Bell.

Defensively, Ostrum also came up big for the Rayders, making several key third and fourth down tackles to keep Charlevoix into the game.

Bell, Stuck, Spencer Weber and John Sauer also played well on defense for the Rayders, but the effort wasn't quite enough to top the Wildcats on the scorehoard.

With the regular season over, both teams still have one more game to play to finish the year. The Pee Wee Rayders wrap up their season this Saturday in the annual Petoskey Jamboree, where they will take on the Petoskey Spartans at 1:30 p.m.

The Midget Rayders take on East Jordan at the same time in Mancelona in a rematch of an earlier game this season to finish up the year as well.

FOOTBALL

Charlevoix accounted for just four first downs and converted just two of 10 third downs in the game, as opposed to Frankfort's 19 first downs and eight of 14 conversion rate on third downs.

Frankfort would eventually ice the game on a 70 yard drive and 18 yard touchdown run by Hollenbeck to push the lead to 20-0.

Frankfort entered the game first in the conference with a 6-1 overall record and 4-0 in the NMFL II, they improved to 7-1 and 5-0 in conference play and will win the conference title.

Charlevoix fell to 5-3 and 3-1 in the conference.

The Rayders face a must win game next week against Harbor Springs on Friday, Oct. 23, with both teams needing just one more win to become eligible for the postseason.

"We were down this road last year and it's a rivalry game," head coach Ron Bindi said. "They'll be focused and ready to go. They know what's riding on it. We played a difficult schedule the beginning of the year so hopefully it'll benefit us now."

Rayder boys finish second, girls third at LMC Championships

JAMES GENSTERBLUM

TRAVERSE CITY — After a solid regular season, the Charlevoix cross country team hit its first of the several important end of season meets on Tuesday, traveling to Traverse City to compete in the Lake Michigan Conference Championship Meet.

And while the Rayders were unable to bring home a title on either the boys or girls side of the race, they more than held their own against strong competition at the Division 3 and 4 level.

Charlevoix's boys earned a runner-up finish behind repeat champion Harbor Springs, finishing with 44 points to the Rams' 27.

Junior Noah Carson led the Rayders with a fifth place finish overall (17:58.81), and David Ritter, came in close behind, taking sixth place (18:03.94).

The Rayders also got strong performances from Jonathan Pischner (ninth, 18:32.11), Luke Buday (10th, 18:32.58) and Ryan Erskine (14th, 19:01.88) to lock up second place in the conference.

Ben Petersnn finished 26th overall (19:47.05), Josh Clees finished 45th (21:30.75) and Braeden Richards 46th (21:35.25) for Charlevoix.

On the girls side, Charlevoix took third, with 89 points, finishing behind meet champion TC St. Francis, who swept the top four spots in the race to finish with 22 points, and Harbor Springs, who finished runner-up with 50. Michelle Bollini led the Rayders with a sixth-place finish (20:22.06) and Isabel Hess was close behind in eighth (20:55.5).

Kaitlin Schwenke finished 21st (22:37.28), Kelsey Engstrom 30th (23:36.08), and Katie Mousseau 34th (23:52.11) for Charlevoix to round out their scoring runners.

Lukila Witthoef took 37th (24:02.65), Hannah Solomon 38th (24:07.44) and Kylee Scholten 39th (24:12.55) as well for the Rayders.

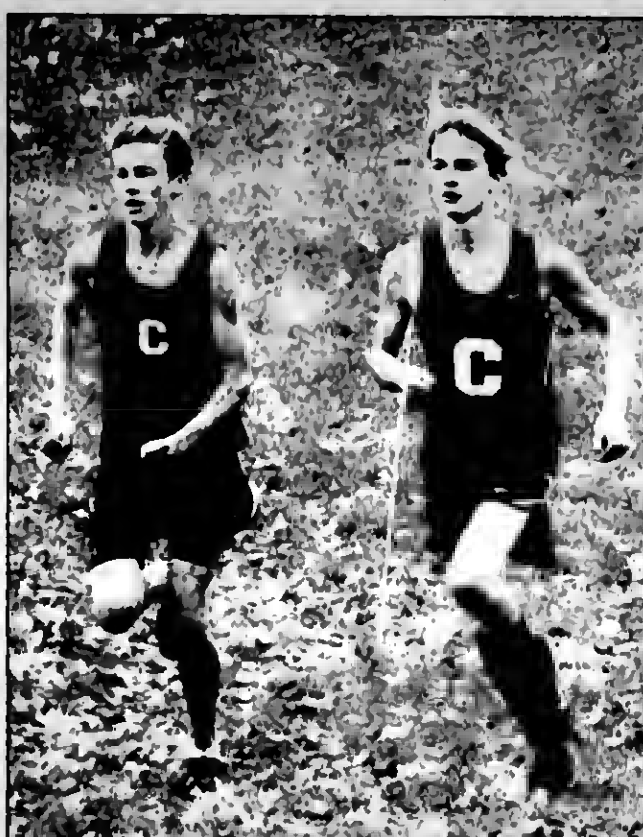

Charlevoix heads to Gaylord's Michawaye Golf Club on Saturday for the annual Northern Michigan Championship Meet, one week before the Division 3 regional where the Rayder boys and girls squads will battle for one of the three team berths to the state final meet on Saturday, Nov. 7 at Michigan International Speedway.

TRAVERSE CITY — Sometimes, being prepared isn't always enough.

The Charlevoix volleyball team found this lesson out on Tuesday, when they traveled to Lake Michigan Conference leader Traverse City St. Francis.

The Gladiators would send the Rayders back home with a quick three-set loss for the second time this season.

A 25-12 win would come for the Glads in the opening match, followed by wins of 25-10 and 25-12 to end the Rayders trip to Traverse City.

"We had good intentions, prepared for knowing our opponent and then just couldn't put it together on the court to show our hard work in preparation," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said.

Emily Zabawa would lead the Rayders with four kills, 11 digs and eight assists, while Becca Moon had four kills, four assists and one ace.

Also for Charlevoix, Ali Jarema had seven digs, Julia Doskoc had four digs and Hannah Zipp had five digs and one kill.

GRAYLING — For the second time this week, the Charlevoix volleyball team would find themselves in for a long night, with their second five-set match win.

The Rayders traveled to Grayling for a Lake Michigan Conference matchup, coming away with a 25-20 win in the opening set.

Each side would trade sets until the final fifth set, with Grayling taking set two, 25-23, Charlevoix set three, 25-22, then again the Vikings in set four, 25-21. The fifth and final would go to the Rayders, 16-14.

Hannah Zipp would lead the Rayders with six blocks on the night, along with nine kills and seven digs, while Ellie Louiselle had five blocks. Becca Moon added 10 kills, nine assists, three aces and two blocks, Emily Zahowa had five kills, two aces, four blocks, 13 assists and 10 digs, while Kenzy O'Leary had four kills.

Also for the Rayders, Nichole Hart had two kills and three blocks, Julia Doskoc had three aces, 14 digs and was 100 percent on serve receive, while Grace Sutherland had 12 digs and was 22-for-22 on serving.

Food FOCUS

This week's Food Focus turns its lens to Terry's at 101 Antrim St., Charlevoix. Terry's opened in 1983, which offers excellent full course dinners in a warm, casual dining atmosphere, along with a delightful wine selection that is sure to please. Owner Terry Left, and executive chef Paul Bradley, have brought their years of experience together to develop recipes that give each of their entrées a unique taste from their in house made sauces. Terry's lemon beurre blanc — made fresh each day — is a flavor each guests is sure to love. One of the most popular portions of the menu is their fresh whitefish from John Cross fisheries. The pan sautéed whitefish is finished to a golden brown and topped with one of Terry's four signature sauces. Sous chef Will Wright prepared one of his favorite specials — pan sautéed whitefish with a tomato, lump crab meat and artichoke grenobois sauce — Terry's lemon beurre blanc with capers. Terry's winter hours are Sunday-Thursday 5-9 p.m. and Friday-Saturday 5-10 p.m. Each week the Charlevoix Courier will feature a Charlevoix restaurant or business that prepares food for the public during our Food Focus series.

Right: Sous chef Will Wright adds fresh steamed green beans to plate before completing the plate set-up with the whitefish entrée.

Terry's sous chef Will Wright adds lump crab meat, diced tomatoes, artichoke hearts, capers, herbs and seasonings to a sauté pan to prepare the sauce for the evening special — sautéed whitefish with tomato, crab and artichoke grenobois sauce.

Chunks of lump crab meat, diced tomatoes, artichoke hearts, capers, herbs and seasonings are ready to cook.

Sous chef Will Wright lightly dredges the fresh whitefish fillet in flour and seasons it with salt and pepper before pan sautéing the fillet.

The whitefish is then pan sautéed until the fillet is golden brown on each side and tender and flaky inside. While the fish sautés the tomato, caper, crab meat, herbs and artichoke mixture is also cooked before being added to the house made lemon beurre blanc sauce.

As the fish and sauce cook, sous chef Will Wright begins plate set-up by dishing up some of Terry's house made Roma stewed tomatoes as one of the special side dishes.

Once the whitefish is prepared to a delicate golden brown it is topped with the lump crab meat and artichoke grenobois sauce before serving to a waiting guest.

The finished plate is placed in the window to be served. The lump crab meat, artichoke hearts and capers enhance the grenobois sauce which adds just the right flavor to Terry's sautéed whitefish.

School millage, city council races on ballot

LONNIE ALLEN
 (231) 547-6558 - lallen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — Voters will head to their local city and township halls next Tuesday, Nov. 3, for election day. Some Charlevoix County voters will decide the renewal of the Charlevoix Public Schools millage and city of Charlevoix residents will decide their representation in two of the three wards.

Voters in Charlevoix, Evelline, Hayes, Norwood and Marion townships along with those in the city of Charlevoix will be asked to renew the 18 mills the district has been collecting for school operations. The non-homestead millage equates to $18 on every $1,000 of taxable value of eligible properties. If voters agree to the renewal, the millage will be in effect until 2020.

Saving taxpayers money is behind the decision to ask for a four-year renewal this election cycle, said Charlevoix Public Schools superintendent Mike Ritter.

"There is an expense to each election," Ritter said. "We have to share those expenses and I want the people who support our schools to know we are being frugal with their money."

Ritter also does not expect a future Headlee Amendment override because property value declines have leveled out. The non-homestead millage is approximately $7.1 million for the district.

"It is 88 percent of our per-pupil funding to run our schools," Ritter said. "It's a huge portion of our operating budget. It is an important millage and we appreciate the past support of the millage and hope for continued support in November."

Three seats are available on the Charlevoix City Council and each seat is a two-year term. Those elected in November will face issues such as; aging infrastructure, mobile food vendors and airport operational costs. In Ward 1, incumbent Jeff Porter is being challenged by Aaron Hagen.

Porter and Hagen each stated that fixing the infrastructure is the number one issue facing the city. In Ward 2, incumbent Leon Perron is running unopposed and in Ward 3, incumbent Shirley Gibson is being challenged by write-in candidate Greg Bryan.

Perron, Gibson and Bryan also stated infrastructure as the most important issue facing the city.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. through 8 p.m. Qualified voters standing in line at 8 p.m. will be permitted to vote.

DDA reaffirms its $30,000 library pledge

LONNIE ALLEN
 (231) 547-6558 - lallen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix Main Street/Downtown Development Authority agreed to make $30,000 per year annual contributions to the public library.

In an 8-0 vote — member Kirby Dipert absent — the Main Street/DDA board approved a resolution to reaffirm the $600,000 pledge to the Charlevoix Public Library on Oct. 26.

The reaffirmation of the DDA pledge to the library is based upon sufficient annual revenue, out of which the expected annual contributions to the library will be paid.

"We appreciate what has been done and are grateful for the continued support from the DDA," said Linda Adams, library director.

The DDA had suspended payments to the library in 2010 after a significant decrease in revenue during the economic recession. The DDA also suspended payments during the budget years 2011, '12, '13 and '14.

Finding a sound solution to aircraft noise

LONNIE ALLEN
 (231) 547-6558 - lallen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix Airport Advisory committee discussed the possibility of a noise abatement policy to quiet airplane noise complaints from residents living near the airport.

Committee chairman Ken Tough presented committee members with noise abatement information from various sources including other airports. Tough understands the concern of residents and hopes steps could be taken to lower noise for local residents.

"I've had personal experiences with airports on the West Coast and I know what it is like to have an airplane fly over your house when you're trying to get sleep at midnight," Tough said. "It's an awakening that we don't all need."

Committee members seemed hesitant to look at an enforceable noise abatement policy. In-

Sludge removal costs exceed estimates

LONNIE ALLEN
(231) 547-6558 - allen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — The city of Charlevoix has a drainage problem in the backwash water basins from excessive sludge.

The sediment build-up in the basins at the water treatment plant in Charlevoix slows the drainage of lake water through the sand bottom in the drying beds, which can be a problem as the weather turns colder. On Oct. 19, city council members approved a payment not to exceed $30,000 to Pollution Control Services of Kalkaska. Earlier this year the quote was $4,500 to remove an estimated 1,000 gallons of sludge, but once the work started the company realized it seriously underestimated the sludge on the bottom of the beds, said Steve Tunis, Wastewater Treatment Plant superintendent.

They determined sludge in the beds was significantly more than the original estimate, Tunis said to council members. "The removal of the sludge will take four to five days at a cost of about $6,500 dollars per day."

LONNIE ALLEN/CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The sediment build-up in the basins at the water treatment plant in Charlevoix slows the drainage of lake water through the sand bottom in the drying beds, which can be a problem as the weather turns colder. There is the potential of water overflowing on the beach when too much sludge is in the basins. To prevent future water overflows Charlevoix City Council approved $30,000 payment to Pollution Control Services for sludge clean up.

It is important to get the sludge removed because when water fills the basins and does not drain properly there is the potential of overflow onto Lake Michigan Beach, which was the case last winter, Tunis said. The cleaning was approved in the spring, but is taking place now, because when former interim city manager Mike Spencer approved the agreement in the spring the city did not want to impact the surrounding beach and grasslands with cleaning equipment.

City officials also preferred a time when there would be fewer visitors on the beaches, said city manager Mark Heydauff.

"The decision was made to have the least impact to the beach and tourism," Heydauff said.

The water that overflowed on the beach during the winter was not an environmental hazard, Heydauff said.

"The water coming over the top of the basins is lake water," Heydauff said. "The concern was to prevent beach sand erosion from the overflow."

Each of the basins next to the treatment plant has a sand bottom that allows the backwash water to filter into the ground. As the water filters through the sand, particles of material found in lake water settle in the bottom of the basins, which over time causes a sludge build up, Heydauff said.

"This cleaning process to the basins has most likely been done once or twice," Heydauff said. "The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality recommends we place this cleaning on a defined schedule. We will place the procedure on a five-year cycle."

Charlevoix native Larry Smith poses with his book next to a movie poster that features actor Stephan Lang in the documentary "Beyond Glory."

Charlevoix native book to premiere as documentary

ANNE KELLY
Special to Courier

LELAND — The Leelanau Community Cultural Center and 8180 Films will be presenting the Michigan premiere of the documentary "Beyond Glory," at 6:30 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 6, and 1 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 7, at the Old Art Building, 111 S. Main St., Leland. This event, timely just days before Veterans Day, Nov. 11, will be a tribute to all veterans, and holds special significance for those in Charlevoix who hold the author of the book by the same name, in high regard.

Beyond Glory, a best-selling novel published in 2004, is an oral history of Medal of Honor recipients who received the award for their bravery in combat, from World War II and the Korean Conflict, to the Vietnam War. It is the second book written by journalist, editor, author and Charlevoix native, Larry Smith. Smith interviewed 24 recipients of the Medal of Honor, crisscrossing the country, and listening to their stories.

"I was surprised, and maybe they were, at how forthcoming they were about their combat experiences," he said of his interviews.

"Sometimes it was painful; there were times when we both choked up. But I reminded them that this was a chance for people to know what really happened."

His book was subsequently developed into a one-man play created and written, in collaboration with Smith, by award-winning actor Stephan Lang who is known for his work on TV, film and stage. Now the story has evolved into a documentary based on both the book and the play. The play "... extends the life of the subject matter," said Smith, "calling to mind events and sacrifices that should never be forgotten."

The feature length documentary, produced by Rebecca Reynolds and Jim Carpenter of 8180 Films, tells the story of Lang's year long journey, presenting the play to front line troops in Afghanistan and the Persian Gulf, then taking it to theaters across the country.

Tickets for Beyond Glory are available at mynorth tickets.com or by calling (231) 256-2131.

Storm and Friends Exhibit visits art center

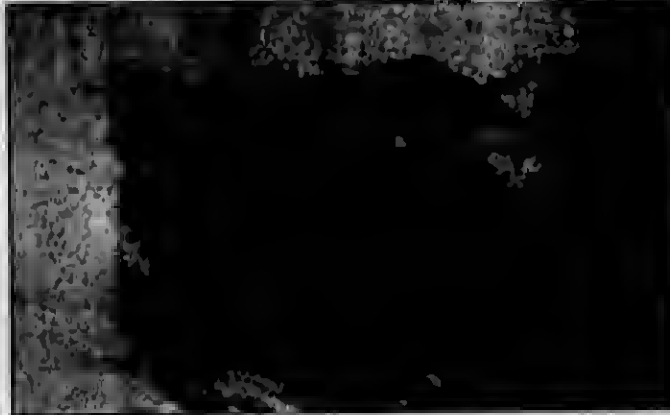

EAST JORDAN — Sunday, Nov. 1, marks the opening of the June Storm and Friends Exhibit at the Jordan River Art Center. Storm has been teaching watercolor techniques for at least 16 years to students that have been returning becoming friends, working and exhibiting together. A wide variety of techniques and subjects will be seen in the current exhibit, of which several will be for sale.

Storm has been producing watercolors for the past 20 years and studied with such artists as Helga Flower, Cheng—Kie Chang, Pierre Bittar, Charles Murphy, Catherine Carey, Steve Rogers and Joe Green to name a few. She also serves on art boards, curates exhibits, and has contributed works to Hospice, Dart for Art, and Charlevoix Area Hospital. Her art can be found in many collections in Michigan, Arizona, Colorado, Texas and California as well as many private collections. Since 2007 her winter scenes have been used by Hospice for their Christmas cards, and the original paintings donated for their fundraisers.

"To give back to my community gives me great pleasure," Storm said.

Exhibiting with Storm will be Carolyn Irving, Nancy Epstein, Jackie Wollenberg, Su Bishop, Jackie Pinney, Nanette Derkat, Adrena Jeffery, Chris Brown, Judy Feldkamp, Bedonna Perish, Gaelle Gerrie-Boss, Rita Hess, Elaine Dettman, Heien Truchan, Joyce Newville, Diane Strelenski, Lea Shea, Ardenne "Sam" Jeffery, and Elaine Case. IN SUPPORT OF THE GENTRIFICATION OF THE CHARLEVOIX CITY COUNCIL AND AARON HAGEN'S CANDIDACY

The citizens of the City of Charlevoix have an opportunity which is not to be taken lightly. To substantially influence the direction to be pursued in the future of their community, as well as an obligation as citizens of the United States, to VOTE. They simply MUST take advantage of this enormous opportunity and obligation. This particular election presents a chance to direct our fabulous community FORWARD, toward growth and development, or BACKWARDS toward the status quo and stagnation by continuing the resistance to modernity represented by Jeff Porter, whose negativity and entire lack of both diplomacy and proper behavior have been amply demonstrated during his tenure as a Councilman. His pompous, arrogant behavior in meetings and resistance to growth and development have been apparent. His opponent, Aaron Hagen, is the personification of a breath of fresh air and new, upcoming and progressive growth for our community. His goal is to increase prosperity in Charlevoix's development and ensure a continued healthy economy by providing an environment to foster growth and increased income and employment for our city through individual investment even with its inherent risks.

It is time to take advantage of this opportunity, but, whatever your disposition, VOTE!

Organizational insight for investors and the community

Donating money or time is a great way to enhance the quality of your life and others. It's not about meeting a goal; it's about meeting a need.

CHAR-EM UNITED WAY
Lorraine Manary,
executive director

When people ask me how things are going at Char-Em United Way, they are most often interested in how we are coming at meeting our campaign goal. How red is the United Way thermometer?

While we do set an ambitious campaign goal each year, I am more interested in telling the story of the impact we're having on the community. While we need to reach our goal in order to have the funds to do the work, it is the work we do with the funds that is the important thing.

Char-Em United Way is working to address our community's most pressing needs for education, income and health services. We do that by supporting effective programs of local non-profit health and human service agencies that meet identified community needs. We also take the lead to develop, coordinate, and facilitate new programs to meet gaps or emerging needs.

In September of this year a 4-year-old was very excited about starting preschool and was flourishing. Two weeks after school started the child's father lost his job. The parents and child were devastated by this news as they thought that the child would not be able to attend school any longer as they could not afford the tuition. With the scholarship offered by United Way the child was able to continue attending our program. The United Way Scholarship has offered the family financial assistance in a time of need. The family is so thankful and gives back to our program at every opportunity.

Like all investors, our donors want to be sure that they are getting a good return on their philanthropic investment. We can assure them they are. We carefully review agencies' programs for proposed impacts; we look at financial and governance information; we require mid-year and year-end reports. All these measures ensure that the funds we invest on our donors' behalf are making the greatest impact that they can.

We kicked off the 2015-2016 Char-Em United Way Campaign last month. Our ambitious goal is $425,000, just enough to assure resources are available for the thirty or so grant requests we typically receive each spring. We aim to exceed that goal and provide funding to the variety of needed programs in our community. These programs range from the very young to seniors, providing aid to people and families struggling to get by or needing a helping hand with and, because I know you want to know, I'll tell you we are already at 20 percent of our goal.

But it's not about meeting that goal; it's about how those funds will enable us to meet community needs. We invite you to join us in meeting that need.

For more information or to make a donation, visit charemunitedway.org.

Honor and dignity for those who have served

No matter their age, our veterans deserve a hero's welcome home.

We lose about 2,000 veterans in the U.S. every day. In fact, our veterans account for nearly one-quarter of all U.S. deaths. Sadly, a majority of these men and women are not enrolled in Veterans' Affairs and, therefore, may not be aware of special end-of-life services and benefits available to them.

That's where Hospice comes in. We Honor Veterans is a national awareness and action campaign developed by the National Hospice and Palliative Care Organization, in collaboration with the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs, to encourage partnerships between community hospices, state hospice organizations and VA facilities.

The goal of the program is to provide the best possible care for veterans, in a way that recognizes their service and the unique needs they may have.

Military service often leaves an indelible mark on the brave men and women who have served. Those life-altering experiences can present unique challenges for veterans as they approach the end of life. Partners in the We Honor Veterans program create individualized care plans that address those challenges by honoring one's military service. When a Hospice patient has been identified as a veteran, Hospice and the VA will conduct a ceremony recognizing and honoring his or her service. The honored veteran will be presented with a certificate of recognition and thanks, a We Honor Veterans collar pin, and a wallet card.

We Honor Veterans is a perfect fit for Hospice volunteers who may be veterans themselves. Not only can these volunteers provide valuable assistance during ceremonies to honor our veterans, they can support local medical care and extended stay facilities where veterans may be receiving care. Veteran volunteers are uniquely qualified to discuss patients' military service in a sensitive, knowledgeable manner, and can help caregivers better understand what the patient may need. These volunteers also have the opportunity to partner with local veterans' groups to provide community education and connect veterans with services and resources available to them. In addition, they can help recruit and train other volunteers who are veterans. Volunteers will receive specialized training in grief support, assessment and coping with trauma and bereavement.

Hospice of Northwest Michigan is an active partner in the We Honor Veterans program. For more information, call (231) 547-7659 or visit hospicenwm.org. You can also visit the We Honor Veterans program online at WeHonorVeterans.org.

You have a choice. If you or your loved one have served in the military, be sure to choose a hospice that considers our veterans to be heroes, understands their needs, treats them with the utmost dignity and honors their service.

Use your right to vote

Editor,

It is with pride that I, as a woman and American, have and use the right to vote. And, it is with pride that I know I can choose a sensible, practical and forward-thinking candidate for my city council representative. I hold this right dear and thank everyone who has served our democracy and our country defending that right.

I saw a poll yesterday suggesting that since this isn't a presidential election, people didn't need to vote.

Nothing could be further from what is needed. Your vote helps our community to continue to come together, choosing experience over ignorance. Make your vote count for common sense decision making. This Tuesday, make your vote count for fiscal responsibility. Our neighborhoods need it. Make your vote count for those with the guts to confront those with conflicts and special interest, as we all know the airport and marina issue are not over.

Choosing a self-serving candidate does not help our community and wastes our taxpayer dollars.

Your vote is more than just your choice. It is your right. I know who I am choosing - someone with no agenda other than improving our Ward, city, family and business community.

Your vote matters and it counts.

Sincerely,
Julie Roth

Paddle Antrim director appreciates support, participation

Editor,

Paddle Antrim recently hosted our first Paddle Antrim Festival to celebrate our great communities and waterways. Over the two-day event 115 kayakers, with more than 85 percent coming from outside Antrim County, paddled all or a portion of the designated route through the chain of lakes from Elsworth to Elk Rapids. While the weather didn't cooperate and the event was called at Torch Lake, everyone had a wonderful time. We want to thank our major sponsors Shorts Brewing Company, Imperial Beverage, and Green Carbon for their generous support. We are grateful to all of our sponsors, donors, volunteers, and paddlers who helped make it such a fabulous event, thank you.

We also want to thank the Elsworth Lions/Lioness Clubs, Central Lake Chamber, Bellaire Chamber, and Elk Rapids Downtown Merchants Group for coordinating the events in each community. Through this event we were able to raise almost $20,000 to support Paddle Antrim and projects which will help protect our waterways and increase accessibility. We appreciate all of the support and look forward to another great event next year.

Deana Jerdee,
Paddle Antrim
Executive Director

Is this a joke?

Editor,

Sorry, but taxpayers can you believe the repair job that was done on C-48 between East Jordan and Elsworth? Suck it up boys and do it right before someone is injured. We all mistakes, but do it right now. I'm sure this must be a joke; but I'm not sure the taxpayers think so.

Writer urges repeal of prevailing wage law

Editor,

Local construction workers build our homes, stores and office buildings. Just look around at quality work and affordable work. Let's give them a chance to build our schools and government buildings, too.

Looks like we would save money without sacrificing one bit of quality. But to do it, the state legislature must repeal the Prevailing Wage Law. That's a no brainer. Legislators, repeal this unfair law.

Northern Michigan Brass Band performs in concert at 3 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 15, at Crooked Tree Arts Center in Petoskey.

'Brass Attack' takes the stage at Petoskey's Crooked Tree Arts Center

PETOSKEY — The Northern Michigan Brass Band, under the direction of Ralph Schwegert, will present Brass Attack, 3 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 15, at the Crooked Tree Arts Center, 461 E. Mitchell St., Petoskey.

Celebrating 16 years of music making, nearly 30 members of this British-style brass ensemble will perform an eclectic mix of music by composers including George Gershwin, Edward Gregson, and John Philip Sousa. Members of the Petoskey High School band will also join the Northern Michigan Brass Band for Sousa's stirring "King Cotton" march.

General admission to the event is $10 for adults; students are admitted free.

Schwegert said when planning a program, he tries to keep in mind that people experience music in different ways.

"Some people listen with their heads, others with their hearts and still others with their feet," he said. "I try to include music that will appeal to all these listening styles on any one program. A highlight of this particular concert is sure to be the performance of Sousa's "King Cotton" march where the band will be augmented by outstanding brass players from Petoskey High School."

The concert features

Northern Michigan Brass Band cornet player Keelin Reid, a senior at Petoskey High School, who will be in the spotlight for the virtuosic "Maid of the Mist," by Herbert Clarke. Percussionist Dan Cole will dazzle the audience with the rousing "Comedian's Galop" by Dmitri Kabalevsky.

Also included on the program, the overture from "The Merry Wives of Windsor" by Otto Nicolai, selections from George Gershwin's popular opera "Porgy and Bess" and "Brass Attack" by Darrol Barry.

The all-volunteer Northern Michigan Brass Band includes talented brass players from across northern Michigan.

"We draw on such a wide area for our membership that we really don't consider ourselves tied to any one community," said band president Dr. Edward

R. Bahr. "We belong to all of northern Michigan, which is why we perform concerts in so many different venues throughout the area."

Since it was organized in January of 1999, the Northern Michigan Brass Band has presented more than 100 concerts throughout the state.

Charlevoix Circle of Arts to hold volunteer roundup

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix Circle of Arts invites the public to a Volunteer Roundup open house from 4-6 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 5. There are many volunteer opportunities at the Circle of Arts. This growing arts community is searching for energetic individuals to fill a variety of volunteer positions.

Whether volunteers have an hour or two a week or a month, would enjoy helping with events, receptions, exhibits, classes, or like gardening, organizing or simply would like to meet new friends, the Circle of Arts has many opportunities to volunteer. The center is open 11-5 p.m. Monday - Saturday and noon - 3 p.m. on Sunday. No experience is necessary, but a desire to become a member of an energetic arts community is a plus. Refreshments will be served.

For more information, please call Charlevoix Circle of Arts at (231) 547-3554 or visit 109 Clinton St.

The Gales of November series starts Tuesday

The Charlevoix Public Library fall lecture series will focus on Great Lakes shipwrecks. The Gales of November will be presented at 6:30 p.m. on three consecutive Tuesday evenings beginning Nov. 3. All programs will be hosted in the community room at the library, 220 W. Clinton St., Charlevoix.

On Nov. 3, "Skullagalee: Shipwreck Graveyard" will be the featured topic. Author and Shipwreck Hunter Ross Richardson explores the newly discovered shipwrecks of Skullagalee, a remote island in Northern Lake Michigan. These wreck sites have remained hidden on the remote Skullagalee reef for more than 150 years. Enjoy underwater footage of five wreck sites and explore modern shipwreck hunting and diving techniques.

On Nov. 10, "Caught in the Vortex: The Armistice Day Storm of 1940" will be presented at the library. Author, underwater explorer and one of Charlevoix's favorite speakers, Valerie van Heest commemorates the 75th anniversary of the tragic Armistice Day Blizzard of 1940, which five ships and 67 sailors were lost. She and the dive team from Michigan Shipwreck Research Associates examine the wrecks of the Novadoc, Davock, and Anna Minch, all lost off Pentwater within a few miles of each other and provide insight into what caused these massive freighters to sink when others survived the storm.

To round out the series David Trotter will present "Vanishing Points" on Nov. 17. Three new discoveries will be explored: the Steamer E. B. Hale, the Barque Francis Berriman and Schooner "Y." Ship traffic was so congested on the Great Lakes in the 1800s that it may be compared to traffic on the highways of today, without the technology of today. Shipping disasters were commonplace on the "Inland Seas." Now, explorers can discover and attempt to solve the mysteries that occurred more than 100 years ago. Is that really $150,000 laying on the floor of Lake Huron... find out.

Night Light shelter seeking volunteers

CHARLEVOIX — Night Light, men's emergency shelter, 100 Oak St., Charlevoix, is searching for male volunteers to be with over night guests at the church.

Night Light provides a safe and warm place to stay from 8:30 p.m.-8 a.m. from Nov. 1 - March 31. Every night two male volunteers stay with the program's guests. This program is sponsored by Haven Ministries and the hope is that there will be enough volunteers so that each one is only scheduled one to two nights a month.

For more information, call Kim Bakker at (231) 330-5316.

Hunters Widows' Bazaar benefits The Christmas Project

CHARLEVOIX — The annual Hunters Widows' Bazaar will be from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 14 at the Community Reformed Church, 100 Oak St., Charlevoix. The event benefits The Charlevoix Christmas Project that helps area families at Christmas-time.

Bazaar organizer Karen Wolletz is searching for more art and craftspeople to join the sale.

"I want to get about 30 more phone calls (for craft table reservations), if I can," Wolletz said. "We have about 250 families that are in need."

The Christmas Craft Bazaar will feature crafted items, baked goods and a silent auction, which includes a quilt and a hand crocheted afghan. There also will be a lunch of homemade soups and sandwiches from noon-2 p.m. for the price of a donation.

Originally started in 1982, the 2015 bazaar is special for Wolletz.

"The original organizer, Beverly Boss passed away this year," she said. "She started this and I think it's important to keep this going."

Craftspeople will receive a free lunch. They will be asked to donate 10 percent of their sales up to $15 to the Christmas Project.

Red Cross hopes to bolster donations for the holiday season

The American Red Cross encourages eligible donors to give blood before the holiday season is in full swing.

Blood donations often decline from Thanksgiving to New Year's Day when holiday festivities pull people away from their donation appointments. This often causes a drop in the blood available for patients. Donations are needed in the weeks leading up to the holidays to help offset this seasonal decline.

Donation shelves must be replenished often. Unfortunately, donors can't just roll up their sleeves once and be done with the process. The Food and Drug Administration has placed a 42-day limit on the storage of refrigerated blood donations. Stored blood degrades and must be replaced with fresh blood or it can cause harm to recipients.

Blood donor Kathy Steckly Neuschwander's father gave blood for years. She always saw him wear his pin when he reached his next gallon - about 12 gallons total. When he was diagnosed with leukemia, she and her family learned firsthand how important blood donations could be around the holidays.

"He passed away in 1994 from leukemia and needed a blood transfusion so we could have one more Thanksgiving together," she said. "My brother and sister were able to come home from the East Coast for this. I can now say I am wearing his three-gallon pin."

Donors with all blood types are needed, and especially those with types O negative, B negative, A negative and AB blood. To make an appointment to donate blood, download the free Red Cross Blood Donor App from app stores, visit redcrossblood.org or call (800) 733-2767. Donors can now use the blood donor application to access their donor card and view vital signs from previous donations. All blood types are needed to ensure a reliable supply for patients. A blood donor card or driver's license or two other forms of identification are required at check-in. Individuals who are 17 years of age - 16 with parental consent in some states, weigh at least 110 pounds and are in generally good health may be eligible to donate blood. High school students and other donors 18 years of age and younger also have to meet certain height and weight requirements.

Upcoming blood donation opportunities:

— Ellsworth: from noon-5:45 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 10, Ellsworth High School, 9467 Park St.

— Boyne Falls: from 10 a.m.-3:45 p.m., Wednesday, Nov. 11, Boyne Falls School, 01662 M-75 South.

— Charlevoix: from noon-5:45 p.m., Thursday,

Nov. 12, Community Reformed Church, 100 Oak St.

— Boyne City: from 8:30 a.m.-2:15 p.m., Friday, Nov. 13, Boyne City High School, 1035 Boyne Ave.

The American Red Cross shelters, feeds and provides emotional support to victims of disasters; supplies about 40 percent of the nation's blood; teaches skills that save lives; provides international humanitarian aid; and supports military members and their families. The Red Cross is a not-for-profit organization that depends on volunteers and the generosity of the American public to perform its mission.

Lower docks were granted for smaller, private boat access in the late 1800s

When the Charlevoix Summer Resort Association, later called the Belvedere Club, and the Chicago Club were established in 1878 and 1880 respectively, the best way to reach downtown from the far side of Round Lake was by boat. Dixon Avenue on the north hill barely existed at that time, and the route to and from the resort association on the south bank was nothing more than a rutted two-track and lakeside pathway since hardly any buildings had been built there. Both bumpy routes were extremely uncomfortable by horse-drawn wagon. Thus the water route became the preferred method. But on the western shore another obstacle presented itself. Most of the wharves and docks were too high for convenient loading and unloading from rowboats and canoes, and were usually occupied by commercial vessels. So in 1886 both resorts petitioned the city for a low dock that would be reserved solely for their use during the summer months. Since the resorts had become extremely important to the economic health of the city in such a short time, it was considered to be a wise move to agree to their request. The city constructed this dock at the foot of Clinton Street, and it was crowded all summer long by small craft like these owned by both resorts and locals. On Sundays, before church services, a flotilla of craft from both resorts came across the lake and packed this area to the gunwales. Several years later, boatbuilder Joseph Beauvais would locate his rowboat and canoe rental livery along this stretch. Today it is the site of the stone and

Villager Pub will host annual spaghetti dinner

CHARLEVOIX - The Charlevoix Historical Society is sponsoring its 18th annual fundraising all-you-can-eat spaghetti dinner from 5-9 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 4, at Terry Left's Villager Pub, 427 Bridge St.

All proceeds from the spaghetti portion of the menu plus all tips will go to support Charlevoix Historical Society activities. These include preservation of the train depot and the light-house, both of which are on the National Historic Register, the historic photo digitization project with more than 11,000 photos, exhibits, programs, publications, educational outreach, research resources, artifact preservation and more. Society members and volunteers will be the wait staff for the evening. Over the past 17 years, the generosity of Terry Left and the Villager Pub crew has helped to raise nearly $32,000 for the Historical Society.

Challenge Fitness networks for community health

CHARLEVOIX - Challenge Fitness came under new ownership when Dean Spencely sold the business to fellow Charlevoix native, Christopher Demanaeus, who as a child, worked out in his parents basement dreaming one day to become a physical trainer. Owning his own gym now gives Demanaeus the opportunity of making a difference in peoples lives.

"I've always wanted a place of my own that I could put this," Demanaeus said as he walked to a display of free weights located on the far side of the gym. "Now I have one."

The free weights that Demanaeus displays in the gym are ones he bought when he was just a teenager. As he started to gain strength, he also gained determination. Demanaeus holds the honor of being a sixth degree black belt in Hap Ki Do, holding more than 20 years of experience, studying and testing with some of the greatest masters from around the world. Demanaeus also is an American Counsel of Exercise Certified Personal Trainer and a CoachU Certified Success Coach.

With new ownership comes new branding for the community that surrounds Challenge Fitness. "I want Challenge Fitness to be a destination in the community for anyone seeking to improve their lives," Demanaeus said.

To be able to do this, Demanaeus and his team strive to provide the community with the highest quality fitness and training facilities. They provide on-site support services including, but not limited to, medical massage, personal success coaching, counseling and nutrition support.

Challenge Fitness offers a variety of fitness and training classes that range from yoga and kickboxing, to dance and martial arts. In the four months that Demanaeus has owned the gym, he has created a network of health and fitness support services that feature local providers.

Challenge Fitness is open from 5:30 a.m.-8 p.m. Monday - Friday; from 8 a.m.-4 p.m. on Saturday; and from 8 a.m.-noon on Sunday. Memberships start at $40 with discounts for students, military and seniors. The top 10 toughest jobs to fill

If the laws of supply and demand work, there's extra opportunity for job hunters who have skills and interests in what hirers say are the 10 toughest positions to fill.

A word of warning, though: Some of these jobs are hard to fill because they require specific or advanced professional skills. Others are hard to fill because they're low-paying, don't appeal to everyone or are just plain hard work.

Precisely because these jobs are hard to fill, human resource experts say employers need to look beyond the usual "qualified" candidates and not demand a "perfect fit" to walk through the door.

According to a CareerCast report shared by the Society for Human Resource Management, some hirers are stepping up innovative recruiting. Others are relaxing their strict screening requirements.

Here's the hardest-to-hire list, with comments from the experts:

— Data scientist: This job analyzes big data, a field that's difficult to define. The job varies by company and industry. CareerCast thinks 4.4 million such information technology jobs will be open next year.

— Electrical engineer: Randstad US estimates there are 17 openings for every electrical engineering candidate. Experts see a geographical imbalance between job hunters and job locations, with too many qualified engineers in Los Angeles and New York and too many openings in Chicago, Houston and San Diego.

— General operations manager: The demand for people who can run a business from day to day is expected to grow 12.4 percent over the next seven years.

— Home health aide: A whopping 48 percent increase in demand is expected over the next seven years, largely because of aging baby boomers. But the low median salary of just $20,820 a year limits interest in the job.

— Information security analyst: The growth of cloud-based data storage is fueling immediate demand for 2.7 million cloud computing workers, especially those skilled in the fine points of data security.

— Marketing manager: The National Association of Colleges and Employers says marketing, especially digital or social media marketing, means fertile hiring ground for new college graduates (or anyone else with the skills).

— Medical services manager: Health care is big business. The U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates 23 percent employment growth for such professional office management work.

— Physical therapist: The American Physical Therapy Association thinks there will be 33,000 unfilled jobs next year, partly because more people have health insurance coverage for physical therapy.

— Registered nurse: More than half a million registered nurses are expected to retire by 2022. More than a million are needed to replace them and fill the growing need.

— Software engineer: The Conference Board estimates there are three jobs available for every 2016 college graduate with a computer science degree.

Fright Night takes place Friday, Oct. 30, at Castle Farms in Charlevoix. Dinner, drinks, dancing and a costume party make this a fun event for everyone. Board member Kristi Epping led the group last year in the Thriller dance.

Fright Night Halloween party to benefit Charlevoix Children's House Montessori School

CHARLEVOIX — The 10th annual Fright Night celebration, sponsored by the Charlevoix Children's House Montessori School, takes place from 6:30-11 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 30, in Knight's Castle at Castle Farms in Charlevoix. Tickets still are available for this community-wide party, which includes silent and live auctions, dinner catered by Pigs Eatin' Ribs, drinks and dancing. The event benefits the Charlevoix Children's House Montessori School, but is open to adults from throughout the area.

"We're so excited for this event," said Perry Hodgson, Fright Night coordinator and member of the board of trustees for the school. "Every year it is fun to see it all come together, from the decorations at the Knight's Castle, to the unbelievable food, to the incredible auction items donated from so many generous local businesses."

The variety of items in the auction spans from large to small, elegant to practical. "We have everything from handmade earrings to a load of topsoil," Hodgson said.

The event includes both a silent and live auction, with single items and packages that range in value from $20 to more than $1,000. A sampling of the items includes gift certificates to local restaurants, salons and spas; original artwork from local artists; gift baskets, jewelry and event tickets.

"I was so surprised at the amount and variety of auction items available," said Mary Otis, who attended the event last year. "There were so many fantastic items that I wound up doing a lot of my Christmas shopping at the event and buying things for family and friends. It was a great way to support the school and get great deals."

Dancing was a big hit last year, as board member

Kristi Epping led attendees in the "Thriller" dance by Michael Jackson. Although costumes are not required, there is a costume contest and many attendees participate.

"Overall, it is just a fun evening to celebrate the season and enjoy being with friends," Epping said. "And of course, dance."

Tickets for the event include dinner and an open bar, and cost $50 per person in advance and $60 at the door. Tickets are available at Family Fare in Charlevoix.

All proceeds from the event will support operating expenses of the Charlevoix Children's House, a non-profit organization with 501(c)(3) tax-exempt status. The Charlevoix Children's House was founded in 1979 to fulfill the mission of giving children the freedom to learn. The Montessori community is dedicated to providing a learning environment that guides, nurtures and enriches the individual. As an exciting and dynamic school for young minds from three to six years old, the "little red schoolhouse" provides families a nurturing and inspiring place for children to learn.

Grant funds will assist county residents with medical expenses

McLaren Northern Michigan Foundation recently received a $5,000 grant from the Charlevoix County Community Foundation to assist McLaren Northern Michigan patients from Charlevoix County with resources to improve their access to necessary medical care.

Support of the adult patient assistance program ensures that patients have access to quality care. By helping to provide for the costs of medications, medical supplies and equipment, as well as offsetting travel expenses associated with receiving care, patients from Charlevoix County will no longer be forced to choose between medicine and groceries, or skip life-saving treatment because of the price of gas. For so many of these patients, a little help with these barriers can keep them on the path to health, healing and wellness.

"We are grateful to the Charlevoix County Community Foundation, and to our many other Charlevoix donors who chose to support the McLaren Northern Michigan Foundation patient assistance programs," said Moon Seagren, Vice President and Chief Development Officer with McLaren Northern Michigan Foundation. "Their generosity and compassion for our fellow community members provides the critical resources to overcome barriers to receiving much-needed care."

For more information about McLaren Northern Michigan Foundation, call (231) 487-3500.

Toornman exhibit displayed at Charlevoix Public Library

The Charlevoix Public Library will host an exhibit of local artist, Steve Toornman's work during the months of November and December in the community room foyer.

Steve Toornman is a professional artist living and working in Charlevoix with his wife, artist Meredith Krell. Toornman has created a diverse mix of paintings, prints and drawings. His work has been featured in magazines, newspapers and also have appeared in nationally juried art shows and won many awards. His studio is open by appointment. Studio art is available for sale at galleries around the state.

Before the vote, board member Rick Wertz asked for clarity about the resolution. Wertz wanted to make sure the DDA did not place itself into a financial bind if property tax values decreased in future. DDA Chair Dan Barron said payment is dependent on tax revenue and the goal is to make good on the original pledge in 2004.

Member John Yaroch commented on how much he liked the resolution. "It is well worded and gives some historical framework," Yaroch said. "It is nice to put some of these relationships in writing to eliminate who said this and that. This is a good start and it is very well done."

Board member John Kurtz also made a resolution to create an ad hoc committee that would have library, DDA and city representation to discuss and annually examine the DDA's ability to fulfill the pledge moving forward.

"The library indicated they wanted to have meetings on a periodic basis," Kurtz said. "That way we can analyze our annual budget as it relates to our library pledge."

Library Board treasurer and city of Charlevoix representative Rick Brandi said arrangement affirms the DDA commitment to the library.

"We're happy with the movement on this agreement," Brandi said. "It is a very positive direction for each of us."

Main Street/DDA director Annie Doyle worked with representatives from each side to reaffirm the cooperation the DDA and library had when the agreement was made in 2004.

"The resolution affirms the collaborative relationship that developed between us and the library," Doyle said. "It is a relationship we wish to continue. And by formalizing the agreement we have eliminated any gray areas about what our roles are moving forward."

Charlevoix Main Street/Downtown Development Authority agreed to make $30,000 per year annual contributions to the Charlevoix Public Library. The contributions reaffirm a $600,000 pledge from the DDA made to the library in 2004.

stead, they gave support toward a plan similar to the Harbor-Petoskey Area Airport Authority setup at Harbor Springs Municipal Airport. Pilots are asked to cooperate with the noise abatement procedures unless deviations are made necessary by weather, air traffic control instructions or clearances, in-flight emergencies or other safety considerations.

"We should try that first," said committee member Don Seelye. "As a suggestion, that's the approach we should take."

However, Seelye did not agree with Harbor Springs Municipal Airport procedures when Tough suggested following its no turbojet/turbofan aircraft departures between the hours of 11 p.m. and 7 a.m.

"Harbor Springs is different than (Charlevoix) obviously," Seelye said. "They've got a subdivision on the east side of the airport and the city is on the other end of the runway. Here we have a wide open space with a quarry and Lake Michigan off to the west. If we concentrate more of the (traffic) over there as much as we can that almost solves it. There is not much we can do about an aircraft taking off to the east because of our runway."

Committee members Shirley Gibson and Scott Woody also agreed with the idea of concentrating aircraft activity toward Lake Michigan, but there was no real movement from the committee to make a plan to address noise complaints.

Tough hopes that the committee will look at all the information and maybe come up with some plan that could reach an agreeable compromise with residents and airport users and operators.

"Overall, if we could bring our thoughts together to improve departure and landing flow (at the airport) for our residents and users we all could be happier," Tough said.

Tough understands no one wants to restrict business at the airport.

"We want to make the airport sound for economic development, but we also want to respect the homeowner," Tough said. "We've got to work out some kind of procedure that would aid noise reduction with takeoffs and landings."

Fox Motors in Charlevoix raises more than $1,100 during Grand Friend Day

CHARLEVOIX — Fox Motors in Charlevoix helped Charlevoix Elementary raise $1,160 at a Drive for the Kids fundraising event during the school's Grand Friend Day. Participants earned a $10 contribution to the school from the Chrysler brand by taking a brief test drive in a 2015 model Town and Country, Chrysler 200, or Chrysler 300 vehicle during the event.

Since its inception in 1993, the Chrysler brand's Drive for the Kids program has contributed more than $6 million directly to local schools. The program has helped parents and educators in communities across the nation raise needed funds for everything from playgrounds and field trips to reading programs and new computers.

Nations Children's Fund) the organization that puts donation money to work for purposes just like that. This year, Abby along with two of her classmates, Taylor Petrosky and Isabelle Kenwabikise, are spearheading the school-wide collection and hope for even more participation. Last year's little orange trick-or-treat for UNICEF boxes netted exactly $1,199.99, counted painstakingly in math class.

"We donated the penny to round it off to $1,200," Beaudoin said.

This year the girl's hope to exceed that amount, but set their goal at $900.

The girls created a flyer to be distributed to students and their parents, alerting them to the fact that kids would be toting the boxes with their goody bags on Halloween, hoping for donations. They have been presenting the project to the classes K-6, one at a time, explaining the significance of UNICEF donations.

"We show the box to the classes," Petrosky said, "and tell them to think about the fact that many children in the world don't have as much as they do... like toys, even water, things we all take for granted."

The explanation is important so people can know what the money will be used for.

"It's really important to read and explain about what the money goes for," Beaudoin said. "Sometimes in the younger grades, kids ask questions like 'Will the kids get pizza?' or 'Why would they give them water?'"

Then the girls answer the questions.

"Some of the kindergartners didn't know what measles is," Kenwabikise said. "They were a little freaked out about the fact they would be given shots."

Here's what the classes learn about the donations they may collect while trick-or-treat this Halloween:

- $5 can buy five days of food for a malnourished child
- $15 can buy a year's worth of clean, safe water — $30 can supply measles protection for 100 kids

- $400 can donate a pump to give an entire village clean water

"I think it's a fun and generous project," Kenwabikise said of her participation.

After the UNICEF collection the girls are looking forward to the possibility of forming a student council to get more kids involved in community service projects like this one.

Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF began in 1950 "as a way to help kids who need more than candy." Since then, children all over America have gone door-to-door on Halloween calling "Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF. If children come to your doors on Halloween bearing a little orange box designated for the UNICEF collection, please be generous. Then you also can treat them with candy for their efforts."

"We are helping people with things we have and just take for granted," Petrosky said.

Introducing... Pet Obituaries

Pets are a part of the family, and we are offering a new way to share your pet's memorial with the community. Family and friends that they shared their life with and help bring legitimacy to mourning the family pet.

As with humans, pet obituaries assign value to a life, define its highlights, extol socially validated accomplishments, and serve as models of living. To assign value to an animal's life is a fine thing, and an excellent match with the growing movement to treat animals of all kinds -- not only our pets -- with care and dignity.

The Pet Obituary page will run monthly in the Charlevoix Courier beginning Friday, November 6. Up to 300 words and a photo is $185. Please e-mail pet obituary and photo to: seonderson@petoskeynews.com along with contact information for us to contact you regarding payment or call 231-439-9375.

Kudo Robert Michael Stevenson
May 19, 2015

Kudo Robert Michael Stevenson, retired Guide Dog, 16.25, crossed the rainbow bridge on May 19, 2015, at the age of 13. I am confident he was met by Perro and Jensen and congratulated on a life well lived.

Kudo came into my life on February 13, 2004. He was a spectacular Guide Dog who shared his work very seriously. He was also a great dog who thought furniture was for him and who could be overly concerned with his physical well being. But, most of all, he was a gentle giant of a dog -- a big polka bear.

Kudo could no longer guide me this past year when his eyes and legs began to fail. He hated retirement. On May 10th, I came home from Guide Dogs with Sammy. Magic happened the moment they met. Kudo sniffed Sammy and knew he was a Guide Dog. Sammy knew Kudo was a Guide Dog and it seemed as though Kudo knew Sammy was here to take care of me and was happy and relieved. They gave each other a lick and Sammy followed Kudo into the house. For the next nine days, Sammy would often lay with Kudo on Kudo's bed and they slept side by side at night in our bed. Sammy always checked in with Kudo the minute he walked to the door at the end of the day. For a couple of days Kudo perked up and had a little spring in his step. Dr. Julia, Kudo's rehab vet and he was more relaxed. But he had been in months. But last Saturday he started to slip away. Last night after we struggled to get upstairs and up the ramp to our bed Kudo let me know it was time to let him go. This morning only confirmed it was time. Kudo was not so pale and when he took his last breath he was peaceful. After he departed his world we carried him out of the house wrapped in a blanket on a special cart with Max following close behind all the way to the house. On the way Kudo's front legs came out of the blanket and of course they were crossed.

The bond between a Guide Dog and handler is unique and is strong. Kudo left indelible footprints on my heart that are now and will never go away. I will love him and cherish the time we had together for the rest of my life. And when time comes I hope and pray that Kudo, Perro and Jensen will greet me on the other side. I would like to thank Guide Dogs for the Blind for the gift of Kudo. Anyone wishing to house Kudo may do so in his name at www.guidedogs.com. I would also like to thank Dr. Julia Tomlinson at Twin City Animal Rehabilitation and her staff for the love and support they provided to Kudo to keep him moving without pain.

Charlevoix Democrats host candidates for First Congressional District

The Charlevoix County Democratic Party will host a general membership meeting at 5 p.m. on Monday Nov. 9, in community rooms A and B.

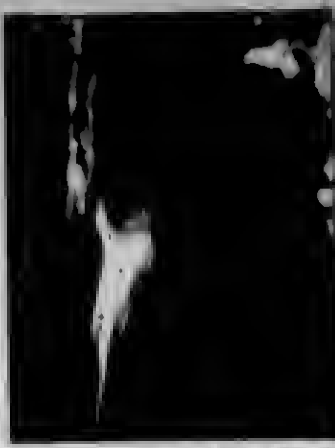

Charlevoix Public Library, 220 W. Clinton St., Charlevoix. The special guests will be Jerry Cannon and Lon Johnson, Democratic candidates for Michigan's First Congressional District.

After a short business meeting, attendees will hear and talk with Johnson and Cannon at 5:30 p.m. The candidates will give short presentations followed by a question and answer time.

Lon Johnson grew up in the downriver community of Rockwood. In 1992, he worked his first congressional campaign in a 52 percent Republican base district. He won despite the fact that his candidacy was opposed 3-to-1. In the years that followed, Johnson continued to run and win campaigns in states across the country. In 1999, he took a position fundraising for Al Gore's presidential campaign in George W. Bush's backyard — Texas.

In 2001, Congressman Dingell asked Johnson to return to Michigan to run his primary campaign against Lynn Rivers. After winning Congressman Dingell's primary, Johnson took a position with the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee in 2003 and as the Michigan Director of America Coming Together in 2004. In 2005, He spent six months in Iraq with the National Democratic Institute to help rebuild a political infrastructure in the wake of the Iraq War. Upon returning from Iraq, he went to work for a firm focused on investing in and growing U.S. manufacturing companies. In 2012, Johnson ran for the Michigan State House of Representatives in the 103rd District, and received more than 47 percent of the vote in an overwhelmingly Republican district. Johnson most recently served as Chair of the Michigan Democratic Party. For more than 20 years, Johnson has been a leader in the Democratic Party. He has served in critical strategic roles for political campaigns and committees, advocacy organizations and businesses. He currently lives in Kalkaska County, with his wife, Juliana Smoot, who served as Deputy Campaign Manager for President Obama's re-election campaign in 2012.

Retired Major General Jerry Cannon is a Vietnam veteran. After serving as a marine in Vietnam, Cannon joined the U.S. Army National Guard in 1977.

Cannon served as Major General in the Michigan Army National Guard and was deployed multiple times around the world to keep America safe, including tours in Iraq. While in Iraq, he oversaw military police operations as Deputy Commanding General for Detainee Operations and U.S. Forces-Iraq Provost Marshal General before retiring in 2012.

Using the GI Bill, Cannon earned a degree in Criminal Justice from University of Detroit in 1976. Upon graduation, he became a police officer, then a detective and eventually was elected Sheriff of Kalkaska County. Cannon won election four times, eventually retiring in 2004 in order to focus on military deployments to Cuba and Iraq. Cannon unsuccessfully challenged Republican Dan Benishek in 2014 for his seat in Michigan's First Congressional District.

Cannon and his wife,

Elizabeth, live in Five Lake, Michigan. Married for 45 years, they are the parents of four children, including a son who served two tours in Afghanistan. They have seven grandchildren.

Hors d'oeuvres will be served and attendees also are requested to bring donations for food banks in Boyne City, Charlevoix, and East Jordan. Needed items are non-perishable foods like canned tuna or chicken, pancake mix, cereal, rice, canned or boxed soups, complete box dinners like macaroni and cheese, spaghetti noodles and sauce. Personal items are also accepted: toothpaste, toothbrushes, lotion, soap, deodorant, shampoo and conditioner.

To attend the event please RSVP by Friday, Nov. 6, to assist in planning for seating and refreshments. To RSVP or for more information, email democrats@charlevoix@gmail.com or call (231) 753-8411.

Northern Michigan agencies offer free insurance enrollment counseling

EAST JORDAN — Health departments and other agencies in a 26-county region of Northern Lower Michigan are offering free assistance to area residents looking to sign up for or renew coverage through the federal Health Insurance Marketplace.

Health departments also are advising residents to act soon in seeking the free advice to avoid possibly paying a tax penalty to the Internal Revenue Service. Additionally, those who sign up or renew coverage between Nov. 1 and Jan. 31 may receive a tax credit to lower their insurance costs.

"Enroll Northern Michigan is a network of certified application assisters who can help local residents learn about health coverage that best meets their needs and budget," said Bruce Miller, the organization's spokesperson. "We offer in-person, confidential and impartial information while helping area residents make side-by-side comparisons of health plans offered on the Health Insurance Marketplace."

Enroll Northern Michigan can also help low-income residents apply for free or low-cost health coverage through the state of Michigan, such as the Healthy Michigan Plan, MiChild and Healthy Kids.

Miller said choosing among different plans can be a challenge, and that is where Enroll Northern Michigan can offer free help.

"You can talk to specially trained staff at a health department, health center or other locations, who will answer your questions, explain how all this works and point out your options," he said.

As many as 10,000 Northern Michigan residents who may need to obtain coverage under the federal Affordable Care Act remain uninsured. They could face tax penalties if they fail to sign up for insurance during the open enrollment period that runs from Nov. 1, 2015 through Jan. 31, 2016. The penalty for not having coverage in 2016 is the higher of 2.5 percent of household income or $695 per person — $347.50 for children under 18.

Financial assistance is available to lower insurance costs. In fact, 87 percent of people who signed up for coverage through the Health Insurance Marketplace have qualified for financial help. The exact amount of assistance depends on family size and household income, Miller said.

Northern Michigan residents can call (800) 432-4121 to set up an in-person appointment to explore their health coverage options or learn where local assistance is available. They can also go to EnrollNorthernMichigan.org to view a list of contact information for local enrollment assisters.

Charlevoix County residents can contact local Enroll Northern Michigan sites directly:

— East Jordan Family Health Center — 601 Bridge St., East Jordan, MI, (231) 536-2206

— Health Department of Northwest Michigan — 220 W. Garfield, Charlevoix, MI, (800) 432-4121 or (877) 321-7070

Or email Nichole Cyr at n.cyr@nwhealth.org.

Enroll Northern Michigan is supported by the Northern Michigan Public Health Alliance, Northern Health Plan, Tenon and the Michigan Consumers for Health Care. Participating counties are Alcona, Alpena, Antrim, Benzie, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Crawford, Emmet, Grand Traverse, Isosco, Kalkaska, Lake, Leelanau, Manistee, Mason, Mecosta, Missaukee, Montmorency, Newaygo, Oceana, Oscoda, Ogemaw, Otsego, Presque Isle, Roscommon and Wexford.

Charlevoix cashes in critical opportunity in district final victory, 1-0

HARBOR SPRINGS — In soccer more than perhaps any other sport, a game and a season can come down to having the right person in the right place at the right time.

That was the case for the Charlevoix boys soccer team in Saturday's district final showdown with rival Harbor Springs on the road, and in this instance it was forward Nick Bradley's turn to be the man of the hour.

With the score deadlocked at 0-0 after 38 minutes of tense, back and forth action, Charlevoix played a cross in from the mid-field to forward Graham Kroon, who got a head on the ball and flicked it forward toward the goal and straight to a waiting Bradley.

The junior had made a run to the net and pounced on the ball, volleying it out of the air and into the back of the net for what would end up being the game's only goal in a 1-0 win that gave the Rayders their first district title since 2009.

"Our coaches are always telling us that opportunities are going to come to us if we crash the net, so I tried to get in there," Bradley said. "I got a great ball played right to me and I just tried to put it away."

For Charlevoix coach Anton

Matye, the crucial goal was the result of a playstyle the team had been refining since its first practice of the season.

"The goal we scored was an example of possessing the ball, moving it around and creating chances," Matye said. "We'd worked on playing the ball out wide to the outside mid, letting him bring it in and then executing our crosses and shots, and that's what happened."

"That goal was obviously the difference, and I thought our players did a great job of setting it up."

Harbor Springs had its chances, as well. The Rams were outposessed in the first half by the Rayders, but controlled play in the second and put tremendous pressure on the Charlevoix back line to try and find an equalizer.

The closest came with about 15 minutes to play, when Harbor Springs' Adrian Silva got the ball on a deep run and shot it across the face of the goal and into the right corner for what looked to be a tying score.

But the referees whistled Silva offside, and the scoring chance, like several others the Rams created in the second half, came to naught.

"When a game is this close, it's a call here, a goalpost there, a step too early or too late that can decide things," Harbor Springs coach Aaron Riley said. "Charlevoix won the first half, but I thought we really showed up well in the second and were right there until the end."

"Credit to Charlevoix, they were able to take advantage of the opportunity they got and we weren't, and that was the difference."

Charlevoix's back line also helped protect the lead, with Kevin Pearl, Danny Nesburg, Matt Good and David Ritter all having solid games, and goalie Jacob Harrod earned his third straight shutout and has yet to give up a goal in the state tournament.

The victory is a meaningful one for Charlevoix, who had lost by a one-goal margin in each of the last two district finals, to Bellaire in 2013 and to Harbor Springs on its home field last season, and for seniors Walker Drost and Kyle Hlenden, who now get to graduate with a district title.

"It's big for all of us after the last two years, but we're especially glad to get it done for Walker," Bradley said. "He's been such a good player and scored so many

Rayders come up short of repeat playoff bid in last-second loss to Harbor Springs

HARBOR SPRINGS — Charlevoix came out strong in its bid for a second straight playoff berth against rival Harbor Springs on Friday night, leading at the half and until the final seconds.

But a couple of late miscues by the Rayders combined with a spirited effort from the host Rams gave Harbor Springs an opening late, and the Rams seized upon it with a game-winning 24 yard field goal by senior Mitch Hoffman with three seconds to play in a 22-20 defeat that ended Charlevoix's playoff hopes.

"Football is a game of inches, and we just had a play here, a break there that didn't go the way we needed," Charlevoix coach Ron Bindi said. "It's little things, but they add up and when the game is this close, it makes a difference."

After a back-and-forth game, Charlevoix had the ball with six minutes to play and a 20-19 lead, giving the Rayders a chance to close out their second straight playoff berth with a good drive.

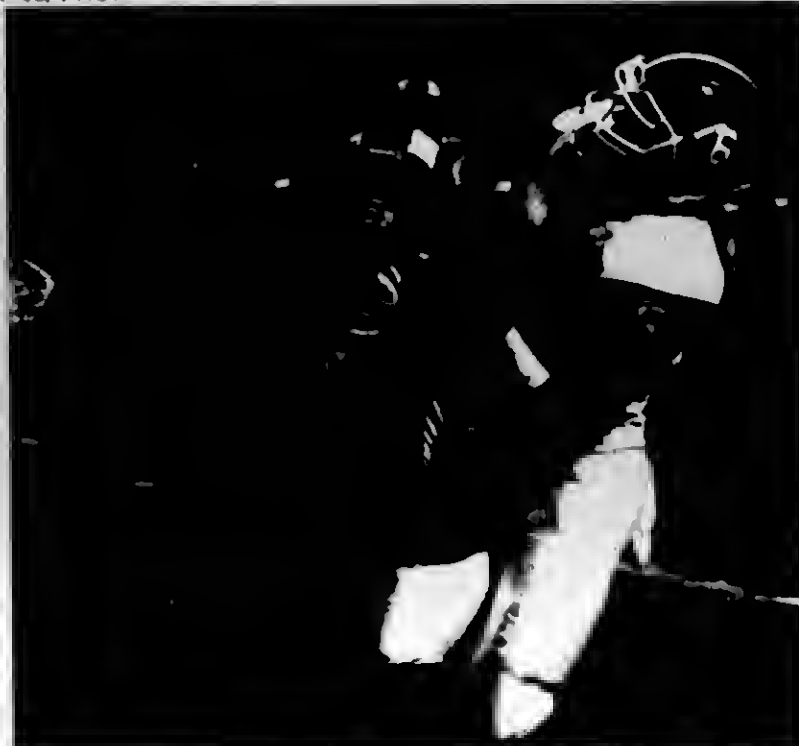

Charlevoix seemed well on the way to doing that after Austin Putman took a reverse for a long gain across midfield and deep into Ram territory, but a holding penalty negated that big play and stalled the drive, forcing the Rayders to punt.

That gave the Rams possession of the football with four minutes left, and Harbor Springs marched 71 yards in that stretch to set up Hoffman's game-winning field goal.

On that drive and throughout the game, Charlevoix's front seven struggled to deal with Harbor Springs' big, physical and experienced offensive line, which allowed Rams running back Kern Reeves to reach the second level and move the chains multiple times.

On the night, Harbor Springs rushed for 313 total yards, nearly double the amount the Rayders put up on the ground.

"Nearly everything we were worried about coming into the game came to pass tonight," Bindi said. "We were concerned about our lines giving up a lot of size and experience to Harbor Springs' line, and they were able to control the line of scrimmage on both sides of the ball because of that."

"Despite that, we got a great effort from a lot of our guys that gave us a chance to win late."

The loss overshadowed a great game by Putman, who wrapped up a stellar career with the Rayders with one of his best efforts.

The senior finished with five catches for 103 yards, including a 20 yard touchdown reception to give Charlevoix a 7-6 lead early and another big catch to set up a one-yard touchdown run by senior quarterback Forrest Noriot that gave the Rayders a 14-13 lead at the half.

Senior Ben Boss also added a 34-yard touchdown run that gave the Rayders a 20-19 lead entering the fourth quarter, finishing with 56 total yards, and junior Malcom Williams added 71 yards on the ground as well.

Defensively, Charlevoix weathered the loss of safety Brad Klinger to a knee injury early in the game with strong play from Cam Alden, who finished with 16 tackles, and Williams added 14 tackles and two for loss as well.

Putman finished with 12 tackles, including two for loss, senior Justin Adkins added 14 and Boss recovered a fumble for the Rayders.

Rayders rally for four-set win on the road against rival Boyne City BOYNE CITY — The Charlevoix volleyball team had its backs against the wall multiple times on Tuesday night as it took on rival Boyne City on the road.

But despite losing the first set and falling behind in both the third and fourth sets, including a 7-0 hole in the fourth, the Rayders showed their resiliency as well, battling back to beat the Ramblers in four sets, 15-25, 25-21, 25-20, 25-19.

"We've been an up and down team all year, and we've had a lot of third and fourth sets (where we've fallen way behind)," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said. "In a lot of those sets, however, we've responded and fought our way back, and we did it again tonight."

"We were able to get our hitters going at the net, and that allowed us to close the gap quickly and pull ahead when it

GAYLORD — With regionals right around the corner, the Charlevoix cross country team got one last chance to tune up for its biggest meet of the year, and on the course where the Division 3 regional is set to be run.

Competing in the Northern Michigan Championships at Michaway Pines Golf Club in Gaylord against several strong Class A schools, the Rayders rolled to a solid finish in both the girls and boys races.

Charlevoix finished eighth overall on the girls side, with 226 points, and ninth on the boys side, with 275 points, despite the boys squad missing makes this so hard," Charlevoix coach Ron Bindi said. "Austin and Forrest had great games, Jordan and Justin Adkins really led the defense, and Ben Boss ran well."

At 5-4, Charlevoix fell just short of its second-straight playoff berth and now bids farewell to a decorated senior class, including Putman, Noirot, Boss, and eight others who helped restore the Rayders to respectability.

Despite the losses, the Rayders will return several members of a young offensive line, as well as a capable quarterback in Klinger and playmakers in Malcom Williams and Jared McLean to chase a playoff berth next season.

With nearly 2,000 competitors per year across its several races, the Charlevoix Marathon is a signature event in northern Michigan and has begun earning national attention as it enters its 10th year.

Charlevoix Marathon makes top 10 list in Runner's World Magazine

CHARLEVOIX — A local race has grown into an event with a national following, and some big names are starting to take notice.

The annual Charlevoix Marathon, entering its 10th year in 2016 and run on the last Saturday of June, has grown in size since its inception to nearly 2,000 competitors a year across its multiple races, with representatives from every state in the country and multiple international runners as well.

Now, the running enthusiast press is joining in recognizing the size and quality of the event put on by Ron Suffolk and his family, as the prestigious Runner's World Magazine named the Charlevoix Marathon sixth on its list of top 10 small-town marathons across the country.

In the list, found at runnersworld.com/bucket-list-races/huckle-list-10-small-town-marathons/charlevoix-marathon, Runner's World ranks the event sixth and praises it for showcasing the beauty of the town and the area, highlighting a race course that takes runners across the town's famous bridge and along the shore of Lake Michigan, while also suggesting that runners take the opportunity to grab some post-race fudge at one of Charlevoix's many local shops.

On a list that includes Tacoma, WA, Providence, RI, Fargo, ND and Duluth, MN, Charlevoix stands out as one of the only true small towns on the list, as well as the only marathon in the state of Michigan honored.

"We are extremely proud of this distinction and believe the city of Charlevoix should be, also," Race Director Ron Suffolk said. "There are a lot of marathons and a lot of small towns and to be in the top 10 is awesome."

"It couldn't have come at a better time for us as this is also our tenth year of producing this event. We get runners from around the world and being named in the top 10 is good for business."

Readers can find out more information about the marathon at www.charlevoixmarathon.com. This year's race is scheduled to take place on June 25, 2016.

close the match with a kill.

"With Becca limited, I thought Kenzy stepped up as well with strong play at the net and really carried us through tough stretches tonight."

Hannah Hoth led Boyne City with seven kills, Nicole Swadling chipped in 16 assists and Kelsey Hubbard led the Ramblers defensively with perfect serve-receive.

Madison Reynolds also chipped in two crucial blocks in set three that helped Boyne City stay in striking distance, but the Ramblers couldn't maintain a strong start once Charlevoix found its groove offensively.

"Our defense broke down as the match wore on, and that ended up being the difference tonight," Boyne City coach Mallory Slate said. "We changed up our defense as much as possible to try and cover up the gaps, but Charlevoix did a great job of finding them and we didn't move our feet as well as we needed to."

"We did a better job of communicating tonight than we had previously, which was good to see, but there are some things we still need to work on before districts next week."

The Rayders host Northport and Leland in a tri on Thursday to close out the regular season, while Boyne City hosts a tri with Harbor Light and Johannesburg-Lewiston on the same night.

Boyne City plays Inland Lakes in the district opener on Monday, with Charlevoix taking on the winner.

"It's a huge boost for us to get the win tonight," Randall said. "We didn't talk about it much, but our players know the district draw and know there's a good chance we'll be seeing them again.

"They're a good team and tough to beat, but a win like this gives us confidence that we can do it again in the district if we can play to our potential."

Charlevoix at Leland Invite

LELAND — The Charlevoix volleyball team continued to make progress with districts around the corner at Saturday's Leland Invite.

The Rayders fell to the host Comets, the third ranked team in Class D in the most recent coaches poll, 25-9, 25-10 in a rough start to the day, but rebounded to split with tough East Jordan 25-15, 22-25 and Maple City Glen Lake 25-13, 24-26 to make it out of pool play and into the bracket.

From there, the Rayders put together their best match of the Registration Now Open for Indoor Volleyball League

CHARLEVOIX — The Recreation Department is accepting team applications for the winter indoor coed-volleyball league. Teams are asked to register online at the Charlevoix Recreation website.

The indoor coed-volleyball league will begin in December and be done mid-February. Volleyball games will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings at the gym of the Charlevoix Elementary School. Teams can have up to twelve participants per team.

There will be an informational team meeting on November 9 at 6:30pm in the basement of City Hall. A team captain or a team representative must attend this meeting. During this meeting, the rules and game schedule will be discussed. Team representatives are asked to bring their team name, team roster, and sponsorship fee of $125.00.

goals for Charlevoix over the last few years, and now he gets to end his career knowing he's got that trophy."

The Rayders (21-3-2) now get to continue their season in the regional semifinal at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Traverse City, where the Rayders will look to upset Muskegon Western Michigan Christian, ranked third in the state in Division 4 in the latest coaches poll.

The Rams finish the season at 15-6-1, and lose six seniors, including defender Caesy Cosens, midfielder stalwarts Geraldo Silva and Mitchell Corey, and versatile Kolton Jacobs.

"We had a good season this year, and that was thanks to good senior leadership that we're going to miss quite a bit," Riley said. "That said, I think we've got a good core coming back in Joe (Claramunt), Lampton (Kamalil), Sam (Bailey) and a lot of other talented players, so I think we can be right back in the mix next year if we work hard over the summer."

District Semis:

Charlevoix 5, Burt Lake NMCA 0
HARBOR SPRINGS — The Rayders advanced to Saturday's Division 4 district final at Ottawa Stadium with a dominant win Wednesday's semifinal, dispatching Burt Lake NMCA 5-0.

The Rayders got off to a slow start offensively, struggling to crack a Burt Lake NMCA defense that put 10 men behind the ball and played well early, but Charlevoix found its groove after Christian Matye netted the team's first goal in the 31st minute.

"I was a little disappointed in the first 20 minutes; we didn't settle on the ball, didn't play with patience and composure, and our passes weren't very good," Charlevoix coach Anton Matye said. "Once we got that first goal, that seemed to refocus us, and we also had a good discussion at halftime as well."

Kyle Illenden added another goal right before halftime for the Rayders, and Charlevoix pulled away in the second half, with Graham Kroon and Nick Bradley each adding critical goals in the first 10 minutes after halftime and Matye scoring a second time in the 64th minute to put a cap on the win.

Jacob Harrod picked up the win in net for Charlevoix, going largely untested as the Rayders dominated possession and didn't give up a shot until the second half.

"Our starting 11, we know they've got the talent, and it's more about mentality than skill for us," Coach Matye said. "If they come out with the right mental attitude, we're going to be in a good position on the field."

top three runners David Ritter and Noah Carson due to their participation in the boys soccer district final at the same time.

Sophomore Michelle Bollini took 11th overall (19:51.2) to lead the Rayder girls, and Isabel Hess took 23rd (20:25.6) to earn a medal as well.

Kaitlin Schwenke finished 50th (21:32.5) for Charlevoix, Katie Mousseau 72nd (22:46.6), Hannah Solomon 80th (23:12.9), Lukila Witthoeft 85th (23:31.0) and Olivia Jeakle 113th (25:00.4).

On the boys side, senior Jonathan Plschner was the lone medalist for Charlevoix with one of the best races of his career, taking 20th in 17:42.9, and Luke Buday took 33rd (18:07.7) as well.

Ryan Erskine finished 56th (18:40.7), Ben Peterson 72nd (19:10.6), Josh Clee 117th (20:28.0), Braeden Richards 121st (20:37.7) and William Sheets 175th (24:42.8) for the Rayders.

With the final tune-up out of the way, the Rayders now turn to the regional meet on Saturday, October 31 at Michawaye Pines.

After narrowly missing qualifying for the state final as a team last year, the Charlevoix boys team looks like a good bet to snag the third qualifying spot in the regional this season if it can match its best performances this season, but that potential could be complicated by the absence of Ritter and Carson if the Charlevoix boys soccer team makes the regional final on the same day with a win over Muskegon Western Michigan Christian on Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the Charlevoix girls squad is in the hunt for a team qualifying spot as well, but will need its third, fourth and fifth runners to step up and run personal bests in the regional if it hopes to edge Kingsley and Boyne City for the third and final qualifying spot.

counted in the deciding set."

Senior Emily Zabawa had another strong night for the Rayders, finishing with 11 kills, eight digs and 19 assists, and junior Kenzy O'Leary added seven kills.

Junior Becca Moon also battled through an illness to provide seven kills, including the one that clinched the fourth set, nine assists and seven digs, Grace Sutherland chipped in 21 digs and three assists, and Julia Doskoch and Ali Jarema each finished with 13 digs.

"Becca was under the weather and didn't play her best tonight, but she dugged it out on the floor and did what she could," Randall said. "She's an important emotional leader for us, and it was great to see her day in the quarterfinal, beating Suttons Bay 25-23, 25-18 to reach the semifinals of the Invitational and earn a rematch with Leland."

While Charlevoix fell again to the Comets to end their day, the match was closer, 25-12, 25-13, and coach Audra Randall said even that didn't capture the improvement the Rayders made between the two matches.

"On the start of the day playing Leland we came out very flat and had several serve-receive errors and defensive errors," Randall said. "I was pleased how they played and excited to play Leland again."

"The low scores don't reflect how much better the girls played. We had long rallies and kept the intensity very high. Even with a loss we walked off the court feeling like we ended our day playing better ball."

Food FOCUS

Grey Gables owner and chef Darren Romano prepares a pan roasted mirepoix — onion, carrot and celery combination — that is served with one of his signature meals, the Colorado braised lamb shank.

Grey Gables Inn Restaurant: A Charlevoix tradition

This week's Food Focus turns its lens to Grey Gables Inn Restaurant, located at 308 Belvedere Ave. Grey Gables owners Kelly and Darren Romano are Culinary Institute of America graduates. The Romano's purchased the restaurant in 1994, and are very proud to be part of the Charlevoix community. This is their first restaurant and by utilizing the freshest ingredients.

The Romanos seek to provide an elegant dining experience for their patrons that has made the restaurant a favorite Charlevoix destination for nearly 75 years. Grey Gables also offers catering and restaurant patrons can enjoy nightly dinner features and bar specials. One of Darren's signature dishes is the Colorado braised lamb shank served with a mushroom demi-glace sauce, pan roasted mirepoix — onion, carrot and celery combination — and whipped potato. Grey Gables winter hours are 4:30-10 p.m. Monday-Saturday and 4:30-8 p.m. Sunday. Each week the Charlevoix Courier will feature a Charlevoix restaurant or business that prepares food for the public during our Food Focus series.

Left: While the lamb shank is cooking, chef Darren Romano begins the plate set-up for the meal. He first plates the whipped potato that is served with the lamb.

Center: Once the whipped potato is placed on the plate, Romano then drizzles the potatoes with a chive oil before adding the braised lamb shank.

Right: Romano removes the lamb shank from the oven.

The braised lamb shank is placed on top of the whipped potato with the drizzled chive oil.

The pan roasted mirepoix — onion, carrot and celery combination — is added to complete Grey Gables' signature Colorado braised lamb shank meal. This is one of Romano's most popular dinners at the restaurant.

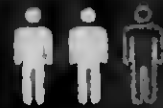

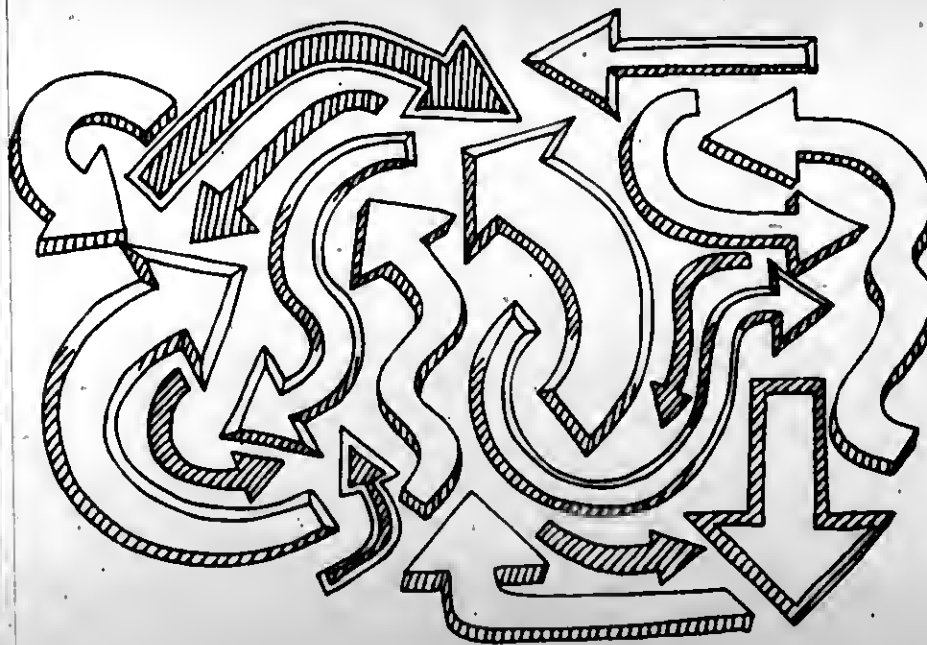

The Colorado braised lamb shank is complete and served to one of the tables in the restaurant. Grey Gables Inn Restaurant is considered a Charlevoix tradition for nearly 75 years.

After the lamb shank is plated, Romano then adds the mushroom demi-glace sauce.

Fallen Charlevoix soldier remains found, buried

ANNE KELLY
Special to Courier

Chuck Richardson and Cathy Beeson, of San Diego, Calif., never knew their uncle who died in World War II. Their uncle was Charles Oscar Richardson, a 23-year-old Charlevoix man, who enlisted in the U.S. Army in November of 1941, a month or so before the attack on Pearl Harbor. He never got the opportunity to serve abroad. Instead he was stationed at a U.S. Army Corps base in Presque Isle, Maine and in November of that year, his plane crashed into the stormy seas of the Gulf of St. Lawrence — during take-off — near Longue-Pointe-de-Mingan in Quebec.

At the time Richardson enlisted, American patriotism was high and people pulled together to help with the war effort. A 1942 issue of the Charlevoix Courier reflected the patriotic level of people in the city, readers were encouraged to use venison cuts to replace or supplement the meat in their diet and to save scrap metal. Charlevoix school millage renewal passes

(231) 547-6558 • lallen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — Voters continued their support for Charlevoix Public Schools by approving a millage on Tuesday, Nov. 3.

The 18-mill non-homestead renewal on second homes, commercial and industrial properties will be in effect until 2020. The non-homestead millage equates to $18 on every $1,000 of taxable value of eligible properties.

Voters approved the renewal by a 73 percent margin with 1,112 yes votes and 409 no votes.

Charlevoix Public Schools Superintendent Mike Ritter said this was "great news" for the school district.

"It is 88 percent of our per-pupil funding to run our schools," Ritter said. "It's a huge portion of our operating budget."

Ritter also is pleased with the continued support for the school district.

"We are grateful for the community of Charlevoix and their continued support of our schools," Ritter said. "The non-homestead millage is important to our school's operations and we are pleased the voters understand that."

Challenger Hagen, incumbent Gibson win council seats

LONNIE ALLEN
(231) 547-6558 • lallen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — City of Charlevoix voters ousted an incumbent City Council member Tuesday, sending one newcomer and two incumbents to City Hall.

As of Tuesday morning, the unofficial results from the Charlevoix County Clerk's office showed that Aaron Hagen won with 256 votes compared to Jeff Porter's 145 votes in the 1st Ward. In the city's 3rd Ward, incumbent Shirley Gibson defeated write-in candidate Greg Bryan by four votes. Gibson received 132 votes and Bryan got 128. Leon Perron, of the city's 2nd Ward, ran unopposed and received 111 votes.

Hagen took nearly 64 percent of the vote that had a little more than 50 percent turnout in the entire ward. There are 2,240 registered voters in the City of Charlevoix and 808 of them are in the 1st Ward with 641 in the 2nd Ward and 791 in the 3rd Ward. Of those voting in Tuesday's election, 138 absentee ballots were returned in the 1st Ward, 51 in the 2nd Ward and 87 in the 3rd Ward. Approximately 35 percent of the city's registered voters turned out for this election.

Much more young people also turned out to vote in the 1st Ward, according to City Clerk Joyce Goiding.

"It appears there are far more young people voting in this election than in previous elections I have been part of in the city," Goiding said.

In the 3rd Ward approximately 33 percent of registered voters participated in the election compared to 19 percent in the 2nd Ward.

Inside City Hall election workers also were making comments on the number of young voters making an appearance to vote, Bryan said.

"Each time we checked on the numbers, we heard from the workers about the number of young people coming out to vote in the 1st Ward," Bryan said. "I'm happy to see that many people engaged in the process without a national election."

Bryan was impressed and said he thinks this election brought a positive change to the council.

"The dynamics on City Council have changed for the better," Bryan said. "Even though I lost, I feel my campaign was a success. For a write-in candidate to lose by a few votes it shows people were engaged this election year."

Hagen will assume Porter's seat at the next regular council meeting at 7 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 16. It will be Hagen's first time serving on a public governmental board.

Hagen said he was "ecstatic" at the voter turnout on Tuesday.

CHARLEVOIX — It's 1 a.m. on a brutally cold morning and the call comes in — a 4-inch wide water main has ruptured beneath Alice Street. It is one of the many calls about water main breaks that pushed Charlevoix Department of Public Works crews to work long hours the last two winters.

But it is not just the subzero temperatures that are to blame for all the breaks. It is the water mains themselves and now city officials have made the decision to fix the worst of the worst.

"The problem is we have spent too much money the last two years trying to keep the water on for our residents that it doesn't address the problem," said Mayor Gahe Campbell. "Our infrastructure is old and the time to address it has long passed."

Campbell also believes because of the last two winters city residents support projects to improve city infrastructure.

"Hopefully we don't have another winter like the last two," Campbell said. "Our residents want us to keep the water on for them, and I believe they are ready for us to fix the problem."

The last two years of repair costs to the city's infrastructure is more than $1 million with $446,886 being spent in 2015 and $728,880 in 2014 — $230,334 of the 2014 cost was paid for by grants.

"Those costs are half of what we will spend to fix these eight streets in our proposed project," City Manager Mark Heydlauff said.

Council members voted 5-0 to enter into a professional agreement with Performance Engineering for the proposed 2016 infrastructure project. Council member Shirley Gibson abstained from voting and discussion because she resides in the 200 block of East Upright Street, which is in the proposal.

The agreement would pay Performance approximately 16 percent of the construction costs once bids are accepted on the project. Performance estimates the overall project to be approximately $3.32 million, which would include the engineering and administration costs of

Local officials prepare for drawbridge closures next year

LONNIE ALLEN
(231) 547-6558 - lallen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — Planned repairs to the bridge in Charlevoix has local officials preparing for overnight bridge closures next year.

Officials from the Michigan Department of Transportation will be coordinating their schedule with the city so emergency vehicles that would ordinarily cross the bridge can be staged properly, said Charlevoix City Manager Mark Heydlauff.

"The city of Charlevoix is maintaining an open dialogue with MDOT officials regarding MDOT's plans to perform significant maintenance on the drawbridge during the winter of 2016-17," Heydlauff said. "While we do not yet have all the details, we are beginning to plan how we will position emergency vehicles and personnel for periods when the bridge is not in service."

The $1.3 million project is scheduled to begin

Planned 2016-17 construction on the only route crossing the Pine River Channel will have overnight motorist seeking alternate routes to reach the north and south sides of Charlevoix.

December 2016, with a tentative completion date of April 2017. Work will address the mechanical and electrical operation of the bridge and also will include painting the steel super structure and reconstruct the bridge approach pavement.

During this period, MDOT plans to have one lane of traffic on the bridge, but also will schedule overnight closures that could last between six to 12 hours. Though bridge construction is planned during the off-season, traffic delays are expected and Heydlauff hopes to be prepared.

"We will work with MDOT to coordinate city resources from our street and utilities departments and Charlevoix Main Street program to make the disruption to the general public and businesses as minimal as possible," Heydlauff said.

Dan Thorp, fire chief of the Charlevoix Township Fire Department, said he doesn't have all the specifics, but the plan is to station equipment and firefighters at each of their departments on the north and south sides of the township.

"We will work with MDOT to know when we will need crews ready to man each station," Thorp said.

The township also has mutual agreements with other departments in the area and plans to work those departments during any closures.

"We will pre-plan with every one to make sure if an emergency happens there is ample coverage on either side of the bridge," Thorp said. "We have a year to plan and we will be ready."

MDOT chose to do the work during the winter to avoid interrupting Charlevoix summer activities. Taking the bridge out of service is required because the bascule bridge must be open to complete much of the work.

The type of work being done also would shut down boat traffic, said James Lake, communications representative for MDOT.

"We are targeting that time of the year to avoid the impact of shipping and because the volume of highway traffic is lower," Lake said. "We are planning overnight hours to minimize the impact to traffic."

The project is a result of a detailed inspection of the bridge about two years ago, but some of the more recent electrical issues have added to the scope of the work, Lake said.

Those recent electrical issues were discovered last March when MDOT crews performed an annual test on the bridge.

During that test the bridge got stuck in the open position, leaving motorists no option but to wait or drive 45 minutes around Lake Charlevoix because the drawbridge is the only crossing over the Pine River Channel, which connects the north and south sides of the city.

During the work, pedestrian traffic also will be rerouted from the walkways beneath the bridge. Work on the bridge also could impact the 2016 Bridge Drop.

"We'll be discussing the specifics of the schedule with the city shortly, but it's too early to tell whether we'll be able to accommodate the bridge drop next New Year's Eve," Lake said.

"We can't yet pinpoint where we'll be on the project at that date, and some of the mechanical systems of the bridge need to be removed and repaired off-site."

If that's the case at New Year's, we won't be able to open the bridge for the bridge drop, but we'll do our best to make it happen if the construction schedule allows."

City employees give back by giving time

LONNIE ALLEN

CHARLEVOIX — After a morning spent toiling outside the realm of their normal workday, city employees enjoyed the satisfaction that comes from community service.

Seventeen volunteers from city offices participated in the annual City Day of Caring at the Bergmann Center on Oct. 30. "It was very rewarding work," said Annie Doyle, Charlevoix Main Street/Downtown Development Director. "It gives you a better sense of community and a lot of the programs that they do there."

Patty DeRosia, city Human Resource Assistant said the city event is similar to the United Way's Day of Caring.

"The event was started by my predecessor who served on the board at the Bergmann Center," DeRosia said. "We continue the tradition of support each year to help them with projects that need to be done. We are just giving back to our community."

The annual event provides much-needed volunteer power for major projects and facility upkeep that would otherwise cost the resources of the Bergmann Center, said executive director Suzanne Muma.

"An event like this is really beneficial for our organization," Muma said. "In a time of budget cuts to community health systems this type of work helps us do more on less. We are very fortunate to receive this support from city employees."

Chuck Billings, the Bergmann Center employment and safety coordinator said their clients appreciate the support when volunteers do this type of work on the facilities.

"It's a sense of pride and ownership our clients have when they see the work being done here by volunteers," Billings said. "City Day of Caring is great exposure for our organization."

On of the functions of the Bergmann Center is to give the clients life skills and work experience they can use in the community, but not all work at the center can be done by their clients, Billings said.

"It's about safety for our clients," Billings said. "Many of them are willing to do so much, but certain jobs can't be done because of possible dangers."

Within a few hours, city workers helped remove gutters, cleared leaves, repainted bathrooms and completed other maintenance jobs at the facility.

"Giving is important," Doyle said. "Writing a check is wonderful, but this is personal. By volunteering, I understand how important the organization is and how much they do in our community. I plan to volunteer here more in the future."

Apple Fest - Success for All

In October the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce had its 37th annual Apple Festival in downtown Charlevoix. We had 125 exhibitors come to our community to participate in this three day event and the weather was amazing. More than 30 types of apples were available as well as other fall harvest items including pumpkins, mums, squash, jam, maple syrup, pies, cider and much more. Local, nonprofit organizations were on site to tempt festival goers with hot food items such as chili, hot dogs, pasties, apple flapjacks, soup and kielbasa. There were fresh bagels, mustard, crepes, honey, meat, baked goods, granola and fall veggies - all locally grown and produced.

Our Apple Fest started 37 years ago to support our local farms and apple growers, and over the years, this event has grown to include family activities, farmer's market vendors, artists and craftsman. Your support of this event supports the growing demand for healthy food alternatives and the success of locally owned and operated farms.

Our member businesses and organizations have enhanced the Apple Fest by offering a variety of activities for festival goers to enjoy including an Apple Fest Fun Run, historic mushroom home tours, concerts and fall color cruises on Lake Charlevoix. Students from the Charlevoix High School Art Department get involved and show their community support by hosting an Apple Fest design contest. The winning design is printed on the festival shirts that are available for purchase during the event with a portion of the proceeds benefiting the high school arts programs. This community event would not be possible without the support of our city staff, police department, volunteers, Chamber staff and board of directors, business owners, sponsors and most of all you, our community members. This year we saw record numbers of people and traffic on Saturday. On top of that we received more media requests and article requests about our event than ever before.

We bid farewell for now to the fall, but we look forward to next year. We have already begun planning for next year's Apple Fest, we hope you will join us again for Apple Fest scheduled for Oct. 14, 15 and 16, 2016. Please visit our website charlevoix.org to follow the event planning.

Allison Hubbard is the President of the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce. The Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce is a nonprofit organization with over 440 business and individual members, and growing strong. Our Mission is to support commerce and provide leadership to enhance the quality of life.

to the editor

Thank you for the treats

Editor,
Charlevoix Elementary School students would like to extend a big thank you to the downtown businesses who contributed to the annual kindergarten through sixth grade Halloween parade. It's such a fun day for students and they love the walk through downtown where so many greet them with smiles and treats.

Thank you all for being a part of the Halloween celebration and tradition with us.

1950s aerial view of downtown Charlevoix hints at the significant changes made

This aerial photo of the channel neck and downtown area was taken in the early 1950s by local photographer Bob Miles. At bottom center, to the left of the bridge, appears the Charlevoix Lumber Company. On the roof of its long shed appears the word Charlevoix — or at least half of it — and an arrow anchored by a large circle, looking like a huge masculine symbol. The word and the arrow told airplane pilots where they were and pointed the direction to the local airport. This area, with its scruffy waterfront, would all be redone into the Edgewater complex beginning in 1986. Across the highway, on the channel, stands the tall Argo Milling Company, which came down in 1953 to make way for the Weatherlane Inn. Below it, on US 31, is Fochman Motors, a Chevrolet dealership and garage, now the Pointes North Inn. Across the channel, on the Round Lake waterfront, appears the tiny rectangular Beaver Island Boat Company building, pretty much where the Keweenaw Star dock area is today. Next to it, the larger brick building with the circular vented roof section is the town's sewage treatment plant, which sent its pungent message up and into the stores on Bridge Street when the wind was in the right direction. On a hot summer day that could get quite unpleasant. Bridge Park at the time sloped down to meet the cars parked below, not raised to be level with Bridge Street until the 1990s. Further up to the left, the waterfront along East Park provides more than a dozen short slips for pleasure boats, quite unlike what is provided today. The white rectangles in the park are shuffleboard courts that lasted into the 90s. Every one of these areas has been given a well thought-out makeover to transform the downtown into the beautiful cityscape that both locals and visitors enjoy today.

Disney movies come alive this weekend

CHARLEVOIX — All the favorite Disney movies will come to life in a fun-filled production of "Zip-A-Dee-Dee, It's a Disney Revue" presented by the Charlevoix Middle-High School performing arts class, this weekend. Performances are at 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday — Nov. 6 and 7, and at 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 8.

Award-winning songs from Disney movies including Snow White and Peter Pan to The Little Mermaid, Lion King and Frozen will be featured. The cast is made up of students in grades 6-12 along with nine performing arts alumni, Charlevoix High School graduates, who have returned to join in the production. Emily Chapdelaine is the choreographer and director's assistant who also will be performing in some musical numbers. Matthew Whitley will serve as the announcer, Jimmy Cricket. Jake Sharrow is running sound for the show and also will be performing. Several of the alumni will be reviving the roles that they played in the 2012 production of Beauty and the Beast. Performing arts director, Jodi Thompson, is anticipating an outstanding performance.

"I am excited for our production of 'Zip-A-Dee-Dee, It's a Disney Revue,'" Thompson said. "Our cast is made up of 13 enthusiastic and dedicated middle school students who are eager to work hard and try new things as well as volunteer for any extra parts they can get. Our 14 member high school cast as well as our returning nine performing arts alumni have mentored the younger members and helped teach them many performance skills as we have worked together these past seven weeks. It is challenging but exciting to work with this talented multi-age cast, and I look forward to what they will accomplish when they do their performances this weekend."

Thompson has worked with the cast and crew for the past seven weeks. The entire ensemble has put in long hours of practice as they polished their timing, lines and songs. Their enthusiasm will reach a crescendo as the show hits the stage of the Charlevoix High School-Middle School gym on Friday night as the curtain goes up and the house lights go down for the first number.

Esperance offers hope to veterans through holiday market

Charlevoix — Charlevoix's Esperance, 12853 N. U.S. 31, will host a holiday market in an effort to build up the emergency fund for the local veterans support system. The event will be from 5-7 p.m. at Esperance on Saturday, Nov. 7.

The holiday market will give more than half of the admission fee to the local veterans emergency fund. The fund provides financial filler for veterans and their families if they face a gap in funds for their heating bills this winter. The goal is to raise $1,500 by having 75 or more guests attend the event.

There will be a broad tasting of foods from appetizers to sweets, more than a dozen wines and a preview of holiday gifts. Tickets cost $35 with $25 of that going toward the fund.

To RSVP your space, call (231) 237-9300 or visit mkt.com/esperance-11c/holiday-market.

For more information about the veteran's emergency fund, call veterans affairs counselor John Hess at (231) 547-7220.

Charlevoix Kiwanis Club welcomes new president

Former Kiwanis president John Young pins newly installed president Vince Chew at a recent meeting.

CHARLEVOIX — Vince Chew was installed as the President of the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club that has served the Charlevoix Community for 81 years. The installation was done by the Michigan District of Kiwanis International Division 22 Lt. Gov. Larry Minch at Grey Gables Restaurant. Members and guests present enjoyed a great meal along with the installation of their new president and officers.

Chew said it is an honor to follow in the footsteps of the past presidents who have continued Kiwanis commitment serving the young people in Charlevoix. The Charlevoix Club has continued sponsoring Scout Troop 11 for more than 75 years, a builders club that involves middle school students, an Aktion Club that involves adults with disabilities and head start reading program.

Beyond Charlevoix, the club supports Michigan Children's Hospital and the International Eliminate Project for neonatal immunization plus community youth projects as the need arises. President Vince Chew believes all good works comes from the club's dedicated members who volunteer many hours supporting youth activities.

Anyone interested in being a part of the organization may call Chew at (231) 547-4157.

Charlevoix Historical Society secures $12,700 for South Pier Lighthouse maintenance

The Charlevoix Historical Society has been awarded a Michigan Lighthouse Assistance Program grant in the amount of $12,700 to repaint exterior red surfaces of the South Pier Lighthouse with red high performance, marine-grade paint. This is one of five historic Michigan lighthouses that were awarded grant funding for preservation in 2015. Recipient projects are chosen through a competitive application process and are required to contribute 50 percent of the grant amount as matching funds.

The Charlevoix South Pier Lighthouse was painted its historically significant red color in 2009 as the second phase of a major restoration which began in 2006 with grant funding obtained from Michigan Lighthouse Assistance Program.

"We were very disappointed when the red pigment, used in paint at the time, immediately began to fade due to exposure," said Mary Adams, Lighthouse Committee member. "Although the paint adhesion has held up quite well, the fading has made repainting a necessity."

Over the past months, paint specialists undertook a rigorous assessment of various high performance coating products. Samples of several alternative coatings have been applied to the south-facing side of the lighthouse, which is the most impacted, to test for color retention and adhesion over the winter months. The Charlevoix Historical Society is fortunate to have been offered the services of Magni Industries, the leader in corrosion protection, to test the products under review in their laboratories in Detroit.

A final decision on which coating products to use will be made in the spring, with the aim of painting in the summer of 2016.

The Charlevoix South Pier Lighthouse is owned by the City of Charlevoix, and maintained under an agreement with the city by the Charlevoix Historical Society. The US Coast Guard is responsible for operation and maintenance of the aids to navigation.

For more information, or to learn how you can support on-going maintenance of the South Pier Lighthouse, call (231) 547-0373 or email info@chxhistory.com.

Back Porch Coffee series hosts Dan Farrow

Charlevoix — The Back Porch Coffee House series will feature Dan Farrow at 7 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 14 at the Charlevoix Senior Center on the corner of Carpenter and Sheridan streets.

Farrow has been performing, writing, and recording for more than 50 years. He will be playing his most popular original tunes, along with a few cover tunes from artists who inspired him. He will be performing on Spanish and acoustic guitars, and the electric guitar given to him posthumously by Rick Potter, and the piano...., but not all at the same time. He'll be begging for — make that encouraging — audience participation along the way, so come out for an event that will be just a little different and a lot of fun.

Suggested donations at the door are $5-$10 per person are for the performer. At 8:30 p.m. musicians in attendance will join for a circle jam. Soups, desserts and coffee are available at no additional charge. This is a community event for all ages. Parking in front and rear of building.

For more information, call (231) 622-2944

Bay Area Substance Education Services is now able to accept some publicly funded insurances

Bay Area Substance Education Services, Inc. is a private, nonprofit, licensed substance abuse agency that has been serving northern Michigan communities since 1993. Recently, BASES became accredited by the Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities and was added to the provider panel for the Northern Michigan Regional Entity. With these new changes, BASES is now able to accept some publicly funded insurances (Medicaid, Healthy Michigan, MiChild, etc.).

BASES is dedicated to helping others with their substance abuse issues. They provide substance abuse prevention, education, early intervention, and treatment services. BASES has expertise working with high risk youth and low income individuals and families.

Available services for adolescents and adults at BASES include: substance abuse groups for adolescents, substance abuse groups for adults with specialty groups for women and men, substance abuse assessments, outpatient counseling, drug testing/

PBT testing, zero tolerance education classes for first time minors in possession offenders, and alcohol highway safety education classes for first time driving while impaired offenders.

BASES is located at 208 W. Lincoln St., in Charlevoix. The hours of operation are 3-6 p.m. on Sundays, from 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and 10 a.m.-5 p.m. on Friday.

To set up a free consultation appointment, sign up for a group or to find out more about the services, call (231) 547-1144, or visit basesteencenter.org.

Stafford's Top of Michigan community marathon

CHARLEVOIX — Registration for the inaugural Stafford's Top of Michigan Community Marathon has opened with a special early-bird discount rate for the event May 28, 2016, on the beautiful Little Traverse Wheelway. The course is 26.2 miles (certified distance by USA Track and Field) and is undeniably, "a beautiful place to run."

Coordinated by the Top of Michigan Trails Council, the race will begin in downtown Charlevoix, continue through Petoskey and finish in downtown Harbor Springs. Proceeds from the race will be used to support the Little Traverse Wheelway and the Petoskey Cross Country and Track and Field teams.

"We are excited to offer a point-to-point marathon on one of the most beautiful trails in Northern Michigan," said Jim Harrington, marathon race director.

"The course is relatively flat and should appeal to those running their first marathon to seasoned runners looking to run a fast time to qualify for other marathons. We also are offering a fun team event where businesses or other groups can enter up to 26 members to complete the course."

The marathon travels through various Northern Michigan cities via the trail system.

"We are calling it a community marathon because that is what trails do, they connect communities," said Jeff Winegard, executive director of the Top of Michigan Trails Council.

"The Little Traverse Wheelway is a perfect example of a trail bringing together the people of Charlevoix, Petoskey and Harbor Springs."

Those who sign up prior to Tuesday, Dec. 1, can register for the full marathon for only $65. Rates increase after that date. For more race details, registration, volunteer and sponsorship opportunities visit trailscouncil.org, email jharrington10@gmail.com or call Harrington, at (989) 619-4204.

Introducing... Pet Obituaries

Pets are a part of the family, and we are offering a new way to share your pet's memorial with the community, family and friends that they shared their life with and help bring legitimacy to mourning the family pet.

As with humans, pet obituaries assign value to a life, define its highlights, extol socially validated accomplishments, and serve as models of living. To assign value to an animal's life is a fine thing, and an excellent match with the growing movement to treat animals of all kinds -- not only our pets -- with care and dignity.

The Pet Obituary page will run monthly in the Charlevoix Courier beginning Friday, November 6. Up to 300 words and a photo is $185.

Please e-mail pet obituary and photo to:

eanderson@petoskeynews.com along with contact information for us to contact you regarding payment or call 231-439-9375.

Kado Robert Michael Swenson
May 19, 2015

Kado Robert Michael Swenson, retired Guide Dog 3426, crossed the rainbow bridge on May 19, 2015, at the age of 13. I am confident he was met by Petros and Jensen and compensated on a life well lived.

Kado came into my life on February 15, 2004. He was a spectacular Guide Dog who always took his work very seriously. He was also a great dog who thought furniture was for him and who could be overly concerned with his physical well-being. But, most of all, he was a gentle giant of a dog -- a big gentle bear.

Kado could no longer guide me that past year when his eyes and legs began to fail. He hated retirement. On May 10th, I came home from Guide Dogs with Sammie. Magic happened the moment they met. Kado sniffed Sammie and knew he was a Guide Dog. Sammie knew Kado was a Guide Dog, and it seemed as though Kado knew Sammie was here to take care of me and was happy and relieved. They gave each other a lick and Sammie followed Kado into the house. For the next nine days Sammie would often lay with Kado on Kado's bed and they slept side by side at night in our bed. Sammie always checked in with Kado the minute he walked on the done at the end of the day. For a couple of days Kado perked up and had a little spring in his step. Dr. Julia, Kado's rehab vet, said he was more relaxed than he had been in his months. But last Saturday he started to slip away. Last night after we struggled to get up and up the ramp to our bed Kado let me know it was time to let him go. This morning only confirmed it was true. Kado was not in pain and when he took his last breath he was peaceful. After he departed his work we carried him out of the house wrapped in a blanket on a special cot with Max following directly behind all the way to the house. On the way Kado's front legs came out of the blanket and of course they were crossed.

The bond between a Guide Dog and handler is unique and it is strong. Kado left indelible footprints on my heart that are new now and will never go away. I will love him and cherish the time we had together for the rest of my life. And when I am lonely I hope and pray that Kado, Petros and Jensen will greet me on the other side. I would like to thank Guide Dogs for the Blind for the gift of Kado. Anyone wishing to honor Kado may do so in his name at www.guidedogs.com. I would also like to thank Dr. Julia Fontaine at Petros Animal Rehabilitation and her staff for the love and support they provided to Kado to keep him moving without pain.

BUSINESS

Finding balance between family, technology

Technology has taken over and frankly it has helped to make my life run more efficiently. I have a family calendar set up so we can all post our schedules, I can read my emails from my phone, stay up-to-date in my personal and business social media accounts and I can snap photos and videos of my children to plague my family and friends with. Technology also helps with my job by allowing my team members and clients to text me quick questions when I'm not at the office, and so much more. I'm sure many of you have also found much value in how technology has changed our daily operations.

With that said, it can also be a dangerous addiction. There are times I see parents engrossed in their phones instead of watching their child score a goal at the soccer game, or I've seen children piling on a parent who is zoned out in the world of candy land or whatever game is hot at the moment. I am not innocent, after a long day at work, I have found myself lost in Instagram, Facebook and blog posts. Or on my days off of work or in the evenings I catch up on messages from my photo clients, or even opening my work email so I'm not overwhelmed when I go back in.

Both of my children have school iPads and we got them iPads for at home too. They love technology. It's become ingrained as part of their daily routine. At home they are constantly asking to play games, take videos and pictures. It's a difficult balance of feeling like I'm on either end of the bad mom spectrum. I'm either a "bad mom" for allowing them to play too much, according to my impression of peer judgement or I'm a "bad mom" according to my children for not letting them play. Either way, I sometimes feel like I will win that award.

I had an interesting conversation with my son a few weeks ago. He was explaining that when he's a dad someday, he plans to allow his kids to play as much technology as they want until they decide it's enough. I asked him, "how will they know when they have had enough time?" He said they would just be bored of it. I believe he was trying to sway me to allow more time. Instead I answered, "Buddy, I will tell you this, I don't know how much time is too much or not enough. I don't always know all the answers and I will make mistakes, a lot of them.

But always know that I am doing my absolute best." I got a warm hug and an "I love you mom." Gosh, maybe I won't win the "bad mom of the year" award after all.

My point is, just be careful of losing those precious moments or potential teachings in exchange for getting caught up on emails. Don't eliminate technology, just monitor your time and schedule "tech-free" family time too. Times are changing, technology is such a part of our lives, even for our kids. Do embrace it, just find balance.

Women's Resource Center seeks donations for Harvest Food and Supply Drive

COURTESY PHOTO

Staff of the Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan's Domestic Abuse/Sexual Assault Program anticipate Harvest Food and Supply Drive donations to benefit the Safe Home. Program staff pictured with empty plates representing the vital need for non-perishable and financial donations include (clockwise from bottom, right): Haley Fortune, Kim McQuiston, Amy Strohpaal, Chris Krajewski, Angie Linsenman, Jamie Winters, Jen Rashleigh-Houser, Jamie Weaver, Jennifer DeVries and Amber Whitmore-Michel.

Donations to the Harvest Food and Supply Drive are a meaningful way for community members and groups to make a difference in the lives of domestic abuse survivors and their children utilizing Safe Home services. The annual drive brings in a significant amount of the food and supplies provided to families at the shelter from Antrim, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Emmet and Otsego counties.

The Safe Home, operated continuously by the Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan, provides services to survivors at no charge. During the past fiscal year, the Safe Home provided 2,502 nights of refuge to survivors of domestic abuse and their children. More than 7,500 meals were provided to shelter residents along with all their daily needs. Donations of non-perishable foods, paper products, cleaning supplies, personal care items and financial contributions are needed to offset annual costs that exceed $25,000, according to Jamie Winters, Safe Home coordinator.

Giving to the Harvest Food and Supply Drive is about more than just about making a donation; it is about making a difference, Winters said.

"Your donations to the Harvest Food and Supply Drive make a difference by helping us continue to make these vital services available to survivors at the Safe Home," Winters said. "Your non-perishable and financial donations provide for the immediate needs of local survivors and their children, and also help make the shelter 'home' as these courageous women work to regain control of their lives and take steps toward a positive future."

Donations may be brought to the Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan main office and Gold Mine Resale Shops in Petoskey, or to agency offices in Cheboygan, Gaylord and Mancelona. A Safe Home needs list is available at wrcnm.org.

For more information, or to arrange for pick-up of items, call (231) 347-1572.

Northern Michigan Sports Medicine Center hosts annual holiday food drive

CHARLEVOIX—Northern Michigan Sports Medicine Center of Charlevoix is hosting the 6th Annual Holiday Food Drive supporting the Charlevoix Community Food Pantry. Food and cash donations will be accepted at the clinic located at 06510 N M-66, in the Kmart plaza through Friday, Nov. 13.

Joel Smith, physical therapist and clinic manager, and staff wanted to get involved with helping the community.

"Holding a food drive before the holiday season is the time when food banks really need assistance," Smith said. "Our staff is excited to bring the community together."

Cash donations are needed to buy food in bulk. Every dollar donated purchases between 5 to 15 pounds of food. New this year, with each donation participants receive 50 percent off a gym membership.

The top foods needed for the food bank are:

- Proteins – canned meats, tuna, chicken, and peanut butter
- Soups and Stew
- Rice and pasta
- Cereal, including oatmeal
- Canned vegetables, including tomatoes and to-

- mato sauce
- Canned or dried beans and peas
- Canned fruits
- Fruit juice (canned, plastic or boxed) make sure it's 100% juice
- Prepared box mixes – macaroni and cheese, Hamburger Helper
- Shelf-stable milk

Those who are unable to stop by the Charlevoix clinic may also drop off food and cash donations at any of the Northern Michigan Sports Medicine Centers located in Harbor Springs and two locations in Petoskey.

Northern Michigan Sports Medicine Center is dedicated to providing high quality rehabilitative and preventive care to enhance the active lifestyles of northern Michigan. For more information, call (231) 547-0380.

Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce applications for annual holiday parade

Area residents are invited to show their holiday spirit and community cheer by entering Charlevoix's Fifth Annual Holiday Parade sponsored by 4Front Credit Union. Area businesses, organizations and individuals are invited to participate at no cost and lights are encouraged. The parade will begin at 5:30 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 27, on Bridge Street in downtown Charlevoix.

The parade is a welcome addition to Charlevoix's annual Community Tree Lighting festivities, which run that same day. Tree lighting activities will take place from 3-5 p.m. and include complimentary cookie decorating and a holiday craft making workshop at the Charlevoix Circle of Arts, free photos with Santa at Charlevoix State Bank, hot cocoa and cookies in East Park, and of course, the lighting of the community Christmas tree for the first time this holiday season. And don't forget about all the great deals and specials being offered by area stores and restaurants throughout the day.

All are invited to join the parade. No entry is too big or too small and there is no charge to participate. Let's make the community parade a cherished tradition that will continue for years to come. Contact the Chamber today at (231) 547-2101 or email info@charlevoix.org for further details.

The deadline to register for the parade is Friday, Nov. 20. Parade registration forms are available at the Chamber office or at charlevoix.org.

For complete contest rules, visit Castle Farms Facebook contest page. Castle Farms, 5052 N. M-66, Charlevoix.

High wildfire danger prompts DNR to issue outdoor safety precautions

LANSING – The Michigan Department of Natural Resources is reminding hunters, and everyone else outside enjoying the fall weather, to be cautious while lighting campfires and using wood stoves this season.

A warm beginning to autumn has increased the chances of a wildfire. In fact, the DNR recently responded to several fires, both in the upper and lower peninsulas; the largest of those was a 17-acre fire in Sanilac County.

Dan Laux, DNR fire prevention specialist, said remembering the basics of fire safety will help ensure that this hunting season isn't ruined by a wildfire.

"Our main concerns have to do with falling leaves and dry grass, combined with embers from wood stoves and campfires," Laux said. "The beginning of the hunting season has been a bit warmer and dryer this year, so that causes a little concern.

If folks take a few extra minutes to keep fire safety in mind, it'll help ensure that the only blaze in this woods this hunting season will be the blaze orange on our hunters."

The DNR recommends following a few general precautions to ensure fire safety:

- Never leave a campfire or wood stove unattended.
- Clear the area of leaves and dry fuel before lighting a campfire.
- Don't park a vehicle in dry grass.

– If a campfire gets out of control, call 911 immediately.

– Avoid outdoor burning when it is windy to prevent escape and spread of a fire.

So far this year, the DNR has responded to a total of 341 wildfires, which have burned 2,920 acres. To learn more about the DNR's firefighting efforts, and how to prevent wildfires, visit michigan.gov/preventwildfires.

Student Veterans Association partners with Chase Bank for free veterans' breakfast

PETOSKEY – Veterans and their families are invited to a free breakfast at the North Central Michigan College cafeteria from 8-10 a.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 11. The college's Student Veterans Association and Chase Bank are sponsoring the event to show appreciation to local veterans and their families. No reservations are necessary.

North Central Michigan College is an open-door community college based in Petoskey, with additional locations offering classes and services in Cheboygan and Gaylord. North Central's mission is to provide educational, economic and cultural opportunities for student learning, personal growth and community improvement. North Central is an Achieving the Dream Leader College and a Military-Friendly School.

Charlevoix area resident's work featured in USDA calendar

Local resident Suzanne Muma of Charlevoix is among a handful of citizens who had their poultry photography featured in the 2016 edition of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Biosecurity for Birds calendar. Muma's image is featured on the April page.

The Biosecurity for Birds program focuses on educating backyard poultry owners and bird enthusiasts about highly contagious poultry diseases and other threats to birds. The program helps inform anyone who owns or handles birds how to prevent disease and tells them what to do if they suspect their birds might be ill. This outreach campaign is especially important considering the outbreak of highly pathogenic avian influenza earlier this year, where both commercial and backyard flocks were affected.

Free copies are distributed across the country. To order a copy, visit web01.aphis.usda.gov.

gov/PRTDIST/WebOrder/WOEIS.nsf and use product code PA-2171. Calendars are shipped as quickly as possible, but please allow 4-6 weeks for delivery.

The USDA is now seeking photography for the 2017 edition. For more information, visit healthybirds.aphis.usda.gov.

Zonta Club of Charlevoix to host Women at Risk Jewelry Party

The Zonta Club of Charlevoix's International Women at Risk Jewelry Party will be from 5:30-8:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 18, at the Charlevoix Professional Building 06479 N. M-66, across from K-Mart. Wine, hors d'oeuvres, snacks and desserts will be available. Bring a friend, browse and shop beautiful handmade products such as fashionable jewelry, scarves, Christmas ornaments and other holiday items while supporting a the Zonta cause.

Zonta organization promotes rescue and assistance of women and children who have been sold into the sex trafficking industry. The Gaylord Herald-Times' March 4, 2011, edition said, "This form of slavery is not just an international problem." According to Michigan's Women's Foundation, 159 of Michigan's young girls were victims of commercial sexual exploitation in August of 2010 alone.

All proceeds from the Women at Risk Jewelry Party benefit safe houses and other projects directly impacting at-risk women and children around the world.

their diet and to save scrap metal. A 45-minute per day vigorous exercise program was to be initiated at the high school to prepare boys for the rigors of boot camp — the girls program would consist in "light calisthenics" since they would mainly be sewing and nursing. There were all page "Uncle Sam wants YOU" advertisements encouraging boys to enlist in the military. I'd letters written from the boys at war to their families and friends back home.

Charles Richardson — and probably been anxious to join other enlisted hometown boys on the front. He knew what it meant to pull together as a team having been part of Charlevoix's 1938 runner up basketball team at state finals. By 1942, he had completed his basic training in the U.S. Army and had advanced to the rank of sergeant. It was Nov. 2, 1942 when Sgt. Richardson and four of the nine crew members aboard the OA-10 Catalina Flying Boat disappeared into the water; the wreckage was discovered in 2009, and the remains of Richardson and four other men on board the aircraft — when it sank — were recovered from the crash site in 2012. Through DNA supplied by Richardson's niece and nephew, scientists were able to identify his remains from material evidence recovered. Richardson was interred at Arlington National Cemetery on Sept. 17.

Chuck Richardson and Beeson represented the family in Washington, D.C. on Sept. 17, at Arlington National Cemetery. Beeson was presented with the traditional flag at the interment ceremony for their uncle and the other airmen.

"After a Catholic funeral Mass," Richardson said, "we proceeded to the cemetery. There were full military honors on the way to the cemetery. A U.S. Army band led the way followed by a color guard and a rifle brigade. Finally, the common casket was placed on a horse-driven caisson and brought to the cemetery for a graveside service... at the gravesite were the closing remarks, there was a gun salute, playing of taps, and presentation of the flag to my sister. The whole ceremony was very moving."

Cathy Beeson was honored to be at the interment ceremony and was able to deliver a short eulogy about her uncle.

"I never knew my Uncle Charley," she said, during the interment service. "I never got to see his face or hear his stories. I did not know if he was smart or funny, musically inclined or athletic, or talented in some way. I did not know how he viewed the world or what his hopes and dreams were. The list goes on."

Who was this young Charlevoix man?

Richardson's niece has been helpful in supplying some of the missing pieces. According to Beeson, there were three Richardson children: her father, the late George Richardson, who married her mother Mary (Gengle) Richardson, her aunt Cina (Richardson) Berg-mann and the youngest, "Charley." We know, from newspaper clippings, that Charley was No. 3 on the 1938 Charlevoix High School basketball team that was runner up in the state basketball championship that year. His teammates were Ray Klpe, Keith Carey, Louis Brown, Chuck Gallager, Bert Pearl, Warren Allison, Richard "Big" Bergmann, Tony Gengels, Perry Smith and Harry Withers.

She spoke about her father, George Richardson, and his sister, Cina about how they must have kept those thoughts and memories safely guarded in a place deep inside them, where grief and perhaps some early childhood visions lived. "Those hidden pearls of information disappeared too when first my dad, then my aunt Cina passed away... Silence for so many years," Beeson said.

What she did know is that life was not easy for Richardson and siblings. Each of their parents died while the kids successful campaign.

"I certainly wish Aaron Hagen well, and I wish the city council well," Porter said. "I enjoyed serving the people of Charlevoix and the city, and I hope I can serve the city someday in the future."

The battle for control of the city's 1st and 3rd wards heated up this summer after a very controversial discussion about skydiving at the airport. The discussion focused on 1st Ward representative Luther Kurtz who received approval from the city airport to conduct his skydiving operation at the airport. Council members Gibson and Porter questioned the insurance coverage of the operation, which was the center of some very heated council meetings over the summer.

Kurtz, who was discouraged about the airport debate, put his support behind Hagen with the hope to bring a more business friendly approach to council.

In his support letter sent out to 1st Ward voters, Kurtz expressed how Hagen shared many of his same ideas and believed he would be a good change for council.

"I met with Aaron three times before I decided to support him, and he pledged to look at items objectively and be positive in discussion on council even if we disagreed," Kurtz said.

The remains of Charles Richardson were laid to rest in Arlington National Cemetery on Sept. 17. Richardson and four of the nine crew members aboard the OA-10 Catalina Flying Boat disappeared into the stormy seas of the Gulf of St. Lawrence — during take-off — near Longue-Pointe-de-Mingan in Quebec on Nov. 2, 1942. "Somehow he managed to rise above all this and make it to the rank of sergeant in the U.S. Army," Beeson said. "Resilience can describe him. It has been 73 years since that fateful day of Nov. 2, 1942 when the U.S. Army Air Forces OA-10 Catalina, carrying my 23-year-old uncle, along with eight fellow crewmen, crashed into the sea of the Gulf of Saint Lawrence.

"So many years and yet, he is able to touch our lives in this very profound way," she added. "The feelings I have are difficult to express, but your work has drawn me so close. My heart is very full of pride as I stand with you Sgt. Charles Richardson. He did for all of us what was required of him and now we are present to do the same for him."

There was one short, front-page article referencing Richardson's death, in the Charlevoix Courier on Dec. 30, 1942. In it he was commended for his "devotion to duty" by his commanding officer. He had been reported as another soldier killed in duty. "Charles Richardson" would be 95 years old this year. His name is remembered along with the other fallen soldiers of Charlevoix, no longer "among the missing" or "lost at sea" he has been found and has been officially laid to rest with honor.

Helios Dale

2003-October 10, 2015

Helios Dale was born 2003 in Detroit, MI. He was kept at a home of people who mistreated him and was unwanted. Fortunately, Fred Pakumbe, who lived across the street, saw him and kept his eye on Helios in case he could be rescued. The people left the home and abandoned Helios January 2004 when it was record low temperatures. Uncle Fred saw Helios rummaging through garbage. Hungry and thirsty, he set out bowls with food and water for Helios. Uncle Fred said if he stayed there he would take him. Helios did stay there and was then fostered by Fred for a couple months, and at the time, Fred called him Dale after Dale Earhart Jr. who won the Daytona 500. He decided to call Dr. Melissa Makowski and Dr. Michael Lucido who both had wanted a dog and were very interested in meeting him. When he met his adoptive parents, Helios bounded up to them licking their cheeks and face before eventually rolling over on his back in submission as though he was saying "take me". He was named Helios because of beautiful blonde fur which appeared like the morning sun.

From that point on, he made many travels across Michigan from all over south eastern Detroit area, the Thumb, Whitefish Point, Munising, Le Cheneaux, and to all the wonderful parts of northwestern Michigan. He loved long walks down his neighborhood street, tearing out the stuffing in pillows, hiking through the woods, swimming in Lake Michigan, chasing squirrels, playing fetch with his ball, laying on the couch to watch a movie or show, visiting downtown Charlevoix, and snuggling in bed. He eventually settled around Eastport and worked at Lakeview Dentistry of Charlevoix. He loved all children because they had the most gentle and little hands to rub his tummy. He helped keep the staff and Dr. Makowski in great spirits and taught everyone to appreciate the small moments like the feel of grass or sun rising over Round Lake. He smelled like orange blossoms, had a gentle soul, and was strong as most pitbulls are. Unfortunately, Helios battled Cushing's disease and severe arthritis. He died peacefully at home assisted by Dr. DeGrazia with his loved ones by his side including Michael, Melissa, Carmela, and Cash, his adoptive brother. When Helios passed, Cash barked continuously as Helios made his transition across the rainbow bridge.

In the end, Helios was not rescued by Michael and Melissa. He rescued them and gave them a reason to stop and take in the essence of life. He was our family and will be truly missed. Thank you Helios for all that you did for us.

As with humans, pet obituaries assign value to a life, define its highlights, extol socially validated accomplishments, and serve as models of living. To assign value to an animal's life is a fine thing, and an excellent match with the growing movement to treat animals of all kinds -- not only our pets -- with care and dignity.

The Charlevoix boys and girls cross country teams pose for photos after each earning a spot in the Division 3 state final at the regional meet on Saturday hosted by Michaway Pines Golf Club in Gaylord.

Season-best races help Charlevoix cross country teams earn trip to D3 state final

JAMES GENSTERBLUM
(231) 439-9343 - jgensterblum@petoskeynews.com

GAYLORD — With 14 total runners on the course for boys and girls cross country teams on the course at a given time, a personal best or two at a meet isn't uncommon.

But when nearly every runner on a team runs a personal best at the same meet, that's a special moment.

For the Charlevoix cross country team, the stars aligned in exactly that way at just the right time, as the Rayders had 12 runners set lifetime bests at the Division 3 regional meet on Saturday at Michaway Pines Golf Club in Gaylord to help Charlevoix reach the state final on both the boys and girls sides.

"As a coach, performances like that are what you're always looking for, and what you really want to see from your runners at this time of year," Charlevoix coach Doug Drenth said. "To get that many lifetime bests in a meet this important is just everything you could ask for for this group."

"They really came to run today, and put it all together on the course."

Those lifetime bests were crucial for a Charlevoix girls squad that was projected to miss out on the state qualifying spot heading into the race.

Thanks to the Rayders' performance on Saturday, Charlevoix was able to edge favored Kingsley 99-114 for the third and final qualifying spot.

"I've never been more glad in my life that these races aren't decided on paper, because if they were our girls would not have made it," Drenth said. "We weren't supposed to make it out of this region, but our girls really stepped up and performed when it counted to help us make that prediction false."

Frontrunners Michelle Bollini (sixth, 19:44.49) and Isabel Hess (11th, 20:10.22) were solid leaders for Charlevoix, as they have been all season, but great performances from the Rayders' third, fourth and fifth runners were what sealed the result.

Freshman Kaitlin Schwenke came in 18th (21:04.21) for Charlevoix, well ahead of Kingsley's second runner, and Katie Mousseau (31st, 22:10.16) and Hannah Solomon (37th, 22:53.01) ran well enough to keep the Rayders ahead at the end.

Kelsey Engstrom finished 40th (23:06.76) and Lukila Witthoeft took 47th (23:30.48) as well for Charlevoix.

"We wouldn't be in the position we were in without Michelle and Isabel up front, but it was really Kaitlin, Katie and Hannah running great races that gave us the push we needed," Drenth said. "In cross country, it takes every one of your top five to finish well, and every one of them came through for us today."

With dual-sport athletes David Ritter and Noah Carson able to participate on Saturday after the Charlevoix soccer team's elimination from the state tournament on Wednesday, the Rayders were a solid bet to make the state final regardless of their performance.

But the Charlevoix boys still impressed with their best performance of the season, finishing with 67 points and taking second to state title contender Benzie Central.

No Cinderella Story: Rayders outpossess third-ranked Warriors but fall in penalties

JAMES GENSTERBLUM

TRAVERSE CITY — Consensus opinion had the Charlevoix soccer team as underdogs heading into its Division 4 regional final matchup with third-ranked Muskegon Western Michigan Christian on Wednesday.

While the Rayders didn't come away with the victory, falling 5-4 in a shootout after a 1-1 tie in regulation and overtime, they did prove the flaws in that opinion.

Far from being overmatched by the Warriors, Charlevoix went toe-to-toe with them from the opening whistle to the end of the second overtime.

The Rayders convincingly won the possession battle and outshot the Warriors 11-5, forcing a vaunted Western Michigan Christian offense to create chances almost exclusively off its counter-attack.

Rayders split season-ending tri, look to defend district crown

JAMES GENSTERBLUM

CHARLEVOIX — Defending a district title is never easy.

But despite the challenges, including the graduation of four starters from that squad, the Charlevoix volleyball team is forging ahead as it looks to repeat as district champions.

The Rayders got in one final tune-up before the start of district play next week, hosting Northport and Class D power Leland in a tri match on Thursday.

Charlevoix put on a strong performance in a 25-19, 25-12 win over Northport, but the third-ranked team in Class D was too much as the Comets topped the Rayders 25-11, 25-11.

Becca Moon led the Rayders with 11 kills, five digs, six assists and three blocks on the night, while Emily Zabawa chipped in eight kills, 11 assists, 12 digs and three blocks.

Hannah Zipp finished with eight blocks, four kills and four aces for Charlevoix. Beth Veenstra chipped in four aces, two blocks and five digs and Ali Jarema and Julia Doskoch each chipped in 13 digs as well.

"The girls played a better paced game, which is very close to our goal heading into postseason play," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said. "We

Former Rayder Way fills role while helping No. 5 Ferris State volleyball capture national prominence

BRANDON FOLSOM (989) 732-1111
bfolsom@heraldtribune.com

GAYLORD — Coming from a family that has paid its service to Ferris State University, it's only right former Charlevoix volleyball player Jenna Way does the same for her college.

Way's grandfather, Dean Davenport, served as Ferris State's athletic director from 1979-93. He helped the college garner 14 consecutive President's Cup Championships in the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (GLIAC) during his tenure. He also was an integral part of expanding Ferris State's footprint in women's athletics.

Terry Davenport, Way's uncle and currently a chief marketer for Starbucks, may have had an even more visible impact on Ferris State. He designed the Bulldogs logo — a golden-colored bulldog wearing a fierce facial expression, intimidating collar and Ferris dog tag — in 1979 when he was a student living in Big Rapids. Ferris State still uses a retouched version of his logo design, which sports fans voted the state's "Best Sports Logo" during a 2013 Detroit Free Press competition.

Enter Way, who is a junior on Ferris State's fifth-ranked volleyball team.

While Way doesn't start for the team, the defensive specialist does lead Ferris State's scout team in practice and plays an integral role in preparing the Bulldogs (24-2) for games each week.

"There's so many times when we do things well in the game only because Jenna made us do it in practice," Ferris State coach Tia Brandel-Wilhelm said Thursday after an impromptu practice in Gaylord High's Jim Mongeau Gymnasium. "She's a huge emotional leader on our team."

"People just look up to her and know that she has high standards for everyone around her and for herself. So people work really hard for her."

And that's something Way takes pride in herself, as the Bulldogs have enjoyed a slew of on-court accolades this fall.

The Bulldogs garnered the No. 1 ranking in the American Volleyball Coaches Association's Division II top 25 national poll Oct. 26. It was the first they had ever been the top-ranked team in the country in school history, despite Ferris State spending most of this season ranked.

Additional honors this season include the AVCA naming two Ferris State players, Megan Vander Meer and Stephanie Sikorski, its National Player of the Week.

"I'm so happy that my teammates have gotten these national and GLIAC honors," Way said Thursday. "I know they deserve it because they're very hard working in and out of practice. They're really good students and great leaders on and off the court."

Ritter took sixth (17:18.62), Carson seventh (17:23.40) and senior Jonathan Pischner eighth (17:26.45) as Charlevoix put three runners in the top 10, but it was the performances of Luke Buday (20th, 18:04.47) and senior Ryan Erskine (22nd, 18:15.64) that locked up second place for Charlevoix.

"Ryan's dropped 50 seconds in the last two weeks, and he's someone who works hard in practice and takes the sport seriously, so his improvement has been great to see," Drenth said. "Luke really kicked it in with a kilometer to go to finish strong."

"With David and Noah up front, Jonathan running well, and those two doing well we've got a very solid lineup."

Ben Peterson took 35th (19:18.18) and Josh Clees 60th (20:19.83) for Charlevoix.

Both the Charlevoix boys and girls teams fell short of making it to the state meet last year, so to reach this year's Division 3 state final, set for Saturday at Michigan International Speedway and beginning with the girls race at 10:30 a.m. was important for both teams, Drenth said.

"It's the pinnacle of a high school career," Drenth said. "To get to that meet and get a chance to run at that venue, in that atmosphere is something truly special and it's why these kids put in all the miles over the summer and work as hard as they do."

"We've been building towards this since June, and it's exciting for us to get there."

pliment for me. When Steph got National Player of the Week, in my mind, I just smiled a little bit because I know that I helped her day in and day out to get that kind of honor. I feel good that she got that because I know that I'm doing something right by making her work hard. I give myself a little pat on the back sometimes with that, but I'm really proud of her with the hard work we're putting in, so we're pushing each other in practice. We're making each other better, and it's awesome."

Playing with that kind of selflessness has helped the team bond closer and is a reason the Bulldogs have enjoyed so much success this fall.

"We have a very strong team in friend relationships on and off the court," Way said. "I think that's probably my most favorite part about playing at Ferris."

"It was like that in high school, but it's definitely more apparent on and off the court here at Ferris. It's definitely a key to our success. We strive on it, and we love it. I think that's why we're so successful because we're so strong in those relationships."

Ferris State is first in the GLIAC standings with four games remaining and should be a favorite when it enters the season-end conference tournament. A tournament championship could help the Bulldogs grasp a top seed in the DII NCAA tournament, where they will compete to bring back a national title to campus.

Way, who redshirted her freshman year and will have two more years of playing eligibility left after this season, will continue chipping away in practice to prepare her

Bulldogs to make a run in those two tournaments.

And she wouldn't want it any other way while living in her new town, as the Charlevoix native has all but adopted and thrived in Big Rapids like her grandfather, uncle and so many other family members have the past few decades.

"I absolutely love it, and Ferris is where I'm supposed to be," Way said. "I know this is exactly where I'm supposed to be. I felt wanted here when I was recruited way back in early middle school in eighth grade when I got to go down there for camps and play with the college girls."

"I love my program, dental hygiene, that I'm in the second year of studying, and I just know Ferris is a great spot for me. It's not too big, and it's not too small, and it's close to home. I just knew I was supposed to be a Bulldog, and I kind of filled a role there."

SOCCER

"Getting to this game and playing the way we did in this game, I'm so proud of these boys," Charlevoix coach Anton Matye said. "I thought we deserved to win this game, but the ball just didn't bounce our way."

"Our players played with composure, and (assistant) coach (Glenn) Wachler and I have been preaching all season long that if we maintain possession, it's going to lead to good things for us, and that's why we were in a position to win today."

After a conservative first half that saw both teams taking few risks and feeling their opponent out, play opened up in the second half, and Western Michigan Christian struck first.

Prolific Warrior scorer Dylan Mines played a deep ball to sophomore Evan Fles after he had snuck behind the Rayders defense, and the sophomore beat the Charlevoix goalkeeper to put WMC up 1-0 in the 43rd minute.

From that moment, however, Charlevoix came to life, largely controlling play and creating the lion's share of the scoring chances for the rest of the half and both overtime periods.

The Rayders got a quick equalizer as well, as junior defenseman Kevin Pearl played a cross to the right side of the box to junior midfielder Christian Matye, who headed the ball back to the center where senior Walker Drost was waiting.

Drost jumped on the ball and buried a short range shot through a thicket of defenders to tie the game at a goal apiece just five minutes after Fles' score.

"The ball got bounced in, Christian got at it and brought out from the post, and Walker was ready for it," Coach Matye said. "He did a fabulous job turning on it and putting it away."

"That was a huge goal for us, to come right back after they scored and answer, and it really changed the play on the field in a positive way for our team."

Charlevoix got another great effort from its backline of Kevin Pearl, Danny Nesburg, Matt Good and Cameron Clark, which held a 31-goal scorer in Mines almost completely in check throughout the contest, and from midfielder David Ritter, who made an impact both offensively and defensively and helped the Rayders dominate play in between the boxes.

Rayder goalkeeper Jacob Harrod also had a strong game, coming out of the goal to break up several dangerous scoring chances and help Charlevoix reach overtime.

In the end, however, Charlevoix couldn't capitalize on solid chances near the end of regulation and in overtime, and in the shootout, their 4 for 5 conversion rate wasn't enough to match the experienced Warriors' perfect 5 for 5 performance that gave WMC the win.

Charlevoix finishes the year 21-4-2, with three of those losses coming in penalty shootouts.

It's one of the best finishes in school history, and while the Rayders will have to replace a prolific scorer in Drost, as well as sub Kyle Illenden, 10 starters return to next year's squad, as well as a deep bench.

"We're hoping to put together a tougher schedule next year to help prepare us, but this team proved tonight that they can play with anybody," Coach Matye said. "Obviously, losing a four-year starter like Walker, you're not just going to find another guy like that easily."

but we've got a lot of young players we're excited about coming back."

"We're looking forward to next year, and seeing if we can build off of this."

Belvedere Golf Club and Team USA squad members Chuck McMullin (left) and Dennis "Marty" Joy II hold up the Hickory Grail Cup after helping the American squad beat Team Europe 16-8 to claim the trophy for the third straight time on Tuesday, Oct. 27 at Baltusrol Golf Club in Springfield, NJ.

SPRINGFIELD, NJ — Three members of the Belvedere Golf Club, including Charlevoix resident and club pro Dennis "Marty" Joy II, helped Team USA claim the ninth Hickory Grail Cup title in dominant fashion over its European rivals on Tuesday, Oct. 27 at Baltusrol Golf Club in New Jersey.

The Americans won 16-8, the most dominant victory in the 15-year history of the event, which pits 12 of the United States' top hickory golfers against 12 European players in a biannual, Ryder Cup-style tournament hosted under the auspices of the British Golf Collectors Society.

Hickory golf is a variant of the modern game that is played only with pre-1930s era hickory golf clubs or authorized reproductions, and the Belvedere is a popular club for hickory golfers thanks to its status as one of five sites for the hickory majors every single year.

The three players from Charlevoix, Joy, Chuck McMullin and Ross Hays, played well throughout the four-day event, despite a fiendishly difficult Baltusrol course that played fast and lived up to its reputation as a host of U.S. Opens and PGA Championships.

"I think the severe greens and speed of the greens at Baltusrol gave the USA team a distinct advantage and hindered the Euros," Joy said after the event. "USA putted well all week-end."

The gamesmanship started early on in the practice rounds, and Joy played a big part, beating the European team's top player in practice and forcing the squad to change up its pairings for the ensuing foursome and fourball competitions.

The US squad dominated both of those competitions, winning foursomes 5-1 and fourball 5.5-5 to take a virtually insurmountable lead into the deciding singles matches.

Europe edged the Americans 6.5-5.5 in the singles matches, but that performance wasn't nearly enough to make up the gap as Team USA claimed the title under captain Mark Wehring of Texas' guidance.

It's the third straight win for the Americans, who reclaimed the crown in 2011 and held onto it after tying with Team Europe in 2013.

Europe will take its turn as host for the 2017 event, and although a venue has not been selected yet, there are a variety of historic courses that could host Team USA's attempt to win its fourth straight Hickory Grail.

It was a great event, and a spectacular venue," Joy said. "We're looking forward to 2017."

played well against both teams but the experience of Leland showed itself again in our match.

"We had generous rallies and many girls had a solid night that they should be proud of as a team. They are putting it together."

Also for the Rayders, Kenzy O'Leary added three kills and four digs, Grace Sutherland chipped in seven digs, and Nichole Hart added two kills.

Charlevoix looks to repeat as district champions this season, and will host a semifinal on Wednesday at 7 p.m. against the winner of Monday's Inland Lakes/Royne City match to open its title defense.

The Rayders swept its season series with the Ramblers this season, but neither win came easily, with Boyne City taking Charlevoix to four sets in a meeting on Tuesday before falling.

A win on Wednesday would send the Rayders to the district final against either East Jordan, Harbor Springs or St. Ignace on Thursday.

That match would be at whichever of the three schools in the top half of the bracket advances to the final. The Rayders split with East Jordan and Harbor Springs this season, and beat St. Ignace in a weekend tournament earlier in the year.

Complete coverage of the Rayders' district tournament run will be in the Nov. 13 edition of the Charlevoix Courier.

Food FOCUS

Pizza Girl rises above ordinary pie

(231) 547-6558 - lallen@schurz.com

This week's Food Focus turns its lens to Pizza Girl, located at 108 Antrim St., in downtown Charlevoix, where Pizza Girl owner Tamara Watson and her crew are hand tossing some unique and flavorful artisan pizzas. Watson, who owned an artisan pizza shop in Saugatuck, decided to sell her business and move to Charlevoix the Beautiful and opened Pizza Girl in June. They use only the freshest, finest ingredients in their original pizza recipes. The menu also includes sandwiches and salads made with the same care as their pizzas, even their meatballs and salad dressings are made in house using the finest ingredients, Watson said. Pizza Girl is open at 4 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday and is take-out only so guests always get the freshest and hottest menu items. Watson's most popular pizza since her June opening is the Polka Dot pizza. Watson starts with pizza dough that is made in-house nightly so it is allowed to raise perfectly. The dough is hand tossed and then topped with an in-house made Bianca sauce — ricotta with Parmesan and fresh herbs — followed by roasted garlic, roasted artichoke hearts and roasted red peppers, spinach and dotted with house made marinara sauce. For more information about Pizza Girl, visit pizzagirl.com.

City offered township fire coverage help during planned bridge closures

Lonnie Allen

(231) 547-6558 - lallen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix Township Fire Department has reached out to the city with a possible plan for fire and emergency medical services coverage during the planned 12-night bridge closures in 2017.

Township fire chief Dan Thorp said he spoke briefly with Charlevoix city manager Mark Heydlauff about his department assisting the city on the north side of the bridge with fire coverage since the township has two departments on the north side of the Pine River Channel.

"My hope is our department can respond to calls with the city whether in town or in the township on the north side," Thorp said. "We have two stations already on the north side of town and we could work with them to stage some equipment at our facilities instead of the city spending extra resources to house people and trucks themselves. My thought is to work together and use the resources we have on each side of the bridge to make this simple."

Thorp's plan also would require help from the city on the south side of the bridge since the city's department is located there.

"We would basically share manpower and equipment with each other to make sure none of residents

Future bridge maintenance will close the bridge for six hours on 12 consecutive nights in April. Officials from the Michigan Department of Transportation will conduct an informational meeting for the public at 5:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 24, at the Charlevoix Public Library.

Pancake breakfast, craft show assists local programs

Lonnie Allen

CHARLEVOIX — An art and craft show along with a breakfast feast raised dollars that will enrich lives and help support community programs throughout Charlevoix.

Nearly 300 people attended the fourth annual Safe Haven's Arts and Craft Show and pancake breakfast at the Community Reformed Church in Charlevoix on Nov. 7. The event began four years ago to help fund Safe Haven ministries, which operates the free Breakfast Club each Tuesday and Friday year-round at the church and Night Light, the men's shelter that operates November through March in Charlevoix.

"This is a huge support for programs that help build community," said Jan Boss, church spiritual director. "Support comes in many forms from financial gifts to our volunteers. Each of them helps the ministry."

Gay Pung has assisted with arts and craft show for the last four years and enjoys helping out.

"It's fun," Pung said. "Anytime you are volunteering is fun. It is another way to give back and help in the community."

There were 31 different tables that vendors used at the show each to promote and sell local Michigan made products. This year is the first

Township fire department discusses cost of new air packs

Lonnie Allen

(231) 547-6558 - lallen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — It's back to square one for the Charlevoix Township Fire Department, after department officials recently received news that the department would not be receiving a grant for new air packs.

Dan Thorp, township fire chief, told the township board about not receiving $125,000 Assistance to Firefighters Grant from the Federal Emergency Management Agency for the new equipment, during the regular township meeting on Nov. 9.

"Not getting the grant has caused us to rethink our options on purchasing the new equipment," Thorp said.

Replacing the air packs is a priority for the department because the age of the equipment, which makes repairs more difficult, Thorp said.

"Our air packs are 30-plus years old," Thorp said. "We can't buy parts for them anymore. We have exhausted the life of our current air packs. It is time for us to get new equipment."

The department is seeking to purchase 18 air packs and each air pack costs about $5,500 at a quoted price that Petoskey Public Safety received for approximately 60 of them, which would include Resort-Bear Creek Fire Department, said firefighter Lt. Cory

Township OKs water main fix

Lonnie Allen

(231) 547-6558 - lallen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix Township board approved two water service proposals during its meeting on Nov. 9.

The first was a contract with MDC Contracting L.L.C. of Charlevoix to install a new water main for Campbell Court to fix issues for a seasonal resident who is dealing with brown water.

"Every time she comes to stay at her home she has us out to deal with the water," said Randy Holecheck, Charlevoix Township maintenance and water department chief operator. "It is a brown color and we flush the lines and still doesn't seem to help."

Holecheck believes the problem has to deal with being on a dead-end line, he told township officials.

"We should be able to fix the problem by installing a new main," he added.

MDC would install approximately 290 feet of a new 6-inch water main from the cul-de-sac on Campbell Court to North Point Woods Drive and tap into the existing main there for approximately $28,960.

Charlevoix hospital names new medical director

SEAN MILLER
(231) 439-9378 smiller@petoskeynews.com

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix Area Hospital just recently appointed James L. Jeakle, MD, as its new medical director.

This position will be an expanded role on what he already does for the hospital. Jeakle has been with the hospital for more than 20 years, practicing at Charlevoix Women's Health Care and has gained respect as an obstetrician and gynecologist.

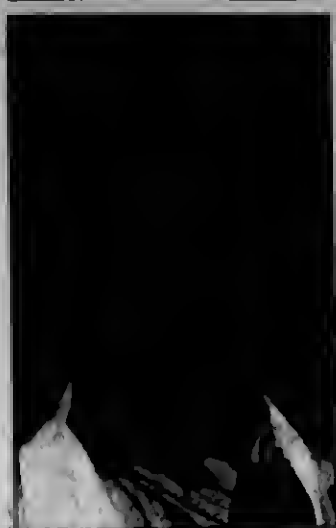

The position became open when the former medical director, Dr. Craig Boss, decided to pass the position along.

"Dr. Craig Boss did an outstanding job serving as our previous medical director for the past two years. He wore many hats — not only serving as medical director, but also as the director of our very successful and growing sleep center, all the while shouldering the responsibility of recruiting new physicians," said Cathy Fischl, marketing and public relations for Charlevoix Area Hospital.

"He made the decision to pass the torch and dedicate more time to the sleep center and recruitment earlier this year. He has been a great advocate for his fellow providers and continues to be a stellar representative of our hospital to those new physicians and medical students he recruits."

As the new medical director, Jeakle will be working closely with board of directors at the hospital to provide the best clinical and service experiences possible for the hospital's patients and families.

"Charlevoix Area Hospital has a history of treating its patients, physicians, staff members and visiting medical students like family," said Jeakle.

"This new and expanded responsibility as medical director allows me to bring my passion for patient care and my commitment to our hospital's medical staff to a new level."

Earlier this year, on Sept. 22, the Charlevoix Area Hospital announced it will be merging with Munson Healthcare. This merge will put them under the Munson network which includes; Munson Medical Center in Traverse City, Munson Healthcare Cadillac Hospital, Munson Healthcare Grayling Hospital and Paul Oliver Memorial Hospital as fully integrated hospitals in the Munson Healthcare system. This merge will also include the outpatient clinics and practices owned and operated by the Charlevoix Area Hospital in Boyne City, Charlevoix, and East Jordan.

The agreement between Munson and the Charlevoix Area Hospital has no impact on the decision to bring Jeakle on as the new medical director. The decision was made from within the hospital.

Jeakle was chosen for this position by Lyn Jenks, the CEO of the Charlevoix Area Hospital based on his relationship and experience with the hospital.

"I made the decision and it has nothing to do with the Munson deal. We are delighted that Dr. Jeakle is taking on this new responsibility with our hospital. He has a wealth of knowledge and expertise in both obstetrics/gynecology and in family medicine," said Jenks.

"I'm was chosen based on his longstanding relationship with the hospital, his experience as past chief of staff and chief of surgery and his capabilities working with his peers," she said.

Local charities celebrate annual Community Foundation Week

Editor,

More than 750 community foundations in the U.S. are impacting their communities in big and small ways. Whether it is providing local students scholarships for higher education or advocating for public policy change, community foundations exemplify the impact local citizens can have within their communities. The Charlevoix County Community Foundation and the Petoskey-Harbor Springs Area Community Foundation are proud to be a part of this growing movement. During the week of November 12-18, the two foundations join the nation in celebrating the 26th annual Community Foundation Week, recognizing the unique role that community foundations play within their towns and regions.

Since 1992, the Charlevoix County Community Foundation and the Petoskey-Harbor Springs Area Community Foundation have worked diligently to connect donors with community needs. Building partnerships between area nonprofits and those who wish to support them, the foundations have created numerous opportunities that have strengthened the entire region. Each year, these foundations distribute grants that encourage arts and culture, community and economic development, education, environmental stewardship, health and human services, historic preservation, recreation and youth development.

Grant making, however, is just one of the roles the two foundations play. We see our place within the nonprofit sector as conveners and collaborators. Whether it is serving as fiscal sponsor of an upcoming project or providing nonprofit organizations capacity-building workshops, we serve as a resource for the community. Our unique relationship with donors and nonprofits means that we have the pulse on what needs are urgent today as well as what challenges or opportunities may arise in the near future.

One opportunity being made available this year through community foundations is the Michigan Health Endowment Fund. This fund was created through the passage of Public Act 4 of 2013, which authorized certain changes to how Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan operates in the state. The fund was established to improve the health of Michigan residents and reduce the cost of health care with special emphasis on the health and wellness of children and seniors. The Michigan Health Endowment Fund for 2015 is focusing a portion of its grant making on helping community foundations improve the health of the regions they serve. If our joint grant application is accepted, the Charlevoix County Community Foundation, the Otsego County Community Foundation and the Petoskey-Harbor Springs Area Community Foundation will partner with the Health Department of Northwest Michigan to help them increase mental health support in the schools within the three county area. The funding — approximately $100,000 — will allow the health department to place mental health providers in schools as a way to increase access to mental health care for youth.

This is just one example of how we are leading the charge to mobilize the commitment and creativity in our communities to find new and better ways to improve the lives of our neighbors.

But we could not do it without you. We are forever grateful to all of you for the part you play.

Sincerely,

Chip Hansen, president of Charlevoix County Community Foundation, and David Jones, executive director of Petoskey-Harbor Springs Area Community Foundation

The Charlevoix County Community Foundation and the Petoskey-Harbor

Springs Area Community Foundation are public charities dedicated to improving and enriching the lives of people in their counties. The organizations hold various funds, all established by local donors. Some funds are earmarked for specific causes, others are open-ended to meet changing needs. The funds are typically held in permanent endowment so they can continue to grow and generate income to enhance the quality of life in our counties now and for generations to come. For more information, please contact the Charlevoix County Community Foundation at (231) 536-2440, or visit c3f.org; or the Petoskey Harbor-Springs Area Community Foundation at (231) 348-5820, or visit phsacf.org.

LOOKING BACK...

CHARLEVOIX
HISTORICAL SOCIETY
Bringing our past with our future

Ever since a substantial bridge — Charlevoix's third — was installed in 1878, it acted like a magnet that drew people downtown to watch the steadily increasing parade of maritime traffic that now was passing to and from Round Lake and beyond. The channel bridge has always been Charlevoix's focal point, around which everything revolves. But it wasn't always so cut off from foot traffic that is now the norm today whenever the bridge needs to be raised. The wooden traffic barrier gates were suspended right at the drop-off, so when they were down spectators simply walked into Bridge Street, leaned their arms on them and placed their toes at the rim of the abyss (the man at right in photo). Should it ever happen that a gate might give way — it reportedly never happened — over they would tumble into the drink with no one to blame but themselves for getting soaked. This was the era before rules and regulations, when people took their own risks and paid the consequences for doing so. Next to the man at the right of the photo stands Will Hampton, with crossed ankles and wearing a white hat, editor of the Charlevoix Democrat, precursor of the Courier. The lady in the long dark skirt at center is Martha Ayers, brilliant but highly eccentric businesswoman who constructed the tallest building in downtown Charlevoix in the 1890s, where East Park is today. Standing to her right, the short man with the white handkerchief, is Major E. H. Green, the first lawyer between Traverse City and the Straits of Mackinac, who arrived here in 1868 and built the Maison and Jardin building near the stoplight in 1885. At right, the large awning belonged to the Beilinger family stores, now Scoville's. Across the street, Fred Myer's popcorn wagon stands at the curb in front of his newsstand and cigar/variety store. Fred claimed he sold so much popcorn from the stand that it covered his entire overhead.

COMMUNITY Highlights

Kudos for a Charlevoix classmate, author

ANNE KELLY
Special to Courier

To his Charlevoix friends, the class of 1958, Larry Smith is just a really nice guy, modest to a fault and always generous with his time and talents. In the greater scope of things, he is an accomplished writer, editor and author of four books, two of which made the New York Times Best Seller List.

Smith graduated from the University of Michigan in 1962 and subsequently began his career in journalism. He became a writer-editor in Cheyenne, Wyo., the San Francisco Bay area, White Plains and Tarrytown, N.Y. During this time he wrote his first novel, The Original, a story set in early Northern Michigan. Smith spent nine years at the New York Daily News and then went on to become a copy editor at the night Metro Desk at the New York Times. In 1981, he happily left his night job for a day job at Parade Magazine. He was managing editor of that magazine for 18 years. Since then, he has written three novels. "Beyond Glory" is one of those. "Beyond Glory" was subsequently made into a play by the same name, and more recently, a documentary based on that play. The premiere showing of the film was recently presented at The Old Art Building in Leland on Nov. 6 and 7 to an appreciative audience of film and history lovers.

The book, "Beyond Glory," represents Smith's finest hour as interviewer and reporter. Traveling across the country, he gathered the honest, often gritty, always poignant war memories of 24 of the 120 living recipients of the Medal of Honor from WWII, the Korean Conflict and the Vietnam War. Their stories represent all that is brave and honorable in human nature and are presented to us at a time in our history when we could use a few heroes. There are only 70 medalists left today. We are losing a generation of soldiers; their stories are an oral tradition of patriotism, well-worth preserving.

Both Stephen Lang, the actor who enacted the play and whose performance was the subject of the film, and Smith were present at the premiere of the Beyond Glory documentary. Also present were some of Smith's classmates, graduates of the Charlevoix High School class of 1958. Mary Ann Chew is one of the classmates who has remained friends with Smith over the years.

"Larry is a humble and generous person," she said.

"He has on two occasions, been invited by the library to come back to Charlevoix to speak about both his books and also about his life and his meeting with Stephan Lang. He graciously accepted the invitations, at his own expense, in 2004 and 2011.

We are really fortunate to have had a best-selling author come to our library as a speaker," Chew added. "And I am fortunate to have him as a friend."

The 2011 visit was as a guest speaker at the library's annual Margaret Duerr Award at which another classmate, Davis Miles, Smith's life-long friend, was recognized for his contributions to the Historical Society especially the digitalization of the Society's photographic collection.

"We've followed his career ever since he became a copy editor at the New York Times and have been enormously proud of his journalistic and literary accomplishments since then," Miles said. "He's been very modest about all this, and we've been glad for him. He recognized this talent and ability in himself, ran with it, and look at what's he's achieved. And he's still the same old Larry we've known and liked since we were 10 years old. Whenever we get together it seems the years in between just fade away."

Another classmate of the class of 1958, Ed O'Neil, a retired OCLC (a global library cooperative), was not able to be present at the premiere, but had a few words to say about Smith.

"We were good friends in high school and had a symbiotic relationship at least academically," O'Neil said. "Larry had great language skills but found math challenging; language was not my strength, but math always seemed easy. I probably wouldn't have made it through Latin — the only language CHS taught in the '50s — without Larry's help and it's likely that Larry would have struggled even more in math without some help. Those high school experiences seem to have determined the careers for both of us. I became an engineer and Larry became a skilled and highly respected author... His books and other publications are widely recognized. Both "Beyond Glory" and "Two Jims" have been acquired by more than a thousand libraries including some of the world most prestigious. It is high praise when more than a thousand libraries decide to include two of Larry's books as part of their collections."

Kiwanis Club sponsors Thanksgiving Day Turkey Trot in Boyne City

BOYNE CITY — The Kiwanis Club of Boyne City announces the fifth annual Kiwanis Boyne City Turkey Trot at 9 a.m. on Thanksgiving morning, Nov. 26. The event will begin and end at the pavilion at Boyne City Veteran's Park. Registration will open at 8 a.m., and chip timing will be provided by Superior Timing. Awards will be recognized in 10 year age groups.

Individual and family pricing is available. Prior to the event, individuals can register for $20 each and families for $40. The day of the event, registration fees will be $25 for individuals and $50 for families. Individuals registering receive a t-shirt and families will receive two T-shirts. T-shirts are guaranteed if entry form is received by Nov. 20, 2015. Additional T-shirts can be purchased for $10 each. Packet pick-up will be available day before event from 2-6 p.m. at Edward Jones, 101 S. Lake St, Boyne City.

Registration forms can be picked up at the following locations in Boyne City at Boyne City Chamber; Edward Jones; Kiwans of Boyne City; Inspired Living; North Country Cycle Sport.

Printable forms are available online at boyne-chamber.com, and online registration is available at superiortiming.com.

All proceeds from the event will go to Kiwanis Club of Boyne City. Kiwanis Clubs focus on changing the world by serving children, one child and one community at a time. All of the money raised from this event will stay in the Boyne City area. Kiwanis Club organizers also would encourage everyone to bring a canned good or nonperishable food item to the event. These donations will then be delivered to the local food pantry, which is always in need.

Using $2 bills to support locally owned businesses

CHARLEVOIX — Two bucks doesn't go very far these days, but they may just help keep locally owned businesses alive... $2 at a time and during the Charlevoix Shop Local campaign this season, John and Lani Ochs, owners of Central Drug Store, want to educate their employees and customers about supporting locally owned businesses.

The Ochs ordered 500 $2 bills from Charlevoix State Bank. The Ochs are giving $0 of the bills to each employee, with specific instructions on how they must be spent. The bills must be spent as cash, not deposited into an account. $10 must go to a charity of their choice. The rest must be spent at locally owned businesses in the immediate Charlevoix area by Dec. 24. If asked, employees must explain about the program.

"I want to help my employees, help other locally owned businesses, and hopefully encourage other business owners and leaders in our community," John said. "We have great people working for us and supporting our pharmacy. It is important to differentiate local businesses from locally owned businesses. Corporate owned stores send all their profits to headquarters every night. Locally owned businesses keep their profits in

Charlevoix."

Lani added, "Locally owned businesses also support school programs, churches, service clubs, and charities. If we are going to have strong cities, we need strong locally owned businesses."

That is where the $2 bills come in.

"We almost never receive a $2 bill," John said.

"By using these uncommon bills, we can see if our program is working. We hope that other businesses who receive them will give them as change and keep them circulating in Charlevoix. We hope that people who receive them will spend them at another locally owned business."

Local business efforts support Women's Resource Center's Safe Home

Oleson's Food Stores in Petoskey and Charlevoix will conduct a Dollar Drive fundraiser for the Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan's Safe Home. Tim Nixon from left of Lite 96.3, is pictured at last year's event, along with Gail Kloss, executive director of the WRCNM and Eric Davis who donated items to the drive.

CHARLEVOIX — Oleson's Food Stores in Petoskey and Charlevoix are holding a Dollar Drive fundraiser for the Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan's Safe Home, November 15-26. The Safe Home provides continuous emergency shelter, meals and support services to domestic abuse survivors and their children in Antrim, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Emmet and Otsego counties at no charge.

In addition to the Dollar Drive, Lite 96.3 will host a live radio broadcast at the Petoskey Oleson's store from 4-6 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 24, to encourage individuals to donate non-perishable foods, household supplies and personal care items for families utilizing Safe Home services.

During the past fiscal year, the Safe Home provided 2,502 nights of refuge to survivors of domestic abuse and their children. More than 7,500 meals were provided to shelter residents along with all their daily needs. The Dollar Drive and Lite 96.3 donation drive help offset Safe Home food and supply costs that exceed $25,000, annually.

"Oleson's Food Stores and Lite 96.3 have been steady and supportive community partners over the years," said Jamie Winters, Safe Home Coordinator. "These two donation drives definitely make a difference in the lives of local women and children facing the perils of domestic abuse."

The Dollar Drive will take place at Oleson's Food Stores located at 2000 US-31 North, Petoskey, and 112 Antrim Street, Charlevoix. A complete Safe Home needs list is on the agency's website at wrnm.org. For questions on how to donate items, call Winters at (231) 347-1572.

OBITUARIES

Peter C. Gibbons

Peter C. Gibbons born to Dr. Gerald and Elsie Nettle Gibbons April 27, 1941, Detroit, Mich.

The seventh son of nine children, residing one year on Beaver Island where his father was a dentist for the State of Michigan, then moved to Charlevoix. Peter C. Gibbons attended St. Mary's School of Charlevoix, Charlevoix High School and graduating from St. Francis High School, Petoskey, 1959, where Peter also played on the St. Francis High School football team.

Peter was educated one year at Aquinas College,

Grand Rapids, Mich., then transferring to Trine University, Angola, Ind., BS Civil Engineering, 1963.

Peter married Sharon L. Watkins, St. Thomas Church, Grand Rapids, Mich., 1965. Peter moved to Loveland, Colo., on retirement from Ethicon, N.I.

Peter is survived by the mother of his children Sharon L. Watkins; sons, Eric J. Gibbons (Tim Dongkui Lin) Bordertown, N.J., Bryan K. (Mito) Gibbons, Lawrenceville, N.J., and Dana A. (Shawn) Ranning, New Hope, Minn.; and two grandchildren, Jacob and Rebecca Ranning. Peter C. is also survived by his siblings, James J. M.D., Charlevoix, Col. (Ret.) Gerald G. Helen Irene Peters, 88

Helen Irene Peters, 88, of Alanson passed away at home on Monday, Nov. 9, 2015.

Born in Indianapolis, Ind., on Oct. 10, 1927, she was the daughter of Peter and Jennie (Flecher) Vandyske.

As a child, Helen moved to Coldwater, Mich., with her family. It was in Coldwater that she met a young man, W.L. "Bill" Peters. They fell in love and were married on Nov. 13, 1946, in Angola, Ind.

Helen and Bill lived for many years in Charlevoix where they raised their family. They were longtime owners of Hookers Cleaners where Helen was known to be an excellent seamstress. She had a strong work ethic, something she made sure she passed down to her family. Helen enjoyed dancing and she will long be remembered for baking the best apple pies. In later years, she and Bill enjoyed annual winter trips to Flagler Beach, Fla., and Myrtle Beach, S.C.

Helen is survived by Bill, her husband of 69 years; her children, Lorraine (Terry Tappy) Day of Madison, Wis., Andrew (Sharon) Peters of Petoskey, Janet (Ed) Boettcher of Elk Rapids, Valerie Harris of Lander, Wyo., Susan (Lee) Barta of Charlevoix and Jeffrey (Kathleen) Peters of Orlando, Fla.; 15 grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren. She is also survived by brothers, Jack Vandyske of Traverse City and Rick Vandyske of Portage; a sister, Ruth Wilson of Coldwater; and several nieces and nephews. She was preceded in death by sisters, Betty, Alice and Mary Vandyske.

Visitation was at 10 a.m. Thursday, Nov. 12, at St. Clement Catholic Church in Pellston where the funeral Mass followed at 11 a.m.

Those who wish are asked to consider memorial contributions to St. Clement Catholic Church or Vital Care Hospice.

Arrangements are by Gaylord Community Funeral Home & Cremation Service in Gaylord.

Charlevoix Area Hospital sponsors annual Thanksgiving 5K run/walk

CHARLEVOIX — Registration has begun for the fifth annual Charlevoix Area Hospital Turkey Trot on Thanksgiving morning, Nov. 26. The annual 5K run/walk starts and ends at the hospital parking lot, 14700 Lake Shore Drive, Charlevoix.

"Day-of-the-trot" registration begins at 7:30 a.m. on Thanksgiving day with the 5K walk/run starting at 8:30 a.m. Registration will take place in the Charlevoix Area Hospital cafeteria; come in the hospital's main entrance and follow the signs.

The online registration fee is $15 for adults and $10 for children. It guarantees participants a colorful long-sleeved t-shirt. But if they prefer, for an additional $10, adults can choose an adult hooded sweatshirt. Instead, if Turkey Trotters prefer to register on the day of the race, t-shirts will only be available on a first come, first served basis until supplies run out. Children in strollers and pets on a leash are free.

"We encourage this year's runners and walkers to take advantage of our online pre-registration," said Heather Parrish, one of the event's organizers. "Not only is it quick and easy, but it guarantees you a t-shirt." Registration forms are also available at the hospital's Emergency Department admission desk.

Each runner and walker is being asked to bring a non-perishable food item to donate to the local food pantry, helping to stock their shelves for the holiday season ahead.

"The hospital sponsors this popular event to encourage the community to get out and exercise with family and friends before sitting down to that 'big meal' of the year," said Amanda Evans, another of the event's organizers. "Join your friends and neighbors for a morning of Thanksgiving exercise - fun for the whole family."

A route map is posted on their website at cah.org, where convenient online pre-registration is available. For more information about Charlevoix Area Hospital, please visit cah.org.

Wings of Wonder visits Charlevoix library

LONGIE ALLEN/CHARLEVOIX COURIER

Rebecca Lessard, founder and executive director of Wings of Wonder, a nonprofit raptor sanctuary in Empire, feeds a Peregrine Falcon during a birds of prey presentation on Nov. 6 at the Charlevoix Public Library. One of the world's fastest birds, in power-diving from great heights to strike prey, the Peregrine Falcon may possibly reach 200 miles per hour. Although it is found on six continents, the Peregrine Falcon is uncommon in most areas; it was seriously endangered in the mid-20th century because of the effects of DDT and other persistent pesticides, Lessard said.

MAIN FIX

The other was a contract with the city of Charlevoix to supply water service to Mount McSaubia. The township will provide water service to the recreational area without charge in lieu of allowing township residents to use the area at city rates. The terms of the agreement are for 50 years. However, either party may terminate this agreement by giving the other party 180 day or more written notice.

In the agreement the township shall charge $1.50 per 1,000 gallons for water services in excess of 3 million gallons. The 3 million gallon mark is approximately 400,000 gallons more than the last two-year average, said Charlevoix Township supervisor Chuck Center.

"We took an average of the water use at Mount McSaubia and gave the city some room for water use," Center said. "I spoke with the mayor and he is not likely to happen, but it just gives us some protection."

The board unanimously approved signing the contract once they heard from Charlevoix City manager Mark Heydlauff that the city officials are expected to approve the contract at their next meeting on Nov. 16.

City council authorized the transfer of service pending the approval of an agreement drafted by the city and township attorneys, Heydlauff said to the township board.

"I believe this agreement meets their expectations," Heydlauff said. "I spoke with the mayor and he has no concerns about the agreement."

"If we approve it sounds like it will be a done deal," Center said.

Heydlauff could not answer for city council, but reassured township officials that the city wants this deal.

"The city was very appreciative of the township's offer and look forward to working with you on this," Heydlauff said. "We think it is a good thing and a good thing for the kids in our community."

Holecheck expects the work to install the water line to Mount McSaubia to take about two days to complete once his department has time to start the project.

"I would like this to get done as soon as possible," Center said. "I want our kids to be able to ski at city rates this year."

Looking for a perfect Christmas tree?

ATWOOD — Friske Orchards will have a seasonal Saturdays event beginning the Saturday after Thanksgiving for people who want to find that perfect Christmas tree. From 11 a.m.-3 p.m. on Nov. 28, Dec. 5 and 12, area residents and visitors alike may stop by Friske's, 10743 N. US-31, Atwood to choose from blue spruce, black hill spruce and douglas fir at the Christmas tree plantation.

Bundle up warmly for a horse drawn wagon ride — In a sleigh, if there is enough snow — that will take visitors through the winter wonderland to pick out their tree which the folks at Friske's will be glad to cut. After guests finish dashing through the snow, they can return with their tree to savor the free apple cider and doughnuts.

For those who aren't up to dashing, pre-cut trees will also be available. Trees cost $7 per foot. Pre-cut trees will, of course, be available Monday through Saturday beginning the day after Thanksgiving. Horse drawn wagon rides are $10 per person or $3 for children three years and younger in addition to the price of the tree.

For more information, visit friske.com or call (231) 599-2604.

Local business owners honored at Comfort Keepers conference

PETOSKEY — Russ and Leslie Knopp were recently honored as the top performing single territory owners in the nation during the national Comfort Keepers Leadership conference in Indianapolis. Top performance recognizes the single territory owner who led the nation in revenue, while maintaining the Comfort Keepers systems' high standards of care. For the fifth consecutive year, the Knopps also received the Comfort Keepers' President's Club award, which is presented to the top 25 Comfort Keepers franchisees whose local franchises have generated the highest revenue in the previous year within a single territory.

"To be recognized at the national level is a great accomplishment," said co-owner Leslie Knopp. "We are thrilled to own a business that can help seniors live as independently as possible and stay in their homes for as long as possible. We are also very proud to be able to contribute to the local economy with a growing business."

The Knopps have been grow personally as well as to help shape growth of his or her company culture and business model.

"Jake has more entrepreneurial spirit and intuition in his pinky finger than most companies have in their entire organization," said Dylan Valade of Sungem in Petoskey, about Manthei's nomination. "What makes Jake extraordinary is that unlike most visionaries, he knows how to trust and empower his team to get the small things done every single day in order to reach the big goals on time."

"Jake has a direct way to communicate truth that others can hear and digest," said Jason Homa, Vice President of Sales and Service for Cherry Republic.

RediRock is a local, Charlevoix company that licenses, markets, sells forming equipment to make giant concrete blocks for retaining walls. Over the past year, RediRock has hired several new local employees and has added new licensees in Russia, Algeria, and New Zealand.

Vistage Michigan is an affiliate of Vistage International, a worldwide chief executive leadership organization operating in 16 countries. Vistage's Executive Leadership Programs provide an advisory board of CEO, key executive or trusted advisor peers who offer support as members tackle important business issues. Members meet in small groups nine times a year under the same guiding principles—to help one another make better decisions, achieve better results, and enhance their lives. The Key 3 group was created in Northern Michigan in 2012 to create a venue for key business people to develop their leadership skills.

Annual holiday arts and craft fair will take place on Saturday

EAST JORDAN – The Jordan River Arts Council is pleased to announce its 26th Annual Holiday Arts and Crafts Fair. Always held the second Saturday in November, this year the event will be from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 14, at the East Jordan High School, in East Jordan.

The Holiday Fair is a juried show with works by more than 40 artists and crafts persons. All items are original work. Each booth showcases the exhibitor's work which includes photography, paintings, pottery, glass works, jewelry, wood sculptor, gift baskets, homemade jams and jellies, holiday decorations, homemade candles and fiber works such as quilts, coverlets, clothing items, doll clothes, batiks, and basketry. The artist's booths are not only in the gymnasium, but also in the halls and cafeteria area. Some of the artist will be demonstrating their techniques and all items are for sale.

Jordan River Arts Council will have its own booth with several different items for sale. Featured are beautiful alcohol ink framed tiles. Also for sale is the Jordan River Arts Council's cook book, "Flavors and Visions" with recipes by member artists accompanied by reproductions of original art works, tote bags, council writers group published book, "Writings," and other items.

The Holiday Art Fair has always been known for its great gourmet menus featuring soups in a bread bowl, the famous holiday salad, the unbelievable dessert table, and several different kinds of sandwiches. Admission is by donation. This event is a major Jordan River Arts Council fundraiser especially for the scholarship fund.

The Jordan River Arts Council is an all volunteer organization serving as a leader of the East Jordan cultural community by providing a wide range of fine art experiences for persons of all ages often working with other organizations and the schools. Many members and non-members provide the work force for this event.

Michigan DNR wildlife biologist Mark Boersen is working with a radio-collared bear.

DNR searching for bear dens in the Northern Michigan

LANSING – The Michigan Department of Natural Resources is looking for dened bear locations in the northern lower peninsula, and asks those who come across a dened black bear during their hunting, trapping or other outdoor adventures to inform the DNR. Additional black bears – to be fitted with radio collars – are needed for an ongoing bear research project.

"Information gathered from bears assists in managing the black bear population," said Mark Boersen, DNR wildlife biologist at the Roscommon Customer Service Center. "Currently, we have four female bears being monitored from both air and ground using radio-tracking equipment."

After a dened bear is located, DNR biologists will determine if the animal is a good candidate for radio-collaring. Bears that are selected will be sedated by a wildlife biologist and fitted with a radio-tracking collar and ear tags. Hair samples will be taken for DNA analysis, and a small nonfunctional tooth will be collected to determine the bear's age. Upon completion of the short procedure, biologists will carefully return the bear to its den, where it will spend the remainder of the winter months.

People who encounter bear dens are asked to record the location, with a GPS unit if possible, and contact Mark Boersen at (989) 275-5151 or email boersenm@michigan.gov to provide specific location information. The DNR reminds everyone that it is illegal to disturb a bear den or disturb, harm or molest a bear in its den.

Learn more about radio telemetry and other wildlife research projects by visiting mi.gov/wildlife and clicking on "Wild Science."

Area business support Business the United Way

CHARLEVOIX – ACE Hardware in Charlevoix, Harbor Springs and Petoskey are joining together to invite the business community to support United Way. On Saturday, Nov. 14, five percent of all sales will be donated to the Char-Em United Way to support programs in Charlevoix and Emmet County.

Visitors can shop on Saturday and feel good knowing that they also are providing support to 25 different programs in 20 local nonprofit organizations that work hard to benefit the lives of people in Charlevoix and Emmet

County. When people say yes to United Way, they are saying yes to nonprofit organizations, big and small, in this two county area who need funding to operate. Plus, they help United Way run programs like the Dolly Parton Imagination Library and Volunteer Connections. The best part of United Way is 98.5 percent of the money donated to Char-Em United Way stays in Charlevoix and Emmet counties.

Stores that will participate in the Business the United Way on Nov. 14 are Bearcub Outfitters, of Petoskey, Boyne City

Co-op, of Boyne City, Charlevoix ACE Hardware, Charlevoix Inn and Suites, Chee Ping, each of Charlevoix, Harbor Wear, Kelly's Hallmark, Latitude 45 Bicycles and Fitness, Northern Michigan Artists Market, Reusch Jewelers, Ward & Els Gallery, each of Petoskey and Meyer ACE Hardware, of Petoskey and Harbor Springs.

Live united to make a difference in Charlevoix and Emmet Counties by visiting one of these businesses on Nov. 14. For an updated business list, visit CharEmUnitedWay.org.

Charlevoix Montessori Academy navigates the arts

CHARLEVOIX – Charlevoix Montessori Academy for the Arts proudly presents its biannual public performance Navigating the Arts. The event will be at 7 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 19 in the Charlevoix Public Library's community room.

This program features young, developing artists of all ages performing dance, drama, music and poetry. Highlights include a traditional Native American Hoop Dance; a collection of poetry based on the national competition Poetry Out Loud; a dance that re-constructs the beginning of the universe, a dance based on Terra Amata from the lower Paleolithic period, hilarious theatrical improvisations, music of Bob Dylan and more. The evening promises inspiring creative expressions from young people that will rejuvenate our perspective of individuals, community and the world. Donations will be appreciated. The Montessori Academy asks that the community join them in supporting arts programming in the community.

are without appropriate fire or emergency service coverage," Thorp said.

Thorp also has approached Resort-Bear Creek fire department along with East Jordan and Boyne City about assistance during the planned bridge closure in April of 2017.

"It may be a year out, but this is about pre-planning and adjusting those plans as things come in about the upcoming project," Thorp said. Heydlauff and other city officials met with MDOT officials Nov. 5 to talk about the bridge project and how bridge closures will impact the city, surrounding townships and emergency services. Heydlauff said any cooperation between the city and township is considered positive.

"Dan's got some good ideas and I expect we can work something out that would work very well to mutually staff and mutually cover our service areas," Heydlauff said. "We look forward to moving toward some type of arrangement that can work for each of us."

The bridge closure also will affect residents who work nights and live on opposite sides of the bridge. Most likely third-shift employees may have to seek alternate routes if they plan to travel to one side or the other during the planned six-hour closures in April, according to officials at the Michigan Department of Transportation.

"We understand that closing this bridge to traffic at any time can represent a hardship, and that's why we're working with the city so far in advance, reaching out to the public so they can prepare," said James Lake, communications representative for MDOT.

The $1.3 million project is scheduled to begin December 2016, with a tentative completion date of April 2017. Work will address the mechanical and electrical operation of the bridge and also will include painting the steel super structure and reconstruct the bridge approach pavement.

During this period, MDOT plans to have one lane of traffic flowing north and south across the bridge and overnight six-hour bridge closures are planned from 10 p.m.-4 a.m. or 11 p.m.-5 a.m. in April 2017.

To help explain the project more MDOT officials have scheduled a public informational meeting at 5:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 24, at the Charlevoix Public Library. Residents, township officials and businesses are encouraged to attend the meeting where they will have a chance to ask questions and give feedback to MDOT officials.

"Our goal is for minimal disruption to the people living in the area," Lake said. "Our plan is scheduling closures at times to inconvenience as few people as possible, and keep emergency services in the loop to support safety, all to minimize the overall impact of the project."

City staff encouraged MDOT to hold a meeting with the public to understand when third shift employees begin and end their shifts, restaurant and bar hours and events that could be taking place during the planned bridge maintenance.

"They are really interested presenting and gathering more information to try and work around things as much as possible," Heydlauff said. "Our preference is for them to start it and get it done and not space any closures out."

City staff members are pleased that MDOT included them in the discussion of the bridge project early on in the process, Heydlauff said. "We're very happy they came to us so early. We were able to address concerns we had and understand it more. We are pleased with the process and encourage them to continue reaching out."

Charlevoix Main Street and Downtown Development Authority director Annie Doyle hopes residents and local business owners will attend the informational meeting.

"We will be able to talk to residents and businesses to plan accordingly for the project," Doyle said. "We mentioned things that would be impacted from the project to MDOT so going to the meeting is a good next step for the people in Charlevoix."

CRAFTS

year event organizers began selling fair-trade coffee, chocolate and olive oil to promote awareness of labor conditions in some of America's favorite food items.

"We wanted to provide fair trade items to show support of ending slave labor," Pung said. "Fair trade helps put an end to the dependence of slave labor and helps working families around the world to eat better and keep their kids in school."

Besides enjoying a pancake breakfast and shopping at the many vendors' tables, those attending the arts and craft show could purchase donated homemade pies. The pie sale split proceeds between the Charlevoix Community Christmas Project and Charlevoix Community Food Pantry.

"We've been a beneficiary of the sale since the very beginning," said Linda Boss, representative of the food pantry.

The food pantry has been operating in Charlevoix since 1983 and relies on donations.

"Events like this really help provide support to the food pantry," Linda said. "Either food or financial donations help us provide to our clients."

The holiday season also appears to increase people's desire to help ease the plight of the hungry, but help is appreciated year-round.

"We are very fortunate that our community thinks about hungry people this time of year, but the fact is the need is high throughout the year," Linda said.

The amount of families in need could be overwhelming, if not for the support of strong volunteer staff and the willingness of the community to step in with monetary assistance. And that alone proves just how much of a community-based operation it is, and how much support is always needed to keep the pantry's doors open and shelves stocked.

"This is a real community food pantry," Linda said. "We serve people from this community; we have very kind donors who are part of this community; we have grocers, farmers, and other businesses that provide foods; we have students from our schools and members of our community churches that hold food drives and projects that result in additional donations, and it is the community that provides our volunteers."

AIR PACKS

Wells.

Wells explained to township officials that if they can participate with Petoskey Public Safety, Resort-Bear Creek Fire Department and possibly one or two other fire departments on purchasing the air packs that the costs could potentially drop.

"We are looking at approximately $98,000 for just the air packs," Wells said. "There are added costs for extra masks and spare air bottles. If we can purchase the air packs with the other fire departments we might be able to save more."

The department is now seeking donations to offset the costs as they pursue a bulk purchase agreement with surrounding fire departments. Though, Thorp said it's still too early to say whether the department will pursue options such as fund-raising.

Charlevoix Township Supervisor Chuck Center said he believes the township will make the purchase for the equipment once they have the total costs.

"They won't be without air packs," Center said. "We will push back the purchase of another fire truck to get the new air packs."

HARBOR SPRINGS — A long and trying season had taught Charlevoix junior Becca Moon to keep trying in the face of failure. So when her first potential district-winning kill attempt went wide, the junior didn't panic, but picked herself up and gave it another go.

On her second try, Moon found the mark to clinch a 25-19 set victory and a four set Rayder win over host Harbor Springs in the district final on Thursday, 25-21, 25-21, 22-25, 25-19.

The title is Charlevoix's second straight, and the second straight time the Rayders beat their rival, Harbor Springs in the final to win it after sweeping them last season.

"I wanted (that kill) so badly," Moon said. "I had that chance before and missed it, and I was just thinking to myself, 'No way that's how this is going to end.'"

"I'm glad I got another shot, and I was determined I wasn't going to miss twice."

That moment was emblematic of the Rayders' season, as Charlevoix overcame massive graduation losses, a rough start to the season and several heartbreaking losses to regain its championship form in time for the MHSAA playoffs.

"We had a really tough start, breaking in a lot of players fresh off the junior varsity and just trying to adjust to the speed of the varsity game," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said. "We did our best to keep everyone involved and try and build together."

"Even in the darkest moments, our players never stopped working and never stopped believing. When it got hard, they worked that much harder and that's really what allowed us to turn the corner."

Instead of driving Charlevoix apart, the losses brought the Rayders closer together, Moon said. "At some point, we'd had too many tough losses and too many tears," Moon said. "We came together as a team and decided we weren't just going to keep let it happen."

"Every one of us really stepped up the work we were doing in practice and on the court, and it really changed things."

That work paid off against the Rams, as Charlevoix put together its best offensive match at the season.

The Rayders were efficient in funneling the ball to their best hitters throughout the match, and that paid dividends as seniors Emily Zabawa and Hannah Zipp both had big nights.

The only two returning starters from last year's squad, Zabawa finished with 24 kills, 10 digs, 14 assists, two blocks and an ace, and Zipp added nine aces, five blocks, five digs and four kills.

Moon finished with 11 kills, 23 assists, two aces and eight digs as well, Nichole Hart added five kills and Kenzy O'Leary and Beth Veenstra each chipped in four.

"We knew that Harbor is a very scrappy team and it would be tough to put kills on the floor," Randall said. "Their libero (Haley Rushing) did a fantastic job and they made it very hard for us, but our players just kept firing away until we were able to find the empty spaces."

Charlevoix largely controlled the first and second sets, though Harbor Springs made it close at the end in both.

With the Rayders on the verge of closing out the match in set three, the Rams mustered what they had and, thanks to aces from Jacobs and a couple of big kills by senior Mikayla Dickinson, were able to extend the match.

But in the fourth and final set, the Rayders pulled away with a long service run by Julia Doskoch that included three aces to clinch the title.

Doskoch added 22 digs, Grace Sutherland finished with 23 and Ali Jarema chipped in 16 for the Rayders.

"With this group of girls and all the obstacles they faced to get here, this title is a special one," Randall said. "To watch them shrug off the losses and come together as a team has truly been a blessing, and I'm glad I got to be a part of it with them."

To get to the final, the Rayders fought through a determined Bulldogs team for a three-set match win, 25-21, 25-20, 25-17 in the Charlevoix High School gym on Wednesday in the district semifinal.

Leading the Rayders would be Zabawa, who finished with 10 kills, two blocks, 13 assists and 18 digs, along with Hannah Zipp, who has six blocks, five kills, six digs, three aces and went 21-for-22 at the serve line.

Becca Moon had nine kills, two blocks, 11 assists, five digs and one ace, Mackenzy O'Leary had seven kills and two blocks, Beth Veenstra had two kills and three digs and Ali Jarema had 12 digs and went 9-for-10 serving.

Also for the Rayders, Julia Doskoch had seven digs and a 100 percent serving performance, Kelsey Crandell had seven digs and went 100 percent serving and Louiselle and Nichole Hart each had one block.

Iron Mountain 3, Gladstone 2
GLADSTONE — The Rayders fell to Iron Mountain in a five-set match loss to end their season in the regional semifinal at Gladstone on Tuesday.

Winning the first two sets, the Rayders would push things down to the wire in the fourth and fifth sets, but come up just short, 25-17, 25-21, 11-25, 23-25, 12-15.

"There's nothing to hang our heads at, that's for sure," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said. "I'm very proud of how they played. We've come so, so far than ever expected. We were basically four points away from taking this."

Needing one win to close out Iron Mountain's season and advance themselves into a regional final for a second straight year, Charlevoix would stumble late in the fourth set, falling 25-23.

In the fifth and final set, a 13-12 lead for the Mountaineers would turn into a 14-12 lead after an error on the Rayders, then a kill ended the night and season in a 15-12 final for Iron Mountain.

Senior Emily Zabawa led the Rayders in her final match, contributing 12 kills, 18 assists, 20 digs, five blocks and two aces, while fellow senior Hannah Zipp had 11 kills, nine blocks and two aces for the Rayders.

"Emily had a fabulous night," added Randall. "Her defense was spectacular on the floor and at the net. Hannah had a career high nine blocks in the match. Big shoes to fill."

Junior Becca Moon finished with 14 kills, nine assists, four digs and four aces, while Ali Jarema had seven digs and went 8-for-10 on serve receive.

Julia Doskoch had 12 digs and was 11-for-12 on serve receive, Grace Sutherland had 15 digs and two aces, Beth Veenstra had three kills, three blocks and four digs and Mackenzie O'Leary had four kills and two blocks.

While replacing Zabawa and Zipp won't be an easy task for Randall next season, with well over half of her team back, making it back to a Class C regional for a third straight year will be the goal.

Rayders stand out in division 3 state finals, pair of girls earn all-state

BROOKLYN — There's a time of year for everything.

A time to figure out what strategy works best, a time to make headway and a time to take off.

The Charlevoix cross country teams know this well.

Qualifying for the state finals with a host of season best performances on both the boys' and girls' sides, Charlevoix would out-do themselves once again, this time at the Division 3 state finals at Michigan International Speedway in Brooklyn over the weekend.

The Charlevoix boys' team would earn a 10th place finish overall at the finals, while on the girls' side, the Rayders took 18th out of 27 teams, with a pair of girls earning all-state honors.

"We definitely had another really great weekend, the boys in particular, everyone ran their season bests," Charlevoix coach Doug Drenth said. "The girls did it last week, then this week the boys came out. Not only did they run season bests, I had six out of the seven run lifetime bests."

After a slow beginning to the season, the Rayders took off towards the end of the year, earning one personal record after another.

"We had a great Lake Michigan Championship meet, then a great regional meet, so the last three weeks have been fantastic racing," added Drenth.

Lansing Catholic earned the Division 3 state title on the boys' side with 124 points, followed by Benzie Central in second place with 127.

The Rayder boys earned 10th with 298, being led by junior Noah Carson and senior Jonathan Pischner on the day.

Carson placed 32nd, just missing the top 30 all-state qualifying mark, with a time of 16:46.4, while Pischner took 41st, running a time of 16:53.4.

David Ritter placed 78th in a time of 17:15.3, followed by Luke Buday, 119th, 17:40.9; Ryan Erskine, 169th, 18:09.9; Ben Peterson, 209th, 19:03; and Josh Clees, 231, 19:59.3.

On the girls' side, Traverse City St. Francis won the state title, dominating the competition with a score of 69, placing three girls within the top five in the state, followed by Benzie Central in second place with 141.

Leading the Charlevoix girls' 18th place finish, with 432 points, were junior Isabel Hess and sophomore Michelle Bollini, with each earning all-state.

"Isabel Hess and Michelle Bollini were really good again," added Drenth. "For those two to make all-state, that was pretty cool. I'm just really proud of them. It was really gratifying to see them finish like that."

Hess and Bollini each paced one another well, finishing 26th and 27th respectively.

Hess earned a time of 19:38.2 for a 26th place finish, while Bollini earned 27th in 19:41.5.

Kaitlin Schwenke placed 121st for the Rayders, earning a time of 21:03.6, followed by Katie Mousseau, 193rd, 22:15.4; Hannah Solomon, 222nd, 23:07.4; Lukila Witthoef, 225th, 23:15.8; and Kelsey Engstrom, 226th, 23:17.8.

Proud of each team, the Rayders turned in season bests in a wide variety on both sides, progressively getting better as the season went on.

"This is my first year coaching here and 15th of coaching cross country and I think I've never had a group progress like this group has. Out of the 14, 10 people ran lifetime bests again," said Drenth. "They really competed really well and the results really showed that. They both exceeded expectations. It was a really fun day and a great way to finish."

Drenth knows part of the late push in the season can be credited to the seniors on his team, ones that are sure to be missed.

"They're the ones that really stick through the program," said Drenth. "John Pischner, Ryan Erskine and Josh Clees on the boys' side and Kelsey Engstrom and Kylee Scholten on the girls' side, they'll all be missed."

They set great examples and led Charlevoix cross country. They're the start of something where I really think we can compete at the state level."

With 10 runners combined between each team back for next year, Drenth and his teams will likely be back competing at the state level once again next season.

"There's a ton of talent (back). I'm really excited about the future of Charlevoix cross country," he said. "I'm sad to see it end now, but there's a great future ahead for us."

Teams keep changing for Harbor Springs head golf coach Pete Kelbel, but the season always seems to be a success for the Rams. Kelbel coached Harbor to a second place finish at the 2014 Division 4 state finals, a sixth place finish at the 2013 finals, then this season, helped lead Harbor Springs to another top 10 finish in the state, earning ninth place at Forest Akers East in East Lansing. The Rams consistently compete, and defeat, Division 2 and 3 programs, finishing third in the Traverse City Central Invite to end the regular season, behind only T.C. West and T.C. Central. They finished as the runner up this season in their Division 4 regional with a lineup that included a pair of freshmen.

Practice makes perfect

Dedication to craft makes Grace Kelbel the News-Review Girls Golfer of the Year

PETOSKEY —

The end of practice for the Petoskey girls golf team was often just the beginning for junior Grace Kelbel this season.

Determined to improve her scores, Kelbel put in hours of time on the course every week in addition to her practice rounds with the Northmen, playing on the weekend or wherever she could find the time.

That dedication to getting better led to a breakout season for Kelbel on the links, posting an 89.5 average round score that was the best in the area, and qualifying for the Division 2 state final as an individual with a top five finish at the regional.

Kelbel tied for 14th at that state final, at Bedford Valley Golf Course in Battle Creek, took second in the Big North Conference final and had seven top 10 finishes on the season for Petoskey.

The foundation for those results was built in the summer, by practice rounds at Walloon Lake Country Club whenever Kelbel had a free moment from her full-time job at the course.

Often Kelbel was joined by her father, Walloon Lake Country Club professional and Harbor Springs golf coach Pete Kelbel, for those rounds.

"As an employee at Walloon Lake Country Club, she has access to the course and she's really done a good job of taking advantage of that," Pete Kelbel said. "We spent a lot of time in the summer on breaks just playing rounds and working on different aspects of the game."

Even during the season, it wasn't uncommon to see Grace spending weekends on the course at Walloon getting more practice in.

"She's one of the best I've coached at managing the time she has," Petoskey girls golf coach John Myers said. "Working a full-time job in the summer, keeping up with schoolwork during the school year, and finding the time to get extra rounds in."

"She's got a dedication and a focus that allows her to stay on task and make time for what's important to her."

Despite a slow start to the season that included a 100 in her first round of the year, that dedication earned Grace a spot in the Division 2 final after a stellar campaign.

"I felt like I worked a lot harder this year, staying after practice and getting more rounds in when I could," Grace Kelbel said. "I spent a lot of time on my putting, just trying to avoid three-putts and keep my scores down."

At the state final, Grace matched her season best with a first-day 84 and just missed out on a top 10 medal.

Despite that, performance, Grace said she was a little disappointed by her finish.

"It was exciting to get to play at the state final, and to be in the same group as the state champion on the second day was a lot of fun," Grace Kelbel said. "I thought I left a few putts out there that could have made a difference and I wish I'd ex-

Petoskey's Grace Kelbel is the News-Review's girls golfer of the year after a 14th place finish at the D2 state final and seven top 10 finishes on the season.

ecuted a little better."

With her father coaching at Harbor Springs, a rival that's at nearly every event the Northmen play, Grace faces an unusual situation at most events.

The two are civil but competitive on the course, Grace said.

"I'm friends with a lot of the girls at Harbor Springs, and I enjoy playing with them, but I'm also competitive," Grace Kelbel said. "I do want to beat them out there and I enjoy it when I can finish ahead of them."

Heading into her senior year, Grace is hoping more hard work will keep her score dropping.

"I really want to break 80, and I think that just comes down to getting my putting average down," Grace Kelbel said. "The two times I shot 84, I still had three putts that kept me from going lower."

"I'd like to add more distance on my drives as well to make playing par fours easier, and hopefully make another trip to the state final."

For his part, Myers believes Kelbel's senior year could be even more special.

"I think a top five finish in the state is a realistic goal for her," Myers said. "For a lot of girls, I wouldn't be able to be sure about that, but with the passion and drive Grace has, and the time she puts in, I know she has a shot to get there."

EPA Begins Review of Charlevoix Municipal Well Superfund Site Charlevoix, Michigan

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency is conducting a five-year review of the Charlevoix Municipal Well Superfund site in Charlevoix. The Superfund law requires regular checkups of sites that have been cleaned up - with contamination managed on-site - to make sure the cleanup continues to protect people and the environment. This is the fourth five-year review of this site.

EPA installed a new water intake system, and a water treatment and filtration plant for the city in 1985; EPA re-visited this site in 2012. Studies showed additional cleanup may be needed to achieve the objectives of the original cleanup plan. While this work is being done, EPA will maintain public awareness and involvement through the five-year review process.

More information is available at the Charlevoix Public Library, 220 W. Clinton St., and at www.epa.gov/superfund/charlevoix-muni-wells. The review should be completed in summer 2016.

The five-year review is an opportunity for you to tell the EPA about site conditions and any concerns you have. Contact:

Food FOCUS

Slow-smoked juicy goodness at Smoke on the Water

Smoke on the Water owner and chef Julie Mann opens the smoker at her restaurant on 103 Park Avenue. Smoke on the Water features pulled pork, brisket and other meats smoked with apple, cherry and maple wood early in the morning. The restaurant serves breakfast and lunch along with the opportunity to purchase fresh baked goods.

This week's Food Focus turns its lens to Smoke on the Water, located at 103 Park Avenue, in Charlevoix. Chef and owner Julie Mann opened her Charlevoix restaurant in 2014 and Smoke on the Water will have your taste buds dancing with delight from the variety of unique flavors guests can get from the establishment's breakfast and lunch offerings. Its pulled pork, brisket and burgers are some of the menu items that keep patrons returning for more each week, but one cannot visit Smoke on the Water without trying grilled brie, provolone, bacon and apple sandwich on its famous challah bread. The sandwich comes with chips and a pickle, or guests can choose to add some of the hand cut truffle fries, or the option to have a half sandwich with a cup of fresh, house made soup also is available. Smoke on the Water is open from 6 a.m.-3 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 6 a.m.-2 p.m. on Sunday, where it features its brunch menu. Smoke on the Water also will feature a different slider sandwich made with its famous brisket each week throughout the fall and winter months. Guest also can stop by Smoke on the Water to purchase loaves of fresh made challah bread, apple bourbon banana bread and fresh baked cookies. Also don't forget to place Thanksgiving orders for all natural farm raised smoked turkeys from Cook's family farms, or homemade pies, dinner rolls and stuffing/croutons by contacting Smoke on the Water at (231) 237-9604.

Smoke on the Water owner and chef Julie Mann prepares the grilled brie, provolone, bacon and apple sandwich. She begins preparation with two slices the restaurant's house made baked challah bread and then adds some of her roasted red onion mayo to the bread.

Above: Once the baked challah bread slices have a generous portion of mayo, fresh sliced provolone cheese and sliced brie is added to the bread. Right: Local tomatoes — roasted with olive oil, salt and pepper and fresh thyme — are placed on one slice of the bread and fresh slices of a Granny Smith apple are assembled on the bread slice. Smoke on the Water makes it a point to use local or Michigan made products as much as possible in its recipes.

Two strips of fresh, hot bacon is removed the grill and placed on top of the sliced apples to complete the sandwich assembly. The two sides are put together to be grilled.

The sandwich is placed on the grill to cook the bread to a crisp, golden brown exterior and it is also covered to help melt the cheese around the tomatoes, apples and bacon.

Left: Smoke on the Water's grilled brie, provolone, bacon and apple sandwich comes off the grill a perfect golden brown and rests a few seconds before it is sliced in half to serve.

Above: Par-cooked potatoes are hand cut into wedges and deep fried until done and then placed in a bowl to be tossed with truffle oil and a hint of salt to make Smoke on the Water delicious truffle fries.

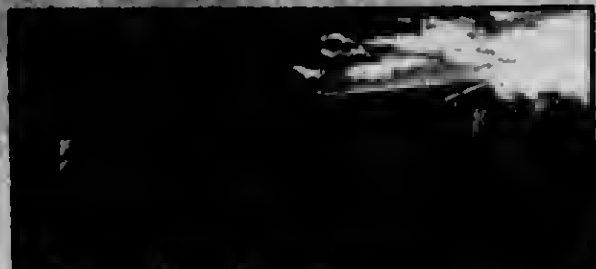

Left: Smoke on the Water serves the grilled brie, provolone, bacon, apple sandwich with a pickle and chips, but guests can add these tasty hand cut truffle fries to their lunch for an additional charge. The sandwich also can be purchased as a half sandwich and cup of soup or side salad combination. Above: Smoke on the Water serves a half grilled brie, provolone, bacon, apple sandwich, a cup of soup or side salad combination. This sandwich is pictured with its house made tomato soup, a very popular combination.

Lions Club tree sale moves to Charlevoix Ace Hardware

LOWME ALLEN
(231) 547-6558 - lallen@charcourier.com

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix Lions Club annual Christmas tree sale is moving from downtown to Charlevoix Ace Hardware. The sale will be in the greenhouse and will provide cover for the trees and have more hours, said Steve Michael, sale organizer.

"Our new location will keep our trees and volunteers out of the elements," Michael said. "The move also gives the public more opportunities to purchase trees."

Lions Club members will sell trees in the evening and on the weekends as in the past, but patrons also can purchase their tree during Charlevoix Ace Hardware Hours, said owner Mark Greyerbiehl.

"Our goal is to give back to the community by volunteering our time to help Lions Club members out," Greyerbiehl said.

Moving the sale from East Park helps Lions members continue the annual sale where there is more help.

"As with many of our service organizations membership is aging and not all members who can lift trees are available all the time," Greyerbiehl said. "We will be able to offer that physical help and assist Lions with the sale."

The sale, which runs from black Friday, Nov. 27 through mid-December, is an annual charity fundraiser and features Fraser fir, Black Hills spruce and Douglas fir. The price of the tree is determined by height, Michael said.

"We try to be as competitively priced with all our trees," Michael said.

As people get ready to purchase a holiday tree this year, please consider visiting the Charlevoix Lions Club Christmas tree sale. Every penny of profit from a tree purchase will go to charity, and helps out members of the community at the same time.

"The money will go into our general fund where it will be distributed to the charities we support and help fund the different projects we do in Charlevoix throughout the year," Michael said. "Don't forget you'll feel good about your Christmas tree purchase well before you put your tree up because buying a tree from us goes to a good cause."

$2.6-M advance OK'd to fix roads

JORDAN SPENCE
(231) 439-9397 - jspence@petoskeynews.com

CHARLEVOIX — In an effort to fast forward much-needed road repairs, Charlevoix County will advance money to the County Road Commission.

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners approved a measure that will transfer $2.6 million from the delinquent tax fund to the Charlevoix County Road Fund.

The money will be used to help cover the construction, maintenance, and repairs to stretches of Ellsworth, Deer Lake and Korthase roads.

"The delinquent tax fund is a fund that the treasurer uses to pay all of the taxing units to make them whole for all delinquent taxes that persons have not paid timely," said county clerk Cherie Browne. "We are one of the few counties in the state that pays our own taxes without having to borrow money to pay them each year. We have had delinquent taxes of over $5.5 million in a year and as low as just over $3 million. We never know from one year to the next how much they will be."

She described the move as an advance of funds the road commission would collect from property taxes over the next few years. It will be repaid to the county by the treasurer withholding $325,000 from the yearly tax revenue disbursements until the advance has been repaid.

"I want to thank the board to advance the roads. They're going to help immensely to get the roads done," said commissioner Ronald Reinhardt. "It comes at a good time since the bridge will be closed next year. There will be some trucks that want to come across C-48 so if the roads are done it will help immensely."

Pat Harmon, manager of the Charlevoix County Road Commission, said this advance will accelerate the jobs his department planned to complete in the next several years.

"We didn't have enough money in next year's allotment to do even one of those roads," he said. He added this way they will be able to finish the roads before costs of construction go up.

County opts for 'alternative fuels' bus

JORDAN SPENCE
(231) 439-9397 - jspence@petoskeynews.com

Cost savings and a cleaner operating system are among the reasons a new propane bus was purchased by Charlevoix County Transit.

A propane bus was ordered in February and delivered on Oct. 23. The bus has space to accommodate four wheelchairs and as many as 16 seats are available if no wheelchairs are in use.

The Federal Transportation Authority gave seven agencies money to replace electric vehicles, said Charlevoix County Transit manager Jill Drury. This bus will replace an electrical bus owned by county transit.

"For the most part, it was paid for by state and federal funds. We selected the vendor and it cost about $900 out of our operational expenses," she said. "It's great timing, since we're pulling one of them (electrical bus) off the road because it's not mechanically sound."

She added the new bus will lose a mile a gallon, but it burns cleaner and propane is a lot easier on the engine. Propane is also cheaper than gas and diesel at 75-78 cents less than gas prices, Drury said.

Many fleets are going after alternative fuel transportation, she added.

Ryan Novotny, a mechanic for the county, said the bus works with a Ford direct replacement fuel system.

"Servicing is a little different, since they are at a higher pressure. But, it's still more a less a stock vehicle," Novotny said.

In order to fuel the bus, a propane tank will be placed on the County Transit property and all the drivers will be trained to use this fuel system.

"After we get the fueling infrastructure we'll send it out on longer routes. We're just using it within Boyne City as of right now," Drury said. "Another propane bus will arrive in February."

Planning for the future

How can having more classroom space than we currently need be a problem you ask? For just a handful of districts in our state, this would be a great problem to have as their communities are growing. In Northern Michigan, unfortunately, we don't currently have that problem. What we do know is that being right sized in regards to facilities allows us to spend our general fund dollars more efficiently and effectively on our students and programs. In the next six months, Charlevoix Public Schools will be completing a facility study that will result in some specific options for the Board of Education to act upon. The first step of determining market values of both the Round Lake and Charlevoix Elementary Schools is certainly not being done to alarm anyone as we begin the process. After this initial step has been completed we will create a community facility committee to continue the fact finding stages of looking at all of our enrollment data, community needs, and recent facility studies including the one completed just before my arrival in Charlevoix. The community facility committee also will hold community forums to seek input from all stakeholders. When all of these steps have been completed, the committee will be prepared to recommend a plan or options for the Charlevoix Board of Education. I believe that together we will effectively plan for the future.

Sen. Wayne Schmidt urges updates and repair on Soo Locks

Nearly 80 percent of all Great Lakes shipping traffic, for one of the most important elements needed to fuel our economy

Sen. Wayne Schmidt

Guest columnist

— Iron ore — passes through upper Michigan's Soo Locks. Each year about 10,000 ships sail through the locks, carrying 80 million tons of iron ore, coal, grain, and other cargo. Tens of thousands of jobs and millions of dollars in commerce rely on this single point. Despite the locks' economic vitality to the state, region and global economies, the most important and depended-upon lock faces an uncertain future that threatens both our economy and security.

If you think back to 1968 when the current Poe Lock went into service and consider how much our society has advanced over the past 47 years, and then consider that this most important Great Lakes maritime crossing has not been upgraded during that time, you can imagine why so many have come forward to call on the federal government to get to work and upgrade the Soo Locks.

I recently had the opportunity to tour the Soo Locks and witness numerous freighters make the 28-foot transition between the upper and lower locks. These 1,000-foot-long ships are expertly packed to the gills to maximize efficiency when transporting goods. As the ships lined up to take their turns passing through the gates, it was easy to visualize the very real threat that exists if the Poe Lock were to go down. There is literally no other way for these massive ships to cross. Estimates suggest that a prolonged 30-day shutdown of this single lock would result in the loss of $160 million. The Lake Carriers' Association predicts such a shutdown would affect Michigan's economy so deeply that more than 22 percent of the state's workers would become unemployed.

Given all of this, the question arises: Why haven't the Soo Locks been upgraded?

In 1986, the Congress authorized construction of a new lock that would be built on the site of the current 100-plus-year-old Sabin and Davis Locks. The proposed new lock would run tandem to and would be the same size as the Poe Lock. In 2009, funds were provided for preparatory work that built coffer dams at the ends of the Sabin Lock and to dredge the approach channels to the necessary 28.5-foot depth.

However, nothing has been done since to move forward with building a new, modern lock.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, which is responsible for running the locks, formally requested the federal government to fund preparation of an economic reevaluation report. This report would examine the economic benefits and costs of replacing the Davis and Sabin locks with a lock similar to the current Poe Lock, and would be an important next step.

Elected officials have joined to petition the president, Congress, and the U.S. Office of Management and Budget to support plans to upgrade the Soo Locks. Earlier this month at a rare joint hearing of the state Senate Commerce, Transportation, and Economic Development and International Investment committees, held in Sault Ste. Marie, a bipartisan group of colleagues and I adopted Senate Resolution 105 to encourage the federal government to support plans to upgrade the locks. This week, the Michigan Senate unanimously adopted the resolution as well.

In today's modern age, it is unacceptable that so much relies on so little when it comes to moving economically vital materials and supplies through the Great Lakes. A 21st century Michigan economy demands a modern Soo Locks. The economy, businesses and jobs all rely heavily on the Soo Locks, and leaders in Washington, D.C. must act to modernize the locks to continue Michigan's positive economic momentum.

Respect the dunes

Editor,
Jeep tracks have been observed in the Mount McSaubia sand dunes and at the North Pointe Conservancy. A large area of dune grass in that area below the big blowout has been torn up because people are driving a jeep on the dunes.

To those responsible for driving on the dunes please be reminded that no unauthorized motor vehicles are allowed in this area.

Sincerely,
Friends of Mount McSaubia and North Pointe Conservancy

Charlevoix CROP Walk proceeds will benefit 6 local food pantries

Editor,
I would like to say thank you to over 80 walkers and helpers who participated in the 32nd Annual CROP Walk which was held on Saturday, Sept. 26. Charlevoix County raised more than $23,427 for hunger relief agencies at home and around the globe. More than $5,700 will come back to be split with six local food pantries. Thank you to Castle Farms, Elm Pointe, Ironton Congregational Church, East Jordan Area Chamber of Commerce, Michelle Nowka from At Your Service, Good Samaritan, Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office and the Charlevoix Kiwanis for providing lunch at the end of the six-mile walk.

The 33rd Charlevoix CROP Walk will be held Saturday, Sept. 24, 2016.

Marge Tacke
Charlevoix County CROP Walk treasurer

For whom the bell tolls

It may seem a little unusual to juxtapose a photo of Charlevoix's brand new Catholic church, with its imposing steeple and bell tower, and an ad for a local saloon, but the two are intimately related. The congregation purchased the property at the southwest corner of the Bridge Street and West Garfield intersection in 1889. The building was completed in late 1893, and the sanctuary was blessed on May 31, 1894. One of the church members was James Gellick, who owned a saloon on Bridge Street that stood above the current Beaver Island Boat Company at the east end of Park Avenue. Five and half months after the consecration, this article appeared in the Charlevoix Sentinel newspaper, whose office stood next door to the saloon: "At 10 o'clock yesterday, Rev. S. S. Mollitor, O. S. F., dedicated the new Catholic bell with solemn ceremonies. The bell, which weighs 521 pounds, was secured mainly through the efforts of James A. Gellick, and constitutes a memorial to his deceased daughter, Gracie. Upon its surface her name appears in raised letters."

The DVD of the recent Earl Young documentary, "The Wizard of Boulder Park," that was shown at Cinema III six times last summer is available at the Historical Society's Museum at the Harsha House, 103 State St., from noon-4 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

The DVD also is available online at chxhistory.com. Call (231) 547-0373 for more information.

Winter events receive nod from city council

LORRAINE ALLEN
(231) 547-6558 - lallen@charvoix.com

CHARLEVOIX — Two winter event activities received City Council approval on Monday during its regular meeting at City Hall.

The Charlevoix Bridge Drop Committee received permission for a fireworks display on Dec. 31. The fireworks display is one of the main attractions for the Charlevoix Bridge Drop and because of last year's wind and safety concerns it will be moved to Depot Beach.

"There is more wind and not much protection from the elements on Lake Michigan," said Dan Barron, Charlevoix Bridge Drop Committee member. "This location will be a much more protected area and a safer venue."

Committee members expect the new location and earlier time will bring more people out to enjoy the show, Barron said.

"We believe it will be a beautiful display," Barron said. "It will be better for families with young children and will be visible from the festivities on Bridge Street."

Bridge Drop activities are scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. with the Bridge Drop at midnight.

Council members also approved a request from Tim Fore and the Charlevoix Groundhog Shadow Fest committee to authorize the city manager to waive alcohol restrictions as outlined in the city's code, so the beer tent can be located closer to Bridge Street and across from the chili cook-off tent in East Park.

"The main reason we made the request to move the tent was to increase the visibility and help create a wind block for the event," Fore said. "Having the tent closer to the main level of East Park will protect people from the elements more and allow them easier access to the festivities."

Charlevoix Groundhog Shadow Fest will take place in downtown Charlevoix on Feb. 5-7. The preliminary schedule of events includes kid's games, snow sculptures, horse drawn carriage rides, free movie showings, a chili cook-off, beer tent and music. The beer tent would be open from noon-7 p.m. on Saturday.

"We learned a lot from last year's event and this year we have a much more improved event," Fore said. "We've increased the kids activities and we are working with downtown bars and restaurants to provide more live entertainment."

People thoroughly enjoyed the event last year, said mayor Gabe Campbell.

"Everything I heard about Shadow Fest from people was very positive," Campbell said. "Everyone seems very enthused and looking forward to the upcoming festival."

Free dental services provided

Beacon Dental Center in Gaylord hosted Dentistry From the Heart on Nov. 7. They provided cleanings, fillings and extractions free of charge to anyone. This is the eighth year Beacon Dental has done a day of free dental care and expected to perform more than $20,000 worth of service for free. "Today's a cool day because there's lots of hugs, tears and people are so appreciative and that's the gift of giving, and giving is really important to me and my family," said Dr. Michael Sullivan. And there are plans for free dental care again next year.

Annual Gift Market presented by Jordan River Arts Council

EAST JORDAN — The Jordan River Arts Council's will have its annual gift market. The market opens Sunday, Nov. 22. There will be affordable fine art works and also fun and practical gifts for giving all made by local artists. Visitor's purchases helps the artists as well as the Jordan River Arts Council. The art gifts are displayed in a holiday setting with a live spruce tree decorated with hand made ornaments.

Items for sale include paintings, ceramics, sculpture, collages, jewelry, scarves and other fiber works, baskets and many Christmas decorations.

Special presentations include alcohol ink tiles and wood burned items by Pat Tinney. The show will run thru Dec. 20, open Tuesday thru Sunday from 1-4 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

The center will also be open Dec. 3, for East Jordan Community Night from 5-8 p.m. having a Christmas art activity for children and parents in the lower level. The Jordan River Art Center is located at 301 Main St., East Jordan.

Operation Christmas Child

Jessica LaBlance's kindergarten class put together shoe boxes for Operation Christmas Child, which is organized by Samaritan's Purse and international relief organizations so children around the world could have Christmas gifts. Students in no particular order are Greyson Warchol, Nathan Cromie, Jacob Muladore, Piper Hinkley, Solenn Berrou, and Westley Klooster smile for the camera as they drop off their shoe boxes to be sent out and delivered to children in need throughout the world.

On Nov. 6, kindergarten students Piper Hinkley (from left), Felicity Bonar, and Jacob Muladore work on packing shoe boxes for a community service project. After bringing in donations and packing more than 20 shoe boxes, students delivered them to the Community Reformed Church and were served breakfast by community volunteers. The shoe boxes are part of the mission Operation Christmas Child, which is organized by Samaritan's Purse and international relief organizations. The shoe boxes will be delivered all around the world to children in need. After Christmas, Jessica LaBlance's kindergarten will receive an email telling them where each of their shoe boxes was delivered in the world. Last year's shoe boxes were delivered to Peru and Haiti.

What to do with venison? Try canning it this year

BETH WAITROVICH
MSU Extension

Looking for an alternative to freezing venison? Why not try canning venison? Having canned venison on the shelf, means quick and easy meals like stew, soup, stir fries and much more. The meat is already cut up, tender and ready to add to broth, vegetables, pasta and more.

Michigan State University Extension reminds consumers that canning venison requires a pressure canner. Any kind of meat, including venison, is a low acid food and must be processed with a pressure canner for safety.

First, the venison should be cut into strips, cubes or chunks taking care to remove excess fat. Bones should also be removed.

Venison can be hot packed or raw packed. Hot packed foods are cooked and then added to the jar while still hot. Precook the venison until rare by roasting, stewing, or browning in a small amount of fat. Salt can be added to the jar but it is optional (one teaspoon per quart). Fill the jars with the hot meat and add boiling broth, meat drippings, water or tomato juice, leaving 1 inch headspace.

Raw pack means just that, filling the jars with raw meat. Again, salt is optional, but use two teaspoons of salt per quart if desired. Fill the jars with raw meat pieces, leaving 1 inch headspace. Do not add liquid.

For processing times, follow directions at the Michigan Fresh website for canning venison. Other ideas for using and storing venison can also be found in the Michigan Fresh publication, Handling, Using and Storing Venison.

You can learn more about safely preserving foods including venison at Michigan State University Extension "Online Home Food Preservation" course.

BUSINESS

Main Street News: Shop Charlevoix on Small Business Saturday

As we enter the holiday shopping season, we are familiar with "Black Friday" and have learned about "Cyber Monday." Join Charlevoix Main Street Black Friday and Cyber Monday feature shopping at big box retail and e-commerce stores. Small Business Saturday is a national promotion started in 2010 that encourages holiday shoppers to patronize businesses that are small and local. Locally owned stores may not be able to compete with big chain stores on price for every item, but they shine at customer service and selection. National polling shows that over 90 percent of Americans want to support local small businesses. So come out and support our local small businesses by shopping in Charlevoix that day. Small Business Saturday is a day to celebrate and support small businesses and all that they do for our communities. By doing business locally, you not only get personal service and real value, you also help strengthen our local community and economy.

— Every dollar you spend in a locally owned, independent business has a huge impact on the local economy. In fact, your dollar will have three times the economic benefit compared to the same purchase made at a chain retailer.

— Beyond the immediate effect of payroll, independent businesses bank locally, hire local accountants, attorneys and consultants, graphic designers, and advertise in local media. While big box retailers have an immediate impact on the local economy by means of payroll, a whopping 86 percent of the average chain retailer's revenue leaves the state, flowing to out-of-state suppliers, and back to corporate headquarters.

— Independent businesses are owned by people who are your neighbors. They make their decisions based on the needs and interests of their customers, not by some formulaic concept of a distant corporate office. Our freedom of choice is imperiled when a few buyers from national chains choose what reaches consumers.

— Locally owned, independent businesses offer original and unique products and services. This adds interest, diversity, and character to our communities. By shopping locally, you support the independent business owner's creativity and ingenuity, and help create a more vibrant shopping experience for everyone.

And if those reasons weren't enough and you need a little extra money after the holidays, buying local can be even better than you thought this year. Spend $50 at any of your favorite Main Street businesses starting on Small Business Saturday through Christmas Eve and you will be entered to win $500 in Charlevoix Chamber Checks. Now how is that for shopping local?

Thank you for choosing local and independent as you shop this holiday season. By doing so you protect our local economy, you protect local jobs and you preserve our unique local character. A city full of diverse and strong local independent businesses creates a stronger local economy that is more immune to economic downturns. Thank you for continuing to strengthen our community by buying local.

Live. Life. Local.

The concept of working together is at the very root of "buying local." Main Street volunteers are committed to teamwork. Whether we are working on filling vacant storefronts, enhancing downtown entertainment, designing street signs, or hanging holiday decorations, the one thing that remains a must is the ability to work as a team toward a common goal. If you are interested in being a part of the Charlevoix Main Street team take a look at some of our upcoming meetings listed below. Upcoming meetings:

- Design Committee – 4 p.m. on Dec. 1 at City Hall
- Economic Committee – 8 a.m. on Dec. 2 at City Hall
- Organization Committee – 8 a.m. on Dec. 9 at City Hall
- Promotions Committee – 8 a.m. on Dec. 17 at City Hall
- Downtown Business Owners – 8 a.m. on Dec. 21 at Charlevoix Public Library
- Main Street/DDA Board meeting – 5:30 p.m. on Dec. 23 at City Hall

Travel insurance can make sense

Holiday travel can be rife with mishaps.

Two years ago, for example, a storm that struck the Northeast the day before Thanksgiving caused more than 700 flight cancellations and thousands of flight delays.

Airlines have to rebook you when a flight is canceled but they don't necessarily have to cover other expenses, such as a hotel stay or food. For those and other unexpected costs, you may want to consider buying travel insurance. Here's what to do:

Check your credit card. Many credit cards offer some kind of protection if your travel plans get upended.

Sixty-three percent reimburse you if your bag is lost or delayed, according to CardHub, a credit card search engine. And in some cases, you may be covered for as much as $5,000 in nonrefundable travel expenses if your trip is canceled or interrupted, or as much as $500 if you're delayed more than six hours.

So before you book, check what travel protections your card offers (you'll find most policies online).

The card's coverage applies not only to you, but also to a spouse or domestic partner, and children. But to make a claim all of your travel has to be booked on the card.

Shop around. If your credit card is lacking in travel benefits, it may be worth buying a travel insurance policy, especially if you're splurging on a pricey getaway, heading overseas or worried that an illness will cause you to cancel your trip.

Skip the policies sold by airlines or travel-booking websites.

"There are usually too many exclusions, and pre-existing medical conditions are not covered," said George Hobica, founder of Airfarewatchdog, a website that tracks fare deals and airline trends.

Instead, search for policies on sites like Insuremytrip.com, which allows you to compare hundreds of policies. Costs will range from 4 percent to 8 percent of the total amount of your nonrefundable travel expenses and "are based on the length of the trip, destination and age of the policyholder," said Carol Walsh, executive director of the U.S. Travel Insurance Association.

What if you have a tight connection, or you're worried that bad weather could interrupt your air travel?

Hobica recommends AirCare, a policy offered by Berkshire Hathaway Travel Protection. Your flights are tracked in real time, and if your flight is canceled or you miss a connection, the policy automatically helps you on another flight.

It also deposits cash into your bank account. For example, if your flight is delayed two hours or longer, you'll receive $50. If you miss a connection, you get $100. And if your bag is delayed more than 12 hours during your trip, you're paid $500.

Said Hobica, "It covers a lot of annoyances that no one else covers."

Jeff Dwyer tapped to lead MSU Extension

BETH STUEVER
MSU Extension

EAST LANSING — Fred Poston, dean of the Michigan State University College of Agriculture and Natural Resources, announced that Jeff Dwyer will become interim director of MSU Extension, effective Jan. 1, 2016. Dwyer replaces Ray Hammerschmidt, who will resume his research and teaching roles in the MSU Department of Plant, Soil and Microbial Sciences.

Dwyer is a senior associate dean in the MSU College of Human Medicine with primary responsibilities related to research and community engagement. There, he works on college initiatives such as cultivating new partnerships, working closely with advancement, communications, external relations and other college leaders. In this capacity he has provided leadership in faculty recruiting throughout the College of Human Medicine's seven community campuses across the state, and in developing a statewide research network.

"Dr. Dwyer is a visionary and a savvy leader who understands the importance of working with communities throughout the state on educational, outreach and research priorities," Poston said. "I am thrilled that he is joining the MSU Extension team on a full-time basis."

Dwyer has been actively working with MSU Extension since 2008, and has helped lead the Extension Health Research Team since it was created in 2014. This health and nutrition initiative brings together the resources of MSU Extension and the College of Human Medicine to enhance the health of Michigan residents by engaging them in health research in their communities. Dwyer earned the prestigious MSU Extension Key Partner Award in 2011 for his role in helping the organization help medical professionals put health research into practice and helping patients learn how to manage their own health.

Before joining MSU, Dwyer was a tenured professor at Wayne State University, where he was the director of the Institute of Gerontology and professor of sociology. He was the founding director of the Institute on Aging and a tenured professor of medicine at the University of Florida from 1999-2003. Dwyer received a bachelor's degree in sociology from California Lutheran University in 1982 and a doctorate in sociology from the University of Florida in 1988.

Dwyer succeeds Ray Hammerschmidt, who was recently diagnosed with an eye disorder that has the potential to impair his vision. Hammerschmidt will continue to spend a small percentage of his time consulting with the MSU Extension administrative team. He will spend the bulk of his time researching the physiology and biochemistry of plant disease and disease resistance, teaching undergraduate and graduate classes, and coordinating the MSU Diagnostic Services laboratory.

"I was disappointed when Dr. Hammerschmidt told me that he wanted to step down from his role as interim Extension director," Poston said. "He has been an invaluable member of our leadership team. I'm saddened by his diagnosis, but am supportive of his decision to return to his research and teaching roots."

Under Hammerschmidt's leadership, MSU Extension emphasized a model of shared leadership, giving staff members at all levels a strong voice in strategic planning.

"Dr. Hammerschmidt was key in hiring and placing key leaders who offer greater support to staff members throughout the organization. That helped strengthen Extension's footprint across the state," Poston said. "In addition, he has led and encouraged a strategic planning process that began with our team members throughout the state and percolated up through administration."

Dwyer will remain interim MSU Extension director until Poston's successor is named. (Poston plans to retire at the end of 2015, and a search for his successor is underway.) A new dean will be charged with hiring a permanent director for MSU Extension.

Veterans remembered

Forty-five years after saying goodbye in Vietnam, Army Staff Sergeant Gordon Bourland, of Petoskey and Captain Michael Purdy of Bakersfield, Calif., united with 20 other Vietnam Veterans from the 199th Light Infantry Brigade for a reunion in Washington, D.C. On Nov. 10, a dinner was held for the men and their spouses. On Veterans Day they attended the ceremony at the Vietnam Veterans Memorial and placed a wreath near the names of their fallen comrades. On Thursday, Nov. 12, they gathered in Arlington National Cemetery to place another wreath near the monument for the 199th L.I.B. Captain Purdy was the keynote speaker. The US Army provided a Color Guard and Taps was played.

Michigan Environmental Hall of Fame will include new youth award

GRAND RAPIDS — The Michigan Environmental Hall of Fame celebrates its fifth anniversary in 2016. It has a new category this year, the Sunshine Youth Award for Environmental Service. The award honors projects developed by individuals under 21 years of age, school classes — kindergarten through college — summer camps, public interest groups and youth organizations to promote environmental conservation and awareness in Michigan. The award recognizes the critical role of young people in environmental projects and the importance of their involvement in conservation and environmental issues.

The Michigan Environmental Hall of Fame is seeking nominations for all categories. Nonprofits, colleges and schools, environmental projects, business and industry, individual, legacy circle and the new Sunshine Youth Award. The application can be found at muskegonlakepreserve.org/hall-of-fame-1/. The deadline for applications is Jan. 25, 2016.

The ceremony will be conducted April 7, 2016 at the Loosmore Auditorium in the Richard DeVos Center of the Pew Campus, Grand Valley State University in Grand Rapids.

More information can be found on the Michigan Environmental Hall of Fame Facebook page — MI Environmental Hall of Fame.

In celebration of five years, past winners like Peter Wege, Theresa Bernhardt, Gloria Miller, Huron River Watershed Council, Howard Tanner, former Gov. William Milliken, Dave Dempsey and others will be recognized for their environmental stewardship.

Nominations for Governor's Fitness Awards being sought

LANSING — Nominations for the Governor's Fitness Awards, organized by the Michigan Fitness Foundation are now being accepted. On April 21, 2016, individuals, organizations and events throughout Michigan will be recognized for their pursuit, commitment and dedication to healthy and active lifestyles.

"A commitment to fitness can feel self-focused and a bit solitary at times," said Mary Zatina a member of the Governor's Council on Physical Fitness, Health and Sports. "But when the Michigan Fitness Foundation recognizes your effort and the results, suddenly your efforts have the transformational power of influencing others."

The uniting quality of all Governor's Fitness Award winners have is the unwavering ability to keep one's eye on the prize in order to obtain the end goal. From Veteran of the Year to Champion for Health, all of these health advocates and champions are made of determination.

Award finalists will be honored on April 21, 2016 at a legislative celebration at the state capitol in Lansing in the morning, and at a gala event at the newly renovated Cobo Hall in Detroit that evening.

People may volunteer the names of inspirational fitness leaders by submitting recommendations to michiganfitness.org/gfa. Nominations will be taken for the following awards:

- Veteran of the Year Award
- Charles T. Kuntzleman Accepting the Challenge Award
- Extraordinary Event Award
- Conquering Obesity Award
- Director's Champion for Health Award
- John Dingell Outstanding Public Official Award
- Healthy Workplace Award
- The Michigan Fitness Foundation and the Governor's Council on Physical Fitness, Health and Sports inspire active lifestyles and healthy food choices through education, environmental change, community events and policy leadership.

Pure Michigan Hunt applications available

LANSING — The Department of Natural Resources reminds deer hunters, while buying their deer licenses this year, to take a moment to purchase Pure Michigan Hunt applications, because there is still plenty of time to make 2016 the hunt of a lifetime.

Applications are on sale until Dec. 31, and three winners will be randomly drawn in January 2016. Applications are $5 each, in unlimited quantities, and can be purchased at any license agent or online at E-License.

Pure Michigan Hunt winners receive licenses including elk, bear, antlerless deer, spring and fall turkey hunts and first pick at a managed waterfowl hunt area, all to be used in the 2016 hunting season. Along with the hunting licenses, each winner will receive a hunting prize package valued at more than $4,000.

All three Pure Michigan Hunt winners have the flexibility to hunt many different places.

"Life gets very busy, but because of the Pure Michigan Hunt's golden ticket, all three winners have the ability to pick and choose hunt areas and times so they are able to work these hunts into their everyday lives," said Jordyn Richardson, DNR wildlife technician. "They also have the option to transfer a license to someone else."

For more information or to purchase applications, visit michigan.gov/pmh.

Thanksgiving Miracle

As you might know my wife and I have been helping the less fortunate in Charlevoix, Michigan and throughout America for over 30 years.

We all know miracles today are few and far between. This Thanksgiving Miracle will make you very sad and then happy.

2 weeks ago I took the Schulling Kayak Team from Charlevoix on a beautiful paddle on French Farm Lake which is near Mackinaw City and in the middle of nowhere.

When we finished kayaking I walked down the long, small, deserted dirt road we came in on.

After I walked about 1/4 a mile, I saw a couple putting up a very large tarp to cover their camping equipment. I said hi to them and they explained that they had lost their room at a motel in Cheboygan, Michigan because they had no money.

Shockingly they said they would have to camp there all Winter and sleep in their car.

How could they survive the cold nights with no heat or food? They could not!

I could not let that happen and had them pack up their camp. We all drove down to Cheboygan, Michigan to the motel they had left 4 hours earlier. I got them a room for 4 months at the LeDuc's Creekside Motel. The owners of the motel Barry and Janet, after I told them of the plight of Mr. & Mrs. Haskin, helped by cutting their room price by over $2,000. Thank you so much for their help. God's Blessing on you both.

I will be sending the Haskin family financial help for four months so they have food to eat and be able to buy gas for their car. Hopefully this will give them both the opportunity to find employment.

Only with the Lord's helping hand did this very kind and wonderful family walk away from a very life threatening situation.

The Lord made this Thanksgiving Miracle possible:

What if I hadn't gone kayaking? What if I hadn't decided to go to that lake?

What if I hadn't gone for my walk? Finally, What if I hadn't said hi to Mr. & Mrs. Haskin?

They surely would have perished.

I am happy to report to you that Mr. & Mrs. Haskin and their dog are well and happily looking forward to having their Thanksgiving together. Surely an amazing Thanksgiving Miracle.

So, as you celebrate this Thanksgiving I hope you will have an opportunity, like I did, to help someone in need or in harm's way.

Wishing God's love to you all and Happy Thanksgiving!

Bill & Karen Schulling

Adam Kline looks forward to sitting down with the group to discuss what they hope to accomplish.

"I would like us to set a goal, figure out what we have to do to work toward that goal and educate people in the process," Kline said.

Main Street and Downtown Development director Annie Doyle said in recent months city staffers have reviewed information from other cities, as well as larger metropolitan areas across the state. The goal, she said, is to understand how other cities manage food trucks — and find out what would work best for Charlevoix through a vetted discussion from a range of stakeholders.

"I am looking forward to the community discussion that will come as a revisit of the formation of this committee," Doyle said. "I hope the committee members are able to successfully develop guidelines that preserve the land use rights of our brick and mortar restaurants and can encourage economic development with the mobile food industry."

REFERENDUM

necessary because the parks are protected well enough under the city's charter, which prohibits city parks from being sold without a vote of the people.

City manager Mark Heydlauff explained that a conservation easement did not mean the city was giving up its ownership of the property.

"The city would always retain the title to the property," Heydlauff said. "An easement referendum on the ballot would let the people vote on always keeping the parks at their natural state."

A conservation easement is a legally binding document, often granted to a nonprofit organization such as a land trust or conservancy in which case the grantor — in this case the city — agrees in perpetuity not to develop or improve a property beyond a very limited scope allowed in the document.

"The intent would be to always preserve the parks as a natural area," Heydlauff said. "It would prohibit the people from ever selling the property off and developing it. It would allow the people to always use the area as they do now and keep it its natural state. We also would be able to define — within the easement itself — what things would be continually permitted and what things would be expressly prohibited after the people voted on the referendum."

Former Belvedere pro, CCJGA board member Braun makes Flint Sports Hall of Fame

JAMES GENSTERBLUM

(231) 439-9343 • jgensterblum@petoskeynews.com

Steve Braun doesn't think he belongs in a hall of fame. That the former Belvedere golf pro and current Charlevoix County Junior Golf Association board member holds this attitude about himself perhaps helps explain why he deserves the honor.

On Dec. 5, Braun will be inducted into the Greater Flint Sports Hall of Fame as a distinguished service nominee for his contributions to the Flint community as head of the Flint Junior Golf Association from 1975 until he moved to Charlevoix and took over as Belvedere head pro in 1996.

Along with doubling the membership of the organization that helps provide opportunities to play golf for youths in the Flint area during his tenure, Braun also helped attract a major AJGA event to the Flint Elks Club and establish the Genesee County All-Star Classic, a premier tournament in the Flint area.

Although honored to be nominated, Braun said he was doing only what should be expected during his tenure.

"I'm reminded of when the great Bobby Jones called a penalty on himself that cost him the U.S. Open in 1925," Braun

Former Belvedere Golf Pro Steve Braun is being honored for his work promoting Flint area golf as director of the FJGA from 1975 to the early 90s, earning a spot in the 36th Greater Flint Area Sports Hall of Fame class that will be inducted on Dec. 5.

said. "He was praised through the press for his honesty and sportsmanship, but he waved the praise off, saying 'You might as well praise a man for not robbing a bank.'"

"To do what you can to help your community is something that should be expected of everyone, and I don't feel like I've done anything particularly praiseworthy in that regard. It's nice to be remembered, but you're supposed to give back. I was just doing what anyone would do."

Although Braun is headed to the hall of fame for his contributions to the game of golf, he also had plenty of success between the links as well.

In high school, Braun was one of the top golfers on Flint Southwestern's back-to-back Class A state title teams in 1962 and 1963, and as an amateur, he won the Flint Golf Club championship 10 times, was the City Amateur runner-up four times, and reached the finals of the 1979 Michigan Amateur at the Belvedere before falling to four-time champion Peter Green.

But it's his achievements with the FJGA that have earned him the honor.

Braun was asked to take over in 1975 by veteran Flint golfer Dick Daly, who thought the program needed a jump-start to restore its dwindling numbers.

By getting PGA members involved, Braun was able to double the membership of the organization from the time he took over to the time he left.

"I owe a lot to Dick Daly for taking a chance on me at that time," Braun said. "I was looking for an opportunity to get involved and he was able to put me in a position where I could make a difference.

"Flint Junior Golf was an important part of my development growing up, and I can't look at the chance I got to give back to that organization as anything but a blessing."

Braun helped Flint-area golf in other ways, starting the All-Star Classic and bringing an AJGA event to Flint for the first time in 1986.

Now known as the Randy Wise Junior Open, the Flint-based event is the longest-running non-major AJGA event in existence, with a winner's list that includes PGA star Phil Mickelson.

After getting his PGA tour card in the early 90s, Braun joined long-time friend Larry Mancour as an assistant pro a Dunmaglas Golf Course in Charlevoix before becoming the head pro at the Belvedere from 1996-2008.

While in Charlevoix, he helped return the Michigan Amateur to the Belvedere Course that had hosted it from 1963 to 1988 in 2003, and also the site of his best finish as a player in 1979.

"It was fortuitous timing that a good friend, Bob McMasters, happened to be president of GAM (Golf Association of Michigan) at the time, and I knew he had fond memories of the Michigan Amateur at the Belvedere," Braun said. "I told the club that if we wanted to bring it back here, now was the time.

"It's something that had a lot of personal meaning to me, having played here in an amateur, and I know it meant a lot to the club as well."

And just as in Flint, Braun found ways to give back to young golfers in Charlevoix as well, helping to found the Charlevoix County Junior Golf Association and beginning a yearly tradition of playing 100 holes of golf in a single day to raise money to support the organization that his successor, Dennis "Marty" Joy II still carries on to this day.

More than anything, Braun is just grateful to still be able to give back to the game he loves and the people who play it.

"Golf to me means friendship and fun, more than anything else," Braun said. "It's something that kids can do their entire lives and build lifelong friendships and relationships through."

"It's a sport built around honesty and fairness, and I think that because of that the people you meet in it tend to be good people."

Braun will be inducted into the Greater Flint Area Sports Hall of Fame as a part of its 36th class at 4:15 p.m. on December 5th at the Genesys Banquet and Conference Center in Flint. Tickets are $45 and can be purchased by calling Debbie Goyette at (810) 397-7305.

Beyond the Scoreboard hosting workshops

JAMES GENSTERBLUM

(231) 439-9343 • jgensterblum@petoskeynews.com

BOYNE CITY — High school sports are a team effort.

That's true on the playing field, and it's also true in a larger sense, as coaches, administrators, parents and athletes all come together to play a role in a successful high school program.

Reflecting that reality, Beyond the Scoreboard is hosting a three-pronged workshop on Saturday at Boyne City High School designed to speak to the needs of all four groups.

The workshops begin at 9 a.m. with an interactive panel aimed at coaches and administrators titled "Positive Motivation: Getting the Best From Athletes."

Based on the latest research by the world's top sports psychologists, the panel aims to show "the detrimental effects of negativity and the productive effects of positivity" on players and team chemistry.

Attendees will work through various scenarios to learn how to apply best practices based on this knowledge to motivate underperforming players and teams, have difficult conversations with players and give constructive criticism in the most effective manner.

The second workshop at 11 a.m., titled "Becoming a Triple-Impact Competitor" and targeted at high school athletes, aims to give attendees the tools to transform themselves from participants to competitors.

Exploring the concept of a triple-impact competitor who is devoted to improving themselves, their teammates and the game they play, the workshop walks through several scenarios designed to help athletes reach their goals.

Student-athletes attending this workshop will also receive a copy of the book Elevating Your Game: Becoming a Triple-Impact Competitor, and the workshop will also include a section on hazing, and how to prevent it.

The final session at 1 p.m., "The High School Sports Parent: Developing Triple-Impact Competitors", is geared toward teaching parents how to support their children "so that they have fun, positive experiences in sports."

Its goal is to give parents the tools to ensure healthy and positive development through sports that will be an asset long after their child's playing days are done through working through scenarios and teaching parents how to set goals and help their children grow and learn from setbacks.

Attendees of this workshop will receive a copy of the book The High School Sports Parent: Developing Triple-Impact Competitors as well.

There is no fee to attend the workshops, though reference materials for the three panels will be provided for $7 apiece.

There also will be free pizza and beverages for all attendees during a lunch intermission from noon to 1 p.m.

For more information on the event, including pre-registration, contact Renee Wyatt at reneewyatt32@gmail.com or by phone at (989) 858-1943.

One of the Northmen's best strikers, finished season with 13 goals and 15 assists as a first team all-conference and 3rd team all-state selection.

Joe Claramunt, So. Harbor Springs
Honorable mention all-state, played every position but keeper. A leader on the backline and potent goal-scorer up front.

Ben Hoffman, Sr. Petoskey
First team all-conference and third team all-state. Led the Northmen with 15 goals and 11 assists this season, missing four games due to injury.

Walker Drost, Sr. Charlevoix
An honorable mention all-state pick, Drost had six games with at least two goals this season, finishing the year with 19 goals and 10 assists.

Christian Matye, Jr. Charlevoix
A first-team all-state pick and the Rayders top scorer, Matye finished the year with 25 goals and 10 assists, averaging 2.4 points a game.

Jacob King, Sr. Gaylord
Led Gaylord's midfield and was one of its most consistent players, despite missing a few games. Scored two goals and had three assists.

Lampton Kamali, Jr. Harbor Springs
A second-team all-stater in Division 4, the speedy junior midfielder was a potent weapon offensively for the Rams, showing a flair for both creating and finishing scoring chances.

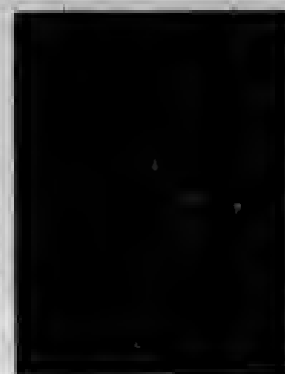

Kevin Pearl, Jr. Charlevoix
Third team all-state selection, Pearl was the Rayders top defender this season, helping the team post 12 shutouts en route to a district title.

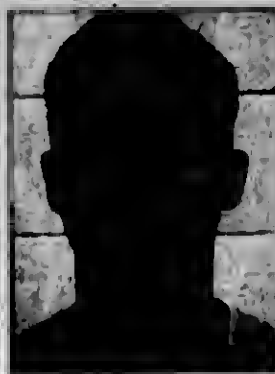

Connor Wineman, Jr. Petoskey
A first team all-conference selection and honorable mention all-state pick, Wineman ended the season with 15 goals, scoring 10 in BNC games.

Noah Carson, Jr. Charlevoix
A dual sport athlete as one of the better cross country runners, was third on the team with 11 goals, including go-ahead goal against rival Elk Rapids.

Jared Caswell, Sr. Gaylord
As Gaylord's striker, he kept the Blue Devils in games with timely scores and his hustle to balls in the attack. He recorded 12 goals and three assists.

Ben Fry, Sr. Gaylord
One of the top goalkeepers in school history. Made 238 saves and had five shutouts. Averaged 13.8 saves per game in the BNC.

Nathaniel Reed, Sr. Petoskey
Two-time all-state selection and the area player of the year, Reed earned 10 shutouts this season and allowed the fewest goals in BNC play.

Honorable Mention

Petoskey: Billy Fetting, Spencer Wineman;
Charlevoix: Danny Nesurg, David Ritter, Ashley Crandell; Harbor Springs: Parker Fairbairn, Sam Bailey, Mitchell Corey; Burt Lake NMCA: Alex Vandeyacht, Josiah Fosmore; Harbor Light: JaeSeong Chung, HoGeon Kim, Graham Terry; Gaylord: Lane Jeakle, Noah Modrzynski, Trevor Gialombardo, Jackson Landrie.

Coach of the Year

Anton Matye Charlevoix

With head coach Jon Boss stepping down from his post due to family reasons, Matye, a long-time assistant at Charlevoix, was thrust into the top position to start the season. Preaching a message of focus, accountability and attention to detail and aided by assistants Glenn Wachler and Boss, who stayed on to help, Matye got his talented team to buy into his plan. The result was a breakthrough year for the squad, which captured the outright Lake Michigan Conference title, its first district title since 2009 and came a shootout away from knocking off the third-ranked team in the state, Muskegon Western Michigan Christian, in the regional semifinal.

All-state soccer player. All-conference football player. Varsity basketball player. Band and steel drum band member. Leadership council member. Honor roll student, and of course all around good guy. It takes a 'Buff' kid to keep up with all of that. But given the time of year, it's just another week for Nathaniel 'Buff' Reed. Reed, or 'Buff' as he's been known by most throughout his life, is a part of quite a few activities as a Petoskey High School student, but he doesn't just do them to play the part, he excels. So much so that Reed was recently named the Northern Michigan Review area soccer player of the year. He's been around the program a long time and he's been a huge piece to our success over the past four years," Petoskey varsity soccer coach Zach Jonker said. "More than anything else, he's just been a fantastic representative of our school and community." A three year starter on the varsity boys' soccer team as goalkeeper, Reed has helped Petoskey to two district titles during his days in a Petoskey uniform, including a shutout 1-0 district championship win over Mount Pleasant this season.

The victory, and egg in the score column from their opponent, came as Reed's 10th shutout of the season. Still, Reed remains humble on his accomplishments and the honor of player of the year. "I think there were definitely a couple of other guys that were deserving of that," said Reed, on his way back from checking out one of a few college options for next fall. "I never thought I would be an option, but it's definitely good to hear." He also became a two-time all-state soccer player from the Michigan High School Soccer Coaches Association, making it clear Reed had the attention of many of the state's Division 2 coaches throughout his prep career, while also earning academic all-state through the MHSACA. "I don't know if there's a more well rounded kid at Petoskey High School," said Jonker. "He plays three varsity sports, he's in the marching band, the steel drum band, he's on our student leadership council, he's got a fantastic GPA. He's just a great kid and a great leader." Juggling so much has just become the norm for Reed, but it's what he's come to love. "I don't get a lot of sleep," Reed said laughing on how he does it. "I've been doing it for a few years, so I'm just kind of used to it by now. If I wasn't still having fun I would probably drop some of the things I'm doing, but I guess I Petoskey's Nathaniel Reed was a three-year starter as a goalkeeper on the varsity for the Northmen, earning back-to-back all-state seasons from the Michigan High School Soccer Coaches Association.

just have to manage my time, especially as I'm taking harder classes year after year. I just try to mainly focus on schoolwork, then focus on some of the other things. It's definitely a challenge sometimes." Taken under the wing of former Petoskey soccer, track and football standout Louis Lamberti in his early days as a Northmen helped Reed learn how to balance. "When he was a freshman and Louie a senior, he really mentored him," said Jonker. "Between his academics and his extracurriculars, he's really been able to balance it all. It's never been an issue." Added Reed on Lamberti. "I would go back and forth between football and soccer and just showed me the ropes," he said. "It was definitely really helpful to have someone who was in the same boat that I was in." Lamberti mentored Reed so well in football, that this past season he overtook Lamberti for No. 1 all-time in extra point attempts made as a kicker, finishing with 112 to Lamberti's 89. "Well, I played a few more games than he did with the playoffs," added Reed with a laugh. The leader and communicator of the Petoskey defense, which allowed the fewest goals among Big North Conference teams this season, Reed always gave the North-men a chance to come away with a win. "He really was kind of our field general in that regard and got them all organized," said Jonker. "As a goalkeeper, he probably had a better perspective on the field than we do as coaches." Teaming with all-state defender Zach Hoffman, Reed has never shied away from giving the credit to his backline. "There's no way that I get 10 shutouts without Zach back there," said Reed. "The one game that we didn't have him we really missed him. Obviously Zach isn't the only guy. James Huntman helped out for a long stretch in the regular season, then some of the younger guys like Mitch Pulaski and Daniel Nicholson really stepped up." While he's involved in so much around the school and community, and known by many, about the biggest challenge for Reed is having people learn his actual name, after "Buff" stuck from a young age from his three older brothers. "I started working with him when he was nine of 10 years old and that's what everyone's always called him," said Jonker. "It's something that caught on when he was really young." Added Reed. "There's plenty of kids that don't know my real name." Perhaps adding area soccer player of the year to his repertoire can help with that.

Food FOCUS

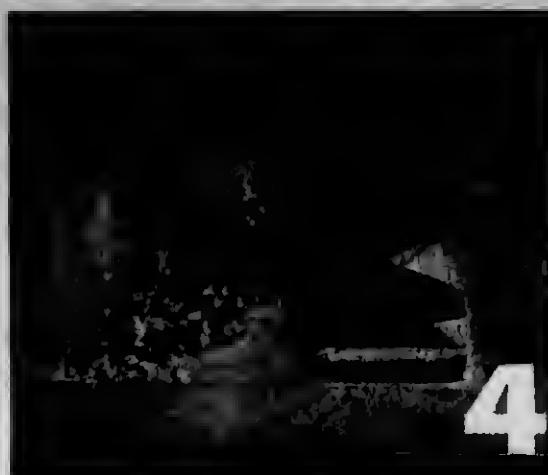

Bridge Street Tap Room kitchen manager Josh Matheny chops apples to make applesauce which is served with the Tap Room's dinner entree — Plath's smoked pork chop.

Diced Michigan apples are cooked down to make the Bridge Street Tap Room's house made applesauce.

The Bridge Street tap room keeps its house made applesauce warm to serve with the Plath's smoked pork chop.

The smoked pork chop is served with the Tap Room's house made macaroni and cheese, which is made to order for each entree. The Tap Room begins by making a bechamel sauce with flour and butter to make a roux to thicken the milk. Once the sauce is complete three different types of cheese are added.

Fresh asparagus is sautéed in butter and seasoned lightly with a salt, pepper and garlic mix.

A 10 ounce cut of Plath's smoked pork chop is placed on the grill to cook.

To build the plate, Matheny places the fresh made macaroni and cheese and tops it with sautéed asparagus before adding the smoked pork chop. Once the chop is placed then Matheny adds the house made applesauce to complete the entree.

Bridge Street Tap Room kitchen manager, Josh Matheny (left) and co-owner Aaron Hagen also prepared a large batch of the Tap Room's macaroni and cheese. This baked batch of macaroni and cheese will be utilized in the Tap Room's grilled mac-n-cheese sandwich, which is served on Asiago sourdough.

The Bridge Street Tap Room's Plath's smoked pork chop dinner entree is served to a table shown here with a glass of Screaming Pumpkin Ale from Griffin Claw Brewery, in Birmingham, Mich.

Heartwarming Northern Michigan food

Photos by Lonnie Allen/Charlevoix Courier

This week's Food Focus turns its lens to Bridge Street Tap Room, located at 202 Bridge St., in Charlevoix, where co-owner Aaron Hagen and kitchen manager Josh Matheny are cooking up simple, heartwarming Northern Michigan food for Charlevoix locals and visitors alike. The Bridge Street Tap Room is considered by most who live in Charlevoix as the gathering spot, where customers can enjoy, good food, entertainment and a host of Michigan craft beers. For those who may not want to pair their meal with beer the Tap Room also offers wine and spirits. Much of the menu is prepared with locally sourced food whenever possible, Hagen said. Starters include a meat and cheese plate, smoked brisket nachos, oven roasted wings, a Great Lakes duo of smoked salmon, paté and smoked whitefish sausage and more. They also serve salads and wraps along with pizza and a very unique grilled macaroni and cheese sandwich. On our visit to the Tap Room, Hagen and Matheny prepared one of their delicious dinner entrees — Plath's smoked pork chop served with the same creamy mac-n-cheese that makes the grilled sandwich a popular item. The pork chop also comes with a seasonal vegetable and topped off with the Tap Room's house made applesauce, which is prepared with Michigan apples. The Tap Room is open all year-round, including Thanksgiving and Christmas Day and serves food from 11 a.m.-11 p.m. each day. On Dec. 17, the Tap Room will hosts its beer dinner, which will feature Dark Horse brews paired with different foods. For more information visit the Tap Room's Facebook page or call (231) 437-3466.

After the cheese is melted into the white sauce fresh cooked cavatappi pasta is added to complete the process.

CHARLEVOIX — The spirit of the season is in full swing as the well-planned annual Charlevoix Community Christmas Project is in the midst of collecting and organizing for distribution day on Dec. 18.

Gently used coats and jackets will be collected at The Clothing Company in downtown Charlevoix and at Northern Michigan Sports Medicine through Dec. 13 for the Charlevoix Community Christmas Project.

Jacque Dipert, owner of the Clothing Company, and her staff have been supporters of the Christmas Project for a number of years, said Christmas Project committee member, Joan Lemerand, who operates the coat room on distribution day.

School nurse duties evolve with the times

CHARLEVOIX — How times have changed from the days of the school nurse parked in that office down the linoleum hallway.

Chris Signs-Warstler, RN, barely sits down from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m., as she helps facilitate wellness programs and other preventive health measures among the four schools she covers in Charlevoix County.

Today, school nurses not only deal with the typical bruises and tummy aches that have always been part of school life, but also teach programs that have an emphasis on physical activity, preventative measures, and overall wellness.

"We have a more encompassing job," Signs-Warstler said. "We help out more in classrooms with nutrition, health education and mental health."

A few things haven't changed, though. School nurses are still counselors, interrogators and sleuths, dispensing hugs, kind words and ice packs in equal measure.

"You do everything," Signs-Warstler said. "You're the health care provider and school mom."

Signs-Warstler is one of four registered nurses from Charlevoix Area Hospital that have been placed in nine schools throughout the county. As school systems face budget cuts, nurses must also adapt to a "migrant" lifestyle as the are assigned to several schools during a work-week. Signs-Warstler is assigned to Boyne Falls Public School, Concord Academy Boyne, Charlevoix Montessori Academy for the Arts and St. Mary's School.

Board OKs bid to remove portable classroom

LONNIE ALLEN
(231) 547-6558 - lallen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix Public Schools Board of Education approved the sale of the elementary school portable classroom during its regular meeting on Nov. 16.

The highest bid came from Joe's Haul Away, of Charlevoix, for $1, said superintendent Mike Ritter.

"It would of cost us $7,000 to $15,000 to move it," Ritter said. "Accepting this bid keeps us from paying that."

According to documents, the portable classroom will be removed from the property and all the debris cleaned up no later than Jan. 1, 2016.

"We're happy it's not costing the district a lot of money to remove a portable classroom that served its purpose for many years," Ritter said.

The board also approved a 2 percent raise for its non-union contractual employees.

"They approved the increase to all non-bargaining employees except for administration staff hired this school year," Ritter said.

Board members also received a report on the schools ACT scores. The Charlevoix Public Schools said Liz Ahrens, president of the Crooked Tree Arts Center.

Outside of the arts center, DeMeyere earned her bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan in the history of arts with a concentration in ceramics and photography. She also holds a master's degree from North Carolina State University in textile technology, marketing and management. DeMeyere has also worked in numerous galleries across the country, mostly in Salt Lake City. Before working for the Crooked Tree Arts Center, she worked as the art preparator for the Kalamazoo Institute of Arts.

Currently, DeMeyere helps with the grant review panel for the Michigan Council for Arts and Cultural Affairs and is under

Holly Daze benefits hospital surgical suite, laboratory

CHARLEVOIX — Seats are filling up for Holly Daze, Charlevoix Area Hospital's annual holiday fundraiser, at Castle Farms on Friday, Dec. 11.

Proceeds from this year's event will benefit the hospital's upcoming surgical suite and laboratory renovation. The venture will add a third operating room, seven new patient rooms for pre-operative and post-operative needs and an overhaul of the entire surgery and laboratory units to better accommodate the rapid growth in outpatient procedures. This project will meet the growing needs of the community, and is part of the hospital's continual effort to provide high quality, compassionate care close to home.

This year's auction will boast a number of fantastic items donated by local businesses and community members. Sports fans will have their pick of college and professional game tickets, and limited edition memorabilia, including a face off between Michigan State University and University of Michigan football helmets signed by Mark

This year's Holly Daze event will raise funds for a new surgical suite and laboratory renovations.

Dantonlo and Desmond Howard — sports fans know which is which.

Guests will be able to stock up on gift certificates or win a private party from their favorite restaurants. New this year will be a love local section filled with original pieces from local artists and craftsmen.

There will be accommodations and packages galore — including exotic trips to Mexico and South Africa. There will be a chance to win a set of Disney Hopper tickets, a personal fireworks display, a one-of-a-kind tour to the top of the Mackinac Bridge... and that's just a preview.

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources encourages snowmobilers to earn their snowmobile safety course certifications before winter arrives.

DNR urges snowmobile classes before season begins

LANSING — The Michigan Department of Natural Resources encourages snowmobilers to earn their snowmobile safety course certifications before winter arrives. All operators are encouraged to complete a snowmobile safety course, although only youth ages 12-16 must have a certification prior to operating a snowmobile without direct supervision of an adult and when crossing a highway or street.

"Modern snowmobiles are capable of high rates of speeds over snow and ice," said Cpl. John Morey, DNR off-road vehicle and snowmobile coordinator. "With the potential hazards associated with operating a snowmobile, safety training is a crucial factor in safe and responsible snowmobile operation."

The snowmobile safety class covers snowmobile terminology and function, safe operation of the machine, basic first aid and snowmobile ethics, rules and regulations. Take a snowmobile class before winter. Find a class near you or register for an online course. Read all snowmobile regulations or view the updated regulations brochure.

Snowmobile class offered in Charlevoix County includes:
— Dec. 5: Class will be from 9 a.m.-3 p.m., at the East Jordan Snowmobiler's clubhouse, 5586 Mount Bliss Road. For more information, call Gerry Argetsinger at (231) 582-7970 between 6-9 p.m. Or call Don Massey at (231) 536-2944 from 9 a.m.-6 p.m. Preregistration is required and a parent or guardian must accompany a child under 10. Lunch is provided.

"Michigan conservation officers, in cooperation with schools, organizations and associations, take an active role in assuring that all of Michigan's citizens have the opportunity to take a snowmobile safety class," Morey said.

The entire state snowmobile trail system is open to riders annually from Dec. 1 to March 31 to coincide with seasonal access leases for state trails that utilize private land.

Boating organization offers valuable classes

CONNIE ALLEN

(231) 547-6558 • allen@schurz.com

"The Members Log" is a series where the Charlevoix Courier will feature a member of the Tip of the Mitt Sail and Power Squadron, which is a chapter of the United States Sail and Power Squadron. All the chapters promote boating through education, seamanship and navigation for all vessels small or large sailing and mechanically powered. The series is designed to tell the personal boating stories of each member, share their experiences with the organization and give the reader an insight about membership with the Tip of the Mitt Sail and Power Squadron. This month the Courier turns its light to George Winn, member of the Tip of the Mitt Sail and Power Squadron.

If you know anything about the U.S. Power Squadron it's probably because you learned something about boating from a member or class or some of their extensive educational material developed on myriad nautical subjects. Education is the primary reason for the existence of the organization. For George Winn, of Harbor Springs, it was the appeal of learning more about boating as a reason for his involvement in the organization. In 1984 Winn wanted more experience on the water so a friend invited him to join a U.S. Power Squadron in southeast Michigan — Anchor Bay Squadron.

"It was one of the best decisions that I ever made," Winn said. "The squadron classes give members the means and confidence to travel on the water almost anywhere safely. It became utterly amazing to me just how much information and materials that was available for use and learning."

After several years in the organization Winn took on the position of Squadron Education Officer and started teaching many of the classes. Being able to participate in the classes and also teach helped Winn learn more about boating. The classes also were a great way to meet members and also gave him the skills to venture out on longer trips.

"That was a very rewarding experience for me and an excellent way of getting acquainted with fellow squadron members," Winn said. "But, for me nothing could have been more exciting than to experience many cruising trips in the waters of our beautiful Great Lakes including a trip down to the Erie Canal and on through to the East Coast and Chesapeake Bay."

Members come from Cheboygan, Rogers City, Boyne City, Charlevoix, Petoskey, Harbor Springs, Mackinac City, and other communities along Northern Michigan.

The Tip of the Mitt Squadron is relatively new if not the newest throughout the U.S., Winn said.

"A group of power squadron members, having moved north, organized it," he said. "We received our charter from national in January 2002. We have had good success and are growing in numbers; having received commendation from District 9 for having the most new members this year. I would recommend to anyone, be they new to boating or are a seasoned veteran, to join a squadron to keep up to date as things are always changing on the waters."

Handling the holidays and loss

The signs of the holiday season are ubiquitous: holiday decorations in the stores, piped in Christmas carols, holiday displays at the malls, TV programs focusing on selecting the perfect gift, holiday parties and gift exchanges at work.

HOSPICE OF NORTHWEST MICHIGAN

Amy Wieland, Executive Director

In many cases, this bustle of activity contrasts markedly with the emptiness and despair of grief.

Grief is healthy, and necessary. Grieving means we acknowledge the loss, but it doesn't mean those of us left behind can stop living until it's over. In fact, it can be viewed as a time to start new traditions, while honoring the old ones.

Dilemmas associated with the holiday season; the requirement of cheerfulness. There is an expectation during the holidays that people should be cheerful. One mourner explained that she hated going to holiday gatherings. "I could not be cheerful and I did not want to bring other people down by being sad."

2. The mine field of social exchanges. On many occasions, the innocent remarks of others may put a knife through the mourner's heart. Shortly after the death of their son, the parents attended a holiday dinner hosted by the boy's grandparents. The host began the meal with a blessing, "Thank you for bringing the whole family together." The father was so distressed by this remark that he left the table.

3. The complexity of decisions. Bereaved individuals must navigate a difficult path in deciding how to handle decisions about family activities and rituals. As one mourner indicated, "I was not sure whether I should hang my son's stocking or not. I decided to hang it, because after all he is my son. But my husband thought that this was not a good idea. He told me that I was 'in denial.'"

4. The ambush. During the holidays, mourners are often hit by powerful feelings that are evoked by some reminder of the loss. Consequently, they experience what Noel and Blair (2000) have called "the ambush." As one mother explained, "I was taking out the Christmas ornaments and I came across an ornament that Timmy had made in kindergarten last year. It had his hand print on it. I dissolved into tears." Although natural and normal, such experiences are often frightening in their intensity.

There's no "right" way to cope with such a loss.

Some choose to skip the holidays, which is difficult because we're surrounded by holiday music, messages and events. Others try to celebrate just as if their lost loved one is still there, which can make the person's absence even more painful.

It's important to know there are local, professional resources — right here in Northwest Michigan — that are capable of helping you during a painful time. Even though you didn't choose the circumstances that are leading you to grieve, you have a choice in how you respond to your grief. You can choose to be kind to yourself, take care of yourself, and take advantage of those resources.

Hospice of Northwest Michigan's "Handling the Holidays" workshop is one of these local, professional resources that take place. This workshop can provide tools and resources to get you through the holidays. All grief support and bereavement programs for those dealing with painful losses of any kind are available year-round and are free of charge and open to the community.

For more information on our grief support and bereavement programs, please feel free to contact me directly at (231) 547-7659 or a.wieland@nwhealth.org or info@hospicenw.org. We are here for you in ways you never knew were available.

"It Takes A Village"

Editor:
Eta Nu Women are tremendously thankful to our community for supporting our "Dressed For Chill" project in 2015. This year new winter coats, pants, boots, hats, and gloves, were purchased for 163 Head Start and Boyne City Elementary School students.

Cash donations from individuals and local businesses were collected in several locations throughout Boyne City. We thank the patrons of Local Flavor, Pat O'Brien and Associates, BC Provisions, Country

Now and Then, Kilwins, Huff Pharmacies, Johan's and Inspired Living. Thank you also to the several businesses that made generous contributions; Pat O'Brien Realtors, Boyne Country Provisions and Industrial Magnetics.

Also thank you to the Boyne City community and service organizations that came out in full support of "Dressed For Chill," BC Rotary Club, FOE 1583, FOE 1583 Ladies Auxiliary, Boyne Valley Garden Club and Mike and Cheryl Dehanty. A special thanks to all the various "angels," who either provided personal donations or purchased complete outfits for the students.

More than 750 items were purchased from these local stores, JCPenney, Dunham's, Kmart of Charlevoix, Peebles, Family Farm and Home, Meljer, Wal-Mart and Bear Cub Outfitters. The sales personnel were helpful in advising us of sales and of season clearance items.

Sincerely,
Suzanne Hubner

Thank you Villager Pub

Editor:
The Charlevoix Historical Society extends its profound thanks to Charlevoix's Villager Pub and Terry Left for once again providing a venue for our supremely successful fundraising spaghetti dinner in early November. The tremendous support of this local restaurant over the years has helped us continue to do the work of restoring and maintaining our three historic structures: the Depot, Museum at Harsha House and the South Pier Light-house. As an added bonus this year, Pam and Todd Wyett made a generous donation partially matching the proceeds for the evening, for which we are very grateful. A special thanks also goes to all of the volunteers who served, including Mike Hinkle and his staff from Charlevoix State Bank, as well as Terry's wonderful staff at Villager Pub for supporting the volunteers. Many, many thanks to "The Pub" for being a great community benefactor.

Sincerely,
Denise Fate
Charlevoix Historical Society president

Thank you and good luck

Editor:
As a resident of Charlevoix's 1st Ward, I want to thank Jeff Porter for his service to the ward and the city. We could always count on Jeff to listen to and seek out the concerns of all his constituents.

Looking forward, I am excited to see what kind of businesses Mr. Hagen will be bringing into the empty store fronts downtown and how he will work with his constituents. We can certainly use more year-round businesses that will allow us to find what we need without having to shop elsewhere — bars and restaurants, we have enough of.

Good luck to Mr. Hagen, I look forward to having you work to make this a better city for all of us in the 1st Ward.

Pre-prohibition sentiment drives away brew king's family

At one time, Charlevoix had a very strong connection to Budweiser beer. August Anheuser Busch, son of Adolphus Busch, co-founder of the Anheuser-Busch brewing dynasty in St. Louis, was a member of the Belvedere resort. The cottage is still there, at 411 Belvedere Ave., above the bayou, the semicircle of resort boathouses along the upper channel. Father and son communicated by telegraph when the elder Busch spent his summers in Germany. The local telegram delivery boy had one of the best jobs in town. He and August had developed a ritual after every delivery. The boy would step off the porch, walk back to the sidewalk, then Mr. Busch would come to the porch railing and flip him a silver dollar tip. But that ended sometime before World War I. The resort, founded by Baptists, was dry. Alcohol could be consumed within a cottage, but imbibing in full view was forbidden on the resort grounds.

Mr. Busch brought some of his own brew with him one summer, relaxed with it on his porch, was seen drinking his beer by uptight fellow resorters walking by, they reported him, and he received a stern reprimand and warning from the resort authorities. Incensed, August said phooey to that nonsense, packed up, put the house on the market, and went to Harbor Springs for his summers. Shown is the façade of one of the local saloons where Budweiser was blazoned across the windows, in the Murdick's Fudge building at the stoplight. On its corner appeared a framed Anheuser-Busch/St. Louis Beer logo. The DVD of the recent Earl Young documentary, "The Wizard of Boulder Park," is available at the Historical Society's Museum at the Harsha House, 103 State Street, from noon-4 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday. Also available online at chxhistory.com. For more information, call (231) 547-0373.

Craft and Gift show to benefit St. Mary School

CHARLEVOIX — Organizers are resurrecting the St. Mary Craft and Gift show for a one-day event from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 5, at the St. Mary's Parish Center, 1003 Bridge St., Charlevoix. The craft and gift show will benefit St. Mary School. Once a popular event, the craft show is back offering jewelry, sewn projects, holiday table runners, books, woodworking crafts, cross stitch, knitted and crochet items as well as a selection of antiques and collectibles.

For more information, call (231) 547-2269.

Local Sears store participates in national Make A Wish campaign

CHARLEVOIX — With the holiday season right around the corner, the Charlevoix Sears Hometown Store is joining more than 1,200 Sears Hometown store, Sears Outlet store, Sears Home Appliance Showroom and Sears Appliance and Hardware locations nationwide in supporting the 2015 Sears Hometown and Outlet Stores, Inc. holiday campaign with Make-A-Wish. Called "Season of Wishes," the funds raised in the campaign will allow Make-A-Wish to help more children with life-threatening medical conditions experience the powerful, and oftentimes, life-changing impact of a fulfilled wish.

Through Dec. 31, customers are invited to make incremental donations of $2, $5 or $10 in support of the campaign. The Charlevoix store, 06585 M-66 just across from Kmart, also offer the following fund-raising promotions:

— Donate Now, Save Later with Award Cards — Customers who donate $5 to Make-A-Wish Nov. 19-22, or Dec. 10-13, will receive a $10 Award Card to be used toward a future purchase; valid Dec. 3-9 or Dec. 26-31, respectively.

— A Very Merry Santa Sale at Sears Hometown Stores and Sears Outlet Stores — Customers who donate $5 to Make-A-Wish will receive an extra 10 percent off everything store wide; valid at Sears Hometown Stores and Sears Outlet Stores from Dec. 17-24.

"We are always looking for ways to help improve the lives of others, and are excited to take part in this national holiday campaign that will help raise funds for children who are more than deserving," said Elizabeth Rich owner of the Sears Hometown Store in Charlevoix.

Through the Season of Wishes holiday campaign; Sears Hometown and Outlet Stores, Inc. will donate 100 percent of customer donations to Make-A-Wish. For more information, visit wish.org.

Make-A-Wish grants the wishes of children with life-threatening medical conditions to enrich the human experience with hope, strength and joy. According to a 2011 U.S. study of wish impact, most health professionals surveyed believe a wish-come-true has positive impacts on the health of children. Kids say wishes give them renewed strength to fight their illness, and their parents say these experiences help strengthen the entire family. Headquartered in Phoenix, Make-A-Wish is one of the world's leading children's charities, serving children in every community in the U.S. and its territories. With the help of generous donors and more than 27,000 volunteers, Make-A-Wish grants a wish somewhere in the country every 37 minutes. It has granted more than 254,000 wishes since its inception in 1980; more than 14,200 in 2014 alone. To learn more, visit wish.org.

Charlevoix jazz series holiday concert Dec. 9

COURTESY PHOTO

Singer Claudia Schmidt will star in this year's Jazz at the Library holiday concert on Wednesday, Dec. 9.

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix Public Library, 220 W. Clinton St., is pleased to present a holiday concert as part of the Jazz@the Library Series from 7-8 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 9.

This holiday concert will include a special appearance by vocalist Claudia Schmidt singing some of her favorite holiday tunes. Schmidt has been performing her craft for more than four decades evolving into a quirky hodge-podge of music, poetry, story and laughter. She has worked in clubs, theaters, festivals, television and radio. Her love of Northern Michigan and her family has added depth and dimension to every performance. This concert will feature her jazz repertoire.

The library's concerts also include Steve Stargardt on the keyboard, Andy Evans on bass, Bill Sears on saxophone and John Lindenau on the drum set.

Schmidt's holiday favorites will be in the library community meeting room. The concert is free and open to the public. It is being sponsored by the Charlevoix Public Library Fund of the Charlevoix County Community Foundation.

A salt celebration of sorts

COURTESY PHOTO

From 8 a.m.-5 p.m. on Nov. 8, members of the Charlevoix Township Fire Department worked shifts to load customers vehicles with the salt they purchased for the winter at Charlevoix Ace Hardware. A portion of the proceeds from the salt sale was donated to the fire department. The money from that fundraiser will be used to help purchase a Polaris Ranger for use in special rescue situations for the Charlevoix Township coverage area. From left are firefighter Spencer Bryan, Fire chief Dan Thorp, Lt. Corey Wells and Lt. Mike Wood receive a check from Charlevoix Ace Hardware owner Mark Greyerblehl from the salt sale.

Red Cross releases blood drive dates for December 2015

PETOSKEY — The American Red Cross encourages individuals and organizations to give something that means something this winter by making a life-saving blood donation or hosting a blood drive.

Blood donations often decline from now to New Year's Day when holiday festivities pull people away from their donation appointments. Seasonal illnesses, such as colds and the flu, can also have a serious impact on blood donations. In addition, there are fewer blood drives during the winter months when many hosting organizations postpone drives while people are traveling for the holidays. Severe winter weather also may cause scheduled blood drives to be canceled.

Despite the busy holiday season and threat of extreme freezing weather, the need for blood remains steady. Organizations can help by hosting a blood drive during the winter months, and eligible donors are encouraged to make an appointment to give blood. Donors with all blood types are needed, especially those with types O negative, B negative, A negative and AB blood.

Visit redcrossblood.org to learn more about hosting a blood drive. To make an appointment to donate blood, download the free Red Cross Blood Donor App from app stores or visit redcrossblood.org/bloodapp, or call (800) 733-2767. Donors can now use the blood donor app to access their donor card and view vital signs from previous donations.

Upcoming blood donation opportunities:

— Dec. 1, from noon-5:45 p.m., East Jordan Civic Center, 101 Civic Center Lane, East Jordan

— Dec. 3, from 10 a.m.-3:45 p.m., North Central Michigan College, 1515 Howard St., Petoskey

— Dec. 4, from 11 a.m.-4:45 p.m., American Red Cross Petoskey, 2350 Mitchell Park Drive, Petoskey

— Dec. 10, from noon-5:45 p.m., St. Luke's Catholic Church, 3038 S. M-88, Bellaire

— Dec. 11, from 11 a.m.-4:45 p.m., Harbor Light Christian School, 8333 Clayton Road, Harbor Springs

— Dec. 14, from 8:30 a.m.-2:15 p.m., Harbor Springs High School, 327 E. Bluff Drive, Harbor Springs

— Dec. 15, from 8:30 a.m.-1:15 p.m., East Jordan High School, 101 Maple Street, East Jordan

All blood types are needed to ensure a reliable supply for patients. A blood donor card or driver's license or two other forms of identification are required at check-in. Individuals who are 17 years of age (16 with parental consent in some states), weigh at least 110 pounds and are in generally good health may be eligible to donate blood. High school students and other donors 18 years of age and younger also have to meet certain height and weight requirements.

The American Red Cross shelters, feeds and provides emotional support to victims of disasters; supplies about 40 percent of the nation's blood; teaches skills that save lives; provides international humanitarian aid; and supports military members and their families. The Red Cross is a not-for-profit organization that depends on volunteers and the generosity of the American public to perform its mission. For more information, please visit redcross.org or visit us on Twitter at twitter.com/redcross RedCross.

Family flooring, furniture business traces heritage back to lumber industry

AMIE KELLY
Special to Courier

Bruce L. Bartlett, owner of Bartlett's Home Interiors, traces his ancestry back to a long line of lumbermen, an appropriate heritage for someone in the furniture and flooring business.

"The Struthers on my mother's side were Scottish lumberjacks and on my dad's side," he said, "the Bartlett's were sawyers, operators that kept the saws running at the mill."

The two families date their Northern Michigan roots back to the mid 1800s and were partially responsible for clearing and/or milling most of the timberland around Oyster Bay and Elm Point. They settled in East Jordan where the two families became joined through marriage.

Bartlett's dad, Bruce K. Bartlett, served in the U.S. Air Force during World War II. He was stationed in Texas, and when he got out of the service, he moved to California where he worked in the housing industry laying flooring. The young Bartlett couple, homesick for Northern Michigan, eventually returned home to settle in Charlevoix.

"My dad worked for a floor covering business in Petoskey before setting off on his own in the early 1950s," he said. "I was born in Petoskey at that time."

The business was called Bartlett's Carpet and Tile and was established in Charlevoix, first operating out of a truck. Then Bartlett rented one side of the building that is presently home to the Charlevoix Courier and stored merchandise in a warehouse that stood on the property that is now the Foster Boat Works condominiums. The business began expanding, adding window treatments and blinds, to its carpet and padding, wallpaper and ceramic tile inventory. The company's reputation grew by word of mouth and it didn't hurt that Bartlett had many satisfied customers among which were many from Harbor Point.

"A significant number of clientele are still summer residents," Bartlett said.

Bruce K., totally invested in the success of his business, worked there until he passed away at 84.

Bruce L. joined his dad in the business when he completed his term in the U.S. Navy as an engineer on a nuclear submarine from 1962-1969. In 1971, the Bartlett's bought the old Kroger Building at the top of the hill on State Street — the present location of the Charlevoix Montessori Academy of the Arts — and acquired a second lot and added on some square footage. In 1996, the business now known as Bartlett's Home Interiors moved to their present location on M-66 where Bartlett's offers quality furniture, flooring, ceramic tile, and a full design service to its customers. Bartlett's is part of Flooring America, a large buying group that allows them to offer competitive prices to their clients.

"We work at customer satisfaction," Bartlett said. "We are quality driven and stock value-conscious merchandise, not disposable furniture. Customers who shop at Bartlett's will get something for their money."

"Our business has grown through dedication and hard work," Bartlett added. "I hate the thought of ever having to close our doors. I think that Charlevoix needs to be proactive in attracting clean manufacturing to our area and not be afraid of expansion. We need to create a friendly business environment that will bring businesses and young families in town."

Health Department of Northwest Michigan receives Fazzi Associates national best practice agency

CHARLEVOIX — Based on its overall patient satisfaction results for 2014, the Health Department of Northwest Michigan has been named a national best practice agency by Fazzi Associates. Specifically, the Patient Satisfaction Award of Distinction was presented to the Health Department's division of Home Care and Aging services.

Gina L. Mazza, partner at Fazzi Associates, said the Health Department should be incredibly proud of such a significant accomplishment. An analysis of home health care agencies placed the Health Department's Home Care and Aging division in the top 25 percent for patient satisfaction.

"Agencies named as national best practice agencies are proven leaders and have excelled in one of the most important measures of an agency's quality program—patient satisfaction," she said.

The Patient Satisfaction Award of Distinction is presented to home health organizations that have demonstrated superior performance in patient satisfaction.

According to their website, Fazzi Associates was founded in 1978 by Dr. Robert Fazzi, and focuses on helping home health and hospice agencies solve their core industry challenges through coding services, consulting, benchmarking, training, and national research projects.

Tina Lamont, Director of Home Care and Aging Services at the Health Department, credits the award to the division's dedicated, caring, and experienced staff.

"We are honored to receive this award," she said. "Patient care is our top priority, so this recognition means a lot to our team of nurses, home health care aides, and therapists."

One example of this dedication is the unique training staff receives in order to best serve their clients. All Home Care and Aging staff members are cross-trained in both Home Care and Hospice, distinguishing their services from other providers.

"If someone is not quite ready for Hospice, we can provide them with home care services, and then the same staff can seamlessly transition them into Hospice when they are ready," Lamont said.

Fazzi's National Patient Satisfaction service is one of home care's oldest, largest, and most respected patient satisfaction benchmarking systems in the country. The home health consumer assessment of healthcare providers and systems survey asks patients to report on and rate their experiences with health care, with three goals in mind: to produce comparable data on patient satisfaction; to create incentives for agencies to improve their quality of care through public reporting of survey results; to hold health care providers accountable by informing the public about the providers' quality of care.

For more information about Home Care and Aging services, call (800) 551-4140 or nwhealth.org. The Health Department of Northwest Michigan is mandated by the Michigan Public Health Code to promote wellness, prevent disease, provide quality healthcare, address health problems of vulnerable populations, and protect the environment for the residents and visitors of Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego counties.

Apps, websites that can help holiday travelers

Thanksgiving, one of the busiest travel periods of the year, is on its way out the door and Christmas is about to start knocking. Although getting together with family and friends is one of the best parts of the holiday season, getting to wherever you're going often is not.

Airports are jammed, flights are late, traffic is bumper to bumper and winter weather doesn't always cooperate.

There are travel apps and websites that can help. And although technology can't get you to where you're going on time, it can keep you up to date on delays and changes, find you stuff to do when your layovers run long and help you find alternative routes when the freeways are backed up — all of which helps cut down on the stress and strain.

Here's some of the best:

— TSA has created a free mobile app, "My TSA," available for iOS and Android. The app includes tips on what's allowed in your luggage, how early to arrive during holiday travel, how to prepare for various airport security lanes.

— Need to rent a car when you arrive at your destination? Check AutoSlash.com. The site has an unusual method of finding you the best rates. After you've booked your car through one of the site's partners, AutoSlash searches the Web for discounts and applies them to your bottom line — and continues to monitor rates and coupons until your pickup date, applying any discounts it finds along the way.

— If you're a Costco member, you might want to check costcotravel.com. Rental Cars. The site's "Low Price Finder" function lets you enter your code, then shops all coupons, codes and discounts for the lowest prices and expert travelers say that Costco's prices are some of the best.

— Hate getting off the highway and then traveling miles out of your way to find a public restroom, gas or food? The iExit app tells you the services available at different U.S. highway exits, so you can decide whether to get off at the next exit or wait for a better option.

— Did you know that there's a yoga room where you can work out those inflight kinks at the San Francisco International Airport's Green Roof area with plants, benches and a picnic table at Burlington (Vermont) International Airport or a children's museum and playground called "Kids on the Fly" at Chicago's O'Hare? If you had the GateGuru app, you would.

— Waze, a traffic and navigation app for iOS and Android, posts real-time traffic information from drivers in your area. The app alerts you to any accidents, road hazards, road or bridge closures or traffic jams ahead, posts area gas prices so you can find the cheapest fuel and lets you coordinate arrival and departure times when you're traveling with friends.

Great Lakes Chamber Orchestra presents Messiah Plus

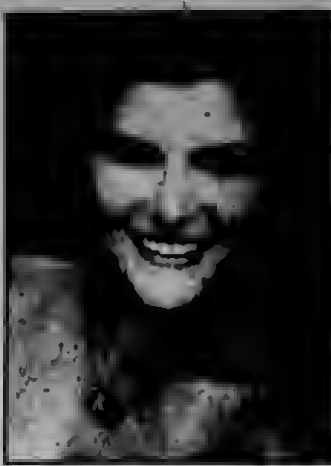

Once again the Great Lakes Chamber Orchestra brings the Messiah to northern Michigan at 7 p.m. on Dec. 17 and 18, at St. Francis Xavier Church in Petoskey. The "Messiah" has become a Christmas tradition, one which is anticipated each year. This year, in addition to conductor Libor Ondras, Chorus Master Peter Sims and the Great Lakes Chamber Chorus, three guests soloists will perform — Amy Cross, soprano, Katherine Jannakos, alto and Tom Cilluffo, tenor.

Cross studied classical voice at Boston University where she sang under the leadership of Robert Shaw. She lived in California for a time, performing in many operas. She now lives in Petoskey with her husband and four growing children. Music lovers will remember Cross in her many performances with the Great Lakes Chamber Orchestra, most recently in November a concert of "18th Century Italian Sacred Music."

Cilluffo was born and raised in Traverse City. He has always been musical, starting with percussion instruments, piano and bagpipes — he still plays the bagpipes on occasion. Cilluffo began early in the fourth grade performing at the Old Town Playhouse in Traverse City. By middle school he was singing in choirs, school musicals, local companies and the Showcase Dinner Theater, with Broadway star Dominic Fortuna. In addition to all this he had a boys' band with high school friends, playing hits by Frank Sinatra and Bobby Darin. At the University of Michigan he studied under the legendary tenor George Shirley, and sang with the Gilbert and Sullivan Society. He also directed and coached these performances.

Not only does Cilluffo love singing and acting, he loves working with his hands. He has used these skills in wood carving, jewelry/beading and even blacksmithing. He has worked on sets and props, been a tech director and designer. He has a side job making conducting batons for orchestra and choral directors. Cilluffo is currently working toward his master's degree in voice performance at the University of Michigan. He sang the role of Rinnuccio in the University's fall main stage opera, "Gianni Schicchi."

Cilluffo is excited to make his professional solo oratorio debut back in his Northern Michigan home territory where friends and family can witness his growth over the past five years. He sees this as an opportunity to perform great music with great colleagues, and hopes to leave the audience smiling.

Jannakos cannot remember a time when she hasn't been involved in music. Jannakos comes from a musical family, and early on studied music theory and flute. She didn't start singing until high school, and later began serious voice study at Grand Rapids Community College. It was there that she discovered her gift and passion for classical vocal performance. After three years she left GRCC and completed her degree at Oberlin Conservatory. In addition to classical music Jannakos loves Orthodox liturgical music. She has been music director at St. Paul's Orthodox Cathedral in Dearborn Heights for the past three years.

The Messiah has special meaning for Jannakos. As a high school senior she auditioned for and won a selected solo position in a joint high school production of the Messiah. Her teacher not only gave her encouragement and guidance, she presented her with a complete copy of the Messiah with beautiful illustrations on the inside cover. She has used that copy which inspires her today. She is delighted with the opportunity to perform the "Messiah" in Petoskey, where she performed at Bay View in a production of Gianni Schicchi and Buoso's Ghost. She also looks forward to a reunion with Libor Ondras as she collaborated with him and the Kent Philharmonic Orchestra several times.

Tickets are available at Boyne, Charlevoix, Harbor Springs, and Petoskey Chambers, or call the Orchestra office at (231) 487-0010 or online at gloorchestra.org. Reserved tickets are $75, $50, and $35. General admission is $25.

The Great Lakes Chamber Orchestra produces live orchestral performances that provide entertainment, education and inspiration for Northern Michigan. Support for the orchestra is provided by the Michigan Council for Arts and Cultural Affairs, the National Endowment for the Arts, the Petoskey Harbor Springs Area Community Foundation, the Bay Harbor Foundation, the Charlevoix County Community Foundation, and hundreds of individual patrons of the arts. Gov. Rick Snyder and Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency Director Jeff Barnes congratulate gold-level Veteran-Friendly employers General Motors, Quicken Loans and Whirlpool Corporation on their commitment to hiring and supporting veteran talent in their work forces. Thirty-seven organizations were recognized during today's Veteran-Friendly Employer Awards and Recognition Breakfast for their dedication to veteran employment. From left, Ben Kunst and John Miller, Whirlpool Corporation; Keith Natrass and Mark McKeen, General Motors; Gov. Rick Snyder; Justin Mendoza, Quicken Loans; Jeff Barnes and Kristina Leonardi, MVAA; and Rebecca McDonald, Quicken Loans, celebrated gold employer status.

Nearly 1,000 jobs await veterans in Michigan

LANING — Nearly 1,000 good-paying jobs are ready to be filled by veterans at companies throughout Michigan that recognize and respect their military skills, training and experience.

Gov. Rick Snyder joined Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency Director Jeff Barnes during MVAA's Veteran-Friendly employer awards and recognition breakfast, held at Michigan State University. Together, they announced the 2015 Veteran-Friendly Employer rankings and recognized the state's top companies dedicated to veteran employment.

"I applaud those companies committed to helping our veterans build long-lasting careers," Snyder said. "Veterans are an important source of untapped talent in our state, they bring valuable skills to the workforce and are an integral part of Michigan's continued reinvention."

Through MVAA's Veteran-Friendly Employer program, veterans can choose from job opportunities in a variety of industries and can more easily identify the state's 37 veteran-friendly employers committed to hiring and supporting veteran talent in their work forces. The program also recognizes organizations for their dedication to recruiting, hiring, training and maintaining veteran talent.

"Veterans are strong leaders, quick thinkers and motivated employees, and each of the MVAA's veteran-friendly employers understands the value of including those skills and experience in their workforce," said MVAA director Jeff Barnes. "The goal of the Veteran-Friendly Employer program is to connect veterans with employers who understand the value of their military training and discipline, so that more and more veterans can become a part of Michigan's continued economic recovery."

Thirty-seven organizations earned either bronze, silver or gold-level status as determined by their commitment to connect with and hire veteran talent. The full list is now available on MichiganVeterans.com/certifiedvetfriendlyemployers.

For the first time in the program's history, three organizations were certified gold-level veteran-friendly employers. General Motors, the first organization to earn the gold-level certification, knows its ongoing efforts to hire and train veterans are just one way the company can say thank you to Michigan's veterans.

"We're honored to receive this recognition, but the true credit goes to the veterans that chose to serve their country," said Ken Barrett, GM chief diversity officer and a former U.S. Navy captain. "As we continue to work with great partners like MVAA and Hiring Our Heroes, we hope to do even more to help and hire these brave men and women."

Quicken Loans and Whirlpool Corporation also were also honored as 2015 gold-level Veteran-Friendly Employers.

To be recognized as gold, employers must retain at least 75 percent of veteran hires over the past 12 months, implement internal veteran support networks and create either a hiring rotation or leadership development program within their organization, in addition to meeting all other requirements under the Veteran-Friendly Employer program. For Quicken Loans, the decision to create the programs, and share their successes with other companies was an easy one.

"Helping veterans receive the career training and opportunities they deserve is a calling that all businesses can unite around," said 22-year U.S. Army veteran Rub Ellis, Quicken Loans Director of Veteran Recruiting. "We've seen great success with our Tour of Duty program, which helps veterans who are transitioning from active-duty service gain corporate experience, and would love to see more companies implement similar programs. The benefits and leadership an organization gains from our military veterans is immeasurable."

It's a sentiment echoed by Whirlpool.

"Hiring veterans is a great business strategy. They are not only extremely talented individuals, they are also proven leaders who have stepped forward and defended our country," said Jeff Noel, corporate vice president of Communications and Public Affairs at Whirlpool Corporation. "We're proud to be recognized as a military friendly employer. Whirlpool Corporation was established 104 years ago this week and throughout our history, from shifting production to aid the war effort in 1942 to our Veterans Association today, we have supported the service of our men and women in uniform. The skills these men and women learn in quick decision-making, teamwork and leadership are vital to creating a strong and talented workforce representative of the values the United States and our company are founded on."

People Fund awards $81,290 to local area non-profits

BOYNE CITY — The Great Lakes Energy People Fund awarded $81,290 in grants in October to 26 nonprofit organizations throughout the electric cooperative's service area. The grant awards were made possible through the support of Great Lakes Energy members who voluntarily round-up their bill each month.

"For less than 50 cents per month, our members' small contributions make a large impact on the lives of others," said Steve Boeckman, president and CEO of GLE. "By joining together to round-up their bills to the nearest dollar our members show their true commitment to their local communities."

Since 1999, the People Fund has awarded more than $2.8 million in grants to local nonprofit organizations that work to enhance local communities in Great Lakes Energy's 26-county service area. Some of the Charlevoix area People Fund grant disbursements are:

— Boyne Area Free Clinic, Boyne City: $5,000 for laboratory testing.

— East Jordan Community Pool: $2,500 for a record board.

— Good Neighbors Food Pantry, Boyne City: $1,800 for improvements to the entryway.

— Crooked Tree Arts Center, Petoskey: $3,000 for a pugmill for the pottery studio.

— Beaver Island Historical Society of Michigan: matching grant of $7,500 for the museum expansion.

— Friendship Centers of Emmet County, Petoskey: $1,100 toward a vehicle for the Meals on Wheels program.

— Lighthouse Community Lunch Program, Charlevoix: $1,000 for supplies and food.

— Challenge Mountain, Boyne City: $7,500 for renovations to the resale store.

— Bellaire High School Student Council, Bellaire: $1,000 for material to make baby blankets for the Antrim County Baby Pantry.

Great Lakes Energy members can enroll in the People Fund by calling (888) 485-2537 or visiting glakes.com. One hundred percent of the funds collected are used for grants. Nonprofit organizations in the Great Lakes Energy service area can request a grant application online at glakes.com. The next grant application deadline is Feb. 1, 2016.

ing a school nurse — the students.

"The nurse program is there for the kids," Signs-Warstler said. "The school nurse is an extra set of listening ears to help teachers. I get to spend extra time with the kid who has a tummy ache and help determine the cause instead of just sending them home."

These days keeping kids in class can take the form of fixing an accidentally stapled finger or a nasty cold, as it did years ago, but school nurses are also tasked with managing children's increasingly complex medical conditions and chronic illnesses. A child may have a tracheotomy or require nasal gastric tube feeds by an experienced nurse. Nurses may be required to monitor students' insulin pumps and keep track of inhalers and EpiPens.

"My professional responsibilities have not changed overall," Signs-Warstler said. "What has changed is the increasing number of students with chronic health conditions, including asthma, diabetes and severe allergies."

As nurse duties change the need for nurses increase throughout the county and the state, said Kathy Jacobsen RN, MPA, Charlevoix Area Hospital director of Community Health Education.

"We've never needed school nurses more," Jacobsen said.

The Michigan Department of Community Health, Michigan School Nurse Task Force and Parent Action for Healthy Kids conducted a phone survey in 2014 to assess the number of school nurses practicing statewide. There were 186 school districts in Michigan, which reported having access to a school nurse, resulting in an overall ratio of 6,607 students to every school nurse. In Charlevoix County the nurse to student ratio averages between 1,001-2,500 students per school nurse, to handle chronic or continuous health conditions, including asthma, allergies, heart problems, epilepsy and cancer.

You're the health care provider and school mom."

All of these conditions have the potential for life-threatening emergencies and what this means for school nurses is an increasing need to train and maintain a competent team of unlicensed school personnel to prevent, recognize and respond to emergencies.

"Nurses serve a critical role in taking care of the general population and in taking care of students with highly specialized, from very complicated medical needs to emergencies ... either from an injury, or from a student with an underlying medical condition," Jacobson said. "School nurses can be lifesavers."

The foremost duty of a school nurse is to keep kids learning as long as possible. The best way to do that is reduce student absences and that is what Charlevoix Area Hospital is doing with its School Nurse Program, Jacobson said.

This decrease in student absences has the School Nurse Program a 2015 Hospital Charitable Services Awards finalist for the prestigious "Programs of Excellence" award. The awards honor hospital-sponsored programs that set new standards for health and wellness in their communities through education, access and delivery. Only 52 programs were selected from nominations submitted from across the entire country. Nominations were based on five criteria: impact, collaboration, leading practice, transferability and innovation.

The School Nurse Program has been named as a finalist for the prestigious "Programs of Excellence" award. It recognizes hospital programs of more than three years which have measurable outcomes, such as the 6 percent decrease in chronic absenteeism in the nine schools served by the Charlevoix Area Hospital School Nurse Program.

The School Nurse Program goes beyond the traditional definition of "community benefit" and "free care" by addressing this crucial community need and coming up with a creative solution. Charlevoix Area Hospital has placed four registered nurses in nine local school systems — where previously there were none — at no cost to the schools.

"Our program works and students have the opportunity to learn about healthy lifestyles and healthy habits," Jacobson said. "We are doing what we set out to do and that is to make sure our kids stay in school and remain healthy."

contract for a book on the history of sweater design.

The position at the Charlevoix Circle of Arts became available when its board of directors resolved that they wanted to bring themselves to the next level. They concluded they needed a full time director help them achieve that.

"The Circle has relied almost exclusively upon unpaid volunteers. We are very proud of the service to the Charlevoix community that the Circle has provided in date, however, we feel we can do much more. As part of our strategic planning the board of directors determined that the Circle should now move from an all-volunteer operation by adding a paid staff to support the Circle's activities including a full time executive director. We are confident that Gail is the right person to lead this transition," said Bob Klein, president of the Charlevoix Circle of Arts.

"We are extremely pleased that Gail has agreed to come to the Circle as our professional executive director. She brings to us a wide knowledge of the arts community in Michigan and has broad experience with our local artists' community," Klein added.

DeMeyere accepted the position to be the first full-time executive director at the Charlevoix Circle of Arts for a number of reasons. "Not only did she want a new challenge, she saw that the art community in Charlevoix, as well as the Charlevoix Circle of Arts needed direction."

"I had been at the Crooked Tree Arts Center for 12 years and it came to the point where I wanted a new challenge and to help a new community," Demeyere said. "Moving to the Circle will involve personal risks as well as opportunities, but I feel strongly that it is a time for me to use my knowledge, my experience and my commitment to the arts in a more comprehensive leadership role. I respect the dedication of all involved with the Charlevoix Circle of Arts to build the organization to this point and they have developed many successful shows and programs. Now I want to work as a team-player with all of the hard working Circle volunteers in serving the Charlevoix community."

five-year average is above the state average of 19.6, which figures out to be 20.7, Ritter said. In the past five years Charlevoix's ACT composite scores had a high of 21.7 and last year they were at 20.

"Our students scores have been pretty consistent," Ritter said. "I think we've done very well over time. Our goal is to remain above the state average composite score and we have done that."

Charlevoix will implement the Northwest Evaluation Association standardized assessment as way to set goals for students.

These computerized tests are adaptive and offered in reading, language usage, and mathematics and are an adaptive test, Ritter said.

"The difficulty of each question is based on how well a student answers all the previous questions," he said. "It is a tremendous tool that will allow us to eliminate other assessment test."

By adding the Northwest Evaluation Association standardized assessment and eliminating the schools other assessments the school can still focus on instructional time.

"We don't want our students to always be taking test," Ritter said. "Teaching really does make a difference and instructional time should be our number one priority."

Christmas," Lemerand said. "The tremendous community support helps us provide coats for the entire family."

For 33 years the Community Christmas Project has grown to include a variety of facets into the mix, creating a number of vital community partnerships such as the "Giving Tree" at St. Mary Church and the Episcopal Church's "Angel Tree," which allows community members to purchase gifts for area children and Toys for Tots have boxes all over Charlevoix waiting for community members to fill them for children throughout the community. Gunks of Charlevoix is collecting gently used jeans at both of their locations through December and mittens and socks can be dropped off at the lobby of Charlevoix State Bank's Mitten Tree.

The success of the Community Christmas Project comes from the passion of women like the late Mary Helen Riggle, Rita Orlowski, Lucy Martin and Bev Boss, along with others who envisioned no family going without during the holidays, said Community Christmas Project co-chair Rebecca Jeakle.

"It is pretty awesome that these women saw a need and from that there hard work made this project what it is today," Jeakle said. "Their legacy has left us with a well-oiled machine that comes together each year."

Last year, more than 200 families and 400 children were served at Bethany Lutheran Church in Charlevoix, which serves as a storage, organization-central and distribution headquarters. The week prior to distribution day, community volunteers are packing boxes of food, organizing toy tables, coat, hat and boot rooms, a craft center and a teen room in the church community center. Compassion, coupled with the spirit of the season, inspires more than 100 volunteer adults, teens and children to participate each year, which makes the project very efficient.

"Everybody involved shares the responsibility," Jeakle said. "People have their part to do and they are great at it. Everyone does something to make this run smoothly on all of us."

2015 All-Area Volleyball Team

Name Year/School Facts

FIRST TEAM

Ashlyn Kartas	Jr. Petoskey	Junior setter for the Northmen became a do-all player, finishing with 765 assists, 331 digs, 176 kills and 67 aces.
Samantha Stark	Sr. Pellston	Senior outside hitter for the Hornets, Stark was the leader at the net for a team that dominated their district bracket once again.
Emily Zabawa	Sr. Charlevoix	Area Player of the Year, led the Rayders in kills with 335, assists with 401 and digs with 319, adding 57 aces.
Abby Gardner	Jr. Boyne City	Junior captain became a leader for the Ramblers, earning 175 kills, 65 aces, 394 digs and 21 blocks.
Jenny Tompkins	Sr. Petoskey	Led the Northmen in kills this season with 226, while adding 49 aces, 34 blocks and 216 digs as an outside hitter.
Hannah Carter	Sr. Pellston	A three-year starter and all-conference senior setter for the Hornets, Carter helped keep the tradition of Pellston volleyball alive this season.
Haley Rushing	Jr. H. Springs	Junior setter and libero for the Rams, helped lead Harbor Springs to a district final match.

SECOND TEAM

Hannah Hoth	Sr. Boyne City	A senior captain and outside hitter, Hoth finished the year with 144 kills, 34 aces and 176 digs for the Ramblers.
Ellie Wedge	Sr. Petoskey	Honorable mention All-Big North, became a senior leader after transferring from Alpena following sophomore season.
Hannah Zipp	Sr. Charlevoix	A force at the net, Zipp finished with a team high 75 blocks, while adding 81 aces and 137 kills as a three-year varsity player.
Abby Peterson	So. East Jordan	Only a sophomore, Peterson became the court leader this season for the Red Devils as the team's libero.
Katrina Daniel	Sr. Petoskey	A two-year varsity starter, Daniel finished her season with 153 kills, 52 blocks, 258 digs and 17 aces, leading Petoskey to 30 wins.
Mikayla Dickinson	Sr. Harbor Springs	Senior outside hitter for the Rams, Dickinson was the leader at the net for Harbor Springs.
Becca Moon	Jr. Charlevoix	Lethal from the serving line, Moon finished with 74 aces to go along with 235 kills, 208 digs and 295 assists.

Coach of the year

Heather Miller,
Petoskey

Petoskey varsity volleyball coach Heather Miller made her ninth season leading the Northmen a good one. In one of the more competitive volleyball conferences in the state, Miller led Petoskey to a third place finish, trailing only Cadillac and Traverse City West, each of which advanced to the Class B and Class A quarterfinals, respectively. Petoskey ended the year with a 32-11-5 overall record, advancing to the semifinal of their Class A district bracket with a sweeping win over Alpena, despite a near three-week layoff from the regular season. The Northmen would also earn three tournament wins, with all three coming in sweeping form, including the annual Sauk-Saginaw tournament at the end of the season and their own hosted tournament in the Petoskey High School gym. With seven players possibly returning next season and Miller guiding the Northmen, it's easy to expect Petoskey to be back in contention for more success next season.

Honorable Mention:

Petoskey: Kira Jarvi, Katie Holka, Isabel Anderson; Boyne City: Nicole Swadling, Kelsey Hubbard; Charlevoix: Kenzy O'Leary, Julla Doskoch; Harbor Springs: Libby Garver, Mia Trabucchi, Avery Calnen; East Jordan: Jill Atwood, Mazzy Peplir; Pellston: Kaylee Krussell, Susie Brille; Alanson: Ashley Pethers, Alyssa King; Harbor Light: Tori Johnson, Mary Grosskopf, Lydia Powers; Mackinaw City: Chelsey Closs, Emily Dullack, Haley Jones; St. Michael: Lizzy Forton.

CHARLEVOIX —

For three years, Emily Zabawa had been stellar playing her role for the Charlevoix volleyball team.

But if the Rayders were going to repeat the previous season's success despite heavy graduation losses heading into this year, Zabawa knew she was going to have to bring more to the table.

Zabawa improved her all-around presence, both on and off the court, to help a young and inexperienced Charlevoix team claim a second-straight district title, and that growth also has earned the Petoskey News-Review volleyball player of the year award.

On the court, Zabawa transitioned from a front row player to an all-around threat, becoming one of the Rayders' top passers and setters on top of her potent play at the net.

Zabawa finished with the team lead in both kills (335) and assists (401) and added 319 digs, 57 aces and 45 blocks as well.

"Back row is actually one of my favorite positions to play, but I didn't really get the chance my first few years," Zabawa said. "I was rusty to start with, but I just did my best to stay coachable and try and relearn what I needed."

Zabawa's unique mix of tenacity, athleticism and court knowledge made the transition easier, Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said.

"Even as a freshman, she'd make plays defensively that were so unexpected that all you could do was shake your head and laugh," Randall said. "You'd be sure the ball was going to hit the floor, but somehow she'd be there under it to dig it out or keep the play alive."

"The play that you didn't think could happen, she would find a way to make it happen, and she did a lot of that this year."

After losing four senior leaders off of last season's squad, Charlevoix also needed Zabawa to step up as a leader for a group of young players, most of whom had no varsity experience.

While she didn't figure it out immediately, Zabawa embraced the challenge and, together with fellow returners Hannah Zipp and Becca Moon, became an emotional bellwether for the team in tough moments.

"Throughout the season, I had a lot of coaches come up and tell me how impressed they were with how Emily carried herself in important moments in the match," Randall said. "Her body language was always steady and positive, and that helped our other players to relax and focus as well."

"As the season went on, she figured out how to be more of a vocal leader, and by the district final she was a positive and encouraging force for us on the court."

For her part, Zabawa described the process of becoming a leader as challenging, but rewarding.

"If I'm taking one thing from volleyball moving forward, it's learning how to talk to other people, how to reach them, motivate them and learn how to work together with them," Zabawa said. "I loved a lot of things about playing volleyball, but that's something that I'm going to be able to use for the rest of my life."

With Zabawa's help, Charlevoix survived a tough schedule and gelled as a team at the right time to advance to the district final against rival Harbor Springs.

Zabawa put together the best performance of her four-year career against the Rams to help the Rayders advance in four sets, finishing with a career-high 24 kills to go with strong all-around stats.

"We played a very tough schedule and had a lot of discouraging losses against strong teams, because I thought it would make us stronger in the end," Randall said. "Emily was one of the girls who really understood what I was doing and embraced those challenges as a chance to get better."

"Watching her in the district final, you could see all that preparation and hard work come full circle, and that's a testament to her as a player and a person."

The district crown was a meaningful one for Zabawa, who defended the title she helped to win as a junior.

"It was something unexpected," Zabawa said. "At the start of the season, it wasn't something we were sure we could ask of this team, but everyone really stepped up and did better than we ever thought we could."

"Not knowing if it was possible at the start was what really makes accomplishing it special."

Known as more of a net player earlier in her volleyball career, Zabawa blossomed into an all-around player on the court for the Rayders this season, leading Charlevoix to a second straight district title.

NORTHERN PREPS REVIEW

2015 Volleyball Dream Team

FIRST TEAM

Madison Showerman Sr., JoBurg
Showerman was named the Gaylord Herald Times Player of the Year after finishing with 444 kills, 177 digs and 50 blocks. She also brought in Ski Valley Conference First Team honors.

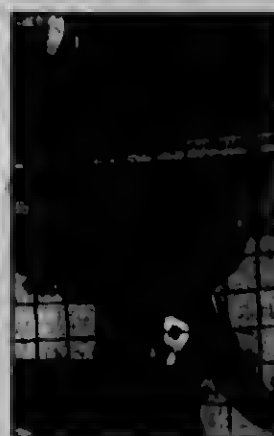

Samantha Stark Sr., Pellston
For a ninth consecutive season the Pellston volleyball team earned a district championship and it was Stark leading the charge at the net. Played much larger than her 5-foot-8 frame.

Emily Zabawa Sr., Charlevoix
Zabawa led the Rayders to a second straight district title, en route to being named the News-Review and Courier Player of the Year. She brought in 335 kills, 57 aces, 319 digs and 401 assists.

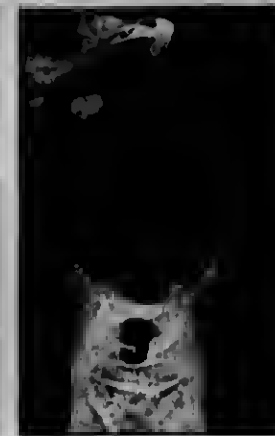

Jenny Tompkins Sr., Petoskey
A first-team all-area selection a season ago for Petoskey, Tompkins kept her strong career going this year, finishing with a team high 226 kills, to go along with 49 aces and 34 blocks. Earned honorable mention all-conference.

Bekah Myler Sr., St. Mary
The senior leader of the Snowbirds, Myler recorded 129 digs, 127 kills and 30 blocks while earning Ski Valley Honorable Mention honors as St. Mary's top hitter.

Casey Korte Jr., Gaylord
A first-team all-area selection a year ago, Korte finished with Big North Conference Second Team honors after recording 182 kills, 64 blocks and 25 aces as her team's hardest hitter.

Ashlyn Kartes Jr., Petoskey
Transferred to Petoskey after beginning her high school career at Boyne City, Kartes exploded this season for the Northmen, leading the team in aces with 67, while adding 765 assists as the team's setter and 176 kills.

SECOND TEAM

Haley Rushing Jr., Harbor Springs
Only a junior, Rushing became a court manager and leader for the Rams this season as the team's setter. Helped get Harbor Springs to a district final matchup.

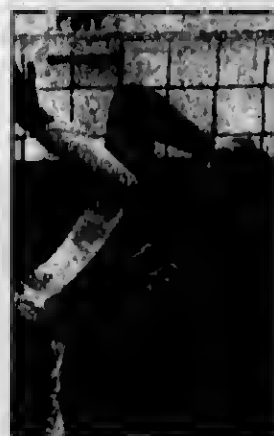

Katrina Daniel Sr., Petoskey
A two-year starter for the Northmen, Daniel helped Petoskey to 30 wins this season and a third place finish in the Big North Conference. She finished her season with 153 kills and 52 blocks at the net, while adding 258 digs.

Hanah Carter Sr., Pellston
Three-year varsity starter for the Hornets, Carter was a consistent court leader helping Pellston to a ninth consecutive district title this season.

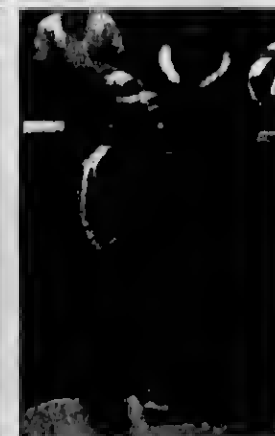

Sarah Korff Sr., JoBurg
Had 756 assists, 229 digs and 69 aces as JoBurg's starting setter. Korff earned Ski Valley Conference Honorable Mention honors this season.

Mikayla Dickinson Sr., Harbor Springs
The strongest force at the net for the Rams, Dickinson led Harbor Springs in kills on the year, while helping the Rams to a district final berth this season.

Abby Gardner Jr., Boyne City
Gardner became a lead captain of the Ramblers as a junior this season, starting all 106 games as an outside and middle hitter. Finished the year with 175 kills and 394 digs, while adding a potent serve to her repertoire with 65 aces.

Kendyl Jarski Jr., Gaylord
Jarski replaced starting setter Brandi Wagner (travel soccer) from a year ago, while finishing with 395 assists, 24 aces and Big North Conference Honorable Mention honors.

MORTGAGE SALE - Default has been made in the conditions of a mortgage made by Kenneth F. Devine and Joyce E. Devine, husband and wife, to Fifth Third Mortgage - MI, LLC, Mortgagee, dated June 3, 2005 and recorded June 16, 2005 in Liber 687, Page 109, Charlevoix County Records, Michigan. Said mortgage is now held by Fifth Third Mortgage Company, by assignment. There is claimed to be due at the date hereof the sum of Two Hundred Sixty-Three Thousand Sixty-Eight and 43/100 Dollars ($263,068.43), including interest at 6.125% per annum.

Under the power of sale contained in said mortgage and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises, or some part of them, at public venue at the place of holding the circuit court within Charlevoix County, Michigan at 11:00 AM on DECEMBER 4, 2015.

Said premises are located in the Township of Boyne Valley, Charlevoix County Michigan, and are described as:

Unit 96, Mountain Grand Lodge Condominium, according to the Master Deed recorded in Liber 402, Pages 982 through Liber 403, page 53, inclusive, and First Amendment to Master Deed recorded in Liber 421, Page 738, Charlevoix County Records and Second Amendment to Master Deed recorded in Liber 571, Page 159, Charlevoix County Records, and designated as Charlevoix County Condominium Subdivision Plan No. 112; together with rights in general common elements and limited common elements as set forth in said Master Deed and amendments thereto, and as described in Act 59 of the Public Acts of 1978, as amended.

The redemption period shall be 6 months from the date of such sale, unless determined abandoned in accordance with MCLA 600.3241a, in which case the redemption period shall be 30 days from the date of such sale. TO ALL PURCHASERS: The foreclosing mortgagee can rescind the sale, in that event, your damages, if any, are limited solely to the return of the bid amount tendered at sale, plus interest.

If the property is sold at foreclosure sale, pursuant to MCL 600.3278, the borrower will be held responsible to the person who buys the property at the mortgage foreclosure sale or to the mortgage holder for damage to the property during the redemption period.

Introducing... Pet Obituaries

Pets are a part of the family, and we are offering a new way to share your pet's memorial with the community, family and friends that they shared their life with and help bring legitimacy to mourning the family pet.

As with humans, pet obituaries assign value to a life, define its highlights, extol socially validated accomplishments, and serve as models of living. To assign value to an animal's life is a fine thing, and an excellent match with the growing movement to treat animals of all kinds -- not only our pets -- with care and dignity.

The Pet Obituary page will appear monthly on the first Friday of the month in the Charlevoix Courier. Up to 300 words and a photo is $185.

Please e-mail pet obituary and photo to: eanderson@petoskeynews.com along with contact information for us to contact you regarding payment or call 231-439-9375.

Kudo Robert Michael Swenson
May 19, 2015

Kudo Robert Michael Swenson, retired Guide Dog 3226, crossed the rainbow bridge on May 19, 2015, at the age of 13. I am confident he was met by Perry and Jason and congratulated on a life well lived.

Kudo came into my life on February 15, 2004. He was a spectacular Guide Dog who always took his work very seriously. He was also a great dog who thought furniture was for him and who could be overly concerned with his physical well being. But, most of all, he was a greatly gifted of a dog -- a big polar bear.

Kudo could no longer guide me this past year when his eyes and legs began to fail. He based retirement. On May 10th, I came home from Guide Dogs with Sammy. Magic happened the moment they met. Kudo sniffed Sammy and knew he was a Guide Dog. Sammy knew Kudo was a Guide too, and it seemed as though Kudo knew Sammy was here to take care of me and was happy and relieved. They gave each other a lick and Sammy followed Kudo into the house. For the next nine days Sammy would often lay with Kudo on Kudo's bed and they slept side by side at night in our bed. Sammy always checked in with Kudo the minute he walked in the door at the end of the day. For a couple of days Kudo perked up and had a little spring in his step. Dr. Julia, Kudo's rehab vet said he was more relaxed than he had been in months. But last Saturday he started to slip away. Last night after we struggled to get up and up the ramp to our bed Kudo let me know it was time to let him go. This morning only confirmed it was time. Kudo was not in pain and when he took his last breath he was peaceful. After he departed his world we carried him out of the house wrapped in a blanket on a special cart with Max following directly behind all the way to the hearse. On the way Kudo's front legs came out of the blanket and of course they were crossed.

The bond between a Guide Dog and handler is unique and it is strong. Kudo left indelible footprints on my heart that are raw now and will never go away. I will love him and cherish the time we had together for the rest of my life. And when time comes I hope and pray that Kudo, Perry and Jason will greet me on the other side. I would like to thank Guide Dogs for the Blind for the gift of Kudo. Anytime wishing to honor Kudo may do so in his name at www.guidedogs.com. I would also like to thank Dr. Julia Tardunson at Twin City Animal Rehabilitation and her staff for the love and support they provided to Kudo to keep him moving without pain.

Partnership between Munson, Charlevoix hospitals official

LONNIE ALLEN
(231) 547-6558 • lallen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — It was a day of celebration at Charlevoix Area Hospital on Tuesday as employees and community members gathered for a ceremony to officially recognize the integration into Munson Healthcare.

Linda Forrester, a hospital volunteer, who was enjoying the employee celebration, said the partnership with Munson is a "good thing."

"This is a win-win situation for everyone," Forrester said. "We get the benefits of a big hospital, but we're still a small town hospital where you feel like you're part of a family. That's the comments I hear a lot in the gift shop, is when people are here it feels like family."

The idea behind the Tuesday's celebration was to culminate the year of activity between Charlevoix and partner Munson Healthcare as each did their "due diligence" on this integration, said hospital CEO Lyn Jenks.

"It involved a lot of activity by our employees, by attorneys and medical staff to look at the partnership from every angle, to make sure this is what we needed for our future," Jenks said. "Today, is the formal closing of the process and we wanted to celebrate with our family. This is a big change and we want to thank our staff for their support as we are welcomed into the Munson family."

Ed Ness, president of Munson Healthcare, said it is exciting to be part of the employee celebration.

"We are thrilled to be here," Ness said. "Very excited to have Charlevoix part of the Munson system. The community should be very proud of the employees,

Santa comes to town

CHARLEVOIX — At four months old, Vivian Carey, was probably among the youngest people visiting Santa Claus at Charlevoix State Bank on Nov. 27, and if it's up to proud mother Leah Carey, she'll return next year.

"We're going to make this a tradition," Carey said.

While the familiar bearded fellow arrived just in the St. Nick of time — there was plenty of entertainment throughout a fun-packed day to make the event a family fun afternoon. Children enjoyed punch and cookies at the bank after visiting Santa. Enchanted

City, DDA approve Main Street director new job description

LONNIE ALLEN
(231) 547-6558 • lallen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix Main Street/Downtown Development Authority board approved amending director Annie Doyle's job description during its meeting on Nov. 23.

The position duties and title — Charlevoix Main Street Executive Director/Grant Specialist — were updated to reflect the addition of Main Street to the Downtown Development Authority, which added more responsibility to the former director's position, said Main Street/DDA chair Dan Barron.

"We needed to expand on the job description and title to encompass the roles of the Main Street program," Barron said. "As the organization continues to evolve her responsibilities as director continue to evolve."

Under the general supervision of the Main Street/DDA Board and the Charlevoix city manager, Doyle will oversee, direct and support all aspects of the Downtown Development Authority and Main Street Program.

"We are taking the traditional DDA responsibilities and moving forward to realign the duties toward the Main Street goals," Barron said. "We can now use that description for job evaluation."

New elementary school robotics team tackles trash problem at competition

LONNIE ALLEN
(231) 547-6558 • lallen@schurz.com

CHARLEVOIX — The future of America was in Sault Ste. Marie last month, using nothing more than their minds, some teamwork and LEGOs to tackle some of the greatest problems of our time.

The first ever Charlevoix Elementary School "Raydenators" FIRST LEGO League team, along with coaches and supporters, traveled to Lake Superior State University on Nov. 21 to compete in the Movin' U.P./Trash Trek robotics competition. The 10-member team of fourth, fifth and sixth-grade students has been preparing for the competition since late September.

Charlevoix Middle/High School 11th graders Thomas Lynskey and Marlo Schwartzfisher are the team mentors. Lynskey and Schwartzfisher are third-year members of robotics team at the high school and worked with Tom Schultz — the director of the middle and high school robotics team — to create the FIRST LEGO League team at the elementary school.

"It's really kind of neat to get this started for the kids at the elementary school," Schultz said.

"Thomas and Marlo have really stepped up and taken the lead on this."

Having a FIRST LEGO League at the elementary school actually prepares the students for participating in middle and high school robotics teams.

"It's a really great thing for the kids to have because some of the skills we need in our team are actually taught at the elementary school level," Schwartzfisher said.

LOUISE ALLIN
(231) 547-4558 - lallin@charz.com

CHARLEVOIX — Lead- in Charlevoix say promote such as Main et help move the city ward and keeping up n the city each step of way is the Charlevoix- vention and Visitors reau. or the convention and ore bureau, finding to promote the com- nity is never ending, ough its efforts may not vious to many. in 1986 under chamber, the bureau ade a separate or- ation in 2004. The antation's efforts are ded by the city's 5 cent hotel/motel tax. Operations are housed inside the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce. "A lot of times, local eople have no idea the extent and reach of what the CVB is doing," said Alison Hubbard, chamber of commerce president and CEO. Booked hotels, filled n restaurant tables, sold- events — that's what e bureau works toward. h day through direct efforts, advertising nd establishing relation- ps with other organi- zations. "I think sometimes the nction can be, "So why e we have a CVB?" as if of this is just going to magically happen if you don't," she said. "And that is a misconception. If I'm not out there doing my job and doing it well, a whole lot of these over- night stays, a whole lot of what is going on in the community, doesn't hap- pen." These "happenings" include events such as the Bridge Drop on New Year's Eve, where specta- tors flock to downtown to enjoy festivities, fireworks and more. The organiza- tion also supports events, like Shadow Fest, Dog- man Challenge, Venetian Festival and others that bring tourists to the area. Research and marketing also help bring visitors to Charlevoix. If residents feel as if they don't always notice the organization's efforts, it's likely because the focus is outside the community rather than inside, Wilkin said. The convention and visitor's bureau mission, as Wilkin explained, is to promote the city for the purpose of economic development through increased business and recreational tourism as an overnight travel destination. Wilkin looks at what is bringing people to Charlevoix and look at ways to enhance or lengthen their stay. Much of the work is backed by data to en- sure the right message is reaching the right market. For example, a ZIP code analysis of overnight guests in Charlevoix is new and is expected to help the organization learn more about visitors. The idea is to learn what are the city's "feeder market" when it comes to overnight guests, Wilkin said. "Our largest markets are Detroit Metro, Grand Rapids, and Chicago. Our numbers for Detroit and Grand Rapids show steady growth, but since we have been advertising in Chi- cago the past few years, from 2014 to 2015, the Chicago market grew by 50 percent," Wilkin said. The organization ad- vertises in each of these areas through a variety of outlets, including the Pure Michigan campaign, which is partially funded by efforts from the city of Charlevoix, chamber and Downtown Development Authority. At the present, the organization is using its Pure Michigan cam- paign ads to target Cin- cinnati, Columbus and Grand Rapids. "The data collection is relatively new," Wilkin said. "We hope we can use this information and share it with the lodging industry and help target our advertising more ef- fectively." Marketing of each cate- gory of winter recreation

The Charlevoix Convention and Visitors Bureau works to promote activities and events that take place year-round. One of its goal is to increase overnight tourism during the winter season by having partnerships with events like the Dogman Challenge in February.

in Charlevoix is strate- gic. Promotion for the outdoors, for example, begins about fall when outdoor attractions are "truly at their best," she said. And each advertise- ment, social media post or website update is de- signed to give a potential visitor whatever informa- tion he or she seeks; plus a little more. "So we package it more as a narrative, instead of just as this disparate series of events," Wilkin said. "You don't want to make that potential visi- tor do all the work to put all the pieces together. If you can string the neck- lace for them, all the bet- ter." For the future, the or- ganization plans to look into expanding on the recreational trail use and begin working on more local winter activities. With plenty of areas for cross country skiing, snowshoeing, fat tire bik- ing and more the poten- tial tourist draw is there. The biggest obstacle is winter itself, Wilkin said. "We try to create op- portunities for people to come into our com- munities in the shoulder season," she said. "The weather itself can make difficult for travel, but we want people to know that Charlevoix is a destina- tion in the winter."

A scribe's view: End the conflict debate

Charlevoix residents are passionate about their city council meetings and hold a certain amount of healthy skepticism for those who hold public office. That's why I am deeply troubled by the actions of some of our elected city officials. Members of the City

A SCRIBE'S VIEW

Lonnie Allen

Council have a responsibility to all the people in Charlevoix and to have council members debate the city's conflict of interest policy from the bench also should have city residents concerned.

The two city council meetings in November actually shocked me. I sat in awe when I heard council member Bill Supernaw ask if it was important for a council member to state at the beginning of meeting if they had a conflict of interest. Mr. Supernaw later clarified that he meant a conflict of interest should be brought up when the topic is about to be discussed, but it did not appear that way during the discussion.

He seemed to think that other council members use the policy against each other. If that is the case bring the proof before questioning the policy. I also was displeased to hear council member Luther Kurtz tell other city council members he wants to be able to discuss airport business and he actually asked council members if they felt he had a conflict of interest on the discussion about the airport audit on Nov. 16. Most likely Kurtz did not have a conflict of interest, but there always could be that potential.

Earlier in November, Kurtz suggested changing membership on the Airport Advisory Committee Board. He thought adding a business operator to the board would be a good idea. Council member Shirley Gibson asked Kurtz if that was a conflict of interest for him to want a membership change to the committee. It appeared to be a legitimate question. It is within reason for anyone to ask if there is a conflict of interest with Kurtz and the airport because he owns and operates a business at the airport.

Whether there is a conflict or not, the idea of a council member determined to have a say in something where it could be considered an ethical conflict is frightening and shocking. Is this representative actually trying to bend the rules in their favor? What reputation will this give the elected official with the voters? What is the truth and can the people believe it? These questions and more should be asked anytime an elected official makes a decision where they have a potential personal or business gain from the outcome.

If a council member is dead set on participating in the discussion and is unsure about having a possible conflict of interest then the official should ask the city manager or city attorney. This walking the proverbial thin line to participate when the potential of an ethical conflict of interest is there can appear to be a self-seeking move by elected officials. The best way to handle any possible conflict of interest would be to abstain from the agenda item.

I was relieved to see that council members Shirley Gibson and Aaron Hagen understand the importance of the City's Code of Ethics and Conflict of Interest Policy — Resolution No. 2009-06-03. Gibson took proper action on Nov. 2, when she abstained from discussion and a vote dealing with infrastructure improvements that are proposed to a street that includes her place of residence. It is better to abstain because significant city dollars are being spent to make those fixes to improve city services that impact the homes of residents on several streets in Charlevoix including Gibson's home. Hagen abstained at his first meeting as a council member on Nov. 16, during the Charlevoix Groundhog Shadow Fest request to authorize the city manager to waive alcohol restrictions as outlined in the city's code, so the beer tent can be located closer to Bridge Street in East Park. Hagen did the right thing. There were no questions from either Gibson or Hagen and no debate about a whether they have a conflict or not. Gibson and Hagen took it upon themselves, in good conscience, to represent the city as they were elected to do.

If elected officials start splitting hairs and muddying the waters on this topic residents of Charlevoix the Beautiful will have a city government making backroom deals and lining their pockets at the expense of the taxpayers, which does not move Charlevoix ahead in a positive way.

On this issue, there is no gray area. The problem is easily identified and the solution is crystal clear. Residents of this city do take conflicts of interest seriously and believe all council members should state any possible conflict as it is listed on the meeting agenda. No exceptions.

LETTERS to the editor

Terrorist attacked Paris, not Muslims

Editor:
In the wake of the recent terror attacks in Paris, once again "Muslims" are all over the news. As a trained theologian and instructor of World Religions, I wish we wouldn't attach these horrible events, perpetrated by psychopaths, with the religion of Islam.

This hasty intertwining of Islam and acts of terrorism results when it is discovered that the perpetrators of so many of these despicable acts claim to be Muslims, who are undertaking such acts in the name of Allah. Both claims are preposterous and should be taken no more seriously than Adolph Hitler's claim to be a Christian. In Arabic "Islam means

"peace" and "submission to God."

Human history is filled with misguided people who have pursued heinous agendas in the name of God and religion. Both Christian and Muslim Crusades are prime examples. The God of any religion is demeaned when His name is invoked to justify human acts of terror!

On 9/11, I was with many Muslim parents as they dropped off their adolescent children at a boarding school where I taught. These horrified parents saw the towers come crumbling down as they prepared to leave their children in our care, thousands of miles and oceans away from home. These Muslim parents were enraged as reports began to surface that Islamic extremists were behind these attacks. It was unfathomable and unacceptable to them that any faithful Muslims could have done such a thing.

The perpetrators of the Paris attacks may have been of Middle Eastern origin; they may have invoked the name of Allah seeking religious justification for their behavior but they are not Muslim in any legitimate sense of the word. Call them psychopaths; call them terrorists; call them fanatics; but, please, stop calling them Muslims.

Toby Jones, Adjunct Instructor of Religion, Pastor of 1st Congregational Church of Gaylord

Thank you for the support

Dear staff, family and brothers of St. Marys Cement in Charlevoix

First of all this letter is way over-due and I honestly should be thanking each of you individually as you're all super important to us. Unfortunately, due to time I have lumped you all together as one. Just to get things started I cannot express how grateful and blessed we are.

As most of you know, these last couple of months have been extremely traumatic, it was life changing to say the least.

Now, with that said...

Today, I am happy to say that things are on the up and up. Everyday Tom is taking more steps, and making huge strides. Each day, I have more time for myself and more time to think about the blessings we have been shown, from each of you. I get emotional thinking about the guys building a ramp, taking time off from work and their own families, offering and giving rides, dinners to look forward to, monetary donations, expressions of prayer and most of all the daily stop by and visits.

Please know, that all of your help has made such a huge difference and we are forever grateful. Somehow, as time goes on I will make sure that the entire community knows how much of a support system St. Marys Cement has been, for one of their brothers. This is comradeship at its very best.

Thank you, Debbie Berry and family Charlevoix

Senate Bill 422 comes under fire

Editor,
Michigan Senate Bill 422, as reported out of committee, would allow anyone who has obtained a concealed pistol license (CPL) to enter a church, bar, school, day-care facility, or hospital while carrying their weapon, where it is currently prohibited to do so. This bill would provide an exemption for a CPL holder to enter current no carry zones, as long as they have paid a $20 fee to the county clerk for an exemption endorsement. If the county clerk did not issue the endorsement in a suitable period of time, the applicant could appeal to the circuit court to order the clerk to pay the applicant's costs and attorney fees.

I am struck with incredulity that the drafters of this legislation believe this will improve our schools, our neighborhoods, our churches and our hospital. With our world so frightening as it currently is, how is it that the originators of this bill believe that carrying a Glock automatic to church, or to pick up the baby at child care, or to visit a friend at the hospital will make it better. And, I believe, this bill would allow the "endorsed individual" to carry his pistol, while concealed, into court to hear the answer to his litigation. I suspect that we will need more than one bailiff.

Please contact Sen. Wayne Schmidt, wschmidt@senate.michigan.gov, and ask him to deny this bill's potential impact on our lives.

F. James Stewart, MD Charlevoix

Chatfield's senior update challenged

Representative Chatfield:
In reviewing your recently received "Senior Update" I am amazed at the audacity of your claim that, "the Legislature has continued to fight to make the lives of Michigan seniors better." I assume you are comfortable with the fact that your colleagues legislated an unprecedented tax on retirement pensions, while at the same time reducing the tax burden on corporations like GM that has gone on to spend their cash windfall buying back as much as $5 billion of their own stock.

Seniors also suffer under our 'highest in the nation' automobile insurance rates. Our No-Fault policies cost us nearly $200 extra per vehicle for the MCCA catastrophic fund. It is time to do away with No-Fault and use that nearly $20 Billion asset to fix our roads.

Sincerely, Bob Wallick, Cross Village

Moral imperative agreement disrupted by controversy over percentages

Editor,
I am responding to the article I see on your webpage at petoskeynews.com/featured-pnrlanswering-the-call-interfaith-panel-calls-for-action-in-climate/article_90ad9fad-8600-5b15-8bda-79099e5a2c33.html.

Pam Ovshinsky is certainly right that we have a "moral imperative" to properly address climate change. Unfortunately, climate change activists such as the community members gathered at Temple B'nai Israel are unwittingly supporting one of the greatest moral travesties of our time: the valuing of people yet to be born more than those suffering today.

Rather than focus on the need to help vulnerable people adapt to real climate change in the present, activists promote mitigation, trying to avert hypothetical events that may, or may not, someday happen.

The United Nations said that funding for mitigation and adaptation should be approximately equal. But the Climate Policy Initiative demonstrates that only 7 percent of the almost $1 billion/day spent on climate finance the world goes to adaptation. The rest is spent on mitigation because of the common but unjustified belief that we can control our planet's climate merely by reducing our carbon dioxide emissions.

People of all stripes are starting to recognize that allocating more importance to the possible problems to be faced by future generations than to the known and serious issues faced by those suffering today is immoral.

Sincerely, Tom Harris, B. Eng., M. Eng. (Mech.) Executive director, International Climate Science Coalition

Hospice of Northwest Michigan increases partnership with We Honor Veterans program

CHARLEVOIX — Hospice of Northwest Michigan announced an increase in standing from a We Honor Veterans partner level 2 to a level 3. Specific activities and new commitments were met to achieve this goal.

Hospice's first step was in 2011. They completed the recruit process of getting oriented to the program and committing time and staff to the We Honor Veterans program. The second step took them to level 1 partner and allowed them to provide Veteran-centric education for staff and volunteers and identify patients with military experience. The third step that took Hospice of Northwest Michigan to level 2 built organizational capacity providing quality care for veterans. This most recent step to level 3 allowed them to develop and strengthen relationships with Veteran's Administration medical centers and other veteran organizations. Hospice of Northwest Michigan is actively striving now for the level 4 partnership that will increase access and improve quality of care for all veterans in the community.

As a We Honor Veterans hospice provider, Hospice of Northwest Michigan provides specialized care to veterans who are facing a life-limiting illness. The National Hospice and Palliative Care Organization in collaboration with the Department of Veterans Affairs created We Honor Veterans to empower hospice and other healthcare providers across America to meet the unique needs of seriously ill veterans and their families.

"By recognizing the unique needs of veterans who are facing a life-limiting illness, we are able to accompany and guide these men and women toward a more peaceful ending. For veterans who experienced combat service or other trauma, this can be particularly important as experiences from the past may resurface at the end of life," said Amy Wieland, executive director of Hospice of Northwest Michigan. "Hospice of Northwest Michigan is actively delivering local community based Veteran-centric care to those who served our country."

Hospice of Northwest Michigan is a 501(c)(3) non-profit, community based hospice, serving Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego counties. For more information, call (800) 551-4140.

Michigan Department of Transportation honored for reduction of highway fatalities

Washington, D.C. — During a national awards ceremony on Capitol Hill, the Roadway Safety Foundation and the Federal Highway Administration honored the Michigan Department of Transportation for its efforts to reduce run-off-the-road and fatal crashes caused by lane departure. MDOT's initiative was one of 10 recognized with a 2015 National Roadway Safety Award.

When looking at crash data from 2004 to 2007, MDOT determined that lane departure had contributed to nearly half of their fatal crashes.

"More than 32,000 people died in traffic crashes in 2013 and millions of individuals suffered injuries," said Federal Highway Administrator Gregory Nadeau. "Innovative roadway safety programs are a critical part of saving lives and preventing injuries on our nation's highways."

To address the fatal crash issue, MDOT embarked on a statewide effort to install rumble strips on all non-freeway high-speed rural roads managed by MDOT from 2008 to 2010. Crashes were reduced by 47 percent and fatal crashes by 51 percent when comparing three years of crash data following the installation to the three years before the rumble strips were installed.

"The innovative highway safety projects honored today are vital because deficiencies in the roadway environment contribute to nearly one-third of all traffic deaths," said Roadway Safety Foundation Executive Director Greg Cohen. "The National Roadway Safety Awards are an opportunity to recognize the unsung heroes who plan, engineer and implement creative measures to help save lives on a daily basis and rarely receive credit for doing so."

The National Roadway Safety Award recipients were evaluated on criteria comprising effectiveness, innovation, and efficient use of resources. There were two award categories: Infrastructure and Operational Improvements and Program Planning, Development, and Evaluation.

"Michigan Department of Transportation's statewide rumble strip installations and research confirmed that center line rumble strips significantly improve public safety as well as give transportation agencies in Michigan and other states the data they need to implement their own initiatives," said Kirk Steedle, director of the Michigan Department of Transportation.

This year's Blue Ribbon Panel Judges included: Gregory M. Cohen, executive director, Roadway Safety Foundation; King W. Gee, director of engineering and technical services, American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials; Mike Griffith, director, Office of Safety Technologies, FHWA Office of Safety, Federal Highway Administration; Peter Kissinger, president and CEO, AAA Foundation for Traffic Safety; Bernardo Kleiner, senior program officer and transportation safety specialist, Transportation Research Board; Jennifer Sniith, director, Image and Brands, Michelin; Marie B. Walsh, PhD, director, Louisiana Local Technical Assistance Program; Terecia Wilson, senior fellow, Clemson University Institute for Global Road Safety and Security.

Charlevoix County Community Foundation announces 37 awards for fall 2015 grant cycle

CHARLEVOIX — The Board of Trustees of the Charlevoix County Community Foundation recently approved $155,619 in grants during their fall 2015 grant cycle, including 37 awards.

"Highlights include more than $17,000 in timely assistance for food pantries and emergency fuel and utility payments to help our neighbors keep warm and well-fed through this winter season," said Maureen Radke, Program Officer with the foundation. "Many folks are employed, but may be having a hard time making ends meet. Giving through the community foundation is an excellent way to help those help themselves."

The grant awards included $28,000 in funding for projects that will impact Charlevoix County youth in a positive way. The grants were recommended by the foundation's Youth Advisory Committee.

"The YAC members are continually trying to find ways to address youth needs in Charlevoix County, and they accept proposals from organizations that have a similar vision," said Michelle Shooks, who coordinates the Youth Advisory Committee on the foundation's behalf. "The YAC conducts a survey of their peers every three years to see what they think are the biggest issues surrounding them. The results are considered when making grant decisions, and they help the YAC to determine the merit of each proposal and fund accordingly," she concluded. The survey will be administered again in early 2016.

In addition to grants to benefit youth, the recent grants support programs in the arts, education, community development, the environment, human services, health and wellness, recreation and more.

"Area nonprofit agencies provide us with information on local issues and needs and we're able to connect them with donors that want to give back. That's the beauty of the community foundation grant making process at work," Radke said.

A charitable organization dedicated to improving and enriching life in the area, the Charlevoix County Community Foundation accepts gifts from individuals, families, businesses and civic groups and manages them as permanent endowments. While a portion of the funds are utilized to support grant making, the principal of the endowment continues to grow, providing perpetual charitable capital to benefit Charlevoix County's residents—now and in the future.

Since it was founded in 1992, the community foundation's net assets have grown to $29.8 million. Grants and scholarships totaling more than $18 million have been distributed to enhance and enrich the quality of life for all those who currently live in Charlevoix County—and for generations to come.

The foundation welcomes inquiries and grant requests. The next deadline for submitting a grant request is Tuesday, March 1. For a complete list of the recent grant awards, visit c3f.org, and click on "What's New," then "Recent Grants."

LOOKING BACK...

Pre-conference vacation aided top-level World War II military strategies

In 1943, in the middle of World War II, Britain, the United States and Canada convened the first Quebec Conference to help determine the course of the war. British Prime Minister Winston Churchill, U.S. President Franklin Roosevelt and Canadian Prime Minister William Mackenzie King, the latter more in a ceremonial hosting role, were to be the attendees. Joseph Stalin, leader of the Soviet Union, was unable to make the trip due to severe war pressures at home. Prior to this, an exhausted, overextended Roosevelt was close to burnout.

His staff realized he desperately needed time off before the crucial decision-making session arrived. Roosevelt loved to fish, so a highly secret fishing expedition in Lake Huron was suggested. Word went out, and the Wilmette, training ship of the Ninth Naval District in Chicago, was picked to organize the event and supply the accompanying personnel. The Wilmette's captain told an overwhelmed Lt. John Manly he was assigned to be the president's right hand man, and asked if he knew of any classier boats that would be more suitable and comfortable for housing the president on the journey. Manly was a close friend of Lt. Ernest Loeb, whose family owned Loeb Farms south of Charlevoix. Manly and Loeb had made several fishing trips together to the North Passage or Channel, McGregor Bay-Manitoulin Island area of Lake Huron near Ontario aboard Loeb's cabin cruiser, the Anna H., named after Loeb's mother Anna Henrietta Loeb. So Manly suggested the boat and the area, phone calls were made, and the Anna H. was requisitioned without the family having any idea what it was to be used for. Manly himself piloted the Anna H. up through the Straits of Mackinac, picked up the president, and spent the next 12 days as his guide and confidant.

Manly wrote to Loeb, who was serving in the South Pacific, on Sept. 9, 1943, about the journey. "The many events that took place while I sat in the cockpit of the ANNA H within touching distance of the world's outstanding figure today—it is all something I will never forget. Two historical events took place that will perhaps go down in history as the most momentous occasion of this World War II. This, of course, I cannot discuss for some time to come."

Manly was probably referring to Roosevelt's formative ideas for the invasion of Europe, which would bring about the end of the war two years later. The ongoing development and use of an atomic bomb also would be discussed at the conference. Manly went on to say, "... he is indeed a most brilliant person and the most unforgettable character that I have ever met in my life." The Charlevoix Courier reported the trip in a small article on Aug. 16, 1943, accompanied by a photo of the boat with the headline "Borrowed by President Roosevelt." The week long Quebec Conference began the next day, attended by a newly vigorous, rejuvenated president of the U.S. who had just spent the only vacation he took in 1943 aboard the Anna H. out of Chicago and Charlevoix.

John Cross Fish Market, a Charlevoix landmark

JOHN KELLY
Special to Courier

CHARLEVOIX — Before it was a lumbering town and before the trains and farmers initiated the resort life here, Charlevoix was primarily a fishing village. John Cross Fish Market's location on Round Lake is a throwback in time when the shore was lined with fish and fishing boats, well before their time. It may be a little "fishy" as you enter the establishment, but that's as it should be... the essence of the Great Lakes.

Everything about the experience of visiting Cross' is to say, "Taste the Great Lakes... breathe in the Charlevoix history." Jack's dad, the original John Cross who harkened to Beaver Island, opened the Round Lake business at 209 Belvedere Avenue, in 1945. His wife, Hilda, owned a restaurant, The Nautica, a house at the top of the hill, where she cooked the bounty of her husband's net. Deep fried fish, of course, and hush puppies, French fries, colelaw, carrot salad, and lemon pie and bisque were on the menu. The restaurant closed some 40 years ago, when the house became a liability, slowly settling and falling into disrepair. The first generation of the Cross family has passed the torch to the next two, but except for the latest cleaning and processing machines, and be fact that the Cross' own old grey fishing boat no longer goes out on the lake to get the fish, the John Cross Fish Market, on the Round Lake waterfront, has remained pretty much the same over the years. It has become an acclaimed Charlevoix land-

Fish and family ties keep this family business operating. mark and a Great Lakes seafood mecca for locals and the resort trade, alike. They come to claim the freshest catch of the day, smoked whitefish or salmon, sausage, or perhaps June's trademark whitefish pate or "three mix dip (trout, salmon and whitefish). For many residents and visitors, summer wouldn't be summer without driving down the hill to the weathered white clapboard building, hopefully finding a parking place, then swinging open the screen door to wait in line to place an order. You may have to hold the door open to accommodate the clientele who have queued up, but that's just part of the camaraderie of fresh fish market-goers. Friendly, efficient employees behind the counter, most of whom are family members, ask patiently, "Whitefish? Walleye? Trout? What can we get you today?"

Fish and family ties that bind are now playing out into the third generation at

John Cross Fisheries. Actually, the fourth generation is waiting in the wings and is already putting sweat equity into the business in an apprentice capacity.

"We've all worked hard over the years," said June, wife of owner, Jack Cross.

Growing up, June's family owned and operated a fishing resort, "Frontier Lodge," east of Sault Sainte Marie where she learned cooking skills and a work ethic from her parents. She held the position of X-ray technician at Charlevoix Hospital before she joined Jack in the fishery business.

"Our kids worked here, and now our grand kids help whenever they can," she said.

Kellie (Cross) Sutherland and Jack, "Jackie" Cross now play a major role in the operation of the business. Jackie, along with his other duties, operates the iron, wood-fired smoker, which can turn out 500 pounds of smoked salmon and whitefish at a time. One grandson, Shane, drives a delivery truck, and a granddaughter, Sarah, sets up at the downtown farmer's market in the summer when she is home during summer vacation from her teaching position in Kansas. The others help out where needed or by working behind the counter.

"We're a team," Kelly said. "We all help each other out."

"It's a good job," June added. "We pay them well. But it's hard work. Sometimes in the summer, we get up at 5 a.m. and keep right on until 7 p.m. or later."

The catch has to be processed quickly: beheaded, de-finned, scaled and filleted and readied for the customers to make their selection from neat rows arranged on ice in the counter cooler. There may be as many as fourteen employees during the summer season to keep things moving.

"We fix them lunch right here," June said, "so we don't lose any time. On a weekend like the 4th of July, the line waiting to be served goes all the way up the street."

The market easily can go through 10,000 pounds of fish in two days. Besides keeping up with the supply and demand of the retail market, Cross' supplies at least 35 area restaurants and/or markets to which deliveries are made daily.

"The Villager Pub and Terry's Place top the orders," Jackie said. "We also export 3,000 pounds of caviar to Sweden annually, the country which along with Russia is one of the largest consumers of that product."

In November, the Cross' spend time stocking up their reserve by vacuum packing and freezing fish to carry them over in case of a bad winter, but now it's business as usual from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily with plenty of fresh on hand.

Fitness center classes keep workouts fresh

LONNIE ALLEN

CHARLEVOIX — Zumba, Power Yoga, Cardio Dance and more. The world of fitness has come a long way from Jack LaLanne and big gyms filled with sweaty Nautilus equipment, intimidating weights and a few aerobics classes.

The evolution has created opportunities for entrepreneurs to build thriving businesses offering specialized and personalized options to fitness-seeking clients.

"People are looking for a more personalized experience in fitness," said Chris Demanaeus, who operates Challenge Fitness at 15144 Bells Bay Road in Charlevoix. "Working out is not just about losing weight, but about staying healthy — mentally and physically. I want to help people get a new outlook on life."

It's an experience that offers a tailored session to gym members who are looking for more than a workout. It's not just specialized activities finding success but tailored sessions to a member's needs.

"I'm taking it more from being a gym to a overall wellness center," Demanaeus said. "I want this facility to be a place where people can come to learn and help them to lead a healthy lifestyle."

The fitness center offers different classes that cover a wide variety of fitness levels and styles of workout ranging from cardio, strength and aerobic, and some of the newer classes hit on multiple styles.

Classes like Cardio Dance and Getting Tough with Tiffany improve on strength and power to help boost a person's self-image, said Tiffany Barrett who teaches Getting Tough with Tiffany.

"My class gets people to commit to a goal and push themselves to build strength, lose weight and improve muscle tone through weightlifting," Barrett said.

If you'd like a no-guilt way to carve out some fitness time for yourself Challenge Fitness offers new classes. One of the classes has participants spending an hour dancing to high-energy music.

Intanal Carmin has been teaching Zumba classes since November.

"It's a fiercely fun dance workout," Carmin said. "Zumba is a great cardio exercise that focuses on losing weight. People in the class love to dance and have fun."

Guiding the way through advocacy

A few weeks ago, I had the pleasure of attending the 2015 Legislative Agenda Conference of the Northern Michigan Chamber Alliance in Traverse City. The session began with a meeting of the Alliance Partners and concluded with a legislative reception with representatives and senators from the region.

CHAMBER UPDATE
Alison Hubbard
Chamber president/CEO

During our time together, Kent Wood, director of Government Relations for the Northern Michigan Chamber Alliance, shared our successes as well as emerging issues for 2016. As an alliance, we keep our guiding principles top of mind as we review our successes and opportunities for the upcoming year.

The alliance guiding principles:

- Making it easier for businesses in Northern Michigan to be competitive.
- Helping strong business sectors remain strong and continue job creation in our region.

- Ensuring our workforce is educated and prepared for the future needs of Northern Michigan businesses.
- Promoting investment in our public transportation and business infrastructure including energy development, road systems, harbors, airports and broadband connectivity.

In 2015, member advocacy and grassroots activities were developed and promoted using our principals and agenda as a basis for taking a position on the following issues:

- Supported state budget that increased funding for roads, workforce training, trails, and increased Pure Michigan funding.
- Testified in front of Senate Commerce Committee on alliance principles and legislative agenda.
- Fought to retain rural funding pools for Northern Michigan hospitals.
- Fought budget increases for liquor license fees and health insurance claims assessment.
- Drafted and distributed position statements on road funding and energy policy.
- Hosted informational sessions on road funding and Proposal 1.
- Made calls and drafted letters of support for local projects/issues: Alpena trails,

Soo locks, Graymont mine project, post Labor Day school start bills.

— Engaged in information gathering on electric transmission and "dark stores."

As we look forward to setting our priorities for 2016, I am thankful for the continued support of our chamber board and their commitment to advocacy as it relates to our membership and our community. The alliance is a wonderful group of influential leaders, strongly committed to Northern Michigan's success and I feel lucky to be a part.

Alison Hubbard is the President of the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce. The Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce is a nonprofit organization with more than 440 business and individual members, and growing strong. Our Mission is to support commerce and provide leadership to enhance the quality of life. The Northern Michigan Chamber Alliance is a partnership of 14 chambers of commerce that comprise 14 counties in Northern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula. The partnership is premised on the fact that many business public policy issues impact Michigan's northern region in similar ways. In total, we represent over 6,500 business members throughout the region.

Cards for Caring effort expands for 2015

CHARLEVOIX — Organizers at Charlevoix Middle/High School are ramping up efforts to promote the 2015 Cards for Caring mission to help relieve Seasonal Affective Disorder in local seniors. The effort calls for local families to supply at least one greeting card for disbursement to the Charlevoix High School. It will in turn be read, sorted and then delivered to those in need at Boulder Park terrace.

Cards for Caring project is an expansion of last year's efforts to provide seasonal greetings cards for seniors in the nursing facility at Boulder Park Terrace. Promoters feel it is the responsibility of current generations to offer comfort and support to the increasing numbers of senior citizens who are facing illness and hardship especially in the winter season. The organization believes is important that those who are aging are aware that they are not alone and that they are still remembered by the community. This feeling of connectivity can be demonstrated by something as simple as a greeting card and a warm message.

The elderly are particularly at risk for Seasonal Affective Disorder. According to seniorhealth365.com, the elderly are generally less mobile and often intolerant to cold and may be suffering with underlying conditions that are aggravated in the winter months. There also is the likelihood that the use of certain medications exacerbate situations in which seasonal affect disorder might be present.

According to the National Institute of Health, older adults who exhibit social withdrawal, lethargy, daytime sleepiness, decreased interest in activities, increased appetite and weight gain are often prime examples of those experiencing SAD. The severity of the condition strongly correlates to poor health and decreased functioning which is frequently noted in senior nursing home residents.

Seasonal shifts herald prolonged darkness, which increases the bio-hormone melatonin and this causes the increased desire for sleep and triggers depression. Also, with reduced sunlight serotonin, a brain neurotransmitter, is reduced bringing further depression according to caring.com.

But the good news is that social interaction can actually reduce depression and perhaps in some instances, save lives. Bryan James, an epidemiologist at the Rush Alzheimer's Disease Center in Chicago, noted that higher levels of social interaction — even peripheral interactions — can have a high payoff for the elderly according to greatergood.berkeley.edu.

If each family brought just one card, imagine the outpouring of support that could be delivered to those suffering at this time of year. Often there isn't a lot that can be done to remedy certain outcomes. But this can be done.

A bright spot in any day for someone who has been suffering and who may not have family in the area can be the cheer delivered at mail time. Cards for Caring hopes to mobilize local residents by asking that each family deliver one card — Season's Greetings, Merry Christmas, Hanukkah, happy holiday or thoughtful wish — to the Charlevoix High School, 5200 Marion Center Road, Charlevoix. The cards should be signed with perhaps a warm wish inside a blank, unsealed envelope. Cards should be dropped off at the Charlevoix Middle/High School no later than Dec. 11.

Grant to provide adult training for youth mental health

PETOSKEY — The Health Department of Northwest Michigan has been awarded a three-year Project Advancing Wellness and Resilience in Education grant from the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration to support the training of a diverse group of adults in Youth Mental Health First Aid. This training will help adults detect and respond to mental health needs in youth in Charlevoix, Emmet and northern Antrim counties.

Young Mental Health First Aid is a public education program that introduces participants to the risk factors and warning signs of mental health problems and builds an understanding of the importance of early intervention. Participants are familiarized with local mental health resources, national organizations, support groups and tools for mental health and addictions treatment and support.

"When a youth is struggling with depression, anxiety, trauma, or other mental conditions, sometimes adults are not sure what to do or how to respond," said project coordinator Natalie Kasiborski, PhD, LMSW, MPH. "This program will give trusted adults like parents, teachers, coaches, business and community members the skills to respond to youth in crisis."

By implementing Young Mental Health First Aid, the health department expects to see an increase in the mental health literacy of adults who interact with youth and to increase awareness of mental health issues among school-age youth. Kasiborski also notes these skills can be applied anytime, anywhere, and to anyone in distress.

Additionally, the grant will help fund the Char-Em Youth Behavioral Health Collaborative, of which the health department is a member. The goal of the collaborative is to build a strong community system that supports the overall social, emotional and mental health needs of youth. With the grant, the health department will coordinate this group of community partners and add a dedicated staff member.

"The Char-Em Youth Behavioral Health Collaborative is an invaluable resource for our communities," said Diane Heinzelman, collaborative member and director of Special Education for Char-Em Intermediate School District. "While the Youth Mental Health First Aid training is increasing the ability of adults to respond directly to youth in need, at the collaborative level we're also working to identify and eliminate system and policy issues that may be barriers to connecting youth with appropriate resources."

The overall goal of Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration's Project AWARE is to improve behavioral health awareness among school-age youth and their communities.

For more information on the Health Department's Project AWARE grant, programs, and services, call Kasiborski at (231) 347-5144.

The Health Department of Northwest Michigan is mandated by the Michigan Public Health Code to promote wellness, prevent disease, provide quality healthcare, address health problems of vulnerable populations, and protect the environment for the residents and visitors of Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego Counties.

MIOSHA to fund free training for healthcare workers

For the fifth consecutive year, North Central's Corporate and Community Education has been awarded Michigan Occupational Safety and Health Administration funds to provide ergonomic safety training to workers in Northern Michigan long-term health care facilities.

Corporate and Community Education's Ergonomics Safety Training was designed to reduce injuries and illnesses among employees at nursing and residential care facilities. Thanks to the Michigan Occupational Safety and Health Administration funds, safety training has been offered free to healthcare workers in Antrim, Emmet, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Presque Isle and Crawford counties in the Lower Peninsula, as well as Mackinac County in the Upper Peninsula for the last four years.

In 2014, more than 560 workers received instruction and practice in safe patient lifting, carrying and transporting techniques. Each worker also received a manual use during training and as a quick reference guide following training. The manual provided an explanation of ergonomics, Michigan Occupational Safety and Health Administration programs, specific ergonomic actions and exercises to prevent injuries on the job.

"The long-term care business is growing rapidly as our population ages and many people retire to Northern Michigan. These businesses have an increasing need to educate new employees to safely care for patients," said CCE Director Jim Tisdell. "CCE tailors its safety programs to meet the demand of this important industry."

This year, Corporate and Community Education will again offer free ergonomic safety training for employers and employees at long-term health care facilities. The classes are short and usually scheduled at the worksite, during times that best fit the work schedule. To learn more about the program or schedule a safety class at your business, call (231) 348-6613.

Charlevoix County Community Foundation's report details distribution $1.6 million

EAST JORDAN — The Charlevoix County Community Foundation released its 2015 annual report, "Doing good. Every day." The report recognizes the fact that community foundation-supported grants have an impact on programs, projects, people and places every single day of the year. Since its start in 1992, the foundation has distributed hundreds of thousands of dollars in grants each year.

This year is no different, as the foundation distributed 392 grants and 134 scholarships, totaling over $1.6 million. Grants are awarded to local, national and international nonprofit organizations and support worthwhile causes in a variety of areas including women and child welfare, health and human services, arts and cultural programming, education, recreation, environmental conservation and others.

"When we look at the variety of grants that we support, we find that the funding we provide really does make a difference every hour of every day, every day of every week, and every week of the year," said Chip Hansen, foundation president. "The impact is consistent and far-reaching and something of which we are incredibly proud. Thanks to our donors, we are able to support amazing programs."

The annual report presents stories of several of the grants the foundation was able to support in the past year, including a county-wide anti-bullying program for middle and high schools, a capacity building grant to publicize a local conservation organization, and a science equipment grant that gave elementary students portable microscopes. Also in the report is a complete list of the foundation's 277 funds, all of which are established by local donors. Some funds are earmarked for specific causes; others are open-ended to meet changing needs. The funds are held in permanent endowment so they can continue to grow and generate income to enhance the quality of life in Charlevoix County now and for generations to come.

"Our donors are the lifeblood of the organization," Hansen said. "This year, donors contributed nearly $2.5 million and started 15 new funds. That kind of generosity is inspiring, and it is what makes Charlevoix County such a wonderful place to live, work and raise a family."

The foundation also maintained its accreditation with the Council on Foundations National Standards, a designation that signifies that the Charlevoix County Community Foundation meets or exceeds all of the requirements of the COF accreditation process.

Healthcare Charlevoix Hospital, but patients will see little change in the day-to-day operation of the hospital. The same nursing staff and physicians will remain to ensure access to great local healthcare, Ness said.

"To us that is very important," Ness said. "Because of what this hospital has done over the years in connection with and with the support of the community all we want to do is to help support what Charlevoix Hospital has done and make it stronger."

In September, the Charlevoix Area Hospital Board of Directors approved an agreement with Munson Healthcare to bring Charlevoix Area Hospital under the Munson network of fully integrated hospitals, which includes Munson Medical Center in Traverse City, Munson Healthcare Cadillac Hospital, Munson Healthcare Grayling Hospital and Paul Oliver Memorial Hospital in Frankfort.

The agreement also includes the outpatient clinics and medical practices owned and operated by Charlevoix Area Hospital in Boyne City, Charlevoix, and East Jordan.

The closer integration with Munson Healthcare is expected to expand the range of clinical services available to the hospital and improve the coordination of care locally.

"We want the community to know that the

ROBOTICS

"We want to make an impact in the kids of our community and just to get the word out that there is something out there besides sports — if somebody is not into athletics — for them to do," Schwartzfischer said.

Lynskey said the team is about making a difference for kids who like math and science.

"By getting kids interested and involved with robotics and engineering at young age, we can change their future," Lynskey said. "It teaches commitment and hard work."

Having a robotics team at the elementary school is very important, said 12-year-old Dominic Schwein.

"It is definitely good for us to have in school," Schwein said. "We get to learn teamwork, basic robotics and be part of something fun."

Ten-year-old Joshua Schultz said being part of the robotics team is a learning experience.

"(It) gets us more prepared and also helps you think more about solutions to problems and helps you understand programming which helps you out in life," Schultz said.

The FIRST LEGO League was founded to introduce children ages 9-14 to science and technology using a medium that many of them already love. Currently, the league has events in 80 countries and more than 25,000 participating teams. All teams are provided with the same LEGO kit, motor and controller, and a list of basic tasks that the teams must accomplish.

This year's competition theme was "Trash Trek," a springboard to consider all manifestations of trash — from food to electronics to hazardous waste — and how planning, recycling and technology can manage it. Students worked to find a solution to help with the trash problem and create their own robot to accomplish trash-themed "missions."

The Charlevoix team addressed recycling at a local restaurant. Team members had to identify a problem with the way people make or handle trash and then design

To complete the competition, the robotics team competed their robot against robots from seven other Northern Michigan teams to score points on a recycling obstacle course.

"The kids worked very hard to get their robot done for the competition," Lynskey said. "It was a lot of fun for them and us because there was a lot of hard work that went into it and you could see that they enjoyed it."

The Main Street/Downtown Development Authority board also will monitor the position and determine if adjustments will need to be made as Charlevoix progresses in the Michigan Main Street program.

"We will have the opportunity to review those qualifications and terms more as we move forward," Barron said. "In the future we may need to refine it more. This is a feeling-out process as our organization changes so may the director's duties."

The position also will assist in coordinating, planning, researching, writing and assist with various grant programs and applications within various city departments. Doyle also will identify potential donors and cultivate relationships to explore philanthropy toward city projects and programs. She will supervise various staff and volunteers as needed and is expected to work closely with the economic development and planning director. Doyle will work to promote public participation, excellence in design, redevelopment-ready administrative processes, historic preservation and rehabilitation. The city paid a quarter of the Main Street/DDA director's salary and city manager Mark Heydlauff said the new duties would all be new to fulfill city job requirements.

"This description realigns and redefines what those duties should be and hopefully shrinks them," Heydlauff said. "There is a good symbiotic relationship between her duties with the city and the Main Street Program. The duties will mesh well with DDA/Main Street by reinvigorating the downtown and also the ability to fulfill the responsibilities with the city."

Doyle looks forward to accomplishing the goals outlined in her new job description and believes this is a good fit for Charlevoix.

"I'm comfortable with it," Doyle said. "The duties are clear and outlined to best use my skills to move our downtown forward."

families who braved the cold weather to visit the Circle of Arts to make crafts and decorate cookies also were able to go downtown for some hot cocoa before the streets were filled with festive floats.

Tradition was the word of the evening as local families and visitors lined the parade route along Bridge Street from Hurlbut to Clinton streets.

As the parade rounded the corner on Clinton Street toward the harbor eager crowds awaited Santa to light the tree in East Park. The annual visit from Santa and crafts throughout the day have been part of downtown Charlevoix form a number of years and to extend on that celebration the parade was added five years ago, said parade organizer Shelly Ferguson.

"Many of our local businesses are really getting into the holiday spirit by participating in the parade," Ferguson said.

This year's parade featured about 30 registrants, which is an increase from the previous year.

"The parade still is fairly new, but it gets bigger each year and participants have been creative with their lights and decorations," Ferguson said.

Even though temperatures were a bit on the chilly side for the parade, attendees were having a good time watching the parade.

"I would imagine, this is one of those things that people are adding to their

November's Veteran of the Month is Alvin Frank Kowatch

The 2015 November veteran is Alvin Frank Kowatch. Born on Nov. 29, 1923 in Dallas, Mich., to Jacob and Ida Schafer Kowatch, he was the youngest of five children. Following his father's passing, he dropped out of school after completing the 8th grade to work as a plasterer helper to earn money to take care of his mother.

Kowatch enlisted into the U.S. Army on Feb. 5, 1943, at Camp Grant, Ill. Following basic training and advanced individual training he received his driver and mechanic badges. Promoted to platoon staff sergeant, Kowatch participated in campaigns in New Guinea and the South Pacific and earned the following decorations and citations: Victory medal; American Theater ribbon; Asiatic-Pacific Theater ribbon; Philippine Liberation ribbon; three overseas service bars; one service stripe, one Bronze Battle star; Good Conduct medal and Marksman medal with the M-1 Rifle. On March 31, 1946, Kowatch completed his military obligation and returned back home and on June 1, 1946, he married Lucille Gearhart in Lansing. He then went to work with his father-in-law plastering and building houses.

Kowatch and Lucille had three children and after his father-in-law suffered a debilitating stroke, he took over the family business. In 1969, the family moved to East Jordan and soon after he went to work in the maintenance department at the East Jordan Iron Works, however he continued to do plastering jobs on the side. On Jan. 13, 1986, he retired from the Iron Works and later that year moved with Lucille to Forsyth, Ga., to enjoy retirement. Alvin never did truly retire, as he felt the need to keep busy. Whether it was doing plastering jobs, home remodeling, bowling, hunting, singing in the church choir or gardening and tending to his many fruit trees and flower beds. But his greatest joy came from building custom dollhouses for his great-granddaughters, for which he was featured in the local newspaper. He loved wood working, which started at the age of 13 when he built an entire village out of orange crates. On Jan. 17, 2008, in Forsyth, Alvin Frank Kowatch answered the final call and is being honored by his granddaughter Karen and her family.

Bistro offers children dinner with Santa Claus

CHARLEVOIX — It's the season of giving, and the Bistro at the Charlevoix Country Club is spreading Christmas cheer for children and their families.

The Bistro will host its dinner with Santa from 5 to 8 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 10. The cost is $15 for adults and dinner is free for children 12 and under. Advanced reservations are recommended, said front-of-the-house manager, Rebecca Kuzmik. Festivities include a meal served buffet style, holiday cookie decorating, movies and a photo with the big guy himself.

Dinner with Santa Claus is a new event the Bistro hopes families will come to enjoy.

"We looked around at the community events this time of year and thought having an option to have dinner with Santa was a way families could enjoy time together in a relaxing atmosphere," Kuzmik said.

Petoskey hands young Charlevoix team season opening loss, 56-20

DREW KOCHANNY

(231) 439-9345 • dkochanny@petoskeynews.com

PETOSKEY — One of the main preseason goals for the Petoskey girls' basketball team this season was to put a competitive team on the floor each night.

After just one game, it looks as if the Northmen will meet that goal.

On opening night in the Petoskey High School gym, the Northmen girls delivered on a 56-20 win over non-conference rival Charlevoix, leaving far behind a miserable year ago in first-year head coach Bryan Shaw's debut.

A debut that really couldn't have gone any better for the former longtime Petoskey freshmen boys' coach.

"It's exciting," said Shaw of taking over the girls' team. "Once you get into it, it's not different than what I've been doing. It was a lot of fun."

The outcome was spot on with what he wanted to see from his team early, as well.

"It's what we talked about, about competing," he said.

"Not hanging their head after a bad play. I thought our girls came out with a lot of good energy."

Like in most games around the state on opening night, shots struggled to fall on both sides early, but a 10-0 run midway through the first gave Petoskey a 12-1 lead.

Northmen junior Jalynn Byers would close out the quarter with six straight points, while Sarah Lewis added a layup and Katrina Daniel sank a shot as the first quarter buzzer rang for a 20-5 end of the first score.

Not the start Charlevoix coach Liz Shaw was looking for, she headed into the night knowing it would be a steep learning curve, with just one varsity returnee playing on the night.

"We're just a young team with limited varsity game experience," Liz Shaw said. "They have great attitudes. It's just a different level and it's going to take a while. Petoskey I thought did an outstanding job. They made it really hard to make our offense start."

Two quick baskets from Byers to begin the second quarter lg-nited a 13-0 run and 17-2 quarter for Petoskey, giving them a more than comfortable 37-7 lead at the close of the first half.

Despite the 30 point lead, the coach in Shaw saw areas that could have been better.

"For the most part I thought they did a real nice job early, but still too many turnovers at halftime," he said.

In the third, Charlevoix came out with the energy Liz Shaw was hoping for in the first half, scoring six in the quarter, picking up a pair of baskets from sophomore Ralga Novotny, as the quarter closed, 47-13.

"They came into the second half and I thought they played solid half-court defense," Liz Shaw said. "We ran our offense more effectively and that just shows the character of the team that we have, not to quit."

Petoskey closed out the game with a 9-7 advantage in the fourth, with all but one player showing up in the scoring book for the night.

For Charlevoix, playing with a freshman and six sophomores, Liz Shaw knows the more her girls play with one another, the better they'll be.

"We'll just keep moving along," she said. "We're young and that's exciting because I feel like with the girls' positive attitude, we can keep moving forward and get better."

Senior Megan Sysko would lead Petoskey with 13 points and add a strong night on the offensive glass, while Byers came in off the bench to deliver a 12 points night in her first career varsity game.

"She gave us a huge spark in the first half," said Bryan Shaw of Byers. "When she goes strong she makes those shots."

For Charlevoix, Hannah Zipp and Novotny each led with six points for the Rayders, who will next welcome Cheboygan on Friday, Dec. 4 for a non-conference matchup.

CHARLEVOIX — With all five starters back from a 15 win team, East Jordan is the heavy favorite to claim the Lake Michigan Conference title in boys basketball.

The Red Devils' biggest challengers, however, might come close to home, as neighboring Charlevoix has a squad that could push East Jordan in both the conference and in the district.

Following a winning campaign last year, the Charlevoix boys basketball team is entering the 2015-16 season with high hopes despite the graduation of seven seniors from last year's roster, including starters Nate Moon and Noah Jeakle.

There's plenty of talent returning for the Rayders despite the losses, starting with senior forward Austin Putman, who averaged nearly 20 points a game last season.

Point guard Walker Drost and wing Kevin Pearl are also returning starters for Charlevoix and provide athleticism to match the Rayders' up-tempo game.

"We're in the third year of this system, and it feels like we're a little bit deeper because of that," Charlevoix coach Bret Erskine said. "Our guys know what to expect, and they're entering the season in a little bit better shape and a little bit ahead of where we were last year at this time."

With the graduation losses, junior varsity call-ups Luke Buday, Collin Turkieson and Cam Clark will see time, as will returners Forrest Nolrot, Phil Chanda and Mason Louiselle.

"We've got good leadership this season from Austin, Walker and Kevin, and we've really put it on the team to be positive this year," Erskine said. "We want them to be helping each other out, and encouraging each other to do the right things in practice."

"So far, it's really worked out well, and I think our team is really motivating each other to play better."

Charlevoix once again will have to reckon with a tough schedule, one that includes non-conference games against Class A foes Petoskey and Gaylord, as well as difficult matchups with Bellaire, St. Ignace and Maple City Glen Lake.

And conference play won't be any easier, with East Jordan looming as the favorite, Boyne City and Elk Rapids also looking to contend for titles, and Kalkaska, TC St. Francis and Harbor Springs all on the rise.

The difficulty of the schedule should help prepare the Rayders for a difficult district tournament that includes the Red Devils, the defending champion Ramblers and two strong programs in Inland Lakes and St. Ignace.

Charlevoix opens the season at home this Tuesday, Dec. 8 against St. Ignace, before hitting the road on Thursday, Dec. 10, against Bellaire.

The Rayders close out the schedule before the Holiday break with a showdown against East Jordan on Dec. 15 and a nonconference game with Glen Lake on Dec. 17, both at home.

CHARLEVOIX — The future of the Charlevoix Rayder girls basketball team is hitting the courts for the start of its season.

The first two weeks of play in the community's youth basketball league, which includes a fifth and sixth grade division and a seventh and eighth grade division, took place the past two Saturdays.

In the opener on Saturday, Nov. 21, eight teams were in action. In the fifth and sixth grade division, Team Lentz defeated Team Trimper behind 10 points from Katherine Wagner. Lauren Jensen and Olivia Vollmer each scored six points to lead Team Trimper.

Also in the fifth and sixth grade division, Team Carson defeated Team Dorst, led by Lizzie Petroskey's 10 points. Lauren Shepard and Kyri Titus were the top players for Team Dorst.

In 7th and 8th grade play, Team Haan got 20 points from Elise Stuck and strong defense from Krista Dorst to top Team Buday. Emma Buday scored 12 points to lead her team and Makayla Cleese also put in a strong effort.

Team Gaffney defeated Team Cunningham in the final game of the night behind Lizzie Petroskey's 12 points and Ella Gaffney's 10. Abby Cunningham led Team Cunningham with 12 points and Krista Wagner, Avery Zipp and Isabel Bartelli all chipped in four points.

In the second weekend of play on Nov. 28, turnout was low because of the holiday weekend, but players still brought their best games for three hotly contested matchups.

In the fifth and sixth grade division, Isabel Kenwabakisie and Mikayla Sharrow led Team Carson past Team Trimper despite strong outings from Lauren Jensen and Olivia Vollmer.

In the second game, Team Dorst topped Team Lentz thanks to leading scorers Lauren Shepard and Emma Phillips. Grace Lentz was the top scorer for Team Lentz in the loss.

In the seventh and eighth grade division, Team Maroon, led by Makayla Clees, Paige Carson and Megan Bush, topped Team White, led by Abby Cunningham, Soohie Haan and Lauren Wilks.

The Charlevoix Youth Basketball League next meets on Saturday Dec. 5th at the RLEC Gym, with games starting at 8:30 a.m. Those interested in joining the K-8 league with over 150 participants can contact Liz Shaw at lshaw@rayder.net for more information.

Kevin Tran	Petoskey	DL	Sr.	5-11	215	Dominant player along the line, finished with 48 tackles, 12 for a loss and three sacks, adding 3 fumble recoveries. Also started at tight end.
Luke Sage	Boyne City	LB	Sr.	6-0	200	The ideal linebacker for the Ramblers, ended his standout career with a 143 tackles, 21 for a loss and 3 sacks this season. Had 6 touchdowns on offense.
Phil Schaub	Petoskey	LB	Sr.	6-0	210	A two-year starter at middle linebacker, ended the season with 71 tackles, 6 for a loss and 2 fumble recoveries. Also started every game at guard.
Justin Wilson	Petoskey	LB	Jr.	5-10	180	Took over the starting linebacker duties four games into the season, finishing with 68 tackles, four for a loss and one sack.
Carter Wilnot	Boyne City	LB	Sr.	5-11	185	Started at linebacker and center for the Ramblers, finishing third on the team with 69 tackles and two interceptions defensively.
Brad Klinger	Charlevoix	DB	Jr.	6-0	165	Led the area with 7 interceptions, while adding 36 tackles defensively for the Raydars, while adding passing, rushing and receiving touchdowns.
Donny Cutler	East Jordan	DB	Sr.	5-8	175	A two-way starter at running back and defensive back, became a big play threat on both sides of the ball for the Red Devils.
Marion Wingster	Petoskey	DB	Sr.	5-10	160	Not afraid to lay a hit, Wingster finished with 50 tackles, 3 for a loss, 2 fumble recoveries, a forced fumble and interception returned for a touchdown.

SPECIAL TEAMS

Mitch Hoffman	Harbor Springs	K	Sr.	5-10	165	Went 32-for-34 on extra points for the season, kicked two field goals, including game-winner against Charlevoix to end postseason drought.
Nathaniel Reed	Petoskey	SP	Sr.	6-1	170	Finished 40-for-46 on extra points and 1-for-1 on field goals, while adding 12 touch-backs on kickoffs. The all-time leader in extra points made (112).
Colton Sieradski	Boyne City	KR	Sr.	5-8	160	Ended the season with 380 total returns yards and one touchdown, with a 22.1 yard average on kickoffs and 17.0 yard average on punts.
Kern Reeves	Harbor Springs	PR	Jr.	5-10	165	Dynamic player with the ball in his hands, finished with 1,184 all-purpose yards for the Rams, adding 12 rushing touchdowns.

Coach of the Year

Rob Walker, Harbor Springs

With the Rams seeking to end a 15 year playoff drought, Walker got more out of his talented squad than ever before. A new emphasis on offseason training limited injuries and made Harbor Springs stronger, and on the field the Rams rushing attack was a well-oiled machine behind a formidable offensive line. Perhaps Walker's deftest move was bringing on assistant coach Dave Iafolla to shore up the defense. Thanks to those factors, Harbor Springs had its best offensive season in nearly 40 years, and finished with a winning record and a playoff berth for the first time since 2000.

NORTHERN PREPS REVIEW

Dream Team

Murray makes most of season to become Player of the Year

Drew Kochanny

(231) 439-9345 - dkochanny@petoskeynews.com

WR: Jacob Freeman

Info: Gaylord, Sr. 5-7, 140

Highlights: Gaylord's most dynamic threat and biggest playmaker, scoring points with receiving, rushing and in the return game. All-Conference Honorable Mention as a wide receiver. Had 321 receiving yards and 286 rushing yards.

RB: Brent Murray

Info: Petoskey, Sr. 5-11, 200

Highlights: The all-time leading rusher for the Northmen, Murray was a physical north-south runner. Set single-game mark with 367 yards against T.C. West and ended the season with 1,490 yards and 21 touchdowns, earning special mention all-state.

RB: Malik Smith

Info: Boyne City, Sr. 5-9, 210

Highlights: A four-year varsity player for the Ramblers, Smith saved his biggest performance for last. The bruising back with speed brought in 1,749 yards and 23 touchdowns on a 7.1 average, setting the single season rushing record.

OL: Jacob Lechner

Info: Harbor Springs, Sr. 6-3, 265

Highlights: A dominant player in the trenches for the Rams, helped pave the way for an offense that finished with nearly 3,200 yards rushing and scored the most points offensively since 1976. Will play in college.

OL: Kyle Augustine

Info: Gaylord, Sr. 6-3, 300

Highlights: Anchored Gaylord's offensive line at left tackle, finishing AP All-State Special Mention and First Team All-Conference. Currently deciding which college football team he'll play for at the Division I or II level.

OL/DL: Forest Madagame

Info: Gaylord, Sr. 5-10, 225

Highlights: Reversed pass rusher who finished First-Team All-Conference, playing through pain and injuries in several games. An all-area selection a year ago, the senior proved once again to be a force along both lines for the Blue Devils.

OL/LB: Skip Schorffhaar

Info: Harbor Springs, Jr. 6-1, 215

Highlights: A two-year starter along the offensive line and at line-backer, led the team in tackles for a second straight season, finishing with 92 stops, with a sack, forced fumble and fumble recovery. Plays with a physical mean streak.

TE: Austin Putman

Info: Charlevoix, Sr. 6-3, 200

Highlights: A lethal receiving threat for the Rayders over his career, finished his senior season with 426 receiving yards and three touchdowns on 21 catches, fighting through injuries throughout the year.

QB/LB: Brandon Huff

Info: JoBurg, Sr. 6-2, 195

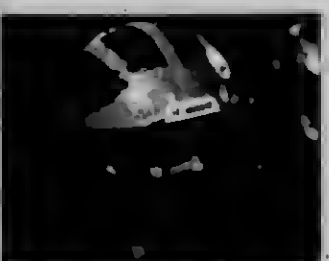

Highlights: Named co-Herald Times Player of the Year for rushing for 600 yards and 18 touchdowns as well as throwing for 520 yards. First Team All-Conference, leading the Cardinals to a district championship appearance against St. Ignace.

DB/RB: Garret Lundteigen

Info: Petoskey, Sr. 5-9, 170

Highlights: Hard to find better rounded player in the area. Was a three-year varsity player, finishing the year with 759 yards rushing and 10 scores, 317 receiving yards and six scores and team high 86 tackles and four interceptions. Six of 11 catches went for scores on a 28 yard average.

LB: Joseph Miller

Info: Gaylord, Sr. 5-10, 215

Highlights: The heart and soul of Gaylord as a team captain and middle linebacker. Led the team on to the field as well as its defense. Finishing First Team All-Conference. Division I and II college football teams are recruiting him. Had six interceptions for 57 yards and one TD.

LB: Phil Schaub

Info: Petoskey, Sr. 6-0, 210

Highlights: A silent leader for the Northmen, started at middle linebacker for two years, then every game at guard as a senior. Ended his season with 71 tackles, 6 for a loss and 2 fumble recoveries.

A focus and determined running style led Petoskey running back to the all-time rushing record as a Northmen and Player of the Year honor.

hard in the offseason," said VanOrman. "I don't think people realize how much weight he lifted. He was strong. He was the strongest kid in the squats, hang cleans and power cleans. Everything that translates to power. He really worked hard."

Looking back on his short two-year run to the top, it's still hard to believe how quickly it all came.

Outside of the fact that Murray received just six combined carries through the first three games of his varsity career, and that he had five or fewer rushes in the second half of five games this season and still got the record, is the fact that it all almost never happened for another reason.

Murray's start to the game of football might be considered late in many, beginning past the Pop Warner stages in seventh grade with worries from his mother about getting injured, like most moms of course.

"She didn't want me to get hurt," Murray said laughing. "But now she's all on board. She was very loud at the games and it all worked out."

VanOrman is certainly one coach that's glad he ended up loving the sport, as well.

"I'm glad she let him play," said VanOrman. "He definitely is a football player. He's what every coach wants."

Not big on watching games on TV or following specific players before his varsity days, Murray more so looked up to the players that had come before him at Curtis Field, the ones he would one day pass in the record books.

"I watched it sometimes, but I more looked up to the area guys around me," he said. "Just going to the varsity games while I was playing in 10th grade. Before that I never really had football around."

Never focused from the start on breaking the records or believe that he would possibly go down as one of the best to carry the ball for Petoskey. Murray more so wanted to outwork everyone and make his family proud.

"I just knew I would try my hardest and do my best to make my family proud," he said. "That was my biggest goal."

More than capable of continuing his football career at the next level, Murray has another plan set for a future in mechanical engineering.

"I'll be going to Wayne State no matter what," he said. "That's a school that I really like. There might be a chance for football, I guess we'll see. If it works it works, but I'm not going to force it. Mechanical engineering is going to be a bit of a challenge itself."

While he would take a chance on the Warriors football team if it came — and most likely succeed — he'll wait it out for now.

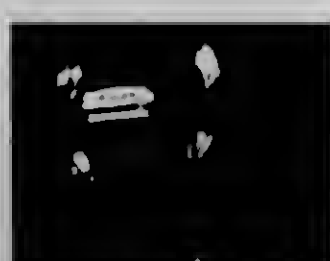

Nothing he hasn't already done before.

DL: Julius Mitchell

Info: Petoskey, Sr. 5-10, 195

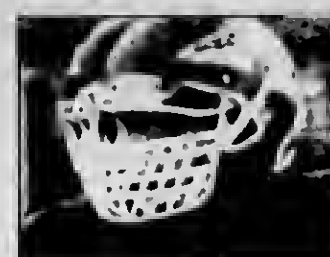

Highlights: Caught much bigger linemen off guard with his speed. Mitchell came up with a number of key plays, including a fourth and one tackle for loss against Gaylord and punt block for a score against Cheboygan. Had 55 tackles, 13 for a loss.

DL: Tanner Kruzel

Info: Boyne City, Sr. 6-2, 205

Highlights: Carried on the Kruzel name on the gridiron, becoming an all-around player this season with 91 tackles and five sacks defensively, to go along with 628 yards rushing and six scores and 228 receiving yards and four touchdowns.

DL/FB: Drew Wilson

Info: Petoskey, Sr. 5-10, 200

Highlights: Brought an energy to the field for the Northmen that forced opposing offenses to scheme against. Physical at the point of attack, Wilson ended the season with 60 tackles, 13 for a loss, while playing nearly every snap at fullback.

DL: Nathan Rasmussen

Info: JoBurg, Sr. 6-3, 205

Highlights: First Team All-Conference at four positions: offensive line, defensive line, punter and kick. AP All-State Special Mention as a kicker, setting several kicking records at J-L. Arguably J-L's hardest hitter and best blocker.

LB: Luke Sage

Info: Boyne City, Sr. 6-1, 200

Highlights: The leader of the Boyne City defense and 2014 area Player of the Year, Sage brought a physicality to the game not often seen at the high school level. A two-time all-state player, finished with 143 tackles, 21 for a loss and 3 sacks. Added five receiving touchdowns.

LB/RB: Logan Huff

Info: JoBurg, Sr. 5-11, 190

Highlights: Named the Ski Valley's Defensive MVP for the second consecutive season, earned co-Herald Times Player of the Year honors and finished with 1,128 yards and 19 TDs rushing.

NOTICE OF

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale
THIS FIRM IS A DEBT COLLECTOR ATTEMPTING TO COLLECT A DEBT. ANY INFORMATION WE OBTAIN WILL BE USED FOR THAT PURPOSE. PLEASE CONTACT OUR OFFICE AT THE NUMBER BELOW IF YOU ARE IN ACTIVE MILITARY DUTY. ATTN PURCHASERS: This sale may be rescinded by the foreclosing mortgagee. In that event, your damages, if any, shall be limited solely to the return of the bid amount tendered at sale, plus interest.

MORTGAGE SALE - Default has been made in the conditions of a mortgage made by George M. Sudgen, an unmarried man, original mortgagor(s), to JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., Mortgagee, dated February 15, 2012, and recorded on March 20, 2012 in Liber 986 on Page 004, and assigned by said Mortgagee to Federal National Mortgage Association ("Fannie Mae"), a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the United States of America as assignee as documented by an assignment, in Charlevoix county records, Michigan, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date hereof the sum of One Hundred Forty-One Thousand Four Hundred Eight and 68/100 Dollars ($141,408.68).

Under the power of sale contained in said mortgage and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises, or some part of them, at public venue, at the place of holding the circuit court within Charlevoix County, Michigan, and are described as: The North 1/2 of the South 1/2 of the Southeast 1/4 of the Northwest 1/4 of Section 10, Town 38 North, Range 10 West, Township of Peaine, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan and described as: Parcel 2 and described as commencing at a 1/2 inch re-rod at the North 1/4 corner of Section 10, township 38 North, Range 10 West; thence along the North and South 1/4 line of said Section, South 00 degrees 48 minutes 54 seconds West 1983.11 feet; being the point of beginning of this description; thence continuing along the last described course South 00 degrees 48 minutes 54 seconds West 33.52 feet; thence North 89 degrees 32 minutes 12 seconds West 33.00 feet to a 1/2 inch re-rod on the West line of Kings Highway; thence continuing North 89 degrees 32 minutes 12 seconds West 1279.37 feet to the West 1/8 line of said Section; thence along said 1/8 line North 00 degrees 43 minutes 06 seconds East 332/35 feet; thence South 89 degrees 27 minutes 23 seconds East 1279.92 feet to a 1/2 inch re-rod on said road line; thence continuing South 89 degrees 27 minutes 23 seconds East 33.00 feet to the point of beginning, being the North 1/2 of the South 1/2 of the Southeast 1/4 of the Northwest 1/4 of Section 10, Township 38 North, Range 10 West.

The redemption period shall be 6 months from the date of such sale, unless determined abandoned in accordance with MCL 600.3241a, in which case the redemption period shall be 30 days from the date of such sale.

If the property is sold at foreclosure sale under Chapter 32 of the Revised Judicature Act of 1961, pursuant to MCL 600.3278 the borrower will be held responsible to the person who buys the property at the mortgage foreclosure sale or to the mortgage holder for damaging the property during the redemption period.

Food FOCUS

That French Place owner Brian Freund prepares the flat crêpe griddle to prepare one of the establishments savory crêpes.

A ladle of traditional buckwheat batter is placed on the hot griddle to prepare the most popular spinach and mushroom crêpe with feta cheese.

As the crêpe batter begins to cook, Freund uses a special wooden trowel to spread the batter out around the griddle.

The crêpe is flipped over to cook the other side quickly before adding the other ingredients.

Freund now adds the savory, sautéed mushrooms and spinach on top of the young goat milk feta cheese.

The crêpe is folded as the cheese, mushrooms, and spinach finish cooking inside.

The crêpe continues to be folded in the traditional triangle shape to be served to waiting customers.

Authentic delicious sweet or savory French crêpes

This week's Food Focus turns its lens to That French Place, located at 212 Bridge St., in Charlevoix, where owner Brian Freund is creating French delicacies, including quiche, tarts, croissants and of course the business' most popular item — crêpes. That French Place is considered to be food heaven by many. The carry-out creperie and ice cream shop makes everything from scratch using local, organic ingredients whenever possible and boasts to have the best coffee in town. The spinach mushroom crêpe with either feta or Swiss cheese, is the most popular on the menu. It's made from a traditional buckwheat batter — buckwheat flour, salt and water. They also offer sweet crêpes made with wheat flour, eggs, sugar and milk. New this holiday season That French Place will feature dinners to-go. To order simply check its Facebook page, Instagram or call the store for the week's menu. Customers then can call orders by 2 p.m. or earlier for that night's meal, then pick-up their meal by 7 p.m. that evening. That French Place is open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sunday. Freund is rallying his customers to raise money for those affected in the Paris attacks by asking customers to bring in personal photos of the Eiffel Tower and pin them in the store to show support for Paris. For each photo brought in, That French Place will donate one dollar to the French Red Cross. The donations will run through the end of December.

Photos by Lonnie Allen/Charlevoix Courier

Once the crêpe's edges begin to curl Freund uses a metal spatula to loosen the cooked batter.

Freund takes a stick of butter then lightly spreads it over the entire crêpe. Once the crêpe has some butter melted on it the extra butter is removed.

A perfectly folded savory crêpe ready to serve. The layers inside of the crêpe blend well with the delicious mushrooms, spinach and feta. Each fold matches the texture making it crisp and flavorful.

City Council divided on protection Lake Michigan, Mount Micsauba beach area

LONNIE ALLEN

(231) 547-6558 • lallen@charlevoixcourier.com

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix City Council remains divided on the direction to take to protect Lake Michigan Beach and a portion of the Mount Micsauba recreation area — that protection does not include the ski hill.

Councilmember Luther Kurtz made a request to have the city attorney look at a charter amendment to protect the two parks instead of allowing the people to vote on a looking at a conservation easement. The request is based on councilmember Aaron Hagen's suggestion to look at another way to protect the parks because he would like to know what the all the protection possibilities are for the property along Lake Michigan.

"That property means the world to me and I wonder if we can protect in different ways," Hagen said. "I am not against a conservancy. I just want to know more about every possibility to protect the land."

Kurtz said he does not think a conservation easement is in the best interest of the city.

"Citizens expressed concerns about the conservation easement at the (last) public hearing," Kurtz said. "We are looking at something else that has the ability to protect the land and alleviate some of the concerns that the citizens had. Conserving the parkland is important and we want to explore all options before sending a proposal to the voters without reaching out from the grave and controlling what people do a 100 years from now."

Hagen said during the council meeting Kurtz and himself had discussed the idea of a charter amendment with City Manager Mark Heydlauff. But Heydlauff stated he was only fielding questions raised by Hagen and Kurtz.

"The city does not have an opinion either way for a charter amendment or a conservation easement," Heydlauff said. "The last direction the city received from council was to set a public hearing in February on a conservation easement for that area."

Conservation easements are voluntary, binding agreements that place permanent restrictions on how a property can be used to protect natural resources and open space. The city does not regulate conservation easements and the agreements usually are entered into with a third party, typically a public agency such as

People enjoy merchant offerings at annual open house

CHARLEVOIX — On the heels of Small Business Saturday merchants again greeted consumers as they visited downtown Charlevoix for their holiday needs.

Downtown Charlevoix's Merchant Open House had the shoppers finding bargains at participating stores that offered holiday merchandise and gifts, as well as treats for consumers throughout the weekend.

Marvin and Shanna Burns, of Saginaw, was in downtown after spending the morning at Castle Farms seeing Santa Claus with their two young children, Sophia and MJ. The family was traveling through Northern Michigan on vacation. The family visited Petoskey's downtown open house on Friday before spending Saturday in Charlevoix.

"Just a little family vacation," Marvin said. "We saw the tree lighting last night in Petoskey." The Burns' were also enjoying the downtown by visiting each business that played host to the hot chocolate trail.

"So far our favorite hot choco-

CHARLEVOIX — First-grade teachers Theresa Vondra and Stephanie Carey, of Charlevoix Elementary School, saw a need and are working to fill it. A little room just off the copy area at the elementary school has been turned into a big blessing.

"We are calling it 'Kid's Closet,'" Vondra said. "With the generosity of teachers and other donors, we have gathered together an array of children's clothing as well as shoes and boots and have organized them according to size."

The idea was born at a teacher conference sponsored by the Charlevoix-Emmet School District in which Vondra learned that the top 10 schools in Michigan shared a common mission: that of making sure that the basic needs of all students were met.

"That fact brought to light the reality that a lot more goes into education than grades... food, rest and clothing are basic needs that have to be met before learning takes place," Carey said.

According to Carey and Vondra, there have always been children who for one reason or another could use a shirt, pants or perhaps socks during the course of a day. Maybe they have had an "accident" or gotten wet out on the playground.

"Some children arrive at school unprepared for the weather. Some are just plain needy," Carey said.

The closet is a quick fix for teachers to accommodate the need as it arises without calling attention to the problem or disturbing the parents who may be unable to bring a change of clothing over to school on the spur of the moment. Teachers throughout the grades have been using the closet on a regular basis. Currently, there is a need for gently used clothing in sizes 3-8.

For most Americans, December is primarily associated with the holiday season and the passing of another year. But 74 years ago on Dec. 7, 1941, the holidays were far from the minds of most Americans. What was a seemingly peaceful Sunday morning on Oahu all changed as Japanese bombers poured death-dealing bombs on U.S. armed forces stationed in Pearl Harbor.

A total of 2,403 Americans died, the most on American soil until 2,977 people died on Sept. 11, 2001.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt delivered the famous description of the Pearl Harbor attack as a "date, which will live in infamy" to a joint session of Congress on Dec. 8, 1941, one day after the tragedy. Within an hour of the speech Congress passed a formal declaration of war against Japan.

After the bombs fell — hurtling the U.S. into a war the country wanted desperately to avoid — newspapers across the country on America's entry into World War II.

The Dec. 10, 1941, issue of the Charlevoix Courier was no exception. One article stated, the attack that happened so far from Northern Michigan was brought "close to many homes in the Charlevoix area. There were at least seven local young men from whom no word was yet been received by anxious parents."

The article went on to report those young men who have not been heard from; "William G. Eccleston, son of Guy Eccleston, and Robert A. Bolhuis, son of Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Bolhuis, of Marlon Township, are stationed with the Army Air Corps at Hickman Field on the Island of Oahu. Robert Pearl, son Mr. and Mrs. H.C. Pearl is on the Battleship USS Argonne in Pearl Harbor.

City OKs recreation fee rate for township

Public hearing set to abandon portion of Division Street

LONNIE ALLEN
(231) 547-4558 - lallen@charlevoixcourier.com

CHARLEVOIX — Once the ice is formed and the snow flies Charlevoix Township residents can enjoy Mount McSaubia amenities at the same rates Charlevoix City residents.

The Charlevoix City Council approved a resolution amending the 2015/2016 Fiscal Year Fee Schedule for Mount McSaubia by removing the term "City Residents" and replacing it with the term "City and Charlevoix Township Residents."

Charlevoix Township resident John Haggard questioned the wording of the resolution. Haggard was concerned that the wording may exclude some people in the township.

"It should be the same fee rate for residents and property owners as it is with the city," Haggard said.

City manager Mark Heydlauff said staff would look to make sure the fee rate reflects residency for the purposes Haggard described.

"However we define the rates in the city would be how we carry that over for Charlevoix Township residents," Heydlauff said.

He was unsure exactly how the city defines its residency fee rate, but

LONNIE ALLEN/CHARLEVOIX COURIER

Charlevoix Township resident John Haggard asks Charlevoix City Council members, on Dec. 7, to make sure the fee amendment reflects the same use city residents get at Mount McSaubia. Earlier this year Charlevoix Township agreed to provide water to Mount McSaubia in exchange for residents to use the facility at the same rates city residents pay.

expects that the amendment will not limit township residents to use the area for the categories of day camp, Northern Kids Club, Mount McSaubia ski hill, equipment, rental, lessons and skating rink.

"The spirit is however we do it in the city is how we will apply it in the township," Heydlauff said.

Mayor Gabe Campbell was pleased the city moved forward with this before the water transfer was complete.

"This is only going to improve our collaborative relationship with the township with the hopes to work more together in future," Campbell said.

Council members also approved a resolution of intent to set a public hearing to abandon a portion of Division Street.

This was just a formality since council approved to set the public hearing during its joint meeting with the Main Street/Downtown Development Authority meeting on Nov. 23, Heydlauff said.

"In preparing for this, we realized it is necessary for council to formally pass a resolution of intent ahead of the hearing," Heydlauff said.

The public hearing is set for 7 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 21 at city hall. The portion of Division Street the city plans to abandon is between Mercer Boulevard and U.S. 31. The request for abandonment came from the Krist Oil Company, which is building a new gas station and foodmart in Charlevoix Township by Uhrick's Lincoln Log Motel.

"It is my understanding that this will make the intersection safer," Heydlauff said.

Jury convicts East Jordan man of child sex abuse

LONNIE ALLEN
(231) 547-4558 - lallen@charlevoixcourier.com

CHARLEVOIX — After a day and a half of trial, a Charlevoix County Circuit Court jury today, Tuesday, convicted Shawn Christopher Kreager, 41, of East Jordan on three counts of criminal sexual conduct in the second degree.

The charge involves sexual touching and is punishable by up to 15 years in prison.

Charlevoix County Prosecuting Attorney Allen Telgenhof, who issued a news release about the verdict, tried the case for the State of Michigan.

According to Telgenhof, a nine-year-old child testified that Kreager engaged in three instances of sexual contact with her in the summer of 2015. The case was investigated by the East Jordan Police Department with the assistance of the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department.

ment.

"I want to thank the jury for their time and their consideration," Telgenhof said. "It was not an easy case to listen to, it's difficult to understand why someone would do something like this to a child. The victim was so brave to testify against the defendant and did the right thing in telling people what had happened to her."

Kreager will be sentenced on Jan. 22 by 33rd Circuit Judge Roy C. Hayes III. Kreager's bond was revoked immediately after the verdict and he will be incarcerated pending sentencing.

ing sentencing.

Kreager will be placed on the Michigan Sex Offender Registry for his lifetime and will have lifetime electronic monitoring as a result of the conviction after he is released from prison, Telgenhof said.

Gifts with a purpose

Gift giving has long been a favorite subject for studies on human behavior, with psychologists, anthropologists, economists and marketers all weighing in. They have found that giving gifts is a surprisingly complex and important part of human interaction,

Amy Wieland
Hospice of Northwest Michigan
executive director

helping to define relationships and strengthen bonds with family and friends. Indeed, psychologists say it is often the giver, rather than the recipient, who reaps the biggest psychological gains from a gift.

People who refuse to accept or exchange gifts during the holidays, these experts say, may be missing out on an important connection with family and friends.

But the biggest effect of gift giving may be on ourselves. Giving to others reinforces our feelings for them and makes us feel effective and caring.

We all can probably agree that we can be frustrated by crowds, traffic and commercialism, people can be tempted at this time of year to opt out of gift giving altogether. A 2005 survey showed that four out of five Americans think the holidays are too materialistic. But while it's reasonable to cut back on spending during the holidays, psychologists say that banning the gift exchange with loved ones is not the best solution.

There is a building global movement to increase exposure and to build support for nonprofit organization's philanthropic activities, especially during the holiday giving season. Just as the retail world had benefited from coordinating national shopping days across many brands and platforms #GivingTuesday is doing the same for giving. #GivingTuesday as an event to be observed on the First Tuesday after Thanksgiving. On Black Friday and Cyber Monday, we shop for gifts to give to people we care about. #GivingTuesday inspires us to give to causes that we care about. But, #GivingTuesday is not the only time or way to give gifts with a purpose.

Local community partnerships and collaborations are also looking to help raise awareness of community needs and provide financial support to address those needs. Have you considered looking for a meaningful option to your gift giving habits? Are you looking for a unique gift that can make a lasting difference? Many nonprofit organizations have designed the perfect way to buy meaningful gifts for loved ones and can be accessed through their websites. Locally, some Charlevoix and Emmet county organizations are participating in the Char-Em Alternative Gifts event. You can choose to give to any of these organizations as an alternative to your typical holiday gifts by visiting charemalternativegifts.org right up until Dec. 31, 2015, and the honoree of your gift will receive a greeting card letting them know of your donation.

We have a choice in everything we do. Why not choose to enhance the holiday giving experience with a new philanthropic perspective that keeps on giving right here in our own community. Choose to support these causes that support you when you need them, and ensure that they are still around when you do.

Christmas Tree, Oh Christmas Tree

Charlevoix has enjoyed a community Christmas tree for decades, but did you know that up through mid 20th century it was placed smack dab in the center of the intersection of Bridge and Clinton streets. There were so few cars in town at that time of year that everyone just drove around it. The old Central Drug Store building appears in the background.

This column comes from the don't-make-the-same-mistake-I-made file to readers who may be brimming over with gift-giving anticipation as they think about all of the stuff they want to get for their own young ones this Christmas. To those I would like to paint a picture of the Tanner Christmas, 1998: It was a good year. The toys I hoped would thrill my three children were all attractively priced — most under $30. So it was easy and fun to fulfill all of their wishes. Even the ones they didn't know they had.

BECAUSE I SAID SO

Under the tree that morning: A stuffed Winnie the Pooh, Teletubby dolls, a firetruck. A toy Dirt Devil, a rocking horse, a rescue heroes playset. A light-up turtle, a science kit. Games. Movies. A new winter coat, an electric piano. Three colorful sleeping bags. Soft, warm furry fleeces. Books. Chocolate alligators and other various pieces of candy. And the most exciting: a Furby for all.

It wasn't until later, on the home video of this particular Christmas morning, I noticed a distinctive look of annoyance (and maybe even a little bit of a sigh?) on my young daughter's face when I urged her to "open another one!" just as she had begun to play with one she had just unwrapped.

The girl had had enough. My own excitement drove the onslaught of gift-giving that propelled the morning. I wanted to see that look. I had to see it. Not the annoyed one. The one of pure delight. And like a junkie, I wanted to see it over and over and over again.

How selfish of me. Fast forward to a portrait of another Christmas, two years later. We had just purchased our first home and were still adjusting to the mortgage payment. My children knew how much we had saved and how hard we had worked to make the new home a reality and so, they were perfectly OK when I announced Christmas would be smaller that year. They were to get just three presents each.

A toy, a game and pajamas.

That Christmas, we had plenty of time to enjoy, not only the gifts, but each other. Instead of spending the morning passing, opening and assembling toys, we had a few hours to play our new game before it was time to head to Grandma's. And an unexpected blessing: Supplementing the presents from Santa and the parents, were the two older children, who had purchased gifts for each other with their own birthday money. My heart swelled as I witnessed the exchange, enjoying a new face I didn't expect: One of satisfaction on my 7-year-old son as he saw his little sister open her present from him. (A Scooby Doo Barbie). She gasped, disbelieving her brother could know her so well, gave a cry of thanks, and embraced him by the twinkling tree, love beaming from them both. To top it off: My son burst out with an emotional and heartfelt "Merry Christmas, Olivia!" it couldn't have been more perfect.

I never forgot the lesson I learned that Christmas and the contrast between these two Dec. 25 mornings. And so I urge new parents and grandparents to temper their excitement and keep it simple this year. If you can't help yourself from buying more than three or four presents, may I suggest setting some aside for a birthday or even to pull out on Christmas Eve or later Christmas night, as the child goes to bed, sad that the day is over. Better yet, remember the less fortunate and include your children in the giving process. Too many gifts are overwhelming, excessive, and really, not the point.

Renee Tanner is a News-Review page designer and columnist who is buying her children each no more than four presents this year, and is looking forward to watching all of the faces she loves this Christmas. Reach her at rtanner@petoskeynews.com. Follow @ReneeTanner_pnr on Twitter.

East Jordan has a new Juggling Club

EAST JORDAN — The East Jordan Juggling Club met for the first time on Tues. Nov. 24, at the East Jordan High School. The club, which officially has 17 members, was co-founded by Emanuele Carella and Tommy Tropic.

Seventeen-year-old Emanuele Carella is a foreign exchange student from Torino, Italy, and a senior at East Jordan this year. Carella has attended a summer circus camp in Italy each year since the age of eight. He can juggle five balls, does acrobatics and rides unicycles. Carella, who also participated in cross-country this year, is a track athlete and the number 12 javelin thrower in Italy at a high school level.

Tommy Tropic, or Tom Petrie as he is known in his home town of East Jordan, has performed his juggling act all over the U.S. and the Caribbean. Tropic is the producer of "Buskermania!" which is a regular feature in downtown Traverse City, the Blissfest, and Saturday Night Live in St. Ignace each summer ahead of their weekly fireworks display. Tropic and his wife Lisa are Emanuele's host parents here in America.

The juggling club meets at 3 p.m. each Tuesday and Thursday in the East Jordan High School cafeteria. They also offer free juggling lessons to anyone. Learning to juggle can increase eye hand coordination, nimbleness and self-esteem.

Michigan's water strategy: A 30-year plan to manage Michigan's waters

TERRY GORE
Michigan State University Extension

In his 2012 energy and the environment message, Governor Rick Snyder called for the development of a comprehensive water strategy. Led by the Office of the Great Lakes (OGL), they were charged with developing a 30-year vision that adopts an ecosystem approach, enhances economic opportunities regarding water and strengthens connections to place.

The draft strategy, Sustaining Michigan Water Heritage, A Strategy for the Next Generation, was released for public comment from June through August. This 160-page report outlines goals and outcomes based on 62 recommendations. These recommendations include a wide range of actions to improve and protect Michigan water health and quality. There are nine major goals with 22 of the most critical priority recommendations outlined with performance measures of success for each one.

Goal one: Michigan's aquatic ecosystems are healthy and functional

Key recommendations: Prevent the introduction of new aquatic invasive species (AIS) and control established populations; develop a strategy to prevent nuisance and harmful algal blooms; reduce phosphorus in western Lake Erie by 40 percent; promote green infrastructure, low impact development and green spaces

Goal two: Michigan's water resources are clean and safe

Key recommendations: Protect drinking water from contamination and spills; pass a statewide sanitary code and inspection requirements; secure funding for contaminated site cleanup; establish priorities for addressing emerging pollutants.

Goal three: Michigan communities use water as a strategy asset for community and economic development

Key recommendations: Leverage water assets at all levels to create sustainable economic opportunities; support investments in commercial harbors and ports and addressing infrastructure needs.

Goal four: Michigan's water resources support quality natural resources, recreation and cultural opportunities

Key recommendations: Expand real-time beach monitoring; prioritize investments in recreational harbors to address infrastructure needs; develop a water trails system.

Goal five: Michigan has a strategic focus on water technology and innovation to grow sustainable water based economies

Key recommendations: Accelerate technologies to solve water problems using entrepreneurial business-led initiative; establish voluntary water efficiency targets for major water dependent sectors

Goal six: Michigan invests in infrastructure and supports funding to maintain clean water and healthy aquatic ecosystems

Key recommendations: Establish a long term water fund to achieve water strategy goals

Goal seven: Michigan has integrated outcome-based monitoring systems that support critical water-based decisions

Key recommendations: implement a pilot water resource decision framework; support ground- and surface water monitoring

Goal eight: Michigan has the governance tools to address water challenges and provide clean water and healthy aquatic ecosystems

Key recommendations: Create an integrated system to manage and achieve water quality and quantity at the local level; retain full authority to manage Michigan's water resources

Goal nine: Michigan citizens are stewards of clean water and healthy aquatic ecosystems

Key recommendation: Integrate water literacy into Michigan school curriculum standards.

Currently, the OGL is reviewing the more than 750 comments on the strategy they received. They are updating the draft strategy and developing an Executive Summary. The final document should be released by late winter.

Charlevoix Area Wind Ensemble to perform Christmas concert

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix Area Wind Ensemble directed by Dr. Timothy Topolewski, will present the Second Annual Christmas concert at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 16, at the First Congregational Church, 101 State St., Charlevoix.

The Wind Ensemble group offers members collegiate level music and an opportunity to approach performances with the focus on nuances that signify a select group. These entertainers are in the range of between 28 and 32 players.

Topolewski is a professor emeritus from the Crane School of Music in Potsdam, New York. The recipient of many state and national awards, he is a published author, arranger and lecturer who has performed throughout the U.S., Canada, Australia, Mexico and major cities of Germany including Berlin, Dresden, Potsdam and Leipzig. He is a native of Michigan, retired in 2007, and resides in Belaire. Topolewski brings to the podium a wide experience as soloist and conductor of both wind ensembles and orchestras.

The concert will feature Dr. Ed Bahr playing a baritone solo. Bahr is professor emeritus of low brass at Delta State University in Cleveland, Miss. He is presently first trombone in the Great Lakes Chamber Orchestra and plays euphonium in the Northern Michigan Brass Band and Charlevoix City Band. Bahr has been assistant conductor and first trombone in the Erie Philharmonic, played euphonium in the Eastman Wind Ensemble, and has been soloist on trombone and euphonium, lecturer, and conductor of ensemble performances at international Trombone Association Festivals in Nashville, Las Vegas and Rochester, New York.

The orchestra currently has openings for french horns and the bassoon section. For more information about the concert or to inquire about position in the orchestra, email Gary Stutzman at gstut46@gmail.com.

Santa to visit children at Charlevoix fire hall

Santa Claus is taking time away from sleigh-packing to meet with area children on Saturday.

From 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Dec. 12, parents, grandparents and their children can enjoy some hot dogs and chips along with a holiday movie at the Charlevoix Fire Department, located at 210 State St., in Charlevoix.

During that time children will have the chance to sit with Santa in his sleigh and have a photo taken with the jolly elf.

For more information, call (231) 547-3266

Celebrate the New Year at the Charlevoix Area Community Pool

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix Area Pool is celebrating the end of December and the coming of a new year with an indoor beach bash from 6-8 p.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 30.

Celebrate with family and friends. It's cold outside, but not on the pool deck. Participants can lounge in swimsuits at the pool, toss around some beach balls and soak in the hot tub and forget about frosty windows and cold temperatures.

Guests pay $5 in advance or $6 at the door. The price includes swimming, pizza, refreshments and goody bags. Children 5 years and younger are free. Reservations are recommended as there is limited to a maximum occupancy. For reservations, call (231) 547-0982 or email info@charlevoixpool.org.

Great Lakes Chamber Orchestra receives grant

PETOSKEY — The Great Lakes Chamber Orchestra received a $4,000 grant from the Charlevoix County Community Foundation.

The grant will fund a project that is a long-term approach to building the organizational capacity of the organization. The Great Lakes Chamber Organization is the only organization providing orchestral music in the northern Michigan region. Both musicians and audience members come from a large area that encompasses the Straits of Mackinac south to the 45th parallel.

The Mission of the Great Lakes Chamber

Orchestra is to produce live orchestral performances providing entertainment, education and inspiration for our northern Michigan community.

Great Lakes Chamber Orchestra has partnered with many community organizations including Crooked Tree Arts Center, the Crooked Tree Youth Orchestra, VSA arts of Michigan, the Little Traverse Choral Society, the Northern Michigan Choral, the C. S. Lewis Festival, the Presque Isle District Library, the Cheboygan Opera House, and the Little Traverse Bay Bands of Odawa Indians.

BookTalkers announces winter schedule of reading

CHARLEVOIX — BookTalkers, the Charlevoix Public Library's book discussion group, is reading "The Thirteenth Tale," and will host a discussion at 6 p.m., on Monday, Dec. 21, in the Armstrong Conference Room. In the book, Margaret Lea, who works in her father's bookshop, has a fascination for the biographies of the long-dead. When she gets a letter from the famous and reclusive author Vida Winter asking Margaret to write about her extraordinary life, Margaret is thrilled. Margaret travels to Yorkshire to meet Vida, where she hears a story no one else knows: who Vida Winter really is. But is it really the truth? This modern gothic novel by Diane Setterfield has twists and turns and an atmosphere suited to a warm fireplace on a stormy day.

"Circling the Sun" by Paula McLain will be the topic of the book discussion at 6 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 18. An author and a safari hunter give a lost woman wings as aviator Beryl Markham finds her true calling after an unusual upbringing. Abandoned by her mother and raised by both her father and the Kipsigis tribe that occupy her father's land, Beryl succumbs to a love triangle involving Karen Blixen, the author of "Out of Africa," and safari hunter Denys Finch Hatton as she finally realizes her fate: she was born to fly. Readers of this fictional biography by Paula McLain are encouraged to also take a look at Markham's autobiography "West with the Night."

The winter BookTalkers schedule ends with the Michigan Humanities Council selection this year for the Great Michigan Read: "Station Eleven" by Emily St. John. The discussion will take place at 6 p.m. on Feb. 15, in the Community Room. Onstage at a Toronto theater, an aging movie star drops dead while performing the title role in King Lear. Hours later, the world as we know it begins to dissolve as a pandemic sweeps the globe. Moving back and forth in time from the actor's early days as a film star to 15 years in the future when a theater troupe known as the Traveling Symphony roams what is now the wasteland of Northern Michigan, this novel by Emily St. John Mandel charts the fates of people connected to the actor, including a dangerous self-proclaimed prophet. As part of The Great Michigan Read 2015-2016, the first 30 people to register for this book discussion will receive a free copy of the book.

BookTalkers is a group of readers who love to read different books that may challenge or delight. They gather monthly for lively discussions. The BookTalkers meet at 6 p.m. on the third Monday of each month. New members are always welcome. For discussion questions, visit the book discussion page on the library's website at charlevoixlibrary.org/books-movies-music/book-discussions. For more information about the discussions, call (231) 237-7340.

Page Turners: Not Your Average Book Club is a book discussion group for students in grades 3-6 who love to read. This winter they will be reading "Patriot Evers" by Michigan author Ellen Airgood from 3:45-4:30 p.m. on Wednesdays, Jan. 13 - Feb. 3, in the youth activity center. Plan to read a couple chapters at home, then chat and read at the library while munching on a snack with the youth staff. Finish one book in a month. Please register for the group by calling the youth department at (231) 237-7350.

BUSINESS

Personal service helps local book store thrive in Internet era

ANNE KELLY
Special to Courier

CHARLEVOIX — You can, of course, order books on Amazon or patronize a big chain bookstore in the nearest mall, but there's nothing like getting that personal touch that a small town bookstore can offer. Diane DuPont, owner of Round Lake Bookstore in downtown Charlevoix, would put it this way, "Once someone has been here, they come back. They are drawn to the cozy atmosphere and the wonderful collection of books ranging from best-selling fiction to popular non-fiction."

Small independent book sellers like DuPont are passionate about what they do, and their zeal is contagious. They are readers themselves and are knowledgeable about the books they sell. As the world gets more and more technological and impersonal,

It is refreshing to be able to open a door of a book shop, to walk in and be greeted by a pleasant and able staff who knows their business, and walk out completely satisfied with the experience.

"Our mantra has always been customer service the best we can give," DuPont said.

It's a variation of the Golden Rule: to treat people how you would like to be treated ... beyond their expectations, according to DuPont. She and her employees take pride in the business.

"We are curious curators of the written word," she said. "All of us working here are avid readers. Talking to people all day about books we love is what we are all about."

DuPont became hooked on reading with Nancy Drew in the fourth grade and has never looked back. She reads avidly, at least 100 pages

Diane DuPont, owner of Round Lake Bookstore in downtown Charlevoix is pictured with bookstore pooch, Cozy (Cazette), who greets and entertains the clientele. Round Lake Books opened in May of 2008 and moved to its current location 216 Bridge St. in 2010. Personal service and caring staff keep customers coming back, Dupont said.

a day to keep abreast of her inventory. Although her career led her down a corporate path with the Amway Corporation for 25 years, an early retirement left her searching for fulfillment along another path. Familiar with Charlevoix having sailed in the area since the early 1980s, she moved here in 2000 where she met her current husband, Bill, and was married in 2004. The couple combined their families and now has five daughters and 11 grandchildren between them. DuPont began her new career as a book seller by working at Bridge Street Book Shop, where she worked for five years along with a position at Char-Em United Way. When Bridge Street Book Shop closed, she knew it was time to own her own book business.

"We opened in a two stall garage behind Hearts to Holly Quilt Shop in May of 2008," she said. "It was not an opportune time, to open a book store. The country was going into a depression, e-books were on the rise and a chain book store opened on Bridge Street."

DuPont hung on and welcomed an opportunity to move to 216 Bridge Street, the present location, in 2010.

"The move doubled my business space and revenue," she said.

In addition to conducting business downtown, DuPont works with local schools to provide book fairs, and gives teachers a 20 percent discount for their purchases. She also has worked with area churches in providing hooks for their projects, most recently to the Community Reformed Church who provided 13 sets of 25 books each for children and families in its Advent Reader Program.

"We order books every day so most special orders arrive within a day or two," DuPont said.

Book store hours are from 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 11 a.m.-5 p.m. on Sunday. Round Lake Book Store will be open until 9 p.m. through the month of December. If you stop in, you will get the added bonus of being greeted by DuPont's bookstore pooch, Cozy (Cazette), who greets and entertains the clientele.

St. Marys Cement to hold public open house

CHARLEVOIX — St. Marys Cement has scheduled a public open house for the community to learn about the ongoing efforts to modernize the Charlevoix plant. The scope of the project includes modernizing existing infrastructure and upgrading the capability of the plant to provide more efficient operations and enhanced environmental performance in response to changing economic conditions and a more competitive operating environment.

The public is invited to attend an open house to learn about the modernization project and its impact on the Charlevoix community. The Project Team will be available for one-on-one discussions in an informal open house setting from 5-7 p.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 15, with a brief overview presentation starting at 5:15 p.m. in Charlevoix Public Library's community room B, 220 W. Clinton St., Charlevoix.

"With this project, we are investing in excess of $130 million to upgrade the operations and associated pollution control equipment that will ensure our future in the Charlevoix business community," said Randy Pryor, operations manager for St. Marys Cement. "The investment in our Charlevoix facility is consistent with Votorantim Cimentos' and St. Marys' global initiative to remain a sustainable and environmentally conscious leader in the industry. We will contribute to the local economy by providing in excess of 300 construction jobs and up to 10 new permanent jobs as part of this modernization project."

St. Marys Cement suggests ways to provide comment: submit a comment form at the public open house; email comments to: stmarysccment@hdrinc.com; mail comments to: St. Marys Cement, c/o HDR, 30 N. LaSalle St., Suite 3220, Chicago, IL 60602.

The public open house meeting location is accessible to persons with disabilities. St. Marys Cement strives to provide reasonable accommodations and services for persons who require assistance to participate. For special assistance, contact stmarysccment@hdrinc.com at least five business days prior to meeting date.

St. Marys Cement Charlevoix plant modernization project is committed to modernizing its infrastructure and technology and to providing more efficient and productive operations. As part of the project, production capacity will increase by 40 percent, up to 10 new permanent and in excess of 300 construction jobs will be created, approximately $29 million dollars will be invested for pollution control equipment, and the Brownfield Tax Increment Financing (TIF) will be utilized for financing assistance. As part of the Modernization Project, St. Marys Cement filed a Permit to Install with the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (Permit No. 140-15) in July 2015.

St. Marys Cement operates as part of Votorantim Cimentos, which operates 25 cement plants in the Americas and has a combined capacity of 28 million metric tons each year. Both Votorantim Cimentos and St. Marys Cement maintain a long heritage of excellence and commitment to quality products and sustainable operations. St. Marys Cement manufactures a variety of cement for different purposes — normal, high-early strength, low heat hydration, sulphate-resisting as well as other supplementary cementitious products — in bulk and as bagged product. Products are tested to meet the high standards demanded by today's dynamic construction needs. In 1912, cement was carted from the St. Marys plant using horse-drawn carriages. Today, distribution is accomplished through a sophisticated network of terminals throughout the Great Lakes Region, serviced by barge, rail and truck.

Millennial homebuying boom in 2016?

Predicting whether millennials are finally going to start buying homes in large numbers has become a seasonal sporting event for real estate experts (also something resembling a periodic parental nag).

There's good reason for the abiding fixation. Millennials are the largest generation in the U.S. labor force and something akin to guppies in the housing market food chain: When a first-time buyer moves into an entry-level house, it lets the sellers upgrade. But they've been held back by housing price increases that outpace wage hikes, not to mention limited access to credit, and rising rents that make it harder to save for a down payment.

Will next year be the year that millennials finally satisfy builders and real estate agents (not to mention mom and dad) by making their presence felt in the housing market? Yes, but not to the degree that many might hope.

Millennials will make up the largest share of homebuyers in 2016. This is more of a demographic inevitability than a prediction. Historically, the largest share of U.S. homebuyers have been between 25 and 34 years old. Millennials will buy one out of three homes in 2016, said Jonathan Smoke, chief economist for Realtor.com, a small uptick from this year.

If you prefer your glass half empty, though, Zillow chief economist Svenja Gudell thinks the median age of first-time homebuyers will hit a new high next year. In either case, Americans will continue the trend of buying their first homes later in life than they did in past decades, likely due to some mix of wage stagnation, rising housing costs, and a tendency to start families later in life. Sentiments toward ownership will improve. Accessibility won't.

For a lot of millennials, buying a home means breaking through layers of scar tissue developed during the Great Recession.

That's both because the bad economy made it harder for young workers to save down payments, and because of the stigma that got attached to homebuying after the mortgage bust. Eighty percent of Americans between the ages of 18 and 34 say that owning a home is part of their version of the American Dream, according to a 2,000-respondent survey published by Trulia today. That's the highest since the company started asking the question in 2010.

On the other hand, access to credit and availability of affordable homes aren't improving as fast as millennial attitudes, meaning many first-time home buyers still expect to wait. At least, if they want to live in big city on one of the coasts.

Assuming the Federal Reserve raises interest rates in the months to come, renting may actually become a better idea than buying in California's biggest markets. But high prices aren't a problem in what Trulia economist Ralph McLaughlin calls the Bargain Belt — swaths of the South and Midwest where job market gains have outpaced the rise in home prices.

Zillow's Gudell, meanwhile, predicts that millennial homebuyers are primed to give up on the dream of living downtown and will target homes in suburban areas with walkable cores — "mini-cities," in Gudell's parlance.

Meanwhile, McLaughlin's attempt to peg the hottest housing markets for 2016 led him to Grand Rapids, Charleston, S.C., and Austin, Texas, in that order. Here's the rest of his top 10 list, based on job growth, low vacancies, good affordability, search data and presence of millennials:

4. Baton Rouge, La.
5. San Antonio, Texas
6. Colorado Springs, Colo.

7. Columbia, S.C.
8. Riverside, Calif.
9. Las Vegas, Nev.
10. Tacoma, Wash.

It may seem strange that millennials are so slow to take on home ownership, since they entered adulthood at a time when buying was more affordable than renting in virtually every major market.

Those same unwieldy rent payments are pushing home ownership further out of reach and eating up larger shares of young workers' paychecks that could otherwise be saved for down payments, particularly since increasing renter demand has allowed landlords to jack up rents. Rents will continue to rise in 2016, despite an increasing supply of new apartments, said Gudell.

That underlines a widening gap on housing affordability within the age group.

"Essentially, the biggest winners of the generation are purchasing homes," said Smoke, who published survey results earlier this year showing that pay raises were the biggest catalyst for millennials buying homes.

"I've heard anecdotally from national builders that they're seeing millennials skipping over the idea of the traditional entry-level home and buying what you'd consider move-up homes instead."

In other words, home ownership is a better deal, but only for those millennials doing well enough to take advantage of it.

Nutritious nibbles: Cheese pairings for the holidays

As winter approaches, many celebrations begin to take place. Perhaps it is time to come home for students that have been away at college or university, an office party to celebrate the season, graduations, birthdays or just a time to connect with old friends. In these celebrations, food is often one of the center pieces people gather around and build memories of the event. In an infinite amount of choices of what to serve, remember to include cheese as one highly nutritious option that pairs well with a multitude of other treats.

Cheese is generally made from cow's milk in the United States, but it can be made from sheep, goat or buffalo milk, just to name a few other sources. Thanks as the number two product as a source of dietary calcium in American households. Besides calcium, cheese is also an excellent protein source and often has less lactose than fluid milk due to curds being separated from whey during the cheese making process. Phosphorus, vitamin A and zinc are other important minerals that are supplied with a serving of cheese.

Humans have developed thousands of varieties of cheese, but the basic recipe is very simple: milk, salt, started culture — beneficial bacteria that help produce the different flavors and texture of cheese — and rennet, an enzyme that causes the milk to coagulate, or form the curds at the beginning of the cheese making process. All cheeses can be classified into one of eight categories: blue (Roquefort or Gorgonzola), hard (Parmesan or Asiago), pasta filata (mozzarella or provolone), processed (American cheese or processed cheese spreads), semi-hard (cheddar or Gouda), semi-soft (Monterey Jack or Muenster), soft and fresh (cottage cheese or Mascarpone) and soft-ripened (Brie or Camembert).

Cheese, just like milk, is a very local product for Michigan. Several farms throughout the state make and sell their own cheese, including Michigan State University at the MSU Dairy Store. The MSU Dairy Plant in Anthony Hall, as part of the Department of Food Science and Human Nutrition in the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources, which is also where Michigan State University Extension is housed, produces multiple varieties of cheese, including a chocolate cheese confection, as well as ice cream. Cheeses may be purchased in-person on campus or can be shipped around the county.

No matter what types are chosen for serving, storing cheese is easy. Remove the products from the plastic it likely came in and wrap it loosely in waxed, parchment or cheese paper, and place it in a plastic bag. Because of the cultures in the cheese, it needs to "breathe" and maintain its moisture content so it will be most delicious when served. And speaking of serving, most cheeses should be allowed to come to room temperature, allowing for their true character to be revealed in flavor, scent and texture. The type of cheese will help inform how it should be served. It is recommended that firm cheeses, such as blues or Havarti, are cut into small wedges, while "break" cheeses, such as cheddar or Asiago, should be allowed to break on their natural "fault" lines, creating unique, bit-sized pieces. Soft-ripened cheeses, like Brie, can be served whole so that each person enjoying the selection may cut the size they desire.

Although there is no truly "wrong" pairing for cheese, there are recommendations for "ideal" pairings based on the character of taste, texture and firmness of a cheese. Some general rules to keep in mind are:

— Soft, semi-soft and fresh cheeses work well with fruit, some fresh and some dried, and light, sweet drinks.

— Soft-ripened cheeses pair well with more robust flavors, such as fruit chutney or jam, crusty breads and drier beverages.

— Blue cheeses are very bold, so match their flavor with something sweet, such as honey or dried fruits.

— Hard and semi-hard cheeses may have intense flavors, so match them with cured meats and nuts.

For a more detailed pairing list and a wealth of information on the benefits of dairy products as part of a healthy diet, visit the United Dairy Industry of Michigan's Cheese Pairing Guide.

Beaver Island Historical Society receives People Fund Grant

BEAVER ISLAND — The Beaver Island Historical Society was awarded a $7,500 grant from Great Lakes Energy to facilitate site preparation for the planned $1.3 million expansion to the Print Shop Museum.

The Beaver Island Historical Society has approved matching funds of $7,500.

The funds were awarded from the Great Lakes Energy People Fund through customers that agree to participate in the People Fund by rounding up their electric bill to the nearest dollar. These funds are then distributed to organizations throughout the Great Lakes Energy service area. Grants of $5,000 — $10,000 are awarded each quarter.

The Print Shop expansion was developed through a three-day round table that included many members of the Beaver Island community. This began a two-year planning effort funded by Beaver Island Historical Society and the Charlevoix County Community Foundation, resulting in a concept document that was used to kick off the Beaver Island Historical Society Capital Campaign. Two house parties, a social event featuring live entertainment and refreshments, were conducted by Beaver Island

Historical Society at the Beachcomber restaurant to raise funding for the project and private donors have been contacted with positive results.

The museum expansion will allow for updated and interactive displays that will provide space for additional Beaver Island stories and exhibits important to the history of the island. The museum also will carry a new name, The Museum of Island Life.

Dressed for Chill program serves more than 160 children

BOYNE CITY — A few members of the Boyne Eta Nu Women's Club stopped by Pat O'Brien's Real Estate office after Thanksgiving to thank them for their very generous donation to the Dress For Chill program.

"For the past three years the entire office has adopted this local program as an annual charity cause and we couldn't be happier to do so," said Jane Booze, marketing director for Pat O'Brien and Associates.

More than 160 Boyne

City Elementary and Head Start children participated in this program receiving winter coats, pants, boots, hats and gloves.

"We have so many generous organizations and residents in this community that give to this program but without the generous help of Pat's team we could not accomplish our goal of providing winter outerwear to those kids in need," said Nancy Shear, chairman of Dress For Chill.

Charlevoix veterans honored in Bay Township on National Wreaths Across America Day

CHARLEVOIX — December 12 has been declared National Wreaths Across America Day and the Bay Township Cemetery Committee who teamed up with the Horton Bay United Methodist Church to form the Bay Township Area Cemeteries group in 2014, announced that they will again place wreaths on the graves of all 45 veterans in Dyer, North Bay and Oaklawn Cemeteries in Bay Township in 2015.

The public is invited to attend the special wreath laying ceremony at 11:45 a.m. on Saturday, Dec. 12, at Dyer Cemetery. Attendees do not have to sponsor a wreath to attend this ceremony. At noon, a moment of silence will be held across the entire nation. At this time the seven ceremonial wreaths will be placed and then the wreaths will be placed at the 45 graves of the veterans throughout the three cemeteries. The Boyne City American Legion Ernest Peterson Post No. 228 will participate at this ceremony to honor and remember all of the military veterans buried in Bay Township. Those who wish to place a wreath on a specific grave, or have questions, call Georganna Monk at (231) 883-9867.

the Little Traverse Conservancy. Under such an easement, the city — or any future owner of the Mount McSaba Recreation area or Lake Michigan Beach — would be prohibited from drilling the property, conducting any commercial, industrial or mining operation, dumping, most types of construction, most tree cutting and most excavation.

Councilmember Leon Perron said the best way to keep city parks at their natural state would be to follow the path Charlevoix Township took with its neighboring property.

"The conservancy protects the property for our children, our grandchildren and future generations for years to come," said Councilmember Leon Perron. "At the same time, there may be a council here that would want to develop the property. A conservancy gives it the protection that we all seem to want."

Councilmember Shirley Gibson said the discussion on a conservation easement hasn't been clear. She wants this decision left to the residents of this city.

"I absolutely support having the people vote to look at putting the shoreline under the protection of a conservancy," Gibson said. "I believe that a conservation easement is the best way to protect the property, but as council we need to let the people vote on the issue."

John Campbell who brought the proposal to the city said that a charter amendment to protect the area more would not stop development of the property if any future council decided to do so.

"Basically we already have a charter protection of the property, but that does not stop a decision to sell or develop the property in the future," Campbell said.

Campbell said he hopes people would understand that the initial vote does not create a conservation easement, but gives the city a direction the people want to take.

"The vote will allow people to choose to look at a conservation easement," Campbell said. "If the people voted in favor of considering a conservation easement there would still be public hearings on what a conservation easement would look like."

Customers also could also enter to win $500 in Chamber Checks by shopping at various downtown businesses. Pamela Beer, sales associate at The Clothing Company, said the holiday open houses are always a good way to promote the downtown and it offers shoppers more than a trip pick-up a gift.

"It's just a good way to spend a Saturday," Beer said. "We've got people enjoying light snacks, music and finding that perfect gift."

Annie Doyle, Charlevoix Main Street director said the downtown open house is a bustling destination for shoppers. She encouraged people to visit the entire area and not just the Main Street.

"A lot of times people get hung up and think that there are only shops on Main Street," Doyle said. "People need to get out and explore our downtown. It's a fabulous downtown."

The front page of the Charlevoix Courier on Dec. 10, 1941, offered local readers what their community was doing after the Pearl Harbor attacks and when the U.S. declared war on Japan and entered World War II.

REMEMBERING

Howard Cain, son of Robert Cain, of Hayes Township is on the aircraft carrier USS Lexington stationed at Pearl Harbor. Ralph E. DeBucce, son of Mrs. George Cook, of Marion Township is stationed at Schofield Army Post on Oahu. Charles Sellner, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Sellner, of Marion Township is with the Army at Fort Shafter on Oahu. Ben Gill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gill, of Charlevoix, is on the submarine USS Perch, which last reports it was based at Manila Harbor on the Philippine Islands. Like wise young men from Boyne City and East Jordan districts are in the warzone too," said the reporter from the Charlevoix Courier.

As parents eagerly awaited news another article appearing on the front page of the Charlevoix Courier on Dec. 10, 1941, reflected the spirit of coming together to help with the war effort. The headline read: Loeb family offers 600 acres to U.S. Coast Guard for air base.

In a telephone conversation on that Monday night between Ernest Loeb and Mayor Robert Bridge the Charlevoix Courier reported that Loeb stated "his family in effort to be of whatever service possible to the U.S. in the present emergency, was prepared to offer 600-acre portion of property near the city." The article went on to explain the Loeb site was one of several considerations since a proposal was made two-years prior to establish a Northern Michigan air base. After the call Bridge notified Coast Guard officials, along with Sen. Prentiss M. Brown and Congressional representative Fred Bradley, of the city's offer made possible by the Loeb family.

These highlights of the area's reaction to the events that took place 74 years ago were placed throughout a newspaper filled with the letters to Santa, Christmas advertisements and other holiday articles and promotions. The attack on Pearl Harbor may have shattered the holiday spirit that year, but it never crushed the American spirit to come together in a time of tragedy.

In the weeks to follow stories of churches, schools and communities coming together, to help with the war effort, along with an unprecedented rush of enlistment across the country as young men from all over lined up to serve their country all seem to prove the resilience of an American people's ability to overcome adversity.

Charlevoix defense in midseason form in season-opening win

JAMES GENSTERBLUM
(231) 439-9343
jgensterblum@petoskeynews.com

CHARLEVOIX — Last season, defense was an achilles heel at times for the Charlevoix boys basketball team.

One game into the 2015-16 season, it's clear the Rayders aren't lacking at that end of the floor anymore.

Charlevoix used a vicious pressure defense, both the half-court and full-court, to dispatch visiting St. Ignace 65-47 and pick up their first win of the season on Tuesday.

The Rayders held the Saints to 20 points through three quarters before calling off the dogs, leading by as many as 30 points in the second half on the way to the win.

"We've been working on that all year, to be a better defensive team," Charlevoix coach Bret Erskine said. "I thought our starting five led the way; they were able to play more minutes than I was expecting this early and they set the tone defensively for their teammates who came off the bench."

While all five starters played well defensively for Charlevoix, three in particular stood out on the offensive end.

Senior point guard Walker Drost overcame early foul trouble to finish with 15 points, three assists and four steals, senior post Austin Putman chipped in a 12 point, 12 rebound double-double and Finnish exchange student Arvo Viitaharju added 11 points and five rebounds.

Together, Putman and Viitaharju dominated the boards against a much taller St. Ignace front line.

sity, and when we got him we focused on making him a better leader and using his speed to get to the basket," Erskine said. "He's really thriving on that."

"We have a size disadvantage most nights, so we really focus on digging in, establishing our position and boxing out. I thought we did a great job of that tonight and it showed in the stats."

Junior Kevin Pearl chipped in six points and five assists for Charlevoix, and sophomore Colin Smith added eight points as the Rayders overcame a slow start and found their rhythm midway through the second quarter.

"Opening night, you're going to have some jitters, and it's going to lead to a few missed shots," Erskine said. "We knew that we would settle in if we kept working hard, and I was pretty happy where we ended up offensively."

CHARLEVOIX — The challenges continued for a young Charlevoix team on Monday, as the Rayders fell to their third straight tough opponent to start the season.

While Glen Lake downed the Rayders 67-21, there were encouraging signs in the loss for Charlevoix, who reduced its number of turnovers by half from its loss to Cheboygan last week.

Beth Veenstra led the Rayders with eight points, and Hannah Zipp chipped in six points, five rebounds and three steals.

"I thought our effort at the start wasn't what we needed it to be, but our players really refocused at the half and played much better after that," Charlevoix coach Liz Shaw said. "We had a very good third quarter, and I like the way this team responded to the challenge."

The schedule doesn't get any easier for the Rayders (0-3), who have fallen to Class A Petoskey and strong Cheboygan and Glen Lake programs in their first three games.

Charlevoix travels to 2-1 East Jordan on Tuesday, Dec. 15 to open Lake Michigan Conference play.

"Facing better teams in our nonleague schedule has been good for us, because it's showed us where our flaws are and what we have to work on," Shaw said. "We're an inexperienced team that struggles against full-court pressure, but I feel like we've made strides on that over the past week."

"We had significantly less turnovers tonight than last week, which is a sign that we're learning from our mistakes and moving in the right direction. We're not where we need to be yet, but we're working hard to get there."

Cheboygan 56,
Charlevoix 28

CHARLEVOIX — Hosting their first home game of the season, the Charlevoix girls' basketball team wouldn't make it easy on themselves, facing off against a tough opponent in the Cheboygan Chiefs.

Struggling to find the bottom of the net for a second straight game, the Rayders would eventually fall, 56-28.

Charlevoix, 0-2 overall, fell beyond quickly, as they faced a 23-5 deficit early in the first half.

A late push in the second quarter, behind great defense and turning turnovers into points, helped Charlevoix cut the deficit heading into the locker room and gave them momentum.

Rayder teams earn postseason honors

JAMES GENSTERBLUM

CHARLEVOIX — A successful fall sports season for Charlevoix High School meant plenty of recognition at the conference and state level for the Rayders in November.

Four Charlevoix athletes earned all-state honors from their coaches associations in their respective sports, and football brought home several all-conference nods as well.

For her play on the volleyball court this season, Charlevoix's Emily Zabawa took home honorable mention honors in Class C from the Michigan Interscholastic Volleyball Coaches Association, following in the footsteps of former teammates Maddie Boss and Olivia Storm, who made the team last season as seniors.

Zabawa was a team captain and led Charlevoix in kills (335), assists (401), and digs (319) while adding 57 aces from the service line to help the Rayders upset rival Harbor Springs in the district final and defend their title.

Close contests highlight youth basketball games last Saturday

CHARLEVOIX — A tight game between Team Buday and Team Cunningham highlighted this past Saturday's youth basketball league games at the RLEC gym.

Emma Buday scored 16 points and Cheyanne Sprague added six to lead Team Buday past Team Cunningham 28-24 in a seventh and eighth grade matchup that went down to the wire.

Abby Cunningham, Kirsten Wagner and Kate Klinger were the top scorers for Team Cunningham in the loss.

In the other seventh and eighth grade matchup, Team Gaffney bested Team Haan. Lizzie Petroskey and Chloe Jensen led Team Gaffney in scoring in the victory, while Krista Dorst and Lauren Wilks paced Team Haan.

In the fifth and sixth grade games, Team Trimmer defeated Team Dorst, led by Lauren Jensen and Olivia Farmer.

Lauren Shepherd and Kyri Titus were the top players for Team Dorst in the game.

Team Carson topped Team Lentz in the second fifth and sixth grade game, led by Taylor Petroskey and Mikayla Sharrow. Emma DeYoung and Abbey Johnson were the top scorers for Team Lentz.

The next date is Saturday, Dec. 12th, with fifth and sixth grade games at 8:30 and 9:30 a.m. and seventh and eighth grade games at 1 and 2 p.m. at the RLEC gym.

There will also be a third and fourth grade skills clinic from 10:30 to 11:45 a.m. at the RLEC gym this Saturday, and a kindergarten through second grade skills clinic from 9 to 10:15 a.m. at Charlevoix Elementary School.

For more information on all youth basketball events, including how to participate, contact Coach Liz Shaw at lshaw@rayder.net.

CURTIS MITCHELL/COURIER

Charlevoix's Beth Veenstra (42) comes out to challenge a Cheboygan player at the perimeter during Friday's game.

That momentum carried over into the third quarter, as Charlevoix continued to chop at the lead and managed to cut it to single digits, trailing by nine points.

Senior Hannah Zipp lead the way with her physical play and tough defense, while also securing rebounds and knocking down shots to close the rim.

Head coach Liz Shaw was pleased with the way her team continued to fight and get the game back close, behind their great defensive play.

"It was our defensive pressure and we were able to get open and make some shots while getting the ball to our bigs inside," Shaw said. "We then got offensively out of control and it just kind of snowballed from there."

Playing against a veteran Cheboygan team with eight seniors, Shaw remained optimistic and is happy that her girls are getting the opportunity to play against experienced teams.

"It's a big learning curve and right now we are all trying to figure it out playing against juniors and seniors and later down the road because they are so young. They are going to grow faster and get better faster," Shaw said. "They are just a great bunch of girls that work hard and want to please and I couldn't have asked for a better group and it's just going to take time for our program, but it's exciting for me."

Charlevoix's Austin Putman (middle) goes up between St. Ignace defenders Adam Mullins (left) and Preston Mayle (32) for a tough basket during the Rayders' 65-47 win over the visiting Saints on Tuesday.

pressure and scored most of his points after the game was out of reach.

Dylan Marshall added 11 for the Saints, and Tristan Calcaterra chipped in seven.

St. Ignace's 47 points were a far cry from the 80 they scored in last season's opener, a one-point win over the Rayders.

"They're still a good team, but they just got off of football and I'm not sure their legs are there yet," Erskine said. "We were able to wear Gage and those other guys down because of that, but when they get their legs back, they're going to be a tough team to play."

The win is a good starting point for Charlevoix, but tough tests still remain, including a trip to Bellaire on Thursday and the Lake Michigan Conference opener against rival East Jordan next Tuesday at home.

"We're going to get right back to work, in the weight room, in the film room, and on the practice floor," Erskine said. "These guys want to win a conference title, and they know the challenge that is and the kind of work that's going to take to pull off."

"We're ahead of where we were at this time last year, and now we've got to keep building on that."

CHARLEVOIX — Josh Carlson led with 15 points as the Rayders jumped out to an early lead and never looked back in a 59-21 win over St. Ignace on Tuesday.

Danny Nesburg added 10 points for the Rayders.

and the team's first district championship since 2009.

Junior midfielder Christian Matye earned first team all-state honors in Division 4 from the Michigan High School Soccer Coaches Association after a 25 goal, 10 assist campaign, and junior defender Kevin Pearl earned third-team all-state honors after helping the Rayders post 12 shutouts.

Senior Walker Drost also earned honorable mention all-state honors in his final campaign with the Rayders, finishing with 19 goals and 13 assists on the season.

On the gridiron, the Charlevoix football team got plenty of representatives on the Northern Michigan Football League's Legacy Division team after a 5-4 campaign this fall.

Senior Austin Putman was named to the all-conference first team after finishing with 21 catches for 426 yards and three touchdowns in seven games this season to lead the Rayders.

Also making the first team for Charlevoix was senior tailback Ben Boss (67 carries, 483 yards, nine touchdowns), junior defensive back Brad Klinger (36 tackles, seven interceptions), junior linebacker Malcom Williams (78 tackles, three sacks, two fumble recoveries), senior defensive lineman Jordan Adkins (68 tackles, four sacks) and junior offensive lineman Jake Mitchell.

Defensive lineman Mick Hinkle, quarterback Forrest Nolrot, kicker Hunter Cox and tailback Jared McLean all earned honorable mention all-conference honors as well for Charlevoix.

Food FOCUS

Food menu pairs well with local brewery

This week's Food Focus turns its lens to The Lake Charlevoix Brewing Company, located at 111 Bridge Park Drive, in Charlevoix, where manager Seth Argue is preparing a Cubano from the brewery's sandwich menu. Like all great sandwiches, the Cubano is a remarkable creation marrying flavorful meats, satisfying condiments and crunchy textures. In my opinion, the best Cubano uses Swiss on each side of the meat and once it melts it seals everything together, though the the brewing company cheeses only one side. Its Cubano does not disappoint. Prepared with sliced ham, braised shredded pork, yellow mustard, pickles and Swiss cheese and grilled to perfection it is a sandwich worth stopping in for. The Lake Charlevoix Brewing Company opened in May of 2015. Hours are from 3-10 p.m. Monday-Friday and noon-10 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. The establishment brews eight flagship beers, with names hailing from Northern Michigan and, according to its website, the company also brews several seasonal and experimental beers for guests to enjoy. The Lake Charlevoix Brewing Company is owned by the Round Lake Group LLC. Its menu has a much different focus than its sister property — The Bridge Street Tap Room. The brewing company food is simple and can be best described as Mexican to Americana style. Besides the great sandwiches patrons can find a range of food from classic bar staples to the added flair of salads, pastas, burritos and tacos.

PHOTOS BY LONNIE ALLEN/CHARLEVOIX COURIER

Lake Charlevoix Brewing Company manager Seth Argue slices a Swiss oval roll to begin preparation of the brewery's Cubano.

As with any good Cubano the Lake Charlevoix Brewing Company starts with traditional yellow mustard.

Next, braised and shredded pork butt is layered atop the sliced ham and cheese.

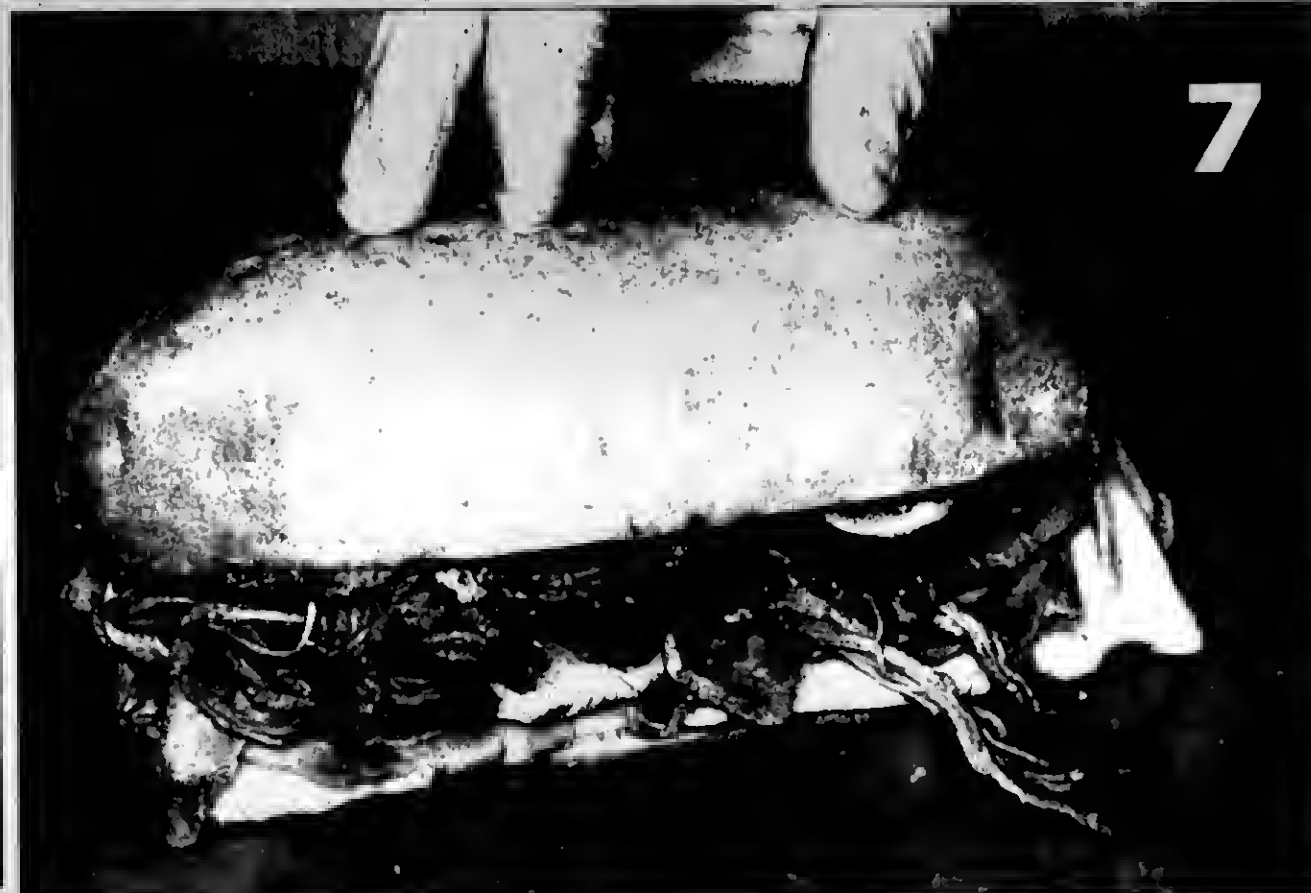

After Argue spreads yellow mustard evenly on each side of the roll he then takes Swiss cheese and adds it to the bottom slice of the roll.

Argue adds sliced ham as he builds the Lake Charlevoix Brewing Company's version of the Cuban sandwich.

Sliced Sweet Hotties pickles are placed on the shredded pork butt to complete the Cubano assembly.

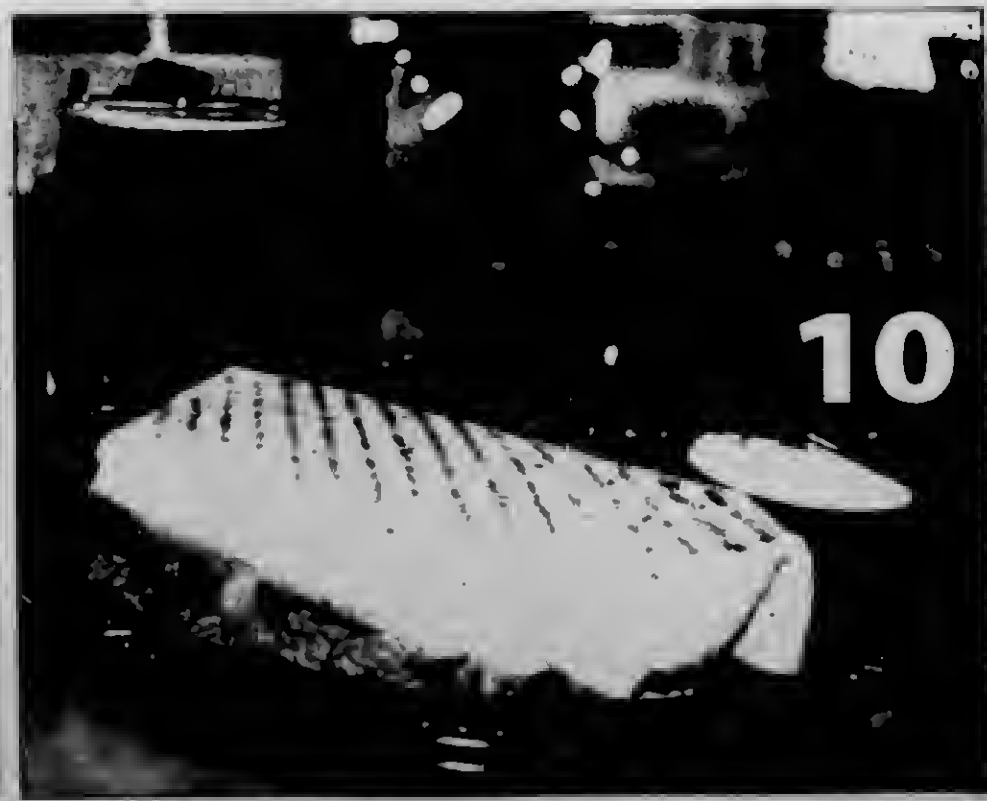

Once the sandwich is assembled the Cubano is then grilled.

Wrapped in parchment paper the Cubano is placed on a hot grill press to finish preparation.

After the Cubano is grilled, it is sliced and served with chips and a pickle in a basket. The sandwich is pictured with one of the Lake Charlevoix Brewing Company's signature beers — Michigan Beach Blonde.

Besides the great sandwiches, patrons can find a range of food from classic bar staples to the added flair of salads, pastas, burritos and tacos. Pictured here, one the Lake Charlevoix Brewing Company's grilled burritos paired with another one of its brews.

Cement modernization project unveiled Community gets first look at company's plans Charlevoix resident JoAnne Beemon asks questions about St. Marys Cement modernization project on Dec. 15 at the Charlevoix Public Library.

CHARLEVOIX — Members of the community came to the Charlevoix Public Library on Dec. 15, to get a better understanding of St. Marys Cement plant's modernization plan.

The meeting inside the library community room was filled with informational poster boards and company representatives ready to answer questions on the $130 million modernization plan. St. Marys Cement operations manager Randy Pryor gave a brief presentation about the upgrades to operations and associated pollution control equipment.

"The investment in our Charlevoix facility is consistent with Votorium Cimentos' and St Marys' global initiative to remain a sustainable and environmentally conscious leader in the industry," Pryor said.

After Pryor spoke, attendees mingled with representatives from Votorium Cimentos, the parent company of the Charlevoix Plant about the project.

Charlevoix resident Ron Zimmerman attended the open house to learn more about the project.

"I was curious on what the company was planning to do," Zimmerman said. "It was very informative and I was pleased to learn that this will bring more jobs to the area."

Sue Livingston agreed that the plant modernization plan was good for Charlevoix.

Blankets of love send warm wishes at Christmas

Anne Kelly
Special to Charlevoix Courier

CHARLEVOIX — Willing school children each year in the third grade transform pieces of fleece into blankets made with love to assist families in financial need at Christmastime.

"It all started four or five years ago," said third-grade Charlevoix Elementary school teacher Julie McLean. "Bev Boss was then the head of the Charlevoix Christmas Project, and was always looking for donations. Our superintendent at that time was Chet Janik who had received a 'Learn and Serve' grant which he was anxious to put to good use."

Janik asked the third-grade teachers if they would like to do a project for Boss' Christmas event and that was all it took. The first year, the third-grade kids with the help of many parents and volunteers turned out 50 warm and cozy tied-edge

This year the Christmas Project will be held on Dec. 18, at Bethany Lutheran Church, where some of the students will deliver the blankets to be distributed.

Ornament sales fund New Year's Eve event

Lonnie Allen
(231) 547-6558 - lallen@charlevoixcourier.com

CHARLEVOIX — New Year's Eve Bridge Drop committee members hope a new commemorative ornament will help raise more funds for the event.

The proceeds from the ornament sales will go directly into the fireworks fund for the Bridge Drop," said Amanda Wilkin, Charlevoix Convention and Visitors Bureau director.

There are 100 ornaments, each of them featuring Charlevoix's iconic bascule bridge in a winter setting, which were hand-painted by local artist Linda Boss. They are available for $100. After purchasing an ornament, people will be in the Bridge Drop Club and will be listed as a donor to the Bridge Drop website BridgeDrop.com.

"We hope that people will want to participate to help the ongoing growth of the winter season and winter events," Wilkin said.

Bridge Drop committee member Dan Barron said he hopes the ornaments become collectibles as they plan to sanction a different ornament each year moving forward.

"We wanted to do something special to honor the bridge," Barron said. "It's such a icon for the town. We hope each year to feature a iconic setting in Charlevoix."

Bridge drop planners are also adding horse-driven carriage rides during the children activities from noon to 3:30 p.m. Tommy Tropic also will perform at 8:30 p.m. in East Park and at 11:30 p.m. Tropic is expected to perform at Bridge Park.

Planning discusses economic study, propeller donation

LONNIE ALLEN

(231) 547-6558 • allen@charlevoixcourier.com

CHARLEVOIX — An economic study presentation and a large propeller were topics of discussion during a recent Charlevoix Planning Commission meeting.

Main Street/Downtown Development Authority director Annie Doyle presented the Economic Development Strategy Executive Summary to the city's Planning Commission with an effort to consider all possibilities for the future economic development of Charlevoix.

"The Main Street/DDA board share interest in economic development with the Planning Commission," Doyle said. "Since the Planning Commission is in the process of updating the city's Master Plan the board felt it was important to provide commissioners with these documents."

The analysis was prepared by the Chesapeake Group, Inc. under the direction of the city of Charlevoix with the assistance of LSL Planning. The strategy describes sustainable economic opportunities and provides methods to move forward based on the existing economic conditions in the city. The goal is to enhance the local economy, Doyle said.

To reach these goals study documents suggest developing crowdfunding, creation of incubator space and enhancing entrepreneurship. Having a space for local small businesses to test viability as a brick and mortar is a future goal Doyle would like to see come to fruition.

"Having a place where we can help facilitate the success of small local, creative businesses to test the waters is a benefit, but they have to be very well

Charlevoix Main Street/Downtown Development Authority director Annie Doyle speaks to Planning Commission members on Dec. 14, about the economic market study compiled by the Chesapeake Group. Doyle offered the study to the Planning Commission to consider some of the items as it moves forward on updating the city's Master Plan.

though out," Doyle said. Planning Commission members also heard from city manager about the donation of a propeller from the decommissioned St. Marys Challenger. City staff members believe placement of the propeller would be in the vicinity of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources Fish Hatchery near the Pine River Channel.

"City Council wanted the Planning Commission to take this up to go along with our donation acceptance policy," Heydlauff said.

Commissioner Toni Felter believed the propeller donation was a great idea because it goes along with the history of the area.

"This is a connection to everything we have and we are," Felter said. "Whether you call it Medusa or St. Marys Cement or whatever name that has progressed the Challenger has been coming in and out of here for a long time. This is an opportunity we need to embrace."

Commission Chairman John Hess also agreed on moving the process forward to accept the donation of the Challenger propeller.

"That is an appropriate place and I can't think of any other place that would be more appropriate for it," Hess said.

Charlevoix resident honored as Wall of Fame inductee at Michigan State University

NICOLE SEYMOUR

Special to Charlevoix Courier

Charlevoix native and current resident, Ritchie T. Davis, was inducted into the Michigan State University, School of Criminal Justice, Wall of Fame during a ceremony held at the Kellogg Hotel and Conference Center on the Michigan State University campus. The Wall of Fame salutes the accomplishments and career of outstanding law enforcement professionals who are alumni of Michigan State University's Criminal Justice Program. Davis received this honor during an inductees ceremony held on the Michigan State University campus this past November.

The prestigious award honors a select group of alumni who have distinguished themselves by attaining the highest level of professional accomplishment while demonstrating strong personal integrity and character in their criminal justice careers. Davis, who was nominated by Dennis Halverson, retired police chief of Charlevoix Police Department noted the surprise he felt in being part of the induction ceremony.

"It was just such a surprise for me to be a part of all of this," Davis said. "It is such a great honor. I've done quite a bit of work at Michigan State so there was a lot of history there for me to be back on campus and receive an award."

Davis graduated from Michigan State University earning a Bachelor of Science degree in Criminal Justice in 1974. He later went on to obtain his Master of Public Administration from Western Michigan University. Beginning his career as a patrol officer with the Ann Arbor Police Department, and later with the Michigan State University Public Safety Department, Davis became a trooper with the Michigan State Police in 1983 as a member of the 52nd recruit school class. Working his way through the ranks of the state police, Davis was later appointed director by Governor James Blanchard, becoming the 12th director in the history of the department. Davis was then promoted to colonel in 1991.

Longtime friend and coworker, David Verhougstraete, said of Davis, "He was an instrumental part of affirmative action in the department and was a man of great integrity," noted Verhougstraete. "I had the privilege of working with the colonel as part of the department and he was just one of those class act guys. Everybody just thought he was the greatest."

Aside from his career within civil services, Davis' career also included project director for the Michigan Truck Safety Commission, where he was credited with many innovative statewide professional truck driver safety programs, as well as serving as one of the original commissioners of the Michigan Gaming Commission appointed by Gov. John Engler.

While still an active presence in the Michigan State Police Retirees Network, Davis enjoys spending his free time in and around the Charlevoix community where he lives with his wife Marsha. Currently he is working with the Michigan State Police Department to help provide historical insight to celebrate the department's 100 years of service celebration, which officially begins in April 2017.

LOOKING BACK...

Crouter building, oldest wood structure on Bridge Street (late 1870s), currently site of That French Place crape store.

COURTESY PHOTO

The times they were a-changin'

Charlevoix's first telephone system was installed in 1884. The central office was placed on the second floor of Dr. Crouter's drug store downtown. An initial 20 telephones went into operation, with Dr. Crouter as systems manager.

This is what the Charlevoix Sentinel newspaper had to say on Jan. 4, 1888: "HELLO! HELLO! No better evidence exists of the wide-awake and enterprising character of the citizens of Charlevoix than the extent of the Charlevoix Telephone Exchange, and the extensive patronage given the local lines which connect the villages of the Pine Lake (Lake Charlevoix) region. At the central office in Dr. Crouter's drug store sits Miss Mary Scroggie, the efficient operator. Before her is a 'switch-board' and apparatus which connects into one system the 26 phones, which constitute the local exchange, with its 12 miles of wire, besides the 22 villages and 206 miles of wire. (The total exchange reached north to Harbor Springs and Cross Village and all the way down and around Grand Traverse Bay to Sutton's Bay and Northport to the south. Petoskey could boast only 24 telephones.) All the points are so connected that with the band playing upon the street in front of the central office here, connection may be made whereby the music may be heard at every point and at every phone in the local exchange. The records of the central office show an average of 75 connections or "talks" per day during the past year. During the summer months Miss Scroggie has to leave her knitting work at home, and is compelled to give mighty short answers to the nice young gentlemen who call. But she is prompt and accommodating with all patrons." The article concludes with "... the wonders which science has wrought in a region where ... these distances meant many days of patient waiting or weary travel! Well—"HELLO!"

What 'war' are we really fighting?

Rachel Brougham
How I see it

cere greeting. Christmas isn't about red coffee cups, spending money on gifts nobody needs and fighting over public Nativity scenes. But then again, I suppose it is to some people.

Long before this made up "war," my dad would put up our Christmas tree and my mom and I would decorate it with all the ornaments. She'd make and frost sugar cookies and I was in charge of decorating them. We'd listen to Bing Crosby, Brenda Lee and Alvin and the Chipmunks sing Christmas songs. Every Christmas Eve, I'd get to open one present — new pajamas. We'd put those plug-in candles in the front windows and my mom would call it, "simple elegance." I still say that phrase aloud when I drive down my new street and see homes decorated the same way.

These days, I get the same joy I did back then when Thom and I decorate our tree. I hear the same Christmas songs when I'm out and about running errands this time of year. I make (too many) Christmas cookies. We put thought into gifts, give to charity, watch Christmas movies and spend time together. I look forward to Christmas just as much as I did 30 years ago. And guess what Thom opens on Christmas Eve? New pajamas.

The fact Christmas is everywhere seems to contradict the concept of a "War on Christmas." Of course, there's always stories that will keep it alive and have some feeling persecuted. Last week, the Satanic Temple of Detroit announced plans to re-erect its Snake-tivity display on the Capitol lawn to counter a live Nativity scene planned by Ted Cruz's presidential campaign. Let's just remember America was founded on the principles of free speech and freedom of religion, so those same freedoms that allow you to celebrate Christmas allow others to celebrate it in different ways, or not at all. Our increasingly diverse nation is made up of many cultures and backgrounds featuring different ideas of God, along with those who may not believe in God at all but still find joy in celebrating Christmas outside of the church.

So this season, if you find yourself troubled when the store clerk wishes you a "Happy Holidays" instead of a "Merry Christmas," ask yourself why you're so upset.

There's enough trouble and real wars in this world, there's no need to get worked up over one that doesn't exist. To me, Christmastime is about giving of ourselves, helping others and spending time with those we love. Church taught me that no matter who we are — Christian, Muslim, Jewish, atheist — there's good in all of us and we should use that good to better the world. No matter what our beliefs, I believe we all want a world that's peaceful and loving. You know, the elements of the true Christmas spirit.

So Merry Christmas and happy holidays.

Regarding conflicts of interest

Editor:

I am writing you in response to your opinion article about conflict of interest in the Dec. 4, Charlevoix Courier. In your article you raise legitimate concerns about conflict of interest and, as always, I appreciate reading your opinion pieces. I agree with many of your comments and I do believe that a council member, at the start of the meeting, should disclose any potential conflict of interest and we should take the subject seriously.

However, in your article you offered concerns about how I acted regarding a possible conflict of interest at the airport. You were concerned because I asked council if it thought I had a conflict of interest. You thought that, instead, I should have asked the city manager to give me direction about whether I had a conflict. In response to these concerns I offer you the following information from a March 15, 2015 memo to council, written by the city attorney, Scott Howard. In the memo, Mr. Howard states the entire council, not the city manager, should decide whether a particular member has a conflict of interest. Additionally, the same memo stated that I do not have a conflict of interest surrounding general, non-related business topics at the airport. By asking the rest of council I was attempting to make sure there were no disagreements about the topic even though the attorney already gave his opinion about it. I want to make the right decision each time this topic comes up and, as you suggest, I should follow the direction of the city attorney.

Admittedly, this issue has been more challenging than I expected when I first ran for office. With my participation in different projects in the community the topic seems to come up often. Last year, I took online classes about the subject and this year I signed up for Michigan Municipal League classes to further help me serve the community and navigate the conflict of interest issue. Additionally, the disagreement surrounding when I have or do not have a conflict of interest at the airport seems to be an ongoing distraction that keeps us from moving forward. For this reason, I have decided to no longer participate in any airport discussion as a council member, regardless of whether or not it is related to my business. I am hopeful this will end the distraction and allow us to move forward to a positive Charlevoix. If you, or any Charlevoix residents, have further questions or concerns about the issues surrounding any conflict of interest, or any other city topic, I encourage you to call me at (231) 622-2052 or email lutherk@cityof-charlevoix.org.

Local resident retires after 35 years of service to state

BY ANNE KELLY
Special to Charlevoix Courier

After 35 years of service with the Secretary of State office, Charlevoix branch manager Sandy Tilley is retiring her position. During her tenure, Tilley served at the Traverse City, Gaylord, West branch and several Detroit area offices. She has been branch manager in Charlevoix for the past 11 years.

"It's the customers I will miss," Tilley said as she anticipates her retirement on Wednesday, Dec. 30. "Over the years I have met so many people, many of whom seem like old friends. I have waited on them for renewals and license plates on a somewhat regular basis and they share their lives with me as we carry on business."

She remembers one customer in particular. Everyone has to get their licenses renewed, after all.

"He was a former Red Wings player who played with Gordie Howe," she said.

The friendly face behind the counter that has seen just about everyone in the county on an annual basis, reflected back to earlier days, when she began as a part time employee in 1980.

"There have been so many changes," she said. "I remember doing business before computers were put into operation. There would be the big 'plate rush' in February and March, hand-written validations that had to be written with a red pen on one part, the other with a black. Candice Miller, (Michigan's Secretary of State from 1955-71) brought us into the electronic age, and that made our job so much more efficient."

Ten years ago, according to Tilley, renewal through mail did away with those written tests drivers would sit and take in the office, hopeful they would pass.

She will be looking forward with her husband, retired Charlevoix State Trooper Mike Tilley.

"I am looking forward to the next chapter in my life," Tilley said, "seeing what God has in store for me."

She also looks forward to traveling and to spending more time with their two sons and grandchild in the Washington, D.C. area. Coincidentally, the Tilley's two sons, also are police officers. Chris, serves as a Sergeant in the Internal Affairs Division in the District and Kiel, after earning his Master's degree from American University and teaching three years, was inspired by his brother to join the force and is a now a detective. The Tilley's are understandably proud of their sons' call to service.

Be sure to stop in her Charlevoix office in the Family Fare Plaza on M-66 this month, and wish Sandy Tilley a great retirement.

Garry Lee Whitaker is Veteran of the Month

The Veteran of the Month of December 2015, is Garry Lee Whitaker. Born on Jan. 9, 1936, in Ann Arbor, to Glessner and Winifred Richards Whitaker.

Whitaker quit school in the ninth grade, and completed his GED while in the Army. Prior to entering military service, he was a farmer, student and worked at Calmores service station in East Jordan.

On Aug. 20, 1955, in East Jordan, he married his sweetheart, Patricia Ann Carney, who preceded him in death on Sept. 18, 1981.

In February 1956, Whitaker entered Military Service and received basic, infantry and airborne training and was a qualifying expert with the M-16 Rifle, .45 caliber and .38 caliber pistols. Departing the United States, he would complete overseas duty during the Korean conflict, and in Europe.

After his second re-enlistment, Whitaker received his officers commission, and completed pilot training in light aircraft and helicopters. After completing two tours in Vietnam as a helicopter gunship pilot he returned stateside to Fort Rucker, Ala., to become and helicopter pilot instructor.

Whitaker retired from military service in 1976 after 20 years nine days of honorable military service, at the rank of Chief Warrant Officer (CW2) and received the following decorations and commendations: National Defense Service Medal; Army of Occupation Medal (Germany); Vietnam Service Medal; Republic of Vietnam Commendation Medal; Vietnamese Gallantry Cross with Palm; Good Conduct Medal; Air Medal; Purple Heart Medal; Army Commendation Medal; Distinguished Flying Cross; Distinguished Service Medal; Meritorious Service Medal; Senior Army Aviation Badge.

After retirement, Whitaker and his wife moved back to East Jordan, where he continued farming and started a lawn-care service business in Florida. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge in Ozark, Ala. He loved ranching, fishing, flying, baking bread, karate and spending time with his family.

On July 21, 2006, at his home in Deltona Fla., Garry Lee Whitaker answered the final call and is being honored by his children: Debbie, Ron, Patricia, Angela and their families.

North Country Mental Health accepting works of art for traveling art show

CHARLEVOIX — North Country Community Mental Health is accepting entries to represent its six-county service area in the Michigan Association of Community Mental Health Boards' Creative Minds Changing Minds statewide traveling art show. Eligible artists are those who are current recipients of Community Mental Health services who live in Antrim, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Emmet, Kalkaska, or Otsego counties. The winning entry will be chosen by an independent judge and the winning artist will receive a $100 purchase award.

The statewide traveling art show will make its debut in May 2016 in Northern Michigan and will travel around the state for the next two years. At the end of the two years, the artwork will be auctioned with proceeds to benefit statewide mental health anti-stigma efforts. The tour goals are two-fold: to help remove the stigma of mental illness, intellectual/developmental disabilities and substance use disorders by showcasing the talents of people who use community mental health services; and to highlight the recovery potential of the arts.

Entries may be turned in at any North Country Community Mental Health office, New Horizons Clubhouse in Rapid City, or Petoskey Club in Petoskey. The submission deadline is 4 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 8, 2016. The rules and submission form are available at ncccmh.org.

For more information, call Deb Freed at (231) 271-6177 or email dfreed@ncccmh.org.

OBITUARIES

George O. Haggard Jr., 83

George O. Haggard Jr., 83, born May 5, 1932, in Charlevoix, Mich., passed away unexpectedly on Saturday, Dec. 12, 2015, in Dallas, Texas, en route to visit family for the holidays.

He was preceded in death by his parents, George O. and Polly V. (Kolar) Haggard; his wife, Shirley; his teenage daughter, Katherine; infant daughter, Karen; and infant son, Sean; his stepbrother, Warren J. Shadko; and stepfather, Gregory A. Shadko.

Survivors include his daughter, Carol (Bob) Wood; sons, George O. "Chuck" Haggard III (Pam), and John Carson (Tammy) Haggard, Jefferson City; grandchildren, Shawn (Julie) Wood, Culver City, Calif.; Jennifer (Doog) Martinez, Ojai, Calif.; George O. "Kyle" Haggard IV, twins, Terra Haggard, Richmond, Va., and Tessa Haggard, Knoxville, Tenn.; and Andrew Haggard, Kalamazoo, Mich.; stepgrandchildren, Justin and Chasity Dalton; great-grandchildren, Isaiah and Otis Wood, and Nova and Cosima Martinez; brothers, Jim (Ken), Hawaii, John (Phyllis), Charlevoix, and Bill (Lori), Beaver Island, Mich.; and his fiancée, Julie Leonhardt.

A graduate of Michigan State University, George served in the Army as a Military Policeman at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., where he met Shirley; he was honorably discharged with the rank of Corporal. He worked at Kroger in Toledo as an accounting supervisor before moving to Tennessee to work for Clock Brothers as the office manager. He went to Shelby Williams as controller, and left as vice president of finance to become a business partner at The Bean Station Furniture Company, which was later sold to Dolly Madison.

At the time of his death, he was president of Haggard Enterprises, in Morristown, and was a partner with several close friends in numerous private business endeavors. George was a prominent businessman, a generous philanthropist, an avid supporter of the arts and a loyal fan of UT athletics.

He devoted his life to God and his church, his family and friends, and to working tirelessly to make Morristown a better place in which to live, work and play. He was a longtime member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, where he was a lector and a 4th degree member of the Knights of Columbus. He chaired the building committee, which built the current facility and is now preparing for the renovation of the building and property. On the diocesan level, he was a member of the St. Mary's Legacy Foundation board.

He developed the Shirley and Katherine Haggard Palliative Care Unit at Morristown Hamblen Healthcare Foundation board of directors. He was also an active member of the Walters State Community College Foundation and served on the executive committee of its workforce development board.

He loved the theater and was involved years ago in the Morristown Theater Guild, both as an actor on stage and a longtime board treasurer; more recently, he has actively supported Encore Theatrical Company. He was involved with the establishment of the Lakeway Achievement Center several years ago; at the time of his death, he was a member of the First Tennessee Bank board of directors and president of the Helping Hands Clinic board of directors.

The family will receive friends on Friday, Dec. 18, from 9-11 a.m. at St. Patrick's Catholic Church, followed by the funeral Mass, with Bishop Richard Stika celebrating. Following the service, interment will be in Hamblen Memory Gardens.

In lieu of flowers, the family requests that donations be made to Morristown Hamblen Healthcare Foundation, 1621 W. Morris Blvd., Suite D, Morristown, TN 37814, or to Helping Hands Clinic, 1111 Watercrest St., Morristown, TN 37814-3837, or to any other charitable organization of the donor's choice.

Stetzer Funeral Home, 146 E. Main St., Morristown, is in charge of arrangements. Phone: (423) 586-5451.

Agnes M. Lachman

Agnes M. Lachman, formerly of Charlevoix, Mich., passed away on Saturday, Dec. 12, 2015, at The Well

Spring Lutheran Home of Frankenmuth, Mich.

Born on Oct. 24, 1925, in Shenandoah, Pa., she was the daughter of Henry and Martha Sneddon. Agnes married John C. Lachman on Feb. 22, 1947, in Pottstown, Pa. They moved to Charlevoix in 1962 where they raised their family and lived for more than 40 years. John preceded Agnes in death on Feb. 11, 2012.

Agnes spent her life dedicated to her husband, John, and their children. She was a wonderful homemaker and neighbor. Living for more than 40 years in the small village of Norwood in Northern Michigan, she was an integral part of the community. She will be greatly missed by her family and friends. Surviving are her daughter, Linda D. Lachman of Appleton, Wis.; three sons, Jeffrey (Laurie) Lachman of Novi, Mich., and John (Karen) Lachman of Frankenmuth; sister, Marie Massey; five grandchildren, Kristin (Larry) Ruehlen, Jesse Lachman, Brian Lachman, Carrie and Jarrod Lachman; and two great-grandchildren, Jack and Josh Ruehlen.

A memorial service will take place at a time to be announced later.

According to Agnes's wishes, cremation has taken place.

Those who wish an expression of sympathy may wish to consider memorials to the American Cancer Society.

Arrangements are entrusted to the Cederberg Funeral Home of Frankenmuth.

Please sign our guest book or share an online condolence with the family at www.cederbergfh.com.

Our digital partnership in Charlevoix

Tonight as I write this brief article, my daughter is doing her math computation homework with paper and pencil, our eighth-grader is working on his Macbook for school in the living room, and our junior son is currently using FaceTime to talk to one of his friends on his phone.

Recent research that I read online by Common Sense Media, an independent nonprofit organization found that "our nation's children spend more time with media and digital activities than they do with their families." I guess that study somewhat confirmed what I am observing tonight in my own home. With the optick in digital use in our world, it is our partnership that can provide our children with a healthy understanding and use of the many digital devices they have access too.

Each student in Charlevoix has a school provided digital device that is filtered at school and home through the use of our iBoss filtration system. We rely on our filter to help provide safe digital access on our school provided MacBooks and iPads. We also

MIKE'S MESSAGE

Mike Ritter
Charlevoix Public Schools superintendent depend on our staff and parents to monitor our children's internet access. This message extends the conversations from monitoring our children's school devices to also keeping track of all of the other digital access points our children have in our homes as well.

It will continue to be the goal of Charlevoix Public Schools to monitor access in our district. Our iBoss filter is updated daily and our technology director is able to block any areas of concern brought to our attention. In order to do this effectively, we will continue to need your help. Don't ever hesitate to call your teacher or principal if you encounter a problem with your child's internet access at home or school.

We use this communication as a way to find solutions to any problems we might encounter.

Here are some things that you can do to help safeguard your children at home. The first thing I recommend is for families to set time limits to your child's digital use in your home including our school provided devices. The second recommendation is for you to know where your child is when using digital devices so that you can monitor their access. My final recommendation is for families to talk openly about digital use and to make sure that you know what types of information your children are accessing online from any and all devices.

After writing this article I can tell you that my wife and I will also strive to be more informed regarding the technology access our children have to ensure their digital safety. For more information, I recommend the nonprofit commonsensemedia.org website for many of the questions we face as educators and parents. As educators, we rely heavily on our families for support and we will continue to look for ways to increase our digital partnership with you.

Free coaching, nicotine replacement therapy

CHARLEVOIX – Today, former smokers outnumber current smokers in the United States. This is hopeful news for those wanting to kick the habit for good. Even better news is that from now through Dec. 31, all tobacco users who call the Michigan Tobacco Quitline at (800) QUIT-NOW will qualify for coaching and nicotine replacement therapy at no cost.

The Michigan Tobacco Quitline offers telephone coaching, tips and motivational emails or texts, an online quit program, and a mobile app. The Quitline coaches are trained to help tobacco users overcome common barriers, such as dealing with stress, fighting cravings, coping with irritability, and controlling weight gain. Those who enroll before Dec. 31, will be eligible for free nicotine replacement therapy in the form of patches, gum or lozenges. This limited-time offer is good for all tobacco users, regardless of insurance coverage.

Dr. Joshua Meyerson, Medical Director at the Health Department of Northwest Michigan, encourages tobacco users to take advantage of this opportunity. He noted that those who use tobacco cessation medications double their chances of being successful.

"Quitting tobacco is difficult, but it can definitely be done—over 50 million adults have quit for good," Meyerson said. "Not only will quitting tobacco immediately benefit your health, but it will improve the health of those around you."

No matter how long an individual has smoked or used tobacco, quitting will dramatically improve his or her outlook for a healthier future. Immediately after quitting, heart rate and blood pressure improve. Long-term effects of quitting include improved circulation, improved lung function, and decreased risk of heart disease and cancer. Planning ahead, working with a health care provider and seeking support from friends and family can all increase the likelihood of quitting successfully.

To begin the New Year tobacco-free, call (800) QUIT-NOW or visit michigan.quitlogix.org. The Michigan Tobacco Quitline's mission is to mission to reduce and eliminate tobacco-related deaths and diseases in Michigan through leadership, collaboration and education.

The Health Department can be reached by calling (800) 432-4121 or by visiting nwhealth.org.

Cupcake shop rises above rest in hot cocoa contest

CHARLEVOIX – Congratulations to Cre8tive Cupcake, the winner of the 2015 Charlevoix Hot Cocoa Contest that took place during the Charlevoix Merchant Open House on Saturday, Dec. 5. It was a tight race with Grey Gables taking a close second and The Landing taking third place.

More than 600 votes were cast between the 10 restaurants competing for the Cocoa Championship. The competitors were Bridge Street Tap Room, Cre8tive Cupcake, Grey Gables, Lake Charlevoix Brewing Company, Pigs Eat'n' Ribs, Scovie's Gourmet, Smoke On The Water, Stafford's Weathervane Restaurant, The Bistro and The Landing.

"We would like to thank our beloved locals and tourists for supporting this year's Holiday Open House and Hot Cocoa Trail. Indeed, another successful event," said Alfred Soriano, owner of Cre8tive Cupcake. "It feels so good seeing everyone downtown and enjoying the great weather that December has to offer."

Alfred Soriano-Micheau of Cre8tive Cupcake was the winner of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce's Cocoa Trail contest.

We also would like to send our sincerest appreciation to all the hardworking business owners, staff, and most of all, the Chamber of Commerce for putting together such wonderful event that gives businesses the chance to showcase our products. On behalf of our Cre8tive Cupcake family, we wish everyone a joyous holidays and a great New Year."

The 2015 Charlevoix Hot Cocoa Contest offered a wonderful variety of delicious cocoa for all to sample and enjoy. Those that followed the Cocoa Trail were treated to traditional deep rich chocolate, hazelnut and mint cocoa recipes, as well as home made marshmallows, whipped cream, caramel dipped in chocolate and so much more.

"Thank you to everyone that shopped local and supported our local businesses during the Merchant Open House and Cocoa Contest," said Alison Hubbard, president of the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce. "The community really came together this year to help us offer a great event. We are looking forward to next year's festivities."

A SPECIAL REPORT

Where the wastewater flows

LONNIE ALLEN

(231) 547-6558 - lallen@charlevoixcourier.com

Not many people talk about what happens when a toilet flushes. It might be the butt of a comedian's joke or maybe someone brings it up when an odor fills the air. But for most, sewage is a fleeting thought, gone as soon as the last swirls of water go down the drain.

Beneath buildings and streets snake miles and miles of pipes that transport "used" water flowing from drains and toilets to the wastewater treatment facility, where it's collected, solids are removed from the water and sanitized before it is dispensed back into the environment.

Charlevoix's aging wastewater plant is in the process of completing state-mandated upgrades to lessen the amount of effluent ammonia discharged into Lake Michigan following treatment. Many of the new systems are coming online, which should keep the plant operating for another 25 to 30 years, said city manager Mark Heydlauff.

"It was an investment we had to make," Heydlauff said. "An investment the city expects will keep the facility operating without needing upgrades or more expansion in every few years."

In 2014, city council members approved a 24.5-percent sewer rate hike for the next three years, followed by a 2-percent jump for two years afterward specifically to raise funds to pay for the upgrades.

"Engineers went through the entire facility and all the equipment to see what need to be upgraded," said Randy Wurst, lead operator at the plant. "Pretty much everything here has been replaced."

There are very few pieces of equipment that have not been improved or replaced."

Upgrades included adding a new central operations building that added more space, an upgraded lab, new bathroom facilities, training areas, and a supervisory control and data acquisition system—SCADA, which is slowly coming on line.

"SCADA gives us the ability to monitor what is going on in the entire plant at one central location," Wurst said.

Inside the upgraded lab facility wastewater plant employee Shelly Mayer takes different test of the untreated and treated water to compare levels between the two.

"The lab runs tests five days a week," Mayer said. "Basically the each test tells us what we got coming into the plant and what the final result is—how much the plant removed before being returned."

During a phosphorus test Mayer tested 6.49 per milliliter of phosphorus in the water as it entered the plant and after treatment process the .30 milliliter of phosphorus remained.

New enhancements to the biological system help reduce not only the stink factor, but also all the other deadly, noxious and toxic remains from Charlevoix's wastewater. Microorganisms maintain an active and balanced process of breaking down the solids.

The process begins at the headwork's building is where the raw wastewater comes into the plant and floats through a mechanical bar screen to separate solids—plastic feminine applicators, condoms, flushable wipes—from the wastewater stream. The flow of water splits and goes into two tanks for primary treatment. As water enters the primary clarifiers, which are all new, the sewage is covered to retain heat and odor control.

"Retaining heat helps with ammonia removal," Wurst said. "The organisms that treat ammonia need to be at certain temperature, which is above 50 degrees." Optimally functioning

LONNIE ALLEN/CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The headworks is the first line of defense against the materials flowing into the Wastewater Treatment Plant. The machines typically remove sand, gravel, and other heavy materials such as rags, diapers, and plastic bags, and compresses them into a block of gritty material that is dispensed into the trash.

Nearly 80 million of these little plastic squares are inside each aeration tank at the Charlevoix Wastewater Treatment Plant to allow good microbes to grow, which helps in the water cleaning process.

to lose them once you get them going."

There are about 80 million of the little plastic squares in each one of the tanks and the plastic squares don't break down and allow layers of growth for the cleaning process. Improving the water cleaning process is important because the microorganisms including bacteria, protozoa, and viruses that dwell within wastewater are hazardous. Water that is only minimally treated, can not only cause water borne disease, but algae blooms, which suck out all the oxygen and create dead zones, making water uninhabitable and undrinkable. The upgrades will help the city comply with EPA and DEQ permits for discharging the effluence back into the environment.

Through the clarification of wastewater, in due course all noxious microorganisms are sequestered along with other pollutants. Ultimately clarified wastewater is released. Depending on the time of the year the plant treat any where to 300,000 gallons to 750,000 per day.

"The flow is half in the winter from what it is during the summer," Wurst said.

The plant project helps make the process a more effective biological nutrient removal system, which employs the good bugs and ultraviolet germicidal irradiation at the end of the process to kill microorganisms harmful to aquatic life and humans.

Although consumers in Charlevoix may cringe at the cost of wastewater most understand the health of the Great Lakes and the communities relying on it are priceless.

"The upgrades improved our ability to make sure the effluent flow released meets environmental standards," Wurst said.

and local economy is great for Charlevoix," Livingston said. "Adding more jobs to the area is wonderful news."

The modernization project will remain inside the current plant's footprint and is expected to increase production capacity at the plant by 40 percent, add up to 10 full time jobs and approximately 300 temporary construction jobs also will be created during over the next year-and-half. The company also plans to invest $29 million in pollution control equipment.

John Dixon, who worked for the plant for 22 years before retiring, said he is excited to hear about the project.

"To learn about the new technology and see what they can do with it now is very exciting," Dixon said. "I went through one of these upgrades in 1979 all new technology that is now old. This is progress and I look forward to learning more about the equipment and everything they are doing."

A new raw mill, pre-heater/precleaner, kiln modification, new cooler and new cement finish mill are also part of the modernization project. The completion of the project is expected to be online in mid 2017, where the plant is expected to temporarily shutdown production, Pryor said.

"There are critical points with the project that have to be tied together," Pryor said. "We will build everything up and we will have a window of about 30 days shutdown to tie everything in."

During that period employees will continue to work in other areas and attend training. Pryor added.

"With all the new plant equipment training and some of the normal mill maintenance going on should keep the employees working," Pryor said.

St. Marys Cement is investing $130 million to modernize its Charlevoix plant. The investment will expand capacity from 1.4 million to 2 million tons, upgrade environmental controls, and new infrastructure and is expected to add 10 full time jobs after the project is complete.

Charlevoix Elementary School third-grade students sit near some of the 115 blankets made for the Christmas Project. This year the Christmas Project will take place on Dec. 18, at Bethany Lutheran Church, where some of the students will deliver the blankets to be distributed.

BLANKETS

fleece blankets. The blanket project was so appreciated and well received that it has become an annual Christmas activity in their classrooms.

"It's important for the kids to realize that there are some children in our community who are not fortunate enough to have warm blankets," McLean said.

The project has grown over the years to the point that they can turn out as many as 70-120 blankets in a two-week period if they have enough volunteers to help the children tie at times when they aren't involved in their school work. It has evolved along with the need in the community. Children who are gifted, are delighted with the blankets; older folks, who are recipients during distribution day, have expressed their gratitude as well. Who doesn't want to snuggle under a warm cozy blanket in cold weather?

The grant for money to purchase the material is no longer available, but the slack has been picked up by the generosity of parent and community donations. The classes have received financial help from the PTO (Parent Teacher Organization), the Food Pantry, and the Rotary Club. For the past two years ladies from the Chatter Time group which meets weekly at Charlevoix's Hearts to Holly quilt shop have been graciously cutting blanket edges in order to prepare the fabric for tying by the children.

"I feel like it's a great way to help others. It's also a very good way to give back to the community," said third-grade student Gemma Bonney, who helped tie blankets.

For two weeks between Thanksgiving and Christmas everyone joins the effort. At school, parents come in to help, or take blankets home in order to help the classes make the deadline prior to the distribution day for the Christmas Project. This year on Tuesday afternoon, more than 18 volunteers joined the kids to finish tying off the blankets.

"We are doing this to give warmth to those who can't afford as much this winter and winters to come," said third-grade student Brady Warchol.

This year the Christmas Project will be held on Dec. 18, at Bethany Lutheran Church. The kids will deliver their handiwork in person. Their blankets will add warmth to many homes, sent with love from third-grade students who have found that some of the best lessons of life are not learned from books.

"We are very excited," Barron said. "This is a great event for Charlevoix and should be a great time for the entire family."

Boss, who is known for her art of depicting scenes of Charlevoix, said it was only natural to put the bridge on this year's ornament.

"The bridge captures the essence of the festival," Boss said. "It's a very detailed winter scene that illustrates the bridge going up."

Both the bureau and Elements will sell the commemorative ornaments and more downtown retail locations may be added, Boss said.

"We want to make it convenient to purchase this ornament," Boss said.

Rayders can't crack East Jordan, Bellaire defenses in losses

JAMES GENSTERBLUM
(231) 439-9343 - jgensterblum@petoskeynews.com

CHARLEVOIX — The shots aren't going to fall every night, but a good defense is a constant. That old adage was true for East Jordan on Tuesday night, as the Red Devils overcame a tough shooting night thanks to a strong defensive effort and beat rival Charlevoix 48-34 for a crucial road win to start the Lake Michigan Conference season.

The Red Devils struggled from the floor, especially in the first half, when a stout Rayder defense held them to 18 points and trailed by just two at halftime.

"Our offense really sputtered, and credit to Charlevoix, they were in Jordan's grill the entire game and they didn't give him much space," East Jordan coach Barrin Weber said. "Thankfully, we had great team defense."

"We had scouted them twice and our kids are good students of the game, so we were able to recognize a lot of what was going on on the floor and react accordingly."

East Jordan held Charlevoix to 16 first-half points in its own right, and bought time at the defensive end for the Red Devil shooters to heat up at the other end of the floor.

"I thought collectively, our players did a really good job, and Collin Bajko in particular did an excellent job down low in a tough assignment," Weber said.

Charlevoix's Austin Putman (40) drives to the basket during the Rayders' 48-34 loss to visiting East Jordan on Tuesday.

"We know we're going to have nights where we're not at the top of our game offensively, and when that happens we want our defense to pick up the slack."

The Red Devils found their groove offensively in a 23-point third quarter, led by senior Collin Petrie, who canned three 3-pointers to spark the run.

Petrie finished with 13 points and four assists, while senior Jordan Weber hit three 3-pointers of his own and added 14 points and six rebounds.

Bajko chipped in eight points and five rebounds for the Red Devils, and Thomas Brandell added four points down low as well.

Rayders just miss first win of season over East Jordan, 40-36

EAST JORDAN — A lot can change from one year to the next.

For both the Charlevoix and East Jordan girls' basketball teams, change has been apparent on each side.

A year ago at this date, the Rayders had gotten off to a 3-1 start and had just earned a 33-31 win over East Jordan, who began the season, 2-3.

Now, after Tuesday, the script has flipped, with the Red Devils earning a 40-36 win over Charlevoix in the Lake Michigan Conference opener for each.

"We're certainly in a better position than we were last year, when we started 0-4," East Jordan coach Steve Hines said. "It's been a better start, and it's because we've been playing better as a team. We still aren't shooting the ball as well as we're capable of, but that will come with time."

Despite the struggles for Charlevoix, now 0-4 overall, 0-1 in league, early in the year, their improvement showed against the Red Devils on Tuesday.

"We're getting more team experience," Rayder coach Liz Shaw said. "I thought defensively we played a solid game, holding them to 40 points. Just offensively we have to get better and we are, we keep moving forward."

East Jordan, now 3-1, 1-0, would lead throughout the night.

Charlevoix wrestlers open season with strong showings

CHARLEVOIX — The season is still young, but it's already off to an encouraging start for the Charlevoix wrestling team.

The Rayders went 2-0 against district foes Onaway and Mancelona on opening night, Wednesday Dec. 9, and followed that up with a big day on Saturday at the Manton Invitational, taking second place and putting three wrestlers at the top of the podium.

Against Onaway and Mancelona, Charlevoix pulled out two tight matches, beating the Cardinals 42-34 and the Ironmen 42-39 to start the season undefeated.

Jeremy Chernauckas (112 pounds), Camden Alden (135/140), Max Hinkle (171), Justin Bond (189) and Mick Hinkle (215) each won twice for the Rayders on the night, while Jordan Chernauckas (119 and 125), Tyler McCallum (130), Jake Seger (160) and Jake Petrosky (285) each won a match as well.

The strong performance carried over to Saturday, where Charlevoix put eight wrestlers in the top four finishers in their weight class, and took second in the eight-team Manton Invite.

Leading the way were returning state qualifiers Alden (140) and Mick Hinkle (189), who each continued their undefeated starts to the season by going 4-0 and 5-0, respectively, and winning their weight class.

Also bringing home a title was McCallum, who went 4-0 at 135 to give Charlevoix a third champion on the day.

Jordan Chernauckas went 3-1 at 119 to finish runner-up in his weight class, and Jeremy Chernauckas (112) and Max Hinkle (171) took third.

Seniors Justin Adkins (145) and Seger (160) took fourth overall in their weight classes for the Rayders.

This Wednesday, the Rayders also took part in an assembly duel against rival Boyne City and Rogers City for their last home meet until the district on Feb. 10. The results of those matches will be in the Dec. 24 edition of the Courier.

Stingrays place strong at Gaylord Invitational Swim Meet

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix Stingray Swim Team turned in strong performances at the Gaylord Invitational Swim Meet on Saturday with Joe Gaffney, 8, Charles Kelly, 7, and Thomas Gardner, 16, now joining McKenna Ebert, 17, in qualifying for states.

A total of 24 youth from the swim team participated. "It was exciting to see how well they did. Many of them are first year swimmers, and for some it was their first meet," said coach Phillip Maribough.

Gardner had a big qualifying finish in the boys' 15-18, 200-yard freestyle, placing first with a time of 2:12.83. He also qualified with a second place finish in the 100-yard backstroke at 1:10.63.

Qualifying in the boys' eight and under 25-yard freestyle, Gaffney placed second with a time of 17.5 seconds, with Kelly placing third at 8.62 seconds.

After competing in her second meet of the season, Ebert now qualifies for a total of five events at states. On Saturday, she placed first in the girls' 15-18 100 yard backstroke with an improved time of 1:13.49, while also placing first in the 100-yard breast stroke at 1:22.60 and second in the 100-yard freestyle at 1:03.39.

Other individual top finishes by the Stingrays included:

— Julie Humble, third place, girls 15-18, 200-yard freestyle 3:09.19

— Aidan Boop, third place, boys 9-10, 50-yard freestyle 40.07

— Jacob Walz, first place, boys 13-14, 200-yard individual medley 3:33.04

— Bryce Symons, first place, boys 13-14, 100-yard fly 2:21.08

— Joe Gaffney, third place, boys 8 and under 25-yard fly 26.69

In a group effort, the Stingray's eight and under Mixed Medley, consisting of Kalli Gardner, Charles Kelly, Joe Gaffney, and Kennedy Gardner, finished second in the 100-yard relay with a time of 2:04.34. The 9-10 mixed medley, 200-yard relay placed third with Addison Boop, Aidan Boop, Grace Ewing and Griffin McFaden at 4:01.12.

including 13-10 at the end of the first quarter and 25-22 at halftime.

A 9-6 advantage came for the Red Devils in the third to hold a 34-28 lead heading into the final quarter.

Charlevoix twice cut the lead to two points late, and despite an 8-6 advantage from the Rayders in the quarter, fell by four points.

"We had our opportunities to score, we just didn't," said Shaw. "But I thought we played a better game as far as our effort and defensive effort go."

The opportunities Shaw referred to came at the free throw line, where a 7-for-17 line came for her team, compared to the Red Devils' 13-for-22 clip from the charity stripe, an emphasis placed by Hines to finish games out this season.

"We've had two games now where it could have gone either way and we were able to pull it out, which is something we struggled with last year," he said. "I think that's a sign that we're more experienced and this group has grown from last season."

Miranda Burks led with 10 points and seven rebounds for the Red Devils, while Kendal McNitt and Abby Peterson each added nine points.

Also for East Jordan, Kaitlyn Hines pulled down 11 rebounds and Jill Atwood, five rebounds.

For Charlevoix, who will next face St. Ignace at home following the winter break on Tuesday, Jan. 5, Beth Veenstra led with 12 points and 12 rebounds.

Natalie Nesburg added six points and four steals and Hannah Zipp had five rebounds for the Rayders.

In the junior varsity game, East Jordan earned a 39-17 win over Charlevoix, with Karah Dunson leading with 14 points for East Jordan and Gabby Cutler, 10 points.

OT thriller highlights youth basketball results

JAMES GENSTERBLUM
(231) 439-4343 - jgensterblum@charlevoixcourier.com

CHARLEVOIX — An overtime finish highlighted this weekend's set of games at the Charlevoix Youth League.

The seventh and eighth grade matchup between Team Gaffney and Team Cunningham went to an extra period to settle things, with Team Gaffney coming out on top in overtime.

Lizzie Petrovsky led Team Gaffney with eight points, while Chloe Jensen, Megan Bush and Ella Gaffney all chipped in six.

Abby Cunningham scored 10 points to lead Team Cunningham.

Kate Klinger chipped in eight, and Avery Zipp finished with six.

In the other seventh and eighth grade game, Team Haan defeated Team Buday, led by 22 points from Cunningham and five points from Allison Sape.

Puige Carson scored eight for Team Buday, and Emma Buday and Cheyanne Spangue each chipped in six points.

In the fifth and sixth grade games, Team Lantz defeated Team Trimmer, led by 12 points from Catherine Wagner and six from Kyle Williams.

Lauren Jensen scored six points to lead Team Trimmer, and Cameron Turkison added four.

In the final game, Team Canon and Team Donat played to a tie. Canon, Anna Kate Smith and Lauren Shepherd all scored four points to lead Team Donat, and Makayla Smith scored six points to lead Team Canon.

The first set of games in the youth league, Dec. 18, at the high school. The fifth and sixth grade games start at 8:30 a.m., followed by seventh and eighth grade games at 9:30 and a third and fourth grade skills clinic at 10:30.

A K-through-second grade skills clinic will run from 9-10:15 a.m. at the Elementary school.

For more information on the Charlevoix Youth League, contact Jim Shaw at jshaw@rayder.net.

Another difference-maker for East Jordan was point guard Donny Cutler, who finished with eight points and five assists.

Charlevoix got solid outings from senior Austin Putman, who finished with 13 points and four rebounds, and Walker Drost, who added 12 points and three rebounds.

But the rest of the Rayder roster combined for nine points, and that wasn't enough to keep pace with East Jordan for four quarters.

"We've just got too many guys who don't have the confidence to shoot right now," Charlevoix coach Bret Erskine said. "We stress taking shots if you're open in this offense, but we're passing up too many open shots and not creating better looks off those passes."

"We're happy with the effort defensively so far, but we need to find guys who are willing to step up and knock down open looks when they come, or we're going to continue to struggle."

The Rayders put together a strong defensive effort against the Red Devils, but Erskine said he knew his team needed to put more shots in than it did if it wanted to win.

JAMES GENSTERBLUM/COURIER

Charlevoix's Forrest Noirot (34) goes in for a layup attempt over East Jordan's Jordan Weber (32) during the Rayders' 48-34 loss to the visiting Red Devils on Tuesday.

"We did as well as we could defensively, but there's only so much you can do when the other team has players who can hit shots from the volleyball line," Erskine said. "(East Jordan) is a very strong team at both ends of the floor, and we only were able to match them at one end tonight."

Charlevoix (1-2, 0-1)

took on another strong opponent on Thursday in Glen Lake for its last pre-holiday game. The result of that matchup will be in the Dec. 24 edition of the Courier.

Bellaire 59, Charlevoix 37

BELLAIRE — The Rayders trailed by four at halftime, but were outscored 16-2 in the third quarter as Bellaire pulled away for a 59-37 home victory on Thursday.

Walker Drost scored 11 to lead Charlevoix, which struggled with turnovers after halftime.

"We were rushing way too much offensively in the third quarter, and a lack of patience and the turnovers caused by that really hurt us," Charlevoix coach Bret Erskine said. "(Bellaire) played good defense in the second half, and they're just a great team on both ends of the floor, exactly what you'd expect from a team coached by Stan (Sexton)."

Charlevoix (1-1) has three practices before the Rayders open LMC play with East Jordan at home on Tuesday, and Erskine plans to get good use of all of them.

"You learn more from losses than wins, and Bellaire really exposed a lot of our weaknesses tonight," Erskine said. "Now we know where we're vulnerable, and what we have to work on if we want to be successful this season."

"I know our players are going to get back in the gym tomorrow and get a lot of hard work done to shore up our weaknesses up."

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE

THIS FIRM IS A DEBT COLLECTOR ATTEMPTING TO COLLECT A DEBT; ANY INFORMATION WE OBTAIN WILL BE USED FOR THAT PURPOSE. IF YOU ARE IN ACTIVE MILITARY SERVICE PLEASE CONTACT OUR OFFICE AT THE NUMBER BELOW. Notice under MCL 600.3278: Pursuant to MCL 600.3278, if the property is sold at a foreclosure sale under MCL 600.3201 et. seq., the borrower will be held responsible to the person who buys the property at the mortgage foreclosure sale or the mortgage holder for damaging the property during the redemption period. ATTENTION POTENTIAL PURCHASERS AT FORECLOSURE SALE: In the case of resolution prior to or simultaneously with the aforementioned foreclosure sale, Ditech Financial LLC (f/k/a Green Tree Servicing LLC), as servicing agent for U.S. Bank National Association, as Trustee for Manufactured Housing Contract Senior / Subordinate Pass-Through Certificate 2002-1, may rescind this sale at any time prior to the end of the redemption period. In that event, your damages, if any, shall be limited to the return of your bid amount tendered at the sale, plus interest. Default having occurred in the conditions of a Mortgage made by Christine M. Hayden and Derby A. Hayden III, wife and husband ("Mortgagor") to Conesco Finance Servicing Corp., dated October 31, 2001, and recorded in the Office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix in the State of Michigan on November 7, 2001, in Liber 442, Page(s) 423, et. seq., said Mortgage being last assigned to U.S. Bank National Association, as Trustee for Manufactured Housing Contract Senior / Subordinate Pass-Through Certificate 2002-1 ("Mortgage"), by Mortgage Assignment dated November 23, 2015, and recorded in the Office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix in the State of Michigan on December 3, 2015, in Liber 1112, Page(s) 903, et. seq., in which Mortgage there is claimed to be due as of the date of this Notice the sum of $79,346.16, which amount may or may not be the entire indebtedness owed by Debtors to Mortgagee together with interest at 12.5 percent per annum. NOW THEREFORE, Notice is hereby given that the power of sale contained in said Mortgage has become operative and that pursuant to that power of sale and MCL 600.3201 et. seq., on January 15, 2016 at 11:00 a.m., in the front lobby of the Charlevoix County Courthouse, that being the place for holding the Circuit Court and/or for conducting such foreclosure sales for the County of Charlevoix, there will be offered at public sale, the premises, or some part thereof, described in said Mortgage as follows, to-wit: A PARCEL OF LAND, SITUATED IN THE TOWNSHIP OF EVELINE, COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX, STATE OF MICHIGAN, DESCRIBED AS: COMMENCING AT THE WEST 1/4 CORNER OF SECTION 19, TOWNSHIP 33 NORTH, RANGE 6 WEST; THENCE SOUTH 88 DEGREES 29'31" EAST, 1393.05 FEET TO THE WEST 1/8 POST; THENCE SOUTH 03 DEGREES 28'42" WEST, 726.00 FEET, ALONG THE WEST 1/8 LINE (AS MONUMENTED), TO THE POINT OF BEGINNING; THENCE SOUTH 88 DEGREES 06'01" EAST, 391.10 FEET TO THE WESTERLY RIGHT-OF-WAY OF FERRY ROAD; THENCE ALONG SAID RIGHT-OF-WAY, SOUTH 25 DEGREES 19'50" EAST, 105.00 FEET; THENCE LEAVING SAID RIGHT-OF-WAY, NORTH 89 DEGREES 01'06" WEST, 439.21 FEET TO A POINT ON THE WEST 1/8 LINE OF SAID SECTION (AS MONUMENTED); THENCE NORTH 01 DEGREE 54'01" EAST, 100.40 FEET TO THE POINT OF BEGINNING; 8EING PART OF THE SOUTHWEST 1/4 OF SAID SECTION 19, which also includes any interest Mortgagee may have in the 2001 Patriot Mobile Home, Serial Number VP974484IN. The redemption period shall be six (6) months unless the property is established to be abandoned pursuant to MCL 600.3241a, in which case the redemption period shall be the later of thirty (30) days from the date of sale or fifteen (15) days from the date the notice required by MCL 600.3241a(b) was posted and mailed, or unless under MCL 600.3240(11), prior to the foreclosure sale the borrower follows the procedure set forth in that section to establish the presumption that the property is used for Agricultural purposes, in which case the redemption period shall be one (1) year from the date of the sale. Food FOCUS

1 Chef Rob Graves-Wesolosky begins preparation of the pan-seared scallops served with a Goji berry forbidden black rice and a coconut carrot ginger puree by adding coconut milk as he heats the puree.

Chef creates unique flavorful cuisine for patrons

This week's Food Focus turns its lens to The Drawbridge Bistro — a Stafford's property, where chef Rob Graves-Wesolosky is creating good for you meals prepared in different and innovative ways. Graves-Wesolosky offers a very personable experience for those dining at the restaurant. He has a passion for food and a drive for healthy eating. His goal is to bring as much farm and local products to the menu. Though not every item can be local Graves-Wesolosky is using his skills to bring a unique taste to the Charlevoix waterfront on Round Lake. For Food Focus, Graves-Wesolosky is using scallops found on the Drawbridge Bistro menu and creating a unique dinner entrée for the evening — Pan seared scallops served with a Goji berry forbidden black rice and a coconut carrot ginger puree. This culinary delight uses several super foods that will have patrons wanting more.

During the winter the Drawbridge Bistro is open for breakfast at 8 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday and dinner is from 4:30-9 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. The restaurant is closed Mondays and will be closed Thursday, Dec. 24, and Friday, Dec. 25. The Drawbridge Bistro is located at 100 Michigan Avenue in Charlevoix. Call (231) 758-3801 or visit staffords.com or its Facebook page.

2 While the coconut carrot ginger puree cooks, Graves-Wesolosky adds a little water as he heats a portion of the Goji berry forbidden black rice to be served with the scallops.

3 To get a nice golden brown color on the scallops, Graves-Wesolosky sears the scallops in a hot pan with clarified butter.

4 Each scallop is cooked until each side is a perfect golden brown.

5 Chef Rob Graves-Wesolosky builds the plate first with the coconut carrot ginger puree. He then creates a unique design that will be pleasing to the eye once the entrée is served.

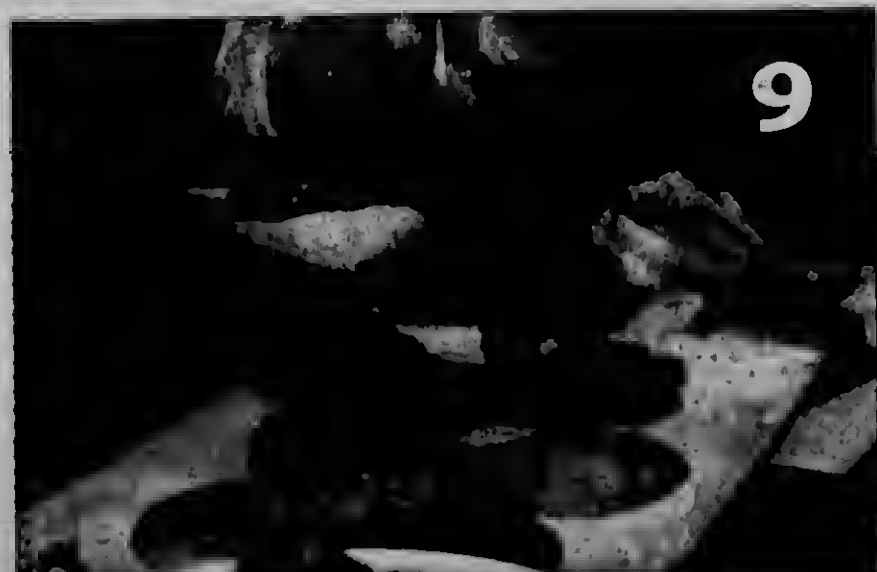

6 The Goji berry forbidden black rice is then placed on the plate before adding the scallops.

7 Each golden brown scallop tops the rice neatly as Graves-Wesolosky continues to build the dinner entrée.

8 Chef Rob Graves-Wesolosky finely chops mixed greens to create a citrus vinaigrette micro-salad to complete his unique culinary creation.

9 The mixed green micro-salad is tossed with a citrus vinaigrette then placed on top of each scallop to complete the dish.

10 Paired with one of Stafford's signature wines the pan seared scallops served with a Goji berry forbidden black rice and a coconut carrot ginger puree is one of Graves-Wesolosky's chef features served at the Drawbridge Bistro. Though not always available on the menu this feature may not always be served. For more information about the menu or what Graves-Wesolosky may be preparing for the evening, call (231) 758-3801 or visit its Facebook page.

Third grade at SHERIDAN WHITE Letters to Santa

Dear Santa,
For Christmas I would like three things. The first thing is not a very uncommon thing. I would like to go to Florida. I heard it is very awesome there. The second thing I would like is a iPhone. I do not have one and when the times comes that I have to baby sit my brother and sister I will need a iPhone. Also when I have to stay home alone. I will need it.

Sincerely, Gaby

Dear Santa,
I really want a furbie because it eat, sleeps and dances and its furry. I would also like minecraft figures because I can collect them. I want a live pet turtle too because I can watch it under water.

Sincerely, Jari

Dear Santa,
I want JJ my Jumpin pug because it'll help me when I am sad. I also want a air hogs shadow lancer because it can shoot a helicopter out of the top of the vehicle and it can fly high and it can fly so fast and in all directions.

Sincerely, Troy

Dear Santa,
for christmas I would like a iPod more than anything in the world. Mainly to keep me occupied and for fun. Second I would like something historical. Something from a long time ago. The last thing is a big lego set one of those from lego city.

Sincerely, Haden

Dear Santa,
I believe in you that you actually insist so do my friend like Nolan, Ethan bobby. Every one should believe in you our they get coal. I'm very strong and thankful for you. I always give you cookie and milk.

Sincerely, Kadya

Dear Santa,
I want a gruffie about 30 feet long and a puppy a new born puppy and a new barbie one puzzles and a chinese doll please a 9 feet doll too.

Sincerely, Keyana

Dear Santa,
I want a Halo set because they are very cool. I want a xbox too because I can do homework on it. I really want transformer because I am a big fan of it.

Sincerely, Payton

Dear Santa,
Well let me start off with the electronics I really want a computer it would be great! Well now let start off with the cooking stuff really want a yumie numie stuff please. now I want a girl cooking oven. Please I want everything I wrote you so if you get this please write me back please.

Sincerely, Emma

Dear Santa,
I want a ipad touch. So I do not play on my mom's phone. I would like a stop watch. for my ipad touch and my homework and just for fun running laps. I would like a laptop for christmas so I can do my homework on it and for screen times.

Sincerely Sara

Dear Santa,
I am going to send you my wish list soon. I can not wait until christmas it will be so fun. I have a lot of stuff so you can eas up on the stuff you will get me and landon. Please write back before christmas please.

Sincerely, Seth

Dear Santa,
Hi Santa I been very very good this year so I want a phone I could call my family with my phone in stead of borrowing a phone. and a dirt bike so I would not bug my parents when they are waking and pokemon to add to my collection.

Sincerely, Devin

Dear Santa,
I want a American girl hanerlin. Kaerokey C.D. American girl doll glass.

Sincerely, Avery

Dear Santa,
I would like a lego set for Christmas because I have a lego set at my house and it only builds 2 things.

Sincerely, Isaac

Dear Santa,
I really would like a ipad so I don't get bored. So I don't annoy my parents. So I don't have to use moms Also I would like a puppy. I don't have a pet. So I can have a fuzzy friend. I won't have to ask mom millions of times. P.S I have cookies and milk.

Sincerely, Abigail

Dear Santa,
One thing I want is pokemon and I think I deserve it because I was really, really good all year long.

Sincerely, Patience

Wishing You
a Happy & Healthy 2016

Third grader's at CHARLEVOIX WRITE: Letters to Santa

Dear Santa,
How do you do? have you been taking care of the reindeer? Hows Rudolph and Frosty and the Grinch? Do you like your job on christmas? I have a few things I want for Christmas and they are a Miposaur, the new super charger sylander and a M.Megatross pole card set. If you cant get anything just get me a plasma baii or a mote control scorpion car. If you dont get any of those its because I have at least 50 things on my real list. Now keep on working you've still got a lot move, but give yourself a rest once in a while you need some!
Merry Christmas, Alex

Dear Santa,
How are you doing? I bet you are very busy and tired. How is Mrs. Clause? I have been a good helper over the past year. It went by so fast, don't you think? There is no snow in Michigan yet. I hope we get snow! There's nothing better than a white chistmas! My family won't get alot of presents the year. But I'm fine with that. Something I want for christmas is a bracelet making kit, another thing is Snap Circuits and some orbies orbies are little balls that expand in water. I want to make cookies for you. I hope you aren't too buzy! Thank you if you get me presants if not theres always next year! Merry Christmas Eden Hadfield How's the north Pole? Is it cold up there? I bet it is. I keep a platter full of cooking & milk for you. My family always feeds the reindeer too! I hope I'm on the good list cause I have a couple things I want this year one is 2 xbox controllers a giant toy helicopter and a toy race car. One reason why I want the helicopter is mine crashed. If you can't get those, maybe next year.

Sincerely, Matthew

Dear Santa,
I hope you have been very well and I would like to say some things before I tell you what I want. First I would like to ask how is Mrs. Clause and the elves? I hope thy're doing good. Next I like to ask what kind of cookies do you like? Ok now I will tell ou what I want. I would like a new coat because all my other coats are not warm enuff. The other thing I would like is a new dress and I would like it to be pink I hope you get my letter.

You're Friend Cameron

Dear Santa,
How is Rudolph? What is your favrit cookies? Has Frosty Been ok? I have been a good cookie. There are three things I want. One thing is a XXL Huskey Big eye second thing I want is a big baer thierd thing I want is jem pets (ten). I hop you have a nuf engy to delivered presints. How cold is the North pole? Have Grinch been good? I will wear my christmas pajamas. I wear them evre Christmas eve.

Love: Ava

Dear Santa,
How have you and Mrs. Claus been? Have you the elves and your raindeer been working hard? Id love to help you deliver the presents undet the christmas trees. Hopefully you have a good Christmas. Has the grinch been staying big and green? Can I please have a remotecontrol helicopter, a bunch of snowmobile stickers, and a Santa coustome? Tell the elves and raindeer to be good. Have a wonderful, great, injoying christmas. I love Christmas!!!!

Sincerely, Hayden

Dear Santa,
How is it in the North Pole? How are the reindeer? I've been helping my mom and dad. It hasn't snowed in Michigan yet. I would really enjoy it if I could tell you a few things I would like. First, I would like an author kit: With pens and papers. I need it because I love to write stories. The second thing I would like is some bunney toys for smudge. Thank you for thinking of me. If you can't get me the things on my list that's ok. I know your bussy.

Sincerely, Genna

Dear Santa,
How are the reindeer? I would love to come into your workshop and help out sometime soon. I have been helpful around the house this past year. I have tried to be good all year, and I would really appereciate three things that I really want, the first thing is a puppy, the next thing is roller blades and one more is some new pants. Santa thank you for thinking of me this year and If you can't get me these things that is ok.

Happy Holidays, Adele

Dear Santa,
How are you doing? Well I am doing grat. I have ben soing a lot of chors. In fat I wood love to help you. I hope your ran dores are rede to fly. Now I wont to tell you a cupll things I wont. One thing I wont is a 22 barel shot gun. A nother thing I wont is a kareoke ball. Finaly, I want a red diamond. Thank for thinking of me. If you can't get any thing I want that would be fine.

Third-grader's at CHARLEVOIX WRITE: Letters to Santa

Dear Santa,
I hope you are not too busy on Christmas Day or Christmas Eve. I want to tell you few things we are learning in school: math, writing and science. as for hat I want an American Girl Doll. The next thing is an Ice Cream Maker. The last is a little live bird toy. I hope you have a great Christmas!
Merry Christmas, Skye

Dear Santa,
How are you doing at the North Pole Santa You are probably busy but I am going to make a list but it won't be long and not hard to make. I want the important stuff on my list which is a snow cone machine and cotton candy maker I also want a phone. that is all I hope you have a good Christmas.
Gage

Dear Santa,
I know you are busy so I will keep this letter short. I love the flash rider 360 you got me 2 or 3 years ago. I play with them alot. Christmas will be fun this year! What I want for christmas is a DS and a four wheeler and one more thing I want is a Michigan sweatshirt. If you could get one of those things that would be nice I'm really hoping for these presents for christmas.
Merry Christmas! Cameron

Dear Santa,
I know it's early but I want to tell you somethings I want for Christmas. I wrote this letter at school. Thanks for the Lego's! As for what I want for Christmas, Santa, are a reindeer, an i-pod, a cat that catches mice, too. That's all. Have a fun year! :)
Sincerely, Nolan

Dear Santa,
Hello Santa how is Mrs. Claus sowing I am so excited for Christmas to How is frosty doing I hope frosty didn't melt. Santa how do you travel around the world in one night. I'm so excited to see my presents. Santa can I please have a Arehocks helicopter to fly all around the place. Can you get meso like is good shirts for the tree. Santa can ya get me some michigan hat, coat, glass, doots, pants, shirt, socks, shous, swet shirts. I hope I see you soon.
Happy Holiday Love, Avery

Dear Santa,
How has Roudolph been this year? I hope his nose is still bright red. I've been really hoping that we could get more snow in Michigan. I have been really nice this year. Here are a few of things I would really enjoy this year. one is a Justice gift card a pretty new ring. and to spend time with my wonderful family. The reason why I want the Justice gift card is because its my favorite store in the world! I would love a nice ring but the point of christmas isn't to get gifts its to spend time with loving, nice, family!
Happy Holidays, Ellia

Dear Santa,
I hope you are ok. How are the elves? Are they ok. I think I was good but my sister is throwing a lot of fits a dont cloas. I would like to have some lego Friens, a Amarecin girl doll and car. You are the best. I hope you have good traves and I hope there is no snow snow storm in Charlevoix. I will leave a little cupcake for you.
Love, Sarah

Dear Santa,
How are you Santa? Is Frosty the Snowman ok? I wholud like to help with the reindeer. I hate it show's in charlevoix. How is Mrs. Claus? I have been really good. All I want is a laptop but if you can not get it a plasmu ball will do. I have not been bad and I clean my room erry day. Santa thank you for evrything and happy holidays.
You frend, Logan

Dear Santa,
How are the reindeer? I've been VERY good. I really hope it'll snow soon. I hope you still have magic for Christmas Eve. I hope I'm on the good list. Tis is 1 thing I'd like. American girl doll clothing. I want this because I would like some fancy clothes and farm na dresses for my American girl doll, Mary Grace. OOPS I more thing I'd like Money for Humane Society. I understand if you can't get these for me. Have a safe and good flight.
Happy Holidays, Akira

Dear Santa,
Hi, my name is Romi! How are your Reindeer? Thank you for th presents I got last year! Simain is a great elf. Thank you for giving us a wonderful elf. I have been good this year. I've been good this year. I've been taking care of our dogs. I have a couple of things I want for Christmas. An ipod and a puppy! Sincerly, Olivia

Dear Santa,

I know that your relly busy and I can not tell you what kind of cookies I am putting out for you. I can not wait for christmas morning. I hope I can get a new 3DS because I lost my old one. Plesae bring more games for it. If you get me the game gogly eyes that will realy make me happy. These are the things I want for Christmas: a new coat and some spy stuff so I can spy on my family. And a new aird soft gun. I broke my old one somehow when I was moving. Also I want a set of ski's for next year and a metel nim snowboard.

From the best kid in the world, Connor

Dear Santa,

How are you and the reindeer? I hope their okay! It has only snowed one time where I live! Do you come down the chimney to deliver toys? I have been really good girl this year, which you already know because, you know when we are sleeping. You know when we're awake. You also know if we've been bad or good. Some things I've really been hoping for are... A charm bracelet, walkie talkies, rubix cube, messenger bag and a alarm clock. I also want everyone to get something they really want. My favorite thing in christmas dinner is the mashed potatoes! Whats your favorite food Christmas dinner? At the North Pole do you eat anything different for Christmas dinner? I wish you and Mrs. Claus an fantastic Christmas!

Love, Karlie

Dear Santa,

I'm so exsited for Tinkle to come back I hope you did good so far. Iv ben sooiing dishes evernight. it that good? I have things so far. I whod like a new coat and can I have a chocolate maker and a electric guitar! Becuse I was wishing for it last time so much. Please so can I? Can I have a drohe to? I hope you have a grate time answering all these questions! Can I ask you questions? so I'm not going to bother you any more ok! I hope you have a grate day love you!

Love Renee

Dear Santa,

How are you Santa well i'm sure your busy with the elves. I still remember when you for me and Jacob that hockey table fromlast year. I realy want a remote control drone and phone so I can keep in touch with my mom and dad. Oh I forgot I also want a black Bmx bike. Also can you tell Mrs. Clause hello for me. Theres a couple more things I want from you a pocket knife, a big spying and nerf modulous. I might make you the same cookies as ever year or maybe a different flavor.

Love, Aiden

Dear Santa,

How have you been? I hope you get a lot of sleep this year. Is the Grinch on the bad or good list? There are some things I would really like is an ipod. That is what I would like for Christmas. I want more but I don't need to tell you all of it. Merry Christmas!

Letters to Santa

Dear Santa,

I have a few questions to ask. What is your real name? "can" you try to not eat my cookies" and milk every year? Could you try to have every body at our Chrismas Party. Could you mayby have everybody give me what I want.

Lyndzie

Dear Santa,

I have a few question's 1. What is your favorite color? 2. How many elves do you have? 3. What's your real name? Those are my 3 questions. Even though some people don't believe in you well I do so. So much. I hope kids have so much fun with all the toys they get. I hope you have a good Chrismas.

Love, Jenna

Dear Santa,

How are you? What is your favorite color? My favorite color is teal, like my finger nails! Are you smart? If you are smart spell it! If you spelled smart you're wrong. The right answer is "it"! Can you come to our christmas concert? It is on Dec. 3, 2015 at 10:00am! PS. if you can't come it is okay

Sincerely, Charlotte

Dear Santa,

I thank you for every thing that you have done for the world. I hoep you enjoy your job. I just want you to know that what I want for my family is to spend more time with each other. Can you please do that for my family? I know some people don't believe in you but I do and I think that evrything is possible like God said.

Skylee

Dear Santa,

How are you? Are you tried when you are done working? What is your favorite color? Mine is teal. are you smart? Spell "it". If you spell smart your are wrong? Spell "it"! What is your favorite thing to do. I love to read. Do you?

Ella

Dear Santa,

How are you? Do you have any cat's or dog's? or neither? Can I tell you a joke? Good. Why did the chwckin cross the road? To get to KFC? Good one right? Ho! Ho! Ho! Ops, Hal Ha! ha. Can I tell you another joke? Good! Why dues santa fly in a sleagh? because he is too famaus to walk!

Sarah

Dear Santa,

Thank yo for making and delivering toys all around the whole world. I think thats very very nice. I think you are nice. I think you are an awesome guy and I will definately put cookies and carrots on the table. Can you mak my grandpa Mike come home for Christmas and in our hearts.

Emma

Dear Santa,

I will do in Florida this year for Chrismas I hope I get good presents christmas is my travovite holiday have a good thanksgiving.

Colby

Dear Santa,

How are you? On Christmas I will leav you cookies. Santa you are the best guy ever. You make Christmas the best day ever. Do your reindeer fly? I can't believe you don't have to have bathroom break's. When you are done are you tired?

Cooper

Dear Santa,

Hi, How have you beem? How are your reindeet/ What does it look like at the North Pole? Do you have fun at the North Pole? Do you buy present or you make them? What are you elves doing? I hope I get to spend time with mom. I hope you have a good Christmas.

You friend Brandon

Dear Santa,

I hope you can give my family and I some family time. I hope you can do that for me, Santa. One more thing, five everyone a good Christmas. Thanks! You're the best in every way, Santa.

Love Kabe

Dear Santa,

Hi, I'm Avery. Do your randeer Aitey fly? I barly even blevy in magic. How big do you think your work shop is? I think it's preety big.

Avery

Dear Santa,

I hope you have a good Thanksgiving and i hope you have a good Christmas i hope you give everything that they get ok. If you can get a big chicken, cook it then send some to me ok? i'm not judging. But if you do please send me one, ok? If you get any good presents give them to the other kids. I have some good toys ok.

Zach

Dear Santa,

I want to know if my famly can have time together. I want meand my famly to have time togeher. I would like to have time with famly outside. I would like to have time with my dad and mom and brother and sister. that would be great.

Gage

Dear Santa,

Can you make a big family reunion for Christmas? And get to see all mu cousins, aunts, uncles, and grandmas and grandpas. We all are at drumend Island. PS thank you.

Jacob

Dear Santa,

Am I naughty or nice? Do you like cookies? I would like a snow board. Why do you sleep so much?

Elena

Dear Santa,

How are the raindeet and elves? I can't wait for Christmas. And I promise I will give you lots of cookies and milk and carots for you and the raindeet. And how is Mrs. Claus? And I can not wait for Frank to come! Well I hope you have a good Christmas!

Love Ava

Dear Santa,

Hey Santa What's up? How have you been doing? How has Ms. Clause been doing to? And how have your elves been? I hope you're all ready for Christmas this year? I am. I've been being good this year right? I think I have been. I will leve some milk and cokes out for you. Merry Christmas Santa.

Parker

Dear Santa,

This year for Christmas I would like World Peace and that every kid in the world will get a toy on Christmas day. On and by the way hi how are you? I have a few questions to you. One how many elves do you have at your work shop? Tow, What is your favorite movie? Three do you like to play in the snow? Santa I will leave you some cookies and chocolate milk and Christmas eve, your friend.

Ella

Dear Santa,

I want to have my whole family on Christmas day. I want to have a wondful day on Christmas. I hope that on Christmas that it will not be slippery on the roads so nobody will slip in their cars and Christmas day.

Ava

Dear Santa,

Hi how are you doing? how doe's Rudolph's nose light up? I would really LOVE a room defender! What do you feed the reindeer? how do you make the reindeer fly? how are all the reindeer doing? and also how are you and Mr's Claus doing? I hope you are doing good.

Darrin

Dear Santa,

To be honest, I really dont need any more stuf animals. But I would like to know if you want cookies and milk or carrots and milk? I hope you like the card I gave you. Oh I almost forgot, can I pease get a new ipod. Thank you SANTA!!!! MERRY Christmas!

Kaitlyn

Dear Santa,

You are so nice and give us gifts. Why do you never ask for anything in return? Do you not want anything? I have been a good boy all year. I am not lying. How are you?

Hunter

Dear Santa,

How do you fly all aroud the world in one night? how do you elf's make that many toy's in one night! can your reindeer actually fly?

Third-grader's at CHARLEVOIX WRITE: Letters to Santa

Dear Santa,

I am sure that you are busy so I'll keep this short. There are a few things that I want for Christmas. First can you tell Michal to be good. I wish you would come every day. As for what I want for Christmas, Santa, I would ask for a guitar because I want to play it. another thing, I would like a new soccer ball because my other one have a hole in it. I do not know what kind of cookies that we are going to make. I think I am on the good list because I let my brothers play in my room. I hope every kid gets some presents. Happy Holidays

Kaydence

Dear Santa,

Can you have candy the elf back early you must be very busy. I will not tell you about the cookies I want it to be a surprise. Christmas is the best holiday ever. Hey Santa! I want a remote control drone so I can spy on my family. I also want a pet lizard. Oh, and before I forget I also want a gun. You're the best! I hope you have a great vacation.

Love, Logan

Dear Santa,

I'm sure that you are very busy. So I'll keep it short. There are a few things that I want to tell you before I tell you what I want for Christmas. If you need help at the work shop you know to get me. And if you need my help feeding the reindeer I could help. There are a few things I want for Christmas number one roller blades, number two paint by number three easy back oven, number four things for winter. Because I don't have much things for winter. I hope you will have a safe ride on the sleigh.

From Kali

Dear Santa,

Hi I am Mathew. How are the reindeer doing? I know you will be busy this year. I am doing awesome! I want lots of things for Christmas. I want railroad tracks in my yard, new tape, and some crayons. I am hoping to get railroad track in my yard so I can get a train. I hope you have a safe trip.

From Mathew

Dear Santa,

I am sure you have been busy so I'll tell you just a few things. The first thing I want to tell you is that I have been curious has Jack been in trouble a lot up in the North Pole? Can you send him down early? As for what I want for Christmas I pretty much want two things. The first thing I want is a pocket knife that is camouflaged and a phone so I can call my mom and I can play?

Sincerely, Aiden

Dear Santa,

Hey Santa! How are you doing? If you're doing good I am too. I still remember 1st Christmas when you left that note next to googly eyes. I loved when that happened. The cookies I think are going to be home made. I hope your reindeer are doing good too. Tell them I said "Hi". I hope you're excited for Christmas Eve. I also hope your elves are ok too. I have a question for you. Which one is your favorite elf? I only want a few things. The first one is a Wubble Bubble Ball I've been wanting one ever since it came out. Another one is a new bike (if I get one before Christmas, then you don't need to make it) my other one is too small, and the last thing I want for Christmas is the Roller Coaster Tycoon 3 Deluxe Edition. I heard it's better than Platinum. And that's all! I really hope that I will see you sometime. Happy Holidays!

David

Dear Santa,

I am looking forward for this Christmas. So is my sister and brother at my house I am working on a letter for you. For Christmas I would like American Girl Doll. I would like her to have a house with her. I would like her because my friends has her too. That is all I would like for Christmas. I hope you have a great Christmas.

Best Regards, Chloe

Dear Santa,

How is your year so far? Mine is good. I want a Nerf gun. I want a new fishing rod. And a hole bunch of candy. Please don't put coal. I hope we have snow this year.

From Carsen

Dear Santa,

Hi Santa, I know that you are really busy but I want to tell you that I have been really good by helping clean. I really want to help the elves and feed the reindeer. I'd also help with other stuff. For Christmas I want cute new shoes because I have been out growing them and they keep getting broke. Can I have a real husky puppy please. I hope you can get to all the boys and girls.

Your Friend, Taryn

Dear Santa,

I bet you have been busy this year. I hope you're well and ready for the Christmas. I've been playing. as for what I want this Christmas, there's so much I want. The things I want is a elf on the shelf because I've never had one. I also want the Bean Boozle Challenge because I've never tried it yet. I'd like a frozen fever poster because my other one ripped. I also would like a mini gumball machine because I've never had one. I think that every child is a good child. Thanks for this wonderful holiday. I think you're the best.

Sincerely, Lily

Dear Santa,

How are you Santa? I miss you. On October 9th I broke my arm. I still remember when my mom asked what you got me. I really hope you likes that cookies that my mom put out last year. I can't tell you what kind because I don't know what kind they are. Can you get me a phone? because I would be able to call my mom when I'm at the babysitters. Also I would like some fake nails. The other thing I want is an elf on a shelf. Thank you for giving me toys. I hope you have a good good Christmas! Happy Holidays,

Ella Mae

Dear Santa,

How are you doing? Are you having a good year? Well I am! It has been a very good year! Because I get to play foot ball at school. Can you please get me some stuff for Christmas? Can I have a dirt bike riding suit in blue? Can I please have a real football helmet too? But can it be a Lions one? If you can, thank you!

From Brady

Letters to Santa

Dear Santa,

Hi Santa! you know I've always wounded if you control winter! I hope the rain deer are ready to soar throw the sky and make kids so happy. I'd just love if I could turn in to a elf and help all year around. Santa I would love if I could tell you some things I want for christmas. First I, would like the hunted clenchen of monster high dolls because I've been good. Next I'd love a computer of my own please. I wish I could meet you. Have a merry christmas. P.s. be careful of the Grinch.

Love, Natalie

Dear Santa,

How is everything? I hope you get some sleep. If you are not ready in time I could help. I would love to wash the sleigh. Has the Grinch been naughty? I can't wait to bake cookies with my family so you could have some. Have a great rest of the year! There is only a few things I want! I would like some cake mixes for my easy bake oven. The next one is the lego friends hotel. I have been trying my hardest to be good. If that's too much to ask for it's okay. Thank you for thinking of me! It was so kind of you to think about me keep resting.

Thanks! Brooklin

Dear Santa,

How are you doing Santa? I remember when my elf Scot Calvin wrapped the toilet paper around the tree. How are the raindeer? I want an American girl doll with blond straight hair for Christmas. For Christmas I want a labrador retriever brown. Can you also get me a play house. I have been very good and I'll like what you give me Tell Mrs. Clause I want to see her. Can Scot Calvin come every day? Does he know I moved? have a good thanksgiving!

Merry Christmas Myer

Dear Santa,

I think it would be hard to deliver all those presents in one night. I'd like to say a few things. I like to read a half an hour a day. DO you like to read Santa. I like the iPod you gave me last year I will tell you the most important thing on my list. It's a 65 cc kowasaki dirt bike. I will ride it alot. I will also be safe. I've been working hard.

Sincerely Emmett

Dear Santa,

I hope you are Mrs. Claus are doing well in the North Pole. Thank you for the presents last year. I am learning about you in school. Do you remember our elf? Please tell him to not be a trouble maker. As for what I want for Christmas there are a few things I want. There are the top three things. an O'dell Brikham Jr. Jersey Hoolyo Jones Jersey and a lot of seahawk and spartan stuff. I have been good this year. Thank you for being Santa!

Merry Christmas Brady

Dear Santa,

I know you are busy so I will keep my list short. First of all please say hellos to Mrs. Claus for me. Second, thank you for the presents last year. I really likes the scooter. Every year my dad puts a big fathead of you outside my bed room door so when I wake up on Christmas it would look like you were there. Santa, I only want a few things like a Exooter M1650bl kids trick scooter with 110 alloy wheels and pegs in blue/black, a ramp with a rail and a ramp. I know I will like what ever you get me.

Merry Christmas Benjamin

Dear Santa,

How are you? I would come and help you with the grinch. How is Rudolph? you are the best. I will give you hot chocolate. one thing I want is a plasma ball or a zoomer nine chompling and all the mine craft figers. Santa, thank you for thinking of me this year. I understand how busy you are.

Love, Michael

Dear Santa,

From Teddy

Dear Santa,

I'm Casson and I an 8 years old. I have been bad and good over the year. The things I have been bad about was torturing Megah, yelling at Zoe and talking back to mom and dad. Some of the reasons I was good was telling the truth, and not arguring with mom and dad to go to bed. Sorry for being bad santa! Santa I want a melal detector for Chrismas. Theye are two wersions. Then I can do more then swim at the beach and when I go to the cabin in the summer I can use my own. This is what I want in my stocking. I want some candy and some small toys. Santa do you have yetis that help you? Do you have any swords? Howhave your reindeer been. Have anybeen sick or naughty? Have any elfs quit their jobs. I have been wondering those questhons. Can you tell me how Rolnick and Silveyne have been. Thank you for sending my presents to my gigi and papa house. Also thanks for my sky lanterns present you gave me last year. Thank you again for all my toys you gave me thank you for the last time for all the cand you gave me. Thank you Santa!

Sincerely Casson

Charlevoix Elementary School third-grade students bring all the blankets they made as part of this year's blanket project. The project has grown over the years to the point that they can turn out as many as 70-120 blankets in a two week period if they have enough volunteers. The students delivered the blankets to Bethany Lutheran Church to be distributed on Dec. 18. The blankets are part of the Charlevoix Community Christmas Project.

CHARLEVOIX — Months of planning, donating and giving came to fruition on Friday, Dec. 18, as people lined up outside of Bethany Lutheran Church to pickup the needed supplies to have a very merry Christmas.

As the snow fell from the sky blanketing the area outside, the feeling of compassion was felt inside the church where more than 100 volunteers made sure that all went well for the more than 400 children in 250 families that filed through the church on Friday.

This year's project was definitely another success story, according to Mary Eveleigh and Rebecca Jeakle who co-coordinated this year's project.

"The residents in our community are very thoughtful," Eveleigh said. "It is because of our community's generosity that this project is able to help so many people. Each year more people are willing to pitch in and help to bring smiles to the clients."

The days prior to distribution day, community volunteers were packing boxes of food, organizing toy tables, coat, hat and boot rooms, a craft center and a teen room in the church community center. Many of the toys and games were collected locally from the Toys for Tots collection centers around town.

CHARLEVOIX — Driving down Pearl Avenue in Charlevoix's North Point, near Mount McCauba, an inviting home full of holiday cheer and festivities lights up the yard.

Each year an annual tradition of Marilyn and Dale Boss decorating their lawn and house at 9336 Pearl Ave., continues thanks to Bo Boss and his siblings. They have taken over the reins of the elaborate Christmas display tradition started by their parents.

"When mom passed people thought we would be done with it," Bo Boss said. "But we had already been decorating for the past 10 years for mom and dad so we kept it going."

It was Marilyn who loved Christmas.

Photography display promotes Charlevoix club

LONNIE ALLEN

CHARLEVOIX — About every three to four months a group of photographers will have their work displayed in businesses throughout the Charlevoix community. These photographers belong to the Charlevoix Photography Club — an organization where its members are often seen promoting the beauty of Charlevoix through a camera's lens.

Recently the club was recognized as a Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce member of the month. One of the reasons for being chosen is the club's rotating Feature Artist displays that have been installed in seven locations around Charlevoix.

"We thought it would be a good idea to have a featured artist program in a number of businesses in our town," said Mike Schlitt, a founding member of the club. "It's a win-win for all. A win for the artist, the business and our club."

Carol Greenslade is responsible for coordinating businesses and photographers in the Featured Artist program. The most difficult task is coordinating art with the participating business.

"The main thing we need to figure out is which sizes and location fits best for each artist," Greenslade said. "Each piece is different and what works best at each location takes planning."

Getting the Featured Artist program started was easy because

Tip of the Mitt Sail and Power Squadron hones skills, confidence

LONNIE ALLEN

(231) 547-6558 • lallen@charlevoixcourier.com

"The Members Log" is a series where the Charlevoix Courier will feature a member of the Tip of the Mitt Sail and Power Squadron, which is a chapter of the United States Sail and Power Squadron. All the chapters promote boating through education, seamanship and navigation for all vessels small or large sailing and mechanically powered. The series is designed to tell the personal boating stories of each member, share their experiences with the organization and give the reader an insight about membership with the Tip of the Mitt Sail and Power Squadron. This month the Courier turns its light to Bob D'Alcorn, member of the Tip of the Mitt Sail and Power Squadron.

Bob D'Alcorn grew up spending his summers on Muskegon Lake where he was able to start boating at a very young age. His first experience was riding in his family's Chris Craft wooden speed boat and when he got a little older he ventured out on his own or with his brother and friends in an 18-foot metal rowboat.

"We would row this boat all over Muskegon Lake exploring the sand dunes, Devil's Kitchen, commercial fishing villages and anywhere that peaked our interest," D'Alcorn said. "We also went perch fishing often with our dad. At the age of 8 or 9, I was able to use a three-horsepower outboard motor to extend our boating adventures. As a teenager our thing was water skiing in a much faster boat."

Besides boating Tip of the Mitt Sail and Power Squadron member Bob D'Alcorn enjoys another pastime on the water — bass fishing.

During D'Alcorn's college years he learned to sail. He raced a 28-foot E Scow sailboat in races on Muskegon Lake and in regattas in western Michigan and in national regattas from New Jersey to Wisconsin. Then as happens to most young men, he got married, started a career and raised a family. Boating took a back seat except for a few sailing trips on other friends' boats. Toward the end of his working career he had the opportunity to help move a sailboat from Boyne City to Muskegon.

"While sailing across Lake Charlevoix I said to the skipper that Lake Charlevoix really looked like a great sailing lake," D'Alcorn said. "So when I got home I told Jan (my wife) that when we start thinking of retirement, we should look around Lake Charlevoix for a place to retire. That we did. In 1998 we bought a condo above Ferry Beach Park in Charlevoix."

Jan and D'Alcorn both retired in May of 2001 and moved to Charlevoix that same year. Also in May of that year the couple bought a 34-foot Catalina sailboat.

"Jan had never sailed so I started slowly teaching her how to sail and did not venture very far," he said. "I soon realized that there was a lot more to boating than both Jan and I needed to learn."

When D'Alcorn learned that the Tip of the Mitt Sail and Power Squadron taught everything a person may want to know about boating, the couple joined. The couple both took seamanship and piloting classes. D'Alcorn wanted to learn more so he also took classes taught by the Tip of the Mitt Squadron that included: engine maintenance, electronics, weather, advanced sailing, anchoring, navigation using a sextant, among others.

"We now feel comfortable adventuring further away from home," he said. "We took the sailboat across Lake Michigan to Door County in Wisconsin, to the UP and the Mackinac straits area."

In 2008 the couple sold the sailboat and bought a power boat — a 35 foot trawler. A trawler is a boat that is built to be lived on for extended periods of time.

"As all dedicated sailors would say, we went to the dark side," D'Alcorn said. For the past seven years Jan and D'Alcorn have traveled to the North Channel in Ontario, Canada in northern Lake Huron and lived on the boat for two to three months. They stay at various anchorages from seven to 12 days and only come into a marina to pump out, get water and supplies.

"For the next two summers we plan to do the Down East Circle Route with three other boats, which will take us out onto the Atlantic Ocean," he said. "We will travel the Trent-Severn Waterway to Lake Ontario, down the Saint Lawrence River to the Canadian Maritime Provinces, to Maine and the rest of New England. Then we go up the Hudson River, through the Erie Channel to Lake Ontario, back through the Trent-Severn Waterway to the Georgian Bay and then back to Charlevoix."

"We will go through many locks, crossing open water that will require motoring at night and needing to pilot unknown waters," he added. "Without the knowledge I learned in the Tip of the Mitt Squadron classes I wouldn't feel comfortable making this trip. But with this knowledge I can't wait until next summer comes."

If people have any interest in becoming a member of the Tip of the Mitt Sail and Power Squadron or would like any information about the Squadron call D'Alcorn at (231) 547-6901 or email at bjdalcorn@gmail.com.

Bridge closure talks continue between local first responders

LONNIE ALLEN

CHARLEVOIX — Local units of government and emergency services continue to plan for 2017 Charlevoix bridge closure.

The $1.3 million project requires overnight closures of the only crossing of the Pine River Channel in Charlevoix. For 12 consecutive nights from 11 p.m. to 5 a.m. the bascule bridge will be closed to all vehicle traffic and that has local police and fire officials planning months in advance.

"I'm sure we will have discussion coming up to work out the logistics during those nights the bridge is closed," said Gerard Doan, Charlevoix fire and police chief.

Gerard Doan

Lyn Jenks

In late November staff from the Michigan Department of Transportation at the Gaylord Transportation Service Center were in Charlevoix to prepare the public for planned nightly bridge closures associated with a project to upgrade the U.S. 31 bascule bridge beginning in late 2016.

"We realize this is a vital roadway, vital bridge to the city of Charlevoix for economic and tourism in the area, which is why it is important to us to make sure this bridge is in good working operation," said Matt Radulski, Gaylord TSC operation engineer.

MDOT officials hope to have contractor bids in May 2016, with planned bridge work scheduled to begin around Dec. 20, 2016 and a tentative project completion date around May 25, 2017. The maintenance work and upgrades to the bascule bridge will include, electrical and mechanical system repairs, span balancing, steel superstructure painting and improvements to the bridge approaches.

Charlevoix Township Fire Chief Dan Thorp has reached out to the city of Charlevoix by offering fire coverage for the city on the north side during the closure periods. The township has two fire stations already located north of the Pine River channel. Doan said he would like to work out a deal with the Charlevoix Township for fire assistance on the north side.

"We need to look at where the personnel are at before we determine who is covering what during the bridge closure," Doan said. "How we share the personnel when the bridge is up is one thing we still need to look at."

Doan also plans to stage a police officer and vehicle on each side of the bascule bridge during the nightly closure period.

Emergency Medical Services also will have to be coordinated during the closure. Doan also expects to stage an ambulance on the north side of the bridge.

In a medical crisis the closing of the bridge for any length of time is a concern for officials at Muson Healthcare Charlevoix Hospital, which is located on the south side of the bridge.

"Certainly the closing of the bridge for six hours on each of these evenings represents a challenge for our community and our hospital in particular," said Lyn Jenks, hospital CEO. "We are in the beginning phase of conversations with the appropriate officials and agencies in an effort to make certain that we have coordinated services to take care of any medical emergencies that might occur when the bridge is out of service."

Jenks also addressed the concern of patients especially the ones who may be pregnant during the closure.

"We do have several physicians who live north of the bridge, including two obstetricians, and we know that pregnant women will have particular concerns that need to be taken into careful consideration," Jenks said. "We will be working closely with our doctors and local Emergency Medical Service providers to make certain that we have the necessary resources in place for the bridge's scheduled closing times. Our first priority always has been — and always will be — our patients and their care and safety, no matter what the challenges are."

Christmas a gift of hope

As a young child I loved Christmas. The holiday is a magical time for kids and they are so hopeful to get the gifts they want or think they need. I remember my brothers and I would wake up early and run with an abounding joy to unwrap our bounty of gifts under the family Christmas tree. Life was good.

I'm not sure about you, but that all changed as I got older. As I entered adulthood life took over and I left home and entered the armed services. It was my first time away from family during the holidays. The more time away the more the joy I had around Christmas became a faded memory. I replaced it with going to bars and parties with friends, and because of that I remained in California after my time in the Marine Corps.

I was living a lifestyle of excess and wound up losing control. It was right before Christmas of 1991, and I had burned every bridge I had. My friends turned their backs on me and I was homeless. I remember it was Christmas Eve and I was sitting on the beach trying to figure out where everything went wrong. I never felt more hopeless and alone and thought, oh how my life had changed.

As tears ran down my cheeks I lifted my head to the night sky and while I was looking at the stars I couldn't help but recall the Christmas story. The stars appeared so bright and I had this feeling of peace and comfort, like someone was sitting there holding me tight. I felt as if there was hope for me yet.

Shortly after that Christmas I entered a shelter, joined a recovery program and turned my life toward my long forgotten faith. In 1993, I moved home to Michigan and that year I spent Christmas with my family. Though the holiday was far from my childhood memories I remained hopeful. In the grand scheme of things I believe that is what Christmas is about — hope.

I see that hope each December. As human beings, our hearts open up with cheer to those who don't have enough and I often hope the day will come when we learn to love like its Christmas more than once a year. I think the best present to give is the gift of hope because hope comes in many shapes and sizes and can come in many forms and hit people in different areas at different times. For example, the soldier in a situation facing uncertainty in the midst of fighting a war, or a person who just learned the cancer is back, or my time alone on the beach a couple of decades ago, or how about an example closer to home that features a single parent or a couple with zero money to buy anything this Christmas for their deserving children, but despite all the odds they are greeted with joy and the gift of love by countless volunteers working for the Community Christmas Project.

Some of us have been there in these situations. Somehow, we made it through and became better people on the other side. It might have been frightening, but we made it. There are many situations around us each day similar to these and some even worse, but there is hope.

I believe that hope was born in a manger many years ago and is just as relevant today as it was yesterday. I believe this child grew into savior for mankind and then saved us all, giving me, the soldier, cancer patient and the world the hope it needs.

That's why I know the best present I could give to anyone is the hope that no matter the situation, this child born unto a virgin, surrounded by animals, angels, shepherds and wise men, is right here, right now, sitting with you, holding your hand, loving you, and wants to provide you hope for tomorrow.

Cling to that hope, compassion and love. It is just as magical as waking up as a young child on Christmas morning to a bounty of gifts under the tree. Merry Christmas to everyone and may you have a blessed New Year.

LETTERS to the editor

Bishop Raica sends a Christmas message

A joyful and blessed Christmas to one and all.

In the familiar carol, "O Come, All Ye Faithful," the third verse has these words: "Word of the Father, now in flesh appearing." These words sum up the very beginning of the Gospel of St. John, "The Word was made flesh and dwelt among us." The drama of Christmas reminds us very simply that Jesus came into the world and became one of us so that we could recognize the Father's love for us and follow him.

All through our lives, we seem to be looking for someone. Or at least we seem to be waiting to be found by that someone, even someone special. As a child, we looked for our parents. After all, they were known to us and that was the sum total of our known world. Their faces were familiar to us; their voices were reassuring; and their hugs and gestures of affection were comforting. Through similar gestures of my parents, for instance, I came to know who I am — found and loved, not just by them, but by God who had a plan for me. They introduced me to Jesus. In a particular way, I came to learn that I was very much loved by God who knew all about me even before I was born.

Bishop Steven

In the world in which we live today, we are aware of so much more due to television, radio and internet. Certainly, the known world for me was a small village in Michigan's Upper Peninsula. Today, by contrast, we have access to virtually everything, both good and evil.

We know about violence and disruptions in the world in an instant. We are unsettled and worried that there are ideologies bent on destroying western civilization as we know it.

But one constant remains — who I am is not reduced to an ideology, a culture, or even the limitations of my own family and self. The word of the Father speaks to all a word of mercy, a word that seeks to welcome, to lift up, to heal, to restore, to repair, to give hope and ultimately to give life. All throughout the Gospels, we hear these stories over and over of how Jesus, as the word of the Father, made a difference in the lives of those He met — because He lived a different way. He revealed to us the Father's tenderness, his caress, his affection for all — not in condemnation, but in an invitation to live through following Jesus, his Son.

He abides with us today fulfilling his mission to be a voice of reason, of hope, of mercy to a waiting world. So, Christmas celebrates family, celebrates life born of a babe in Bethlehem, and celebrates hope for you and me. Christianity is an event that recognizes God's love for us in a person and invites each, in freedom, to follow. Indeed, we come to adore him even today because Jesus is truly the "Word of the Father, now in flesh appearing."

A very blessed and Happy Christmas and peace-filled New Year.

Ambitious adventurers of Charlevoix make it past the county line

This photo, along with three others of its kind, appeared in a scrapbook loaned to the Historical Society from the estate of Robert Bridge, former president of the Charlevoix County State Bank and mayor of Charlevoix in the 1930s and 40s. There were no explanatory words to accompany the photos, but it appears that someone was determined to try to make the trip of a young lifetime in a rattletrap jalopy they dubbed The Poison Ivy II of Charlevoix. On the panel below the windshield — if there even was one — appear the words "Charlevoix to San Francisco." The passenger door is held together with scrap wood strips, and at the top appears a horseshoe for luck. The panel behind the door sports a skull and crossbones. On the other side, the driver's door is nothing more than a piece of tar paper tacked on a frame. Anchoring the door's lower portion is a double bladed ax. Above the ax head, behind the driver's left shoulder, instead of a panel there is a six-paned window in a wooden frame. Above that, on the edge of the rear roof, is slung a coil of thick rope and mud chains for the tires. It is not known how far this madcap adventure was able to reach, but behind the car in one photo appears the dome of the state capitol building in Lansing. At least they succeeded in getting beyond Charlevoix's city limits.

Santa and his elves at the Charlevoix Fire Department saved Christmas for 13-year-old Nathan Davis. Nathan, an avid collector of all things John Deere and in particular John Deere State Commemorative Tractors, asked mom Shella to ask Santa to help find Utah. After employing Facebook in a country-wide search, Santa and his Facebook tracking elves like Jeff Stavens at the fire department found the perfect end final addition to Nathan's collection. Santa said, "Is this the right one?" And Nathan said, "Whoa! It's Utah, mom. See, I told you Santa could find it."

Application process begins for Char-Em United Way's community investment

CHARLEVOIX — Char-Em United Way's 2016 Community Investment process has begun. Nonprofit agencies which provide programs and services meeting the health and human service needs of Charlevoix and Emmet counties are encouraged to submit a letter of intent to apply for funding.

Letter of intent applications can be requested by contacting Char-Em United Way at (231) 487-1006, or downloaded from United Way's website charemunitedway.org under Allocations/Apply for Funding. All first-time applicants are encouraged to call first and discuss their program. Letters of intent are due by Jan. 15, 2016. The submissions will be reviewed by the United Way Community Investment Committee; and agencies which meet United Way's funding criteria and priorities will be invited to submit a complete application.

"We are pleased to announce this year's funding availability," said Lorraine Manary, executive director. "Through donor support provided last year, we made community investments of $249,079 to 25 programs and United Way initiatives. Additionally, we are able to leverage funds for specific programs for a total community investment in 2015 of $411,873. Your new or continued support makes this happen. We are still accepting contributions, and all donations received through the end of April will be awarded in this investment cycle. As always, 98.5 percent of funds we raise here in our community, stay here to support local programs."

Char-Em United Way's 2016 funding priorities focus on meeting the community's needs for education, income and health. More information on these priorities, as well as other criteria for eligible programs and agencies is available from United Way.

"These priorities will ensure that, with the increased need in our community for health and human services and with limited dollars available, our Community Investments are being made as wisely as possible. We are revising our priority outcomes to align with new Community Health Assessment data and United Way's Education Initiative," Manary said. "Our investors (donors) want to know that we are making the greatest possible impact in the areas of need identified by our community. Therefore, CEUW is focusing on measuring results in programs and stronger collaborations."

Agencies invited to submit a full application will be scheduled to make a presentation to Char-Em United Way's Citizen Review Panel in April. The Citizen Review Panel reviews the requests for funding, hears presentations, seeks additional information, and makes recommendations to the United Way Board of Directors. If you are interested in helping in this review process, we are always looking for new panelists. It is a great way to learn more about the programs your donation is supporting and the organization and needs in our communities. The board of directors will meet in May to consider the recommendations of the panel and to make community investment allocation decisions.

For more information about Char-Em United Way or the application process, call (231) 487-1006, email info@charemunitedway.org or write P.O. Box 1701, Petoskey, MI 49770. Complete application information is available online at charemunitedway.org.

Northern Michigan Ski Academy season starts soon

BOYNE CITY — Northern Michigan Ski Academy race training sessions start Wednesday, Jan. 6, at Boyne Mountain and Thursday, Jan. 7, at Boyne Highlands. Training sessions take place from 6:30-8:30 p.m. on Wednesdays at Boyne Mountain and Thursdays at Boyne Highlands.

Sign-up and practice on course will be at 1:30 p.m. on Sunday, Jan. 3, with a parents meeting at 3 p.m. at Boyne Highlands.

This year the Northern Michigan Ski Academy is celebrating its 37th anniversary. The Northern Michigan Ski Academy is a nonprofit organization that is run by a volunteer board of directors and coaches. The program is designed to teach area youth the fundamentals of ski racing.

Training sessions are held for nine weeks beginning in January. During the Wednesday and Thursday night sessions, skiers ski in small groups with a Northern Michigan Ski Academy coach. Skiers practice the fundamentals of ski racing with racers of their own age and capability. Friday nights are open gate nights at Boyne Mountain and Boyne Highlands with courses set that the skiers can run as they wish. Coaches are available at the top and bottom of the courses to provide feedback to the skiers.

Each Sunday, from 2-4:30 p.m., club races take place. On the first Sunday, the race will be held at Boyne Highlands and offer timed gate racing in which skiers ski against the clock and themselves. All of the Sunday club races bring together the Boyne Highlands and Boyne Mountain skiers for combined racing. Throughout the season, club races are scheduled at Boyne Highlands and Boyne Mountain. This year two all day races will be held at Boyne Highlands. Racers are ranked for participation in the Northern Michigan Ski Academy Racing Team that participates in the Northern Michigan Junior Racers Cup which brings together skiers from across Northern Michigan. The Championship Race will be held on Sunday, March 6, at Boyne Highlands.

For registration forms, pricing, season schedule and additional information on the Northern Michigan Ski Academy visit nmsa-zone.org.

For more information, call Tom Teske at (231) 536-3128.

Charlevoix Area Community Pool to receive a new roof

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix Area Community Pool announced that they will get a new roof. After much discussion, deliberation and investigation the pool board has decided to move forward with an opportunity to replace their almost 20-year-old roof that is in need of repair. Costs will be covered by donations from pool supporters.

Bogart's Roofing and Siding of Charlevoix has been awarded the contract and will start immediately making repairs and replacing the roof. It will take approximately two weeks to complete while the pool remains open with normal business hours during construction.

The board had been discussing several possible additional projects necessary in keeping the facility up to standards, including looking at some exciting potential additions but the roof replacement was the highest priority.

The Charlevoix Area Community Pool appreciates all community support.

OBITUARIES

Nancy Ward Pillsbury Mahoney

Nancy Ward Pillsbury Mahoney, longtime Charlevoix resident, passed away peacefully Thursday, Dec. 17, 2015, at Georgia House in Charlevoix, Mich. It was Nancy's wish that there not be a public memorial service.

Nancy was born Jan. 19, 1932, in Detroit, Mich., to Marion Hallett Pillsbury and Raymond Ward Pillsbury. She graduated from Denby High School, Detroit (1950), and married Gerald Mahoney on May 10, 1952.

Nancy's parents and grandparents instilled in her their love of family, the outdoors and life on and around the waters of Lake Charlevoix.

Nancy and Jerry had three children; surviving are Keith (Connie), Karen (Douglas), Kim (Ben); eight grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren. Her greatest fulfillment in life was being a mother, raising and loving her children.

Nancy was an amazingly capable woman who was an accomplished swimmer, diver, skier, hunter, fly fisher, sailor, gardener, caregiver, first aid instructor, National Ski Patrolroller at Nub's Nob, cook, and hostess, as well as; a loving wife, mother, grandmother, aunt, and friend. Throughout her life, she gave much of her time and energy to helping others, from caring for her in-laws and parents for many years, to organizing a girls' softball league, to starting a kids' ski club and teaching hundreds of children to ski.

Nancy and Jerry retired to her family's property on the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix, where she had played as a child on her grandfather's farm and which was her second greatest love after her family. Here they enjoyed many happy times with family and friends.

Nancy was preceded in death by her husband of 55 years, Gerald Mahoney (June 25, 2007); her parents; and her sister, June Hastings.

In honor of Nancy's courageous battle and in lieu of flowers, memorials may be made to the Alzheimer's Foundation of America.

Please visit Nancy's guestbook at www.winchesterfuneralhome.com.

Virginia Jean "Ginger" (Russell) Bischoff, 68

Virginia Jean "Ginger" (Russell) Bischoff, 68, of Charlevoix passed away Wednesday, Dec. 16, 2015, peacefully after long health struggles at her home.

She was born Dec. 7, 1947, in Charlevoix to Walter (Pug) and Marjorie (Engelhart) Russell. Ginger attended Charlevoix High School.

Ginger was a warm and loving wife, mother, grandmother and friend who was there for everyone who came into her life. She worked for Char-Em Intermediate School District as a teacher's aide and in transportation for exceptional children. Ginger was there for 20 years. Her students were the love of her life.

During her summers, she trained for massage therapy, and then established her own business and began working as a massage therapist. Ginger owned Therapeutic Massage of Charlevoix and was a massage therapist for 20 years.

On April 26, 1986, she married Robert C. Bischoff in Charlevoix. She is survived by Robert; her children, Pat (Allison) Hamlin of Manistique and Danielle (Ryan) Clark of East Jordan; stepdaughter, Angie Bischoff of Onaway; grandchildren, Madalaine and Kayla Clark, Morgan and Connor Hamlin, Jordan, John, Jacob and Jared Burridge; great-grandson, Riot Heise; sister, Jackie Russell of New York state; and brother, Carney (Jeanette) Russell of Petoskey.

Ginger was preceded in death by her brother, Walter Russell.

A memorial service was Monday, Dec. 21, at the Winchester Funeral Home in Charlevoix. The Rev. David Behling officiated.

Thousands aided by Medicare/Medicaid Assistance Program

Counselors with the Michigan Medicare/Medicaid Assistance Program helped thousands of Medicare beneficiaries find different Part D drug plans for 2016 during the enrollment period that ended on Dec. 7th. The 45 Michigan Medicare/Medicaid Assistance Program team members located throughout the 10 county region in northwest Lower Michigan saved people more than $1.4 million for the upcoming year.

"There are 25 Part D prescription drug plans available in our area," said Jim Verville, regional coordinator for Michigan Medicare/Medicaid Assistance Program. Our counselors typically start out by requesting a list of prescriptions and other pertinent information from their clients. Then a review is made of all of the Part D drug plans is made on the Medicare plan finder located at medicare.gov. This tool is invaluable because once the medications are entered, it will sort through all 25 plans and list them in order of annual cost."

Michigan Medicare/Medicaid Assistance Program counselors then present the best two or three options to the client and they decide if they want to switch. Once a decision is made, the counselor can also complete the enrollment for the new plan. The plan finder simplifies the entire decision process, making it easier for the beneficiary to make the best choice for the upcoming year.

The same process is used to review Medicare Advantage plans. Most of these plans provide both health care benefits and drug coverage. Advantage plans vary in each county. There are 14 or more of these plans to choose from depending on location.

There have been a few significant changes among the Part D plans for next year. For example, some of the plans are dropping expensive diabetic insulin products and other high cost brand name drugs from their formulary. This can result in the beneficiary paying for the full cost of those drugs. Verville said Medicare beneficiaries should have their Part D drug plan reviewed every fall during the open enrollment period to avoid problems and possibly save money for the following year.

Michigan Medicare/Medicaid Assistance Program completed a very successful enrollment season. Verville said his team members put smiles on the faces of many of their clients because of the amount of savings that they were able to find for them. He praised his counselors for their dedication and commitment to serving beneficiaries throughout the region.

"Everyone stepped up and went the extra mile to fulfill all of the requests that we received," he said.

Medicare beneficiaries can receive personalized assistance in many areas involving Medicare and senior Medicaid benefits by contacting a local certified counselor at (800) 803-7174 and leave a message.

$3,300 presentation

At the annual East Jordan Lions Club Christmas dinner, Dec. 7, King Lion Denny Gocha presented a $3,300 check to Grandvua Medical Care Facility Administrator, Carol Timmer, for the Grandvua Terrace and Perks Project. The Lions Club is pleased to be able to support the ongoing improvements that Grandvua is planning over the next few years. BUSINESS

Cre8tive Cupcakes to focus on catering business

ANNE KELLY
Special to Charlevoix Courier

To Alfred Soriano and Justin Micheau, their Cre8tive Cupcake Bakery and Cafe in downtown Charlevoix has provided a stepping stone to a full-fledged pastry catering business.

"We want people to know," Micheau said, "that although we will be closing the doors of our retail store front this month, we will still be providing the same quality baked goods that we have been offering for the last two years in our catering business."

The couple is embarking on an expanded venture, one that will allow them more time to focus on cakes for weddings and special occasions. Micheau met Soriano at a conference at the Grand Hotel while he was involved with a much different occupation. At 32, Micheau is an entrepreneur who graduated from Northern Michigan University, worked for Alltel and owned several Verizon stores. While on Mackinac Island, after meeting Soriano, a self-made pastry chef from the Philippines, he reflected on the fact that they might become partners in a bakery business.

"We had no idea it would morph into something bigger," Micheau said. Micheau, who is the chief operating officer of Beacon Dental in Charlevoix and Gaylord, leaves the operation of the store in the capable hands of his partner Soriano. The 25-year-old holds an international degree in hospitality from De La Salle University in the Philippines.

"I always liked baking," Soriano said. "While working at the Grand Hotel I would watch videos and 'Cupcake Wars' on HGTV. I learned new techniques every day."

Soriano has received many awards of excellence for his baking and has become involved in the community by providing cakes and cupcakes to various service organizations, The Circle of Arts, the Chamber of Commerce and events at Castle Farms.

"I'm a perfectionist," he said, "not to impress but to showcase what I can do. I don't want any customer to be dissatisfied."

Soriano hired 10 employees this summer, some high school students. He works with an assistant head baker and a head ambassador to fill the orders.

"The kids call me 'The Cupcake Guy,'" Soriano said, who has a magnetic personality behind the counter of the casual Internet coffee shop/bakery. "I will miss seeing people downtown, getting to know their names and hearing their stories."

The couple intends

Justin Micheau (left) and Alfred Soriano will close the doors to the Cre8tive Cupcake Bakery and Cafe in Charlevoix to focus on their very successful catering business. This venture will allow the two business owners more time to focus on cakes for weddings and orders for other special occasions. The couple intends to maintain their community involvement and will always be glad to help with local events.

to maintain their community involvement and will always be glad to help with local events. They are entertaining the idea of having a booth at the Farmer's Market next summer. Clients will be able to reach Soriano through the information on their website at cre8tivecupcake.com, where you will meet Alfred Soriano virtually as you view a video explaining his techniques of cake decorating.

Over the past two years of operating in downtown Charlevoix, Cre8tive Cupcake Bakery and Cafe has been recognized with numerous awards and honors from the community.

Pulitzer board announces new program for the journalists of tomorrow

LANSING — The Pulitzer Prize Board announced the award of $40,000 to Michigan Humanities Council for Michigan Youth Journalism Experience, a program to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the prizes in 2016 through Pulitzer's Campfires Initiative.

Working in partnership with the Michigan Interscholastic Press Association and the Michigan State University School of Journalism, Michigan Humanities Council will create a high school level journalism competition that allows students throughout Michigan to compete for the opportunity to meet and work with Pulitzer Prize winning journalists at a Pulitzer-themed conference in the fall of 2016.

"The Michigan Humanities Council is pleased to partner with Michigan Interscholastic Press Association and Michigan State University School of Journalism on this initiative to create a high school journalism competition," said Jan Fedewa, interim executive director. "It is a once in a lifetime experience for high school students to meet and work with Michigan's outstanding Pulitzer-prize winning journalists. We are excited to receive the $40,000 grant to support this special initiative celebrating the 100th anniversary of Pulitzer Prizes in 2016."

For the competition, the students will create broadcast, visual, print, and/or social media pieces of journalism highlighting the four themes outlined by the Campfires initiative.

Each school will hold their own competition and select a student's work to submit to the MSU School of Journalism. Professional journalists will judge the submissions based on established criteria and approximately 25 pieces will be selected. These student authors will be invited to participate in the Pulitzer Conference as special attendees and will receive a scholarship to cover associated costs.

The winning students will have the opportunity to work with Michigan's Pulitzer Prize winning journalists in small workshop settings. The Pulitzer journalists' work represents what it takes to be the best in the field. The competition and conference will be an opportunity to pass those skills and wisdom forward to the next generation of journalists.

To prepare for the centennial, the Pulitzer Prize Board announced the Campfires Initiative, which aims to ignite broad engagement with the journalistic, literary and artistic values the prizes represent. To inspire year-long programming throughout the country, the board partnered with the Federation of State Humanities Councils on the Initiative. After a review of grant proposals, the Pulitzer Prize Board awarded more than $1.5 million to 46 state humanities councils.

The programs will feature Pulitzer Prize-winning work in journalism, arts and letters, and music. The goal of the board and the Federation of State Humanities Council is to engage American communities in discussion about the values these disciplines represent.

"We look forward to bringing the centennial to life next year with a diverse array of council programming that reconnects Americans with the nation's amazing cultural production of the last 100 years," said Esther Mackintosh, president of the Federation of State Humanities Councils.

The Federation and the Pulitzer Prize Board, which is headquartered at Columbia University, developed this initiative together. It is supported by grants from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, the Ford Foundation, Carnegie Corporation of New York, the John S. and James L. Knight Foundation, and the Pulitzer Prize Board.

To learn more about the Federation of State Humanities Councils, visit statehumanities.org.

The Michigan Humanities Council is a private, nonprofit organization created to foster a better understanding of each other and our state through local cultural, historical and literary experiences for all. MHC was founded in 1974 and is funded in part by grants from the National Endowment for the Humanities, as well as private support from corporate and individual donors.

ISLAND promotes annual conference to help make small farms sustainable TRAVERSE CITY — Traverse City will host more than 1,000 individuals interested in making small farms more economically and environmentally sustainable at the upcoming Northern Michigan Small Farm Conference. Small farmers, homesteaders, farm interns, students, chefs and conscientious eaters will gather on Friday, Jan. 29 and Saturday, Jan. 30, 2016 to network, share ideas, and gain new skills at the 17th annual conference.

This year's conference kicks off on Friday with Farm School, a one-day intensive of courses with three tracks to choose from: agroforestry, honey or mushrooms. This targeted day of learning includes regional and national experts, including Mark Shepard, author of "Restoration Agriculture;" Ben Falk, author of "The Resilient Farm and Homestead;" Charlotte Hubbard, author of "Dronings from a Queen Bee;" Dr. Meghan Milbrath of the Northern Bee Network; Ken Mudge, co-author of "Farming in the Woods;" Mary Ellen Kozak and Joe Krawczyk of Field and Forest Products; Annie Olds of Michigan Small Business Development Center; Wendy Wieland of Michigan State University Extension; and others.

Groundwork Center for Resilient Communities will host a day-long conference in tandem with the event: Farms, Food and Health. This event brings together health practitioners, schools, farmers, chefs, food-lovers, employers and hospitals.

This year's keynote speaker is physician and writer Dr. Daphne Miller, author of "The Jungle Effect" and "Farmacology," who will explain the important and innate connection between local food and health. Dr.

Miller is an internationally recognized speaker in the emerging field of health ecology. Her 2009 Washington Post article "Take a Hike and Call Me in the Morning" is widely credited with introducing "park prescriptions," a concept that is rapidly gaining traction across the United States. Dr. Miller will speak Friday evening, with a book signing to follow.

A trade show featuring more than 100 exhibitors in the food and farming industries will run all day Saturday, and is open to the public after 1:30 p.m. for $5. Tickets to the trade show are available online or at the door.

The two-day conference will be held at the Grand Traverse Resort. In addition to hearing Dr. Miller speak Friday night and attending the trade show Saturday, conference-goers will be able to choose from over 25 educational sessions, including topics on food safety, the business of farming, environmental sustainability, flower farming, growing mushrooms, pasture pork, and more. A delicious, locally sourced lunch prepared by the staff at the Resort will be provided both days. The full schedule, with more details about panels, classes, and discussion topics, can be found online at smallfarmconference.com.

"Each year, the Northern Michigan Small Farm Conference is like a homecoming. Participants visit with folks they haven't seen since the previous year at this Certified Local Food Event," said Conference co-chair Amanda Kik, of ISLAND. "It's the warmest Northern Michigan event you'll attend in January."

Northern Community Mediation gets a special gift this year

PETOSKEY – Christmas came early to Northern Community Mediation. As representatives of Women Who Care, Lisa Blanchard and Amy Gillard appeared at Northern Community Mediation's annual, holiday party on Dec. 8, with a surprise package. The present contained checks totaling $6,000, which was a donation from the members of Women Who Care. Executive Director Jane Millar expressed her appreciation.

Even though Northern Community Mediation is considered to be the most efficient and effective of the 18 Citizen Dispute Resolution Centers in Michigan, our organization's funding from the state was cut by $5,000," Millar said. "This contribution from Women Who Care means that we will not be forced to make significant cuts in our 2016 budget."

Lisa Blanchard then explained that Women Who Care is made up of women who meet quarterly. At that time, each member writes a check for $100. As a group, they then decide which nonprofit organization should be the recipient of that quarter's funds.

Women Who Care is one of many giving circle organizations in the country. In 2013, Sue Bleyaert started the local chapter with 13 women in her kitchen. The group has now grown to 60 members. Anyone interested in learning more about the group or becoming a member of the group should go to Women Who Care Tip of the Mitt on Facebook.

Northern Community Mediation is a nonprofit organization that provides an alternative means of resolving conflict. Trained mediators, who meet with the parties involved in a dispute, facilitate so that the individuals themselves can resolve the conflict.

For more information about Northern Community Mediation, call Millar at (231) 487-1771.

Hestia taking applications for ninth grant cycle

PETOSKEY – The Hestia Women's Giving Circle is welcoming applications from organizations in Emmet or Charlevoix counties seeking funding for a project that will make a positive difference in the lives of local women or girls for its ninth grant cycle. Applications are due Feb. 1, 2016.

The Giving Circle is a donor-advised fund of the Charlevoix County Community Foundation, that assists the Giving Circle in grant making and distribution. Applications are available on the Foundation's website at ccf.org. Click on "All About Grants" and follow the Hestia link. Prior to filling out a request, applicants should call Maureen Radke at (231) 536-2440. This year the Charlevoix County Community Foundation is using new on-line software and offering hands-on opportunities for how to use it. Prospective grantees are invited to attend one of two training sessions to assist in writing their grant application. The first will be held from 10:30 a.m. - noon on Jan. 8, and the second is from 2:30-4 p.m. on Jan. 12. Both will be held at the Charlevoix Public library.

A small group of caring, enthusiastic and generous women formed the Hestia

Women's Giving Circle in 2005 with the mission to promote the economic self-sufficiency and well being of women and girls in Emmet and Charlevoix counties. The group is named for the Greek goddess Hestia, who expresses her love and concern for others through thoughtful acts. The Giving Circle provides an opportunity for women to pool their donations to make a significant impact and to educate themselves about issues facing women and girls in our community.

Since Hestia's founding, grants totaling more than $300,000 have been awarded to a variety of projects specifically geared to women and girls. Examples of recent recipient organizations include the Women's Resource Center, Planned Parenthood of West and Northern Michigan, North Country Kids, Raven Hill Discovery Center, Petoskey Area Hockey Association, Petoskey Public Schools Debate Program, and First Tee of Northern Michigan, among many others.

Grants will be announced in May and awarded in mid-June. Organizations applying for grants must have 501(c)3 nonprofit status, be a school or government agency, or have a fiscal agent with nonprofit status.

The Hestia Women's Giving Circle is actively seeking new members. The annual membership fee is $1,000, which can be shared by two women. All of the funds received are distributed directly to local organizations serving women and girls. The Giving Circle is especially interested in supporting smaller organizations that may have limited access to other sources of funding. For more information, email INFO@hestiacircle.org.

MDOT announces return of road watchers program

LANSING – Though winter is curiously absent so far, the Michigan Department of Transportation is bringing back its road watchers program in the northern lower peninsula for when the snow returns.

For a third year, MDOT is recruiting returning and new road watchers in the northernmost 21 counties in Lower Michigan to participate in periodic surveys measuring winter highway conditions during the 6-9 a.m. commuting period on some key routes in their area:

- M-72 from Kalkaska to Acme in Kalkaska and Grand Traverse counties
- U.S. 131 from Manistowic to Kalkaska in Wexford, Grand Traverse, and Kalkaska counties
- U.S. 131 from Mancelona to Petoskey in Antrim, Charlevoix, and Emmet counties
- U.S. 23 in Alpena and Alpena counties

"We received so many reports from our volunteers last year and lots of excellent suggestions – information we used to improve our winter maintenance efforts," said MDOT North Region Associate Engineer for Operations Bill Wahl. "We've selected some new routes this year so we can put that information to use in other areas as well."

MDOT compiles the survey results to track winter highway conditions with the goal of improving winter maintenance practices and response time.

Surveys should only take a few moments to complete.

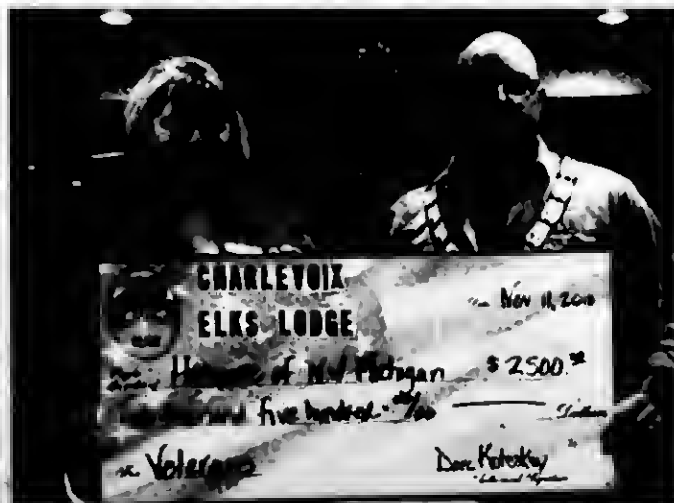

Road Watchers are polled randomly for each storm event and asked to participate in an online SurveyMonkey survey about the road conditions they encountered. All results will be anonymous.

To volunteer, visit michigan.gov/roadwatchers.

CHARITABLE DONATIONS

Charlevoix Elks Lodge No. 2856 donated more than 60 presents and a financial gift of $1,000 to the Charlevoix Christmas Project. They were given labels of children's desires and then put them on an angel and members purchased the presents which were delivered on Thursday Dec. 17. With the gift are Rebecca Jeakle (from left), Margie Tamminga and Mary Everleigh.

Amy Wieland, executive director of Hospice of Northwest Michigan receives a check from Elks Lodge No. 2856 Exalted Ruler Ken Rogers.

ilies from the Giving Tree and Angel Tree was bagged and ready to go.

The project's 33rd year is owed to the number of vital community partnerships, volunteers and the passion of women like the late Mary Helen Riggle, Rita Oriowski, Lucy Martin and Bev Boss, along with others who envisioned no family going without during the holidays. This compassion for people has made it possible for today's volunteers to serve the amount of people they see each year in mid-December.

The hallway tables were overflowing with seasonal decorations and household implements from individuals, businesses and thrift shops. These tables provided one more opportunity for clients to pick up items to make the holiday bright. National Honor Society students from Charlevoix High School also volunteered on Friday. Many of them helped transport packages and food to clients vehicles.

"The help from the National Honor Society is tremendous," said project volunteer John Coolman. "They play a key role as volunteers and we are lucky to have them here with us."

The Community Christmas Project's distribution day serves the seasonal needs of the communities' most vulnerable individuals and families by giving them that extra something to have a wonderful holiday. Families also "shopped" for their families inside the church's community center where toys, games, craft kits, clothing, and gift cards awaited them. Project volunteers remained on hand to coordinate the flow of people, many of whom began lining up at the door at 8 a.m.

"People are just so grateful for what they receive," Eveleigh said. "Many have tears of appreciation in their eyes for what the project has helped them with. There are plenty of hugs grateful smiles as the people walk out the door."

TRADITIONS

Because she loved Christmas every day of the year she used her artistic talents to turn their house and yard into the Christmas scene that brings people out by the hundreds to take photos and create memories each year during the holidays.

She cut out and painted many of the elves, storybook, Bible and movie characters in the outside display. It also was her idea to turn the inside of the house into Santa's Workshop. She decorated more than 30 Christmas trees, along with displays of animated toys and stuffed animals, which the next generation of Boss' continue to do.

"Mom felt joy in knowing that so many children would stop by to enjoy the lights, music, toys and festive atmosphere at the house," Bo said. "More than half the people who come here came as children and now they are bring back their kids and grandkids."

The light display usually comes on at 5:30 p.m. and will remain on until sometime around 11 p.m. Inside the home the 25-foot Christmas tree stands next to a Ford Model T loaded down with Christmas gifts and all decked out with colorful lights.

Boss said the decorations started as something fun his mom and dad would do for the children and it kept growing bigger and bigger. Now the decorations are put up for the grandchildren, great-grandchildren, children in the neighborhood and community.

"She loved Christmas," Bo said. "At one time she had a sign made here that listed every kid in the neighborhood. It is quite of creation."

Each year the display may change a little on placement, but usually everything they have is set up for the people to see.

"Now people expect it," Bo said. "It makes you feel really good people want you to do it. You don't want to disappoint people. It is nice to see people appreciate it."

It takes about 200 man-hours to retrieve everything out of storage and set it up.

"It's a huge undertaking, but a lot of fun," Bo said. "The kids love it and it is Christmas the way mom and dad always did it."

Inside the Boss home on Pearl Avenue sits a Ford Model T all decorated for the Christmas holiday. Dale and Marilyn Boss started the Christmas display tradition many years ago which the family continues to honor the memory of Marilyn Boss who loved Christmas.

businesses were very receptive. What organizers have found hard to do is to get photographers to display their work.

"We got some amazing photographers in the club and to get people to participate is hard because they are a little shy about putting their stuff up," Greenslade said. "We have people of all skill levels and once people are confident about their images they are willing to get in the rotation."

There are 12 photographers that have their work in the program. Each artist has a little biography and contact information for people who may want to comment about the display. The club has received positive feedback from those entities that display the artwork.

"We really appreciate the great partnership we have with these wonderful artists," said Munson Healthcare Charlevoix Hospital CEO Lyn Jenks. "Our patients and family members thoroughly enjoy the extraordinary displays they find throughout our facility when they visit our hospital."

"And our staff members love being surrounded by the ever-changing pieces from these very talented folks," Jenks added. "It is truly a pleasure to be able to share the skills of our local artists with our staff, patients and visitors."

The Charlevoix Public Library is another location where people can see local photographers work displayed.

"The program works well and the photographs add to the ambiance of our building," said Linda Adam, Charlevoix Public Library director. "It is another wonderful way to promote our community."

The Charlevoix Photography Club also facilitates different learning sessions so people can improve their skill level.

"What we do is go over certain camera techniques or photography techniques," Schlitt said. "We look at each other's photos and talk them in a very open and welcoming atmosphere so people are encouraged and not discouraged."

When photo club members aren't learning about camera techniques, they are sharing their ideas and experiences to help make each other better.

"We share our own experiences and help each other learn and build," Schlitt said. "We try to make it more like a group exploring together."

People who want to take wildlife photos, scenic photos or portraits are all welcome.

Anybody who wants to join the club is more than welcome to join and help share their love of photography.

Members discuss and decide what they want to talk about in upcoming months.

One month, for example, could be spent learning about technical aspects, aperture, ISO, shutter speed and a wide array of other things.

"We do lots of classes and programs," Schlitt said. "Many of our programs meet for an hour of classroom activity and then we go out and take photos of areas in our community."

In addition to talking about photography, the club will hold events to inspire the members and give them an opportunity to take photos throughout Michigan with the hope that members will share more of their work.

"We've had as many as 20 members travel to the U.P. to do a fall color shoot for a week or we've taken groups to shoot Lake Michigan sand dunes. We travel all over and continue to unveil artwork."

Photography club members hope to share their love of photography with as many people as they can and always welcome new members.

"We have been really blessed to have Charlevoix the Beautiful as our backdrop to much of our photography," Schlitt said. "We are happy to acknowledge the photographers and their work."

Charlevoix's Walker Drost (left) hit the game-winning shot to lift the Rayders to a 64-63 win over Glen Lake on Thursday, Dec. 17 in their last contest before the holiday break.

Drost hits game-winner, Rayders take thriller over Glen Lake

JAMES GENSERBLUM
(231) 439-9343 · jgenserblum@petoskeynews.com

CHARLEVOIX — Trailing by one with nine seconds to play, Charlevoix senior Walker Drost went coast-to-coast for the game-winning layup in a 64-63 Rayder victory over undefeated Glen Lake on Thursday at home.

Glen Lake had a chance to retake the lead with two seconds to play, but Kevin Pearl deflected the inbound pass and Charlevoix held on for a big victory.

Austin Putman led the Rayders with 19 points and eight rebounds on the night, Arvo Viitaharju added 17 and Drost finished with 13 as Charlevoix moved past the offensive struggles that had plagued them the last two games.

"As a coach, I screwed up the gameplan and we were trying to do things that just weren't working for us," Charlevoix coach Bret Erskine said. "We came into practice on Wednesday and said, let's get back to playing Rayder basketball, to pushing the pace with a more up-tempo game and doing what we're good at."

"It worked tonight, we were up eight at halftime, had a great third quarter, and were able to hold on late."

Down 14 in the third, Glen Lake was able to mount a comeback when the Rayders stalled after Putman fouled out with four minutes to play, but Drost, Pearl, and the Charlevoix bench did enough for the Rayders to hold on.

"Walker really led us late when it counted, and Kevin played great defense tonight and was able to build some confidence at the offensive end by knocking down a couple of shots," Erskine said. "Our bench also did a great job of contributing tonight, playing big minutes when guys were in foul trouble and bringing intensity at both ends of the floor."

Charlevoix heads into the break at 2-2 overall, a significant improvement on last year's 0-4 start, and travels to Gaylord on Jan. 5 for its first game back.

"We're feeling okay with where we're at right now," Erskine said. "After we beat St. Ignace to open the season, we thought we were ahead of schedule, but we hit a couple of roadblocks in our next two games."

"Tonight we were able to get back on track, and while we're not quite where we want to be yet, we're heading into the break with some momentum.

Charlevoix's Cam Alden earned his 100th victory on the mat at the Rudyard Bridge Brawl on Friday, reaching the milestone in his junior season.

Alden hits milestone as Charlevoix goes 4-1

JAMES GENSERBLUM
(231) 439-9343 · jgenserblum@petoskeynews.com

RUDYARD — Charlevoix's Cam Alden had something extra to celebrate on Saturday beyond his team's success at the annual Bridge Brawl hosted by Rudyard.

A junior 135 and 140 pounder, Alden went 5-0 on the day for the Rayders, and in the process earned the 100th win of his career, an important milestone for a high school wrestler.

Alden remained unbeaten on the year at 13-0 and earned outstanding wrestler of the meet for the lower peninsula at the invitational, which pits five Lower Peninsula programs against five Upper Peninsula schools.

Charlevoix finished 4-1 overall as a team, beating Manistique 51-12, Newberry 39-24, Bark River-Harris 54-12 and Boyne City 42-36, and losing to Munising 39-24.

Alden led the way for the Rayders, and senior Mick Hinkle joined him at 5-0 on the day to remain unbeaten on the year as well.

Tyler McCallum also went 5-0 for Charlevoix to run his record to 12-1 on the season, and Jeremy Chernauckas, Jordan Chernauckas and Mike Webb all finished 4-1 on the day for the Rayders.

Trevor McCallum, Jake Petrosky, Stacy Kenney, Max Hinkle and Justin Bond all earned wins at the meet as well for Charlevoix.

Rayder Assembly Meet

CHARLEVOIX — If the Charlevoix wrestling teams was a buildings, it'd still have an "Under Construction" sign on it.

That was the main takeaway from Wednesday's Assembly Meet hosted by the Rayders, as Charlevoix flashed glimpses of their sizable promise, while also showing it's got a lot of work to do over the looming holiday break to reach it.

The Rayders bested Boyne City 48-30 in their match, and also fell to a strong Rogers City squad, losing 43-21.

The first match, between the Rayders and Rogers City, took place in front of a packed house of Charlevoix students who were let out of class early to cheer on their schoolmates, creating a unique atmosphere for the match.

"We'd been doing an event like this for a while, and we took a break last year to go to Rogers City because they were hosting something similar," Charlevoix coach Mike Hinkle said. "We're glad to have it back. It's a fun event for the school and our wrestlers."

On the mat, Charlevoix's returning state qualifiers led the way, staying undefeated on the season. Mick Hinkle won a tough 8-2 decision over Quintin Kelly of Rogers City in a match at 189 pounds, and pinned Juan Wilson of Boyne City in 1:38 at 215 to go 2-0 on the night.

140 pounder Camden Alden took a win by void against the Hurons and pinned Neal Hautz of Boyne City in 1:30 to win and stay undefeated as well.

"(Mick and Camden) put a lot of time into training, and they've been in wrestling for a long time as well, so they know what it takes," Coach Hinkle said. "They're looking strong right now and setting the tone for us in practice and on the mat."

Jordan Chernauckas also picked up a win on the mat for the Rayders, taking a 4-0 decision over Tom Vogelheim of Rogers City, and Trevor McCallum pinned Vincent Baedker of Boyne City in 3:19 to win a JV match for Charlevoix at 160 as well.

Elsewhere on the mat, however, the Rayders suffered close losses to tough Rogers City and Boyne City opponents, and holes at 103 and 125 also made it tough to catch up to the Hurons in the team standings, leaving plenty for Charlevoix to improve on heading forward.

Charlevoix is off for holiday break, but will come back early with a meet at Roscommon on Jan. 2.

"Keeping fitness over break is always one of the big challenges for a team, but we've got a schedule worked out," Hinkle said. "Having that meet on Jan. 2 means we get back to practice a week early, and it helps keep the kids focused on their training."

Close games highlight last youth league action before break

JAMES GENSERBLUM
(231) 439-9343 · jgenserblum@petoskeynews.com

CHARLEVOIX — The last set of games in the Charlevoix Youth League before break proved to be exciting ones as most went down to the wire on Saturday.

In the fifth and sixth grade games, Team Trimper beat Team Carson in a game decided by two points. Lauren Jensen led Team Trimper with six points, Camryn Turkleson added four and Olivia Voller two, while Taylor Petrosky scored six to lead Team Carson and Mabel Carson and Makayla Sharow each added two.

In the other fifth and sixth grade contest, Team Lentz defeated Team Dorst, led by Kylee Williams' 10 points and Paige Pemble's six.

Lauren Shepard scored four to lead Team Dorst, and Anna Kate Smith and Kylee Dorst each added two.

Team Ilaan defeated Team Cunningham in a 38-32 affair that highlighted the seventh and eighth grade games.

Elise Stuck scored a day-high 24 points to lead Team Haan, and Alison Sapr added six. For Team Cunningham, Abbey Cunningham scored 14 points, and Kirsten Wagner and Grayce Spreckell each added six.

In the final seventh and eighth grade game, Team Gaffney defeated Team Buday. Ella Gaffney scored eight to lead Team Gaffney, and Samantha Parrish and Megan Bush each chipped in six points.

Emma Buday led Team Buday with six points, and Paige Carson chipped in four.

The Youth League is off for holiday break and will resume on Jan. 9. The Rayder seventh and eighth grade squads also will start their school season on Jan. 4.

All those who wish to play on the Charlevoix Middle School team will need to file a physical with the school office before the start of practice on Jan. 4.

For more information on the Youth League, contact Liz Shaw at lshaw@rayder.net.

Year in review

Charlevoix's girls soccer program has long been one of the top squads in the north, but 2015 was a special year for the Rayders. Charlevoix briefly held the No. 1 ranking in Division 4, and ran through the Lake Michigan Conference season with a perfect 12-0 record to claim another league title. Its biggest test came against rival Harbor Springs, who pushed the Rayders to overtime both times. But in both games Charlevoix found a way, scoring two goals in each extra period for two 2-0 wins.

The Charlevoix baseball team, led by four-year senior starters Will Telgenhof, Nate Moon, and Noah Certa, had high hopes entering the 2015 season, but their chances of a conference title looked grim as it trailed Kalkaska 4-0 in the fifth inning of the nightcap of a crucial late season doubleheader on May 13. But the Rayders rallied, getting a walk off single from Hunter Cox (4) to pull out a victory that kept its title hopes alive. The Rayders would clinch a share of the LMC title with a loss by TC St. Francis next week.

Above: Charlevoix's Amber Way had a stellar career with the Rayder track, winning a state title and setting a record in the 3,200 run as a junior. Injuries over the winter as a senior caused her to miss half of the season, and a return trip to the state final seemed unlikely. But Way gutted through the pain, taking second at the regional in the 3,200 to grab the final qualifying spot, then took an unlikely second at the state final in the final race of her career to earn all-state honors one more time. Now at Michigan State, Way made an instant impact as a freshman on the top-flight Spartan cross country program this fall.

Below: Several talented individual wrestlers have come through Charlevoix High School over the years, and Sam Hovie has definitely earned his place among them. The senior joined the 100 win club early in the 2014-15 season, then overcame injuries to make a return trip to the Division 4 state final and claim all-state honors for the first time in his career with a fifth place finish at 160 pounds. Hovie should have company in the club of Rayder wrestling greats soon, as teammate Cam Alden finished eighth as a sophomore to earn all-state honors as well and reached the 100 win plateau himself this December.

With all but two regulars from the 2014 squad gone, the Charlevoix volleyball team wasn't expected to defend its district title in 2015. But led by seniors Hannah Zipp and Emily Zabawa, as well as a strong cast of juniors, the Rayders overcame a slow start, swept Inland Lakes in the district semifinal and beat rival Harbor Springs on the road in the district title game to claim its second straight crown.

MORTGAGE SALE - Default has been made in the conditions of a mortgage made by Mae A. Davidson, AKA May A. Davidson, an unmarried woman and Gary Robert Davidson and Virginia Davidson, husband and wife, to Mortgage Electronic Registration Systems, Inc., as nominee for lender and lender's successors and/or assigns, Mortgagee, dated October 26, 2006 and recorded October 26, 2006 in Liber 771, Page 530, Charlevoix County Records, Michigan. Said mortgage is now held by Nationstar Mortgage LLC, by assignment. There is claimed to be due at the date hereof the sum of One Hundred Five Thousand One Hundred Thirteen and 12/100 Dollars ($105,113.12), including interest at 3.875% per annum.

Under the power of sale contained in said mortgage and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises, or some part of them, at public venue at the place of holding the circuit court within Charlevoix County, Michigan at 11:00 AM on JANUARY 8, 2016.

Said premises are located in the Township of South Arm, Charlevoix County Michigan, and are described as:

Commencing at the North 1/8 corner of the West line of Section 27, Town 32 North, Range 7 West, South Arm Township, Charlevoix County, Michigan, thence North on the West line of said Section 232 feet to the point of beginning of this description, thence continuing North on said Section line 280 feet, thence East, parallel with the North 1/8 line of said Section, 777.86 feet, thence South parallel with the West line of said Section, 280 feet, thence West 777.86 feet to the point of beginning, being a part of the Northwest 1/4 of the Northwest 1/4 of Section 27, Town 32 North, Range 7 West, South Arm Township, Charlevoix County, Michigan.

The redemption period shall be 6 months from the date of such sale, unless determined abandoned in accordance with MCLA 600.3241a, in which case the redemption period shall be 30 days from the date of such sale. TO ALL PURCHASERS: The foreclosing mortgagee can rescind the sale. In that event, your damages, if any, are limited solely to the return of the bid amount tendered at sale, plus interest.

If the property is sold at foreclosure sale, pursuant to MCL 600.3278, the borrower will be held responsible to the person who buys the property at the mortgage foreclosure sale or to the mortgage holder for damage to the property during the redemption period.

Food FOCUS

Stafford's Weathervane Restaurant executive chef Robert LeFurge prepares a fillet of fresh walleye. The walleye is dusted in a seasoned flour then dipped in a olive and canola oil blend before breading one side in a panko Parmesan cheese mixture.

Fresh made regional Northern Michigan cuisine

This week's Food Focus turns its lens to Stafford's Weathervane Restaurant, located at 106 Pine River Lane. The building was designed by the famed local architect Earl Young in the mid 1950s. Stafford's Weathervane Restaurant offers signature and regional cuisine in a relaxed atmosphere. Nestled along the Pine River Channel in downtown Charlevoix the restaurant offers the best waterfront dining for guests in all seasons. Executive Chef Robert LeFurge prepares the menu with the season's finest ingredients. A guest favorite on the dinner menu is the Wild Mushroom Walleye served with baby carrots and asparagus and potato. The walleye, perch and whitefish on the menu are from John Cross Fisheries in Charlevoix. The restaurant also serves nightly dinner features and will be open from 4:30 to 11 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 31, to celebrate the end of 2015. They will serve an a la carte holiday menu. The Jon Archambault Band will play in the Round Lake Room from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. while people welcome the new year with Charlevoix's Bridge Drop. Restaurant hours are 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Thursday through Tuesday for lunch and from 4:30 to 8:30 p.m. Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Thursday. From 4:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday and closed on Wednesdays.

Chef LeFurge coats one side of the walleye in a panko Parmesan cheese mixture before sautéing the fillet.

The lightly dusted and panko breaded walleye is placed in a hot sauté pan to brown on each side before being placed in the oven to finish the process.

In a little olive oil and clarified butter a mixture of criminis, shiitakes, oyster, and button mushrooms is prepared with salt, pepper, garlic. Once the mushrooms have cooked a bit white wine is added to reduce down with a little butter to form a creamy sauce.

Fresh asparagus and baby carrots are blanched and sautéed in a little clarified butter and olive oil with minced garlic, salt and pepper.

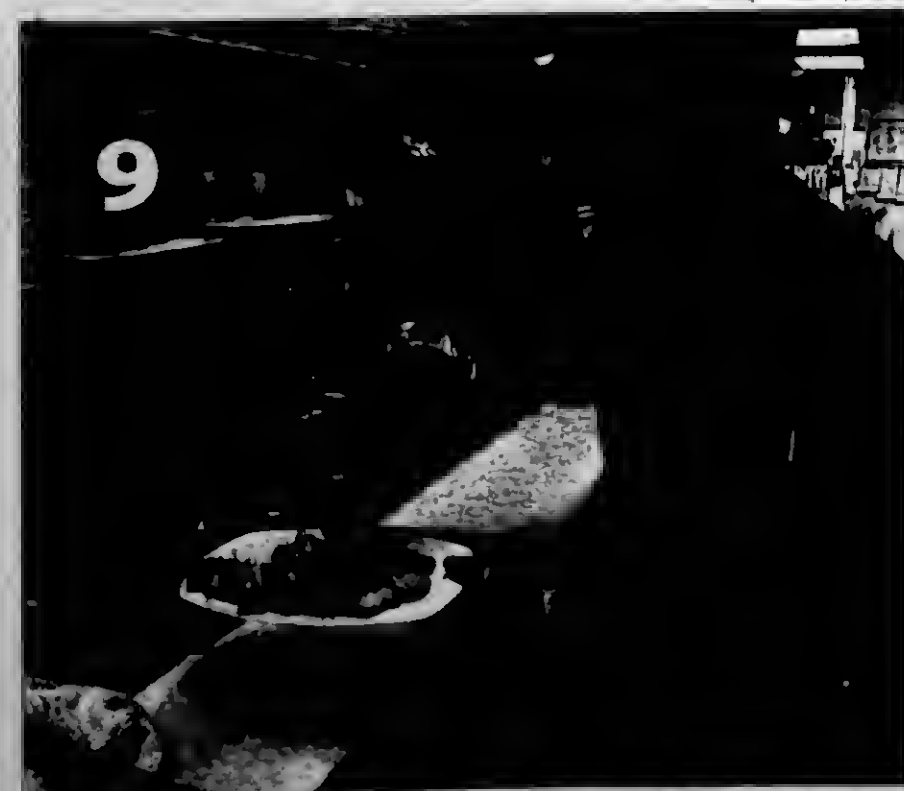

Chef LeFurge prepares a duchess potato as a side to be served with the wild mushroom walleye. Once the potato is golden brown he tops it with some shredded Parmesan cheese.

To build the plate presentation Chef LeFurge places the duchess potato on the plate and then adds the cooked vegetables.

Once the walleye is prepared to a perfect temperature and golden brown the wild mushroom mixture is added to the top of the fish.

Chef LeFurge adds a sherry butter sauce to the Weathervane's wild mushroom walleye to complete the plate presentation. The meal is now ready to serve a waiting customer.

The wild mushroom walleye is garnished a little chopped parsley and lemon wedge and is pictured here next to a bottle of Stafford's signature wine — Pinot Noir.
